Old Hearts and Young Eyes Enjoy Memories of Former Calhoun County High School

By Stephen Smoot

Once upon a time, public building architecture was meant to make a strong and powerful statement of strength, stability, and service. Former Calhoun County High School with its unique stonework and castle inspired structure served as the face of local education for decades. It created an image at the same time imposing enough to reflect the gravitas of the mission, but also welcoming at the same time.

On Saturday during Fall Festival, all day long groups got a guided tour of the structure to learn and talk of its past while building excitement for the future.

The excitement for some to enter the building resembled the first day of school. Excitement to once again connect with old friends, to once again come into the schoolhouse to see what had changed and what remained the same.

As the group traversed the building from bottom to top, former classmates pointed out the rooms where their favorite teachers instructed in various subjects. Parents and grandparents shared precious memories from their own childhood with youngsters seeing inside for the first time ever.

Amos Walker led the two o' clock tour, taking on the role as both historian and project ambassador. As the group examined the work on the first floor, Walker described future uses of the spaces. He pointed out spaces that will be up for rent and noted the location of the future canning kitchen that will support the farmers market and also serve as an educational space. "We'll possibly have a barber shop out there so men don't have to go to the salon to get their hair cut anymore."

A small child looked up at his family and asked "what happened to the school?" A smiling face explained "well they closed it and opened a new one."

Sixth Annual Fall Festival Brings Convergence of Old Time Tradition and Optimism For the Future

By Stephen Smoot

The aromas and sounds of molasses and apple butter cooking, big wins on Friday nights, the first hint of tint as the leaves start their brilliant transformation, all of these are true signs of fall.

So was the Fall Festival that took place on the first weekend in February, scheduled to coincide with the grand opening of the Avalon center and also initial public glimpses at the future of the former high school building.

Grantsville served as the stage for Fall Festival, which saw a number of attractions and unique vendors converging together to celebrate the arrival of autumn. An unusually stormy September gave way to a quiet and seasonably cool and dry October, providing perfect weather for the event. On the grounds of the old football field, men slowly stirred caldrons of sweet goodness while children of all ages enjoyed seeing the classic cars on display. The 1982 Foundation's work in putting together the Avalon venue, as well as progress on restoring the former high school, was put on full display.

The message lay in supporting the effort to profit in the broadest senses of the word from honoring

Twisted Dough Brings Straight Flavor to Fall Festival

By Stephen Smoot

One of the major visions behind Avalon and the rejuvenation of the former Calhoun County High School building is the rejuvenation also of small-scale entrepreneurship based on artisanship. Many of the vendors who came to sell their wares brought interesting and unique perspectives on traditional craftsmanship. Some fashioned charms and ornaments out of fine silverware. Others took crystalline glassware and refashioned multiple items into statues of angel figures. All represented the overall vision of a growing community of craftsmen and women rising from the local community.

Some of those reflected culinary and cooking traditions and aspirations, such as Courtney Nicholson and Adrianna Knight of Twisted Dough in Grantsville.

The pair started as many do, trying out something new in their home and finding their talent in that way. Nicholson said "she started first, started doing sourdough."

Also like many others, the hobby turned into a business in part as a road away from another occupation. Nicholson shared "I was a paralegal and I hated working in the city." Knight added "at first it seemed like a little hobby." She started giving away baked sourdough products to friends and family. "Everyone I was giving it to told me to start selling it," she said.

"Every loaf was just beautiful," remembered Nicholson.

She started baking around the holiday season of 2024. By February of the next year, Knight decided to take her hobby commercial and start selling to the public. The duo banded together as "Twisted Dough" and started making the rounds of events. "We try to stay local," said Knight. They mainly sell in and around the Calhoun County area, perhaps traveling as far away as Jackson County. "It just depends," said Nicholson. They also sell their products online.

State law limits what they can sell for now. Knight and Nicholson stated that their next step lies in having their own commercial kitchen. This would meet the requirements of state code that would then allow them to produce and sell perishable goods, such as cheesecake or cheese filled danishes. "Anything that requires refrigeration" must come from a commercial kitchen, said Nicholson.

One of the advantages

Adrianna Knight, Courtney Nicholson, and another satisfied Twisted Dough customer enjoy doing business in the new Avalon facility.

West Virginia Division of Forestry Issues Autumn Outdoor Burning and Fire Season Guidelines

By Stephen Smoot

The forestlands of West Virginia provide timber, food of many kinds, recreational opportunities, or just a great place to sit in the sun and enjoy a good book.

During some times of year, however, they also can serve as home to danger.

According to the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, the forestlands of the state grow trees at twice the rate of both harvest and natural death. That said, in the 21st century, a legion of pests and parasites have invaded American forests. Long after blight removed the American Chestnut, two other former hardwoods standards, ash and elm, have also fallen victim. Over time, the death of these species added to the buildup of debris that serves as fuel to wildfires.

During dry seasons, the West Virginia Division of Forestry requests that residents observe stricter protocols when working with, or enjoying recreation with, open fires.

Fall fire season in West Virginia opens on October 1 and extends through December 31. Says the DoF, during that period "outdoor burning is restricted during the day due to the abundance of dry leaves and forest floor debris that may cause fires to spread. Relative humidity typically increases during the evening and overnight, which is why burning is permitted only during those hours."

"During this time, residents must confine their outdoor burning to the hours of 5 p.m. to 7 a.m., according to the West Virginia State Code Chapter 20-3-5. Fires set during that time must be put out before 7 a.m."

The fall fire season state law restrictions include:

No outdoor burning from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Any fire set between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m. must be extinguished before 7 a.m.

Fires must be attended at all times.

Before leaving any fire for any length of time, the fire must be completely extinguished.

Clear at least a 10-foot area (safety strip) around the fire and make sure all burnable material has been removed.

Any equipment that can throw sparks and operates on land subject to fire by any cause must be provided with an adequate spark arrestor.

If your fire escapes, you are liable for the costs of fighting the fire and any damage the fire may cause.

Violation of the burning law is punishable by a fine of up to $1,000.

Commercial burning can still be done with a permit.

With the potential for wildfire still low due to unseasonably high amounts of rain last month, residents can prepare for fire season by observing protocols established by the Firewise program. A number of do it yourself methods for reducing the risk of a wildfire burning a home are available. The West Virginia Division of Forestry urges that homeowners in the woods follow some quick tips, including:

Remove dead leaves, pine needles, tree branches and combustible debris from around your home.

Don't store firewood on or under porches or decks.

Don't store machinery such as four-wheelers and lawn mowers under decks or porches.

Use fire-resistant plants around your home, including flowering dogwoods, azaleas and more.

More information on how to make a forest bordering home more fire resistant through the Firewise program can be found on the WV DoF website.

The Grantsville Town Council meets the first Monday of every month in the city building on Main Street at 6 p.m.

The Calhoun County Commission meets the second Monday of every month in the Calhoun Courthouse meeting room at 9 a.m.

The Calhoun County School Board meets the second Monday of every month at 5:50 p.m. in the school board office at Mt. Zion.

Mostly, I put the blame for it squarely on the sneaky shoulders of law students. Who else studies Latin? Who else has the need to study Latin?

I personally come from a long line of honest lawyers. Two of them. Father and grandfather. My dad used to say that the only reason to study Latin was so beginning lawyers could read their diplomas. That view has now stood the test of time, and I believe the only way to fight these show-offs is to beat them at their own game.

Hunting guides, of course, know that alces gigas is that towering pillar of bog terror, the Alaska-Yukon moose.

But even hunting guides eventually run out of Latin names, so I think it behooves us, the non-show-offy members of society, to expand our Latin into things we really need. This will, of course, run the risk of child endangerment, because kids will make the perfect Latin speakers. They know the English words already, so here are some suggestions for translation into Latin.

Housecat: sleepa snuggle litter box.

Dog: Cleana yard afta me.

Teacher: Allus getsit wrong.

Architect: Donnnnnnnnnnnnt fergita bathroom.

Evening meal: Mamafilma face up.

Grandma: Bighuga cumin.

Grandpa: Knowzitall justaskem.

Will it happen? Of course not. If it happened, and all those third graders got ahead of us using Latin, they could get away with murder, confess to it at the dining table on Sunday, and before we could notify the police or a homeless shelter, they could simply say, "Taking your habeas corpuscle into account, no one sees the evidentiary truth. So ... Bluuuuuh!

Brought to you by folks who should know better. Have fun.

Dear Recycle Lady,

I know you recycle toothbrushes, but are there any other oral items that can be recycled?

Clean Teeth

Dear Clean Teeth,

Yes. There are several other oral items that can be recycled. All brands of toothbrushes and empty tubes of toothpaste, plus their caps, can be recycled. Try to get as much of the tooth paste out as you can before recycling the tube. Not only will that make it more recyclable, it will also save you money! The small plastic floss containers can also be recycled, as well as dental flosses and picks. Don't forget to include all the packaging that the oral products come in. They are also recyclable. Deposit all these items in the small tube that is part of the aluminum can bin. Colgate pays for the postage for all boxes of oral products returned to TerraCycle and the Recycling center has returned 6 boxes weighing approximately 25 pounds over the past three years.

Dear Recycle Lady,

What are plant-based cleaners? Do they do a good job?

Cleaner-Upper

Dear Cleaner-Upper,

Good question. Plant-based cleaners are cleaners made with environmentally friendly ingredients such as vinegar, lemon juice, and baking soda; all of which have excellent antibacterial, degreasing, and stain removing properties. Vinegar is a natural disinfectant and deodorizer, lemon juice has antibacterial properties and a fresh scent, and baking soda is effective for scrubbing and neutralizing odors. Used properly, plant-based cleaners can be just as effective as chemical cleaners, however, they work more slowly so let them sit a while before removing them. There are also several commercial cleaners available that are plant-based. They are made with ingredients derived from renewable plant-based sources rather than petroleum and synthetic chemicals. Also, biodegradable plant-based cleaners are less harmful for aquatic life than commercial cleaners. Look for the EPA Safer Choice label or USDA BioPreferred certified. A significant part of these products must be plant-based. Tide PurClean ingredients are 75% plant-based and Clorox Ecoclean is made with 99% plant-based cleaning ingredients. Seventh Generation has many plant-based cleaning products, as does Mr. Clean. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) also approves natural cleaners with ingredients like thymol (from the oil of thyme), including Seventh Generation's Disinfecting Wipes and Cleaners.

Dear Recycle Lady,

I recently replaced my lawn mower battery. Will my old lawn mower battery recycle?

Lawn Caretaker

Dear Lawn Caretaker,

The Recycling Center not only accepts lawn mower batteries, but it will pay you for them. Car batteries are also accepted as are all rechargeable batteries of any size, regardless of whether or not they will charge. Proper disposal of rechargeable batteries is crucial to prevent environmental harm and to recover valuable minerals such as lithium, cobalt, nickel, lead and aluminum. I am sorry to say no alkaline batteries of any kind are accepted at our Recycling Center. However, according to battery manufacturers it is now safe to put them in the landfill. When you take your lawn mower battery to the Recycle Center, go in the door for recycling aluminum cans, push the button and a staff member will come help you.

Kudos to Mountain Table in Renick, WV for using a compostable bag for their k-cups and saving space in the landfill. Compostable bags are made from organic materials such as sugarcane or potato starch. They break down quickly, are biodegradable and can be composted at home.

The Beauty of Aging

By Stephen Smoot

There's an old joke about a young man shocked to hear about a man turning 95.

"Who would ever want to turn 95?" asked the young man rhetorically. The answer is "a 94-year old."

Last week, the former popular music star Madonna emerged at the Video Music Awards. In some way that was fitting since neither institution has aged very well. The VMAs will cause the average person to say "wait, is that still around?" The answer, of course, is true. Long after MTV jettisoned their raison d'etre to creep into garbage television, long after music videos have regularly appeared on television, the VMAs soldier on, like Don Quixote living far beyond their natural time.

Reports scattered online showed her dressed in almost nothing, having difficulty speaking , and not even knowing what awards she won.

I have no other details because I am not watching the VMAs so you don't have to.

The issue is not video awards, or even Madonna specifically. Madonna burst into celebrity status in the mid-80s with a hit song "Borderline." She shaped her career around vivacious, and often at the time controversial, sexuality. Often she would commingle sexual and Roman Catholic imagery, which truly did demonstrate her overall lack of taste in her younger years.

As she has grown older, the headlines moved from music and style to outrageous behavior, then plastic surgeries and other efforts to outrace aging.

Aging is not simply a natural process. It reflects one of the constant recurring patterns of the universe. Everything has a starting point, rising life, a peak, falling life, then a conclusion or a death. That includes all in existence that has any kind of dynamism. It is the life pattern of people and also of stars, the celestial kind, not the celebrity.

The universe itself, unless current theories are wrong and they very well might be, follows this same cycle.

In Victorian times, men worked hard to hide their age, even going to the extent sometimes of dyeing their youthful hair with shades or elements of gray. Rising age meant rising knowledge, rising capabilities, rising influence. Older men received more respect because experience was valued more than "youthful energy."

The matriarch of this world was Queen Victoria, one of the greatest monarchs in both British and world history. In her youth, she portrayed true regal beauty, but it was not her svelte form, big doe eyes, and pursed lips of youth that served as the appearance of greatness. Her greatness came as she aged, working with and learning from great statesmen such as Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Salisbury, and countless others..

As she reached her years of greatest effectiveness, Queen Victoria grew extraordinarily corpulent. Her soft expression hardened into a thoughtful scowl as flushed high cheeks evolved and sank into jowls. Her eyes shed their youthful sparkle and gained the steady light of a great mind.

In her youth, Queen Victoria was hesitant to act.

In her age, the great lady of Europe served as Queen of Great Britain and Ireland as well as Empress of India. She was head of an Empire that controlled 25 percent of the land surface of the globe and all of the oceans. Queen Victoria served as the personal suzerain of countless local indigenous leaders who pledged loyalty to her Crown in exchange for protection and trade.

Even though British law limited her actual powers as Queen, no monarch in Europe dared to cross her. When her 20 something year old grandson, the brashly rude and ambitious Kaiser Wilhelm II, overstepped etiquette in a dispute with other members of the British royal family, she sent him a terse note. It was not a note written to an equal head of state and fellow ruler of an empire. It was penned as a grandmother to a petulant child throwing a temper tantrum. He dared not respond contentiously to her out of deep respect.

Aging means coming to terms with diminishing physical capabilities, but a well tended mind will continue to flourish and gain. It takes years or even decades for most people to truly develop their mind to their God-given potential. It requires also that adult men and women leave behind the pursuits and desires of childhood and mature into productive human beings capable of handling responsibilities.

"When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things." says I Corinthians 13:11, the words of Saint Paul.

Putting away childish things does not mean abandoning fun and games in one's spare time forever. It does mean accepting the mindset of an adult, of taking on and fulfilling responsibilities, of not letting one's youthful type of desires consume so much time, money, or energy that one cannot function properly as an adult.

It means that one must embrace the challenges that life sets before one, instead of trying to shirk or run away from obligations and responsibilities. One's roles in life, father, mother, son, daughter, employer, employee, community member, become more important than the whims of childhood.

It means that one must exercise emotional and personal discipline. Emotions to a truly functioning adult are always secondary to getting the job done. When those who are over the age of majority allow their emotions, especially their negative emotions, to rule them and direct their behaviors and responses, they have not put away their childish things. Instead, they have embraced permanent childhood. The longer one continues in such a state, the sadder that state becomes.

Imagine a world where Madonna put aside childish things and embraced maturity and age. Imagine if her, admittedly beautiful and quite distinctive voice followed a mature personality into a Barbara Streisand type middle age and senior career. Instead of serving as a tired punchline, she'd be respected, perhaps even in some quarters even revered.

Too many men also fail to set aside childish things, also. A century ago, most men had libraries, workshops, or even laboratories where they spent time in productive or enlightening practices. Now too many men go to "man caves" and try to stretch the false halcyon mid teen to mid 20s years as long as they possibly can.

One cannot help but to note that Plato metaphorically equated a complete lack of understanding with living at the bottom of a dark cave.

The true halcyon years in a person's life, if they have set aside their childish things, start in one's late 30s. Hard work, wise decisions, and mature behavior bear fruit in early middle age when, suddenly, an adult's opinions and ideas are more respected, even sought after. One is asked to lead and/or mentor others and help them to grow and achieve in their own lives.

The aged mind is a beautiful one. It grew on experiences, relationships, failures and successes both, and learning how the world works and how people operate. It has much more to offer as it continues to accumulate those experiences. Valuable are these minds and wise are the young people who seek their counsel and listen to their advice.

Embracing middle and old age comes easier to those who have kept their faith. They understand that this world is not the only or the final one, but that heaven awaits the righteous. Fear of death is mitigated by the understanding that it is not the end. One may have some concern for how one dies, but death itself is not frightening. There is no "Dead End" sign there, but a doorway into what comes next.

If one does not have faith and feels that this life is the only one there is, their great fear is very likely of not living the one period of existence they have to their fullest. Fear of death, or of not living life completely, will warp judgment and decisions of many in this mindset. It could certainly lead to clinging to young adulthood or even childhood as long as one can, avoiding the reality that all living creatures must face.

Adulthood is challenging almost by definition, but true happiness only comes from overcoming challenges and obstacles in life. Clinging to childish things, however, only perpetuates the delusion of youth.

As the delusion becomes more untenable, the deluded descends into a figure of either pathos or ridicule..

Oct. 8, 1764: Harman Blennerhassett was born in England. He and his wife Margaret settled on an island near Parkersburg in 1798 and built an elaborate mansion. In 1805, they joined the Aaron Burr Conspiracy, leading to Harman's arrest on treason charges. Although released after Burr's acquittal, Blennerhassett died in poverty in 1831.

Oct. 8, 1909: Harry Brawley was born in Charleston. As a history teacher, he pioneered the use of radio in classrooms and later broadcast shows for schools. He also was instrumental in founding what is now West Virginia Public Broadcasting.

Oct. 8, 1993: The Rev. Bernard Coffindaffer died unexpectedly of a heart attack. Starting in 1984, Coffindaffer began erecting clusters of crosses in West Virginia and other states. He was buried in Nicholas County, just across the highway from a set of his crosses.

Oct. 9, 1877: The Episcopal Church created the Diocese of West Virginia. The initial convention of the new diocese met at St. John's Episcopal in Charleston, with 14 clergy and 16 lay delegates.

Oct. 9, 1918: Lucinda Rose died. During World War I, the Doddridge County native and Clarksburg resident was dispatched overseas as a nurse with the Red Cross. She contracted influenza on the transport and died after reaching England. She is the only West Virginia woman to lose her life overseas during the war.

Oct. 9, 2014: Following court rulings and announcements by the governor and the attorney general, same-sex marriage was effectively legalized in West Virginia.

Oct. 10, 1774: Shawnee warriors led by Cornstalk were defeated by Virginia militia at the Battle of Point Pleasant. It was the only major engagement of Dunmore's War and the most important battle ever fought in present West Virginia.

Oct. 10, 1872: Architect H. Rus Warne was born in Parkersburg. Warne designed many notable buildings in Charleston, including City Hall and the Masonic Temple.

Oct. 10, 1878: Blanche Lazzell was born in Maidsville, Monongalia County. She was one of West Virginia's most notable artists and is recognized as one of America's leading abstract painters and print makers.

Oct. 10, 1904: Author W. E. Blackhurst was born in Arbovale, Pocahontas County. As a teacher at Green Bank High School, he developed the state's first conservation classroom course. His 1954 novel Riders of the Flood is a classic tale of the timber boom era in the Greenbrier Valley.

Oct. 10, 1948: During a boat-racing event in Charleston, Chuck Yeager flew a Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star under the South Side Bridge, surprising boaters, audience and news media at the event.

Oct. 11, 1811: State founder and U.S. Senator Waitman T. Willey was born near Farmington. Willey proposed the West Virginia Statehood Bill in the Senate and saw to its passage and later signing by President Lincoln. He was then elected as one of West Virginia's first two U.S. senators and served from 1863 to 1871.

Oct. 11, 1896: George Preston Marshall was born in Point Pleasant and later lived in Grafton. As longtime owner of the Washington Redskins, he deserves much credit for inventing modern professional football. Marshall's other legacy, however, is one of deeply entrenched racism, as Washington was the last NFL team to integrate.

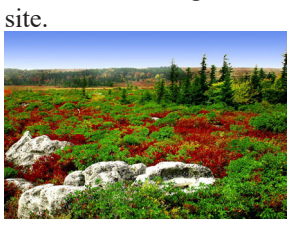

Oct. 11, 1923: Science fiction and fantasy author Doris Piserchia was born Doris Summers in Fairmont. She was a pioneer in a genre that has become known as feminist science fiction, authoring 13 novels and 17 short stories between 1966 and 1983.

Oct. 12, 1877: Howard Mason Gore was born in Harrison County. He served as U.S. secretary of agriculture and the 14th governor of West Virginia.

Oct. 12, 2020: Actress Conchata Ferrell died. Born in Loudendale, Kanawha County, Ferrell was best known as Berta the housekeeper on the CBS sitcom Two and a Half Men. She enjoyed a long career on stage, film and television.

Oct. 13, 1863: The Battle of Bulltown took place in Braxton County. The location was valuable during the Civil War because the Weston & Gauley Bridge Turnpike crossed the Little Kanawha River on a covered bridge at this site.

Oct. 14, 1943: The army began transforming parts of Dolly Sods into an artillery range to train military troops bound for duty during World War II. The operation ended on July 1, 1944.

Oct. 14, 1947: In a Bell X-1 rocket airplane dropped from a B-29 bomber, Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier by flying 700 miles per hour. He set another speed record on December 12, 1953, by flying two-and-a-half times the speed of sound in a Bell X-1A.

Oct. 14, 1949: WSAZ-TV went on the air on channel 5. Early shows included the first telecast of a Marshall College (now University) basketball game on December 3, 1949.

Oct. 14, 1985: Kanawha Airport was renamed Yeager Airport in honor of Chuck Yeager.

FLAVOR

of selling sourdough lies in its health benefits for many in West Virginia contending with diabetes. The glucose from sourdough bread breaks down more slowly than most other forms of bread, especially white. This slows the accumulation of blood sugar in the body that is so dangerous to diabetics when they eat.

The women described the community of bakers in the region as more cooperative than competitive, that they share information and tips to help each other thrive. Each home bakery has a little different style and focus, which creates a cornucopia of options for baked goods lovers who support local entrepreneurs.

A big step for their business came when former Walton Elementary School in Roane County sold off kitchen equipment. They brought to their operation a commercial Hobart mixer. Nicholson explained "that has changed the way that air is included in the sourdough." Bread coming from this process "is so much lighter and fluffier," she noted. Often sourdough breads have a dense and sturdy quality, but as Nicholson says "Adrianna is a magician when it comes to sourdough."

Making dough from scratch is much easier than making a business from scratch, but in both cases preparation before action is key. "Definitely know the laws before you start," said Nicholson. The county health department works to help those looking to start food-based businesses to get and stay in compliance with state and local laws.

The community has welcomed their wares and appreciate "the time and effort" needed to bring such quality products for sale. "We encourage the community to keep coming out to enjoy fresh foods" with "less additives and preservatives," said Knight.

USDA Issues Final Rule with Comment Period Ahead of Opening the Application Window for Rural Energy for America Program

Courtesy Office of Communications

(Washington, D.C., October 2, 2026) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture is taking steps to advance the Trump Administration's commitment to unleashing American energy and economic prosperity and is streamlining program delivery for the Rural Energy for America Program (REAP). Rural Development through the Rural Business Cooperative Service (RBCS) is issuing a final rule with comment period that will simplify the application process, reduce risk to the agency, and protect taxpayer dollars.

"The final rule from USDA will restore integrity and stability to the Rural Energy for America Program. For too long many applicants have prioritized unreliable energy sources and have not fully delivered on their stated goals, as of today that ends," said Secretary of Agriculture Brooke L. Rollins. "President Trump is committed to an energy dominant future for America and it starts with our rural communities, USDA stands ready to deliver on this goal."

"This rule cuts the red tape so that farmers and rural small businesses can spend less time and money navigating paperwork and more time investing in their operations," said Under Secretary for Rural Development Glen R. Smith. "At the same time, we're protecting productive American farmland from oversized solar developments and ensuring taxpayer-supported energy investments don't put components from foreign adversaries on American farms. REAP should work for rural America, not foreign supply chains or projects that take good farmland out of production."

Important changes to program requirements include:

Implementation of the Agriculture Secretary Brooke Rollins' direction to disincentivize solar photovoltaic and wind energy systems on cropland.

Requiring projects to be fully built, operational, and demonstrating performance before applying. This ensures that the applicant can demonstrate the project's actual documented output, energy savings, costs, and system performance.

Multilocation projects and specific application of certain technologies are now ineligible.

Implementation of a single streamlined national competition process to simplify program administration and prioritize projects delivering verifiable results.

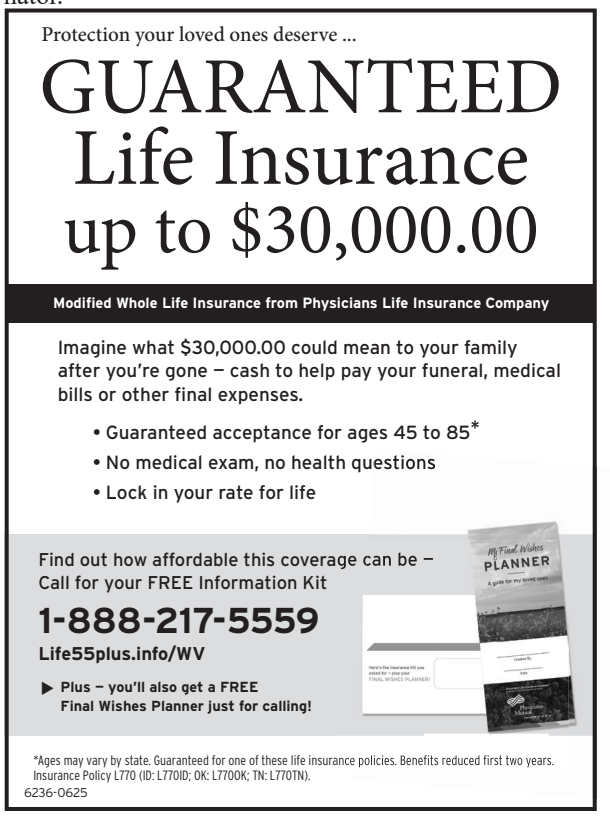

A planned online application portal will significantly decrease burden for applicants by shortening application length and review times across the program.

Applications with a Form 1940-1 "Request for Obligation of Funds" signed by the Applicant and the Agency prior to the effective date of this regulation will continue to be processed, provided that their project remains in line with applicable terms and conditions. Each person or entity is subject to maximum amount of grant assistance per Federal fiscal year. Entities that share common management or ownership, regardless of percent owned, either directly or indirectly through another entity or person, are considered one entity for which aggregate funding cannot exceed the applicable dollar limit.

Stay tuned for the publication of the annual program notices which will announce application window open and close dates.

The REAP Program provides guaranteed loan and grant funding to agricultural producers and rural small businesses for energy systems or to make energy efficiency improvements. For more information on this program visit https://www.rd.usda.gov/programs-services/energy-programs or contact your State Energy Coordinator.

FALL FESTIVAL

and replicating the past in a way that serves the present and the future.

At one o' clock about 100 came together for the grand opening presentation for Avalon. Attendees sat on hay bales or in Adirondack chairs almost as if at a country party. Speakers took the podium at the old bandstand, flanked by brilliant fall flowers and other décor reminiscent of the autumn season.

A young man rose to recite the Pledge of Allegiance, then sang "Jesus Loves Me" before Pastor Bill Law gave the invocation. "Father we thank you for the years of work that led to this day," he prayed.

Recognition was the order of the day. Mason Snyder shared the trials and travails of operating the aquatic center over a summer that seemed to bring dangerous storms weekly. "We fought the weather a lot" he noted, describing how his team had to juggle rescheduling major events around the relentless series of storms that plagued the region. While the center earned a small profit of $2,500, an outside company stepped in to provide enough to cover $1,000 bonuses for every young person who worked the summer season. Snyder also shared recognition of workers at the center.

Larry Whited and Melva Stull were also honored for their significant contributions of time as community volunteers.

Crystal Mersh from the 1982 Foundation also rose to spoke. She shared her story as a young lady who never wanted to leave her hometown, but had to for marriage and opportunity. Mersh added that the day she left after her wedding was "the only time I ever saw my Daddy cry." Then once she found success in the wider world, she never saw herself coming back home, but felt compelled to as so many people from the hills and mountains do, because there truly is no place like home.

Mersh told the story of "the journey we embarked on five years ago" to make the former high school the centerpiece of community revitalization. That mission stemmed from Mersh looking to restore the community of her youth, one that she described as supportive, entrepreneurial, and having a can do spirit. "Parents, neighbors, church leaders, scout leaders, everyone around" had a hand in serving as role models for the younger generation. "Older children even helped to raise younger children" she noted.

After she laid out the different plans for different sections of the building, the crowd applauded when she said "the old girl is coming back to life."

WVDNR anticipates higher deer harvest due to lower mast production

2026 Hunting Outlook and Mast Survey available online

CHARLESTON, W.Va. — The West Virginia Division of Natural Resources (WVDNR) announced today that hunters preparing for fall seasons may now consult the 2026 Hunting Outlook and Mast Survey, which details the abundance of wild fruits and nuts produced by 18 species of trees and shrubs and forecasts game harvests for the coming year.

According to the survey, the mast index is 14% below the statewide long-term average and 16% below 2025.

"Overall hard mast production, especially red oak and black oak, is down this year and is expected to be less abundant across the state," said Avery Echevarria, mast survey project leader for the WVDNR's Wildlife Resources Section. "Soft mast production was mixed. It was above the 2025 production level but slightly below the long-term average."

When mast is less abundant, big game tend to move more, making them easier for hunters to locate. However, the increase in soft mast may mitigate this somewhat.

Because mast production influences wildlife behavior, harvests for white-tailed deer and raccoon should be higher in 2026. According to the survey, the black bear harvest is predicted to be higher for archery hunters but slightly lower during firearms season. Compared to 2025, hunters should see similar harvests for wild turkey and ruffed grouse in 2026. Wild boar harvest is expected to be lower, and gray and fox squirrel harvest is expected to be higher.

"Every hunting season in West Virginia comes with unique opportunities and challenges, so I encourage folks to use this report to their advantage, plan accordingly and enjoy a great hunting season this fall," said WVDNR Director Brett McMillion.

The survey, which is conducted by active and retired staff from the WVDNR's Wildlife Resources Section and West Virginia Division of Forestry, may be downloaded at WVdnr.gov/mast-survey.

All hunters 15 and older are required to have a valid West Virginia hunting license and valid form of identification while hunting, which can be purchased at license agents across the state or online at WVhunt.com.

Calhoun County Cross Country Competes at Ritchie County Invitational

The Calhoun County Middle High School cross country team traveled to the Ritchie County Invitational on Saturday October 3, 2026, where the Red Devils and Lady Red Devils continued to showcase their hard work and determination against a talented field of runners.

In the high school girls race, Brooke Tingler led Calhoun County with an outstanding performance, finishing 5th overall in a time of 23:51.0. Tingler stayed near the front of the pack throughout the race, earning another top-five finish during a successful season. Teammate Gabi Smith also represented the Lady Red Devils well, crossing the finish line in 29:12.4 to place 22nd overall.

The Calhoun County boys were paced by Braidin Ferrell, who turned in a strong effort to finish 20th with a time of 20:35.0. Eli Ferrell followed closely behind, placing 23rd in 21:11.9, while Zac Smith completed the team's high school results with a 29th-place finish in 22:09.7.

In middle school competition, Silas Cunningham led the Red Devils with a 19th-place finish and a time of 12:46.8. Cunningham continued to show growth and consistency as one of Calhoun County's top middle school runners.

The Lady Red Devils were represented by a trio of middle school runners. Lillian Caldwell paced the group with a time of 16:35.1, followed by Temperance Caldwell in 17:05.9 and Mackenzie Tingler in 20:28.2. All three athletes demonstrated determination and perseverance while competing against a strong field of young runners.

The meet provided another positive step forward for the Calhoun County program as athletes continue to improve their performances and gain valuable race experience heading into the final stretch of the season. With Brooke Tingler earning a top-five finish and several runners placing among the top 25 in their respective races, the Red Devils continue to build momentum as they prepare for upcoming competition.

Calhoun County will look to carry that momentum into its next meet as the team continues its pursuit of personal-best times and strong finishes throughout the remainder of the cross country season.

Red Devils dump Blue Dons

Madonna High School picked a poor night for its Homecoming festivities last Friday night in Weirton. It was a chilly, wet night at Weir High's Jimmy Carey Stadium. A steady drizzle fell during the second quarter and during the halftime festivities, making it miserable for the small crowd and putting a damper on the introduction of the Homecoming Court.

If Madonna selected this game because it thought it had a chance of winning on Homecoming night, that didn't work out well for them either. The Calhoun County Red Devils stormed out to an early lead and thrashed the homestanding Blue Dons by a 34-6 score.

Calhoun County thoroughly dominated the hosts in the first half. Madonna won the toss and elected to receive. The Red Devil defense limited the Blue Dons to only one yard and forced a punt. A terrific kick pinned the Red Devils inside the 20, but the visitors had little trouble covering the necessary 82 yards to score the first points of the evening. Chase Schoolcraft had the biggest gain, a 25-yard run to get the team to midfield, and Rome Riddel covered the final 14 yards to get the Red Devils on the scoreboard. Trevor Mayle kicked the extra point to give Calhoun County a 7-0 lead.

What followed was a repeat of the start of the game. Madonna, limited to two yards in three plays, punted the ball to Calhoun County, who promptly marched for a second score. This time, however, the big play came at the end, with Gavin Hicks catching a 51-yard bomb from Trevor Mayle. Mayle again kicked the point after, making the score 14-0.

On the first play of the second quarter, Trevor Mayle picked off a Blue Don pass to set up another Red Devil scoring drive. Mayle, Rome Riddel and Chase Schoolcraft took turns carrying the ball, and then Mayle burst through the Madonna for a 21-yard gain. He than carried the ball over the goal line to put the Red Devils up 21-0.

On Madonna's very next play, Gavin Hicks plucked the ball from the running back's hands and returned possession to the visiting team. The Red Devils scored on three plays to score for the final time in the quarter. Rome Riddel gashed the defense for a 15-yard gain, Mayle raced 43, then Chase Schoolcraft scampered over for a 2-yard gain and six more points. After a Trevor Mayle kick, the score stood at 28-0.

Madonna replaced its quarterback on the next possession and managed to gain its initial first down of the evening, but thanks to Calhoun's excellent secondar, their drive ended with four straight incomplete passes.

The Red Devils drove deep into Blue Don territory as the half closed, but the drive fizzled when Trevor Mayle had to leave the game due to an injury. The Blue Dons got the ball back with 13 seconds, but threw three straight incompletions to end the first half of play.

The first half could not have gone better for Calhoun County. The offense scored 28 points, and the defense completed stifled Madonna. At the end of the first quarter, Calhoun's defense had allowed Madonna no first downs and a total of -3 yards on eight plays. At then end of the half, the Blue Dons had only gained 29 yards and had seven incomplete passes in a row.

The third quarter was one that both offenses would probably like to forget. Calhoun's first possession ended in a lost fumble. Two plays later, Chase Schoolcraft intercepted a pass to give Calhoun the ball back. The Red Devils drove inside the Blue Dons' 25-yard line, but Madonna picked off a pass in the end zone to end that threat.

Madonna's next drive was their most successful of the evening, aided greatly by two Calhoun County personal fouls, but ended with Chase Schoolcraft's second interception of the evening inside the ten.

This time, Calhoun County capitalized on the turnover. Gavin Hicks immediately moved the ball to midfield on a 31-yard run. Rome Riddel scored a few plays later on a play worthy of Sportscenter. Riddle plowed through the middle of the line and was swarmed by a host of Blue Dons after a roughly 10-yard gain. But Riddle kept his legs churning, dragged the pile around five yards, and suddenly burst through the pile and rumbled all the way for a 39-yard touchdown run. The try for extra points failed, but the drive put Calhoun County ahead 34-0.

By this time, Coaches Goodrich and Yeager had filtered in most of the backups to play on defense, and Madonna was able to mount a scoring drive.

Following the score, Calhoun ran out the clock by handing the ball off four consecutive times to Dayvon Mitchell – who gained 28 yards and earned two first downs – then taking a knee to draw the game to a close.

Rome Riddel led the way for the offense with 160 yards rushing, the first 100+ yard effort of his career. Trevor Mayle chipped in 133 yards, and Gavin Hicks hauled in two passes for 80 yards. On the defensive side, Chase Schoolcraft intercepted two Blue Don passes and also picked off a pass on a two-point conversion attempt. Kristian Frederick was a constant disruption to Madonna's passing game and was credited with 7 quarterback pressures.

The victory raises the Red Devils' record to 4-1 and sets up a big showdown with #1 Wahama this Friday at Mount Zion. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:00. Come out and support the team!

FYE JUNE 30, 2026

Net change in fund balances - total governmental funds	$ 1,245,735
Amounts reported for governmental activities in the statement of activities are different due to:
Governmental funds report capital outlays as expenditures. However, in the statement of net position, the cost of capital assets is allocated over their estimated useful lives and reported as depreciation expense. The effect on net position is the amount by which capital outlays exceed depreciation in the current period.
Depreciation expense	(1,195,480)
Capital outlays	4,367,185
Governmental funds report capital outlays as expenditures. However, in the statement of net position, the cost of lease assets is allocated over their estimated useful lives and reported as amortization expense. The effect on net position is the amount by which capital outlays exceed amortization in the current period.
Amortization expense	(8,874)
Capital outlays	-
Governmental funds report capital outlays as expenditures. However, in the statement of net position, the cost of SBITA assets is allocated over their estimated useful lives and reported as amortization expense. The effect on net position is the amount by which capital outlays exceed amortization in the current period.
Amortization expense	-
Capital outlays	-
Certain receivables will be collected this year but are not available soon enough to pay for the current period's expenditures. This is the amount by which such receivables increased (decreased).
Property taxes receivable	14,928
Operating Grants and Contributions	2,224
Other miscellaneous conversion adjustments	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the proceeds from the general obligation bonds issued during FYE JUNE 30, 2024. Those proceeds are not considered revenue items for the purpose of this statement.	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the proceeds from the premium on the general obligation bonds issued during FYE JUNE 30, 2024. Those proceeds are not considered revenue items for the purpose of this statement.	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the current year amortization of the premium on the general obligation bonds. The current year amortization of the premium is a reduction of interest expense rather than revenue for purpose of this statement.	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the proceeds from finance leases. Those proceeds are not considered revenue items for the purpose of this statement.	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the proceeds from financed purchases. Those proceeds are not considered revenue items for the purpose of this statement.	-
A portion of the change in fund balances is the proceeds from SBITAs. Those proceeds are not considered revenue items for the purpose of this statement.	-
The repayment of the principal of long-term debt (e.g. bonds, leases) consumes the current financial resources of governmental funds. However, such repayment has no effect on net position.	215,000
Differences in the cost and accumulated depreciation on disposed capital assets are reported as a loss and reduction in net position in the statement of activities.
Cost of assets disposed	(626,499)
Accumulated depreciation of assets disposed	626,499
Differences in the ROU and accumulated amortization on ROU asset terminated agreements are reported as a loss and reduction in net position in the statement of activities.
Right-of-Use assets terminated	-
Accumulated depreciation of assets terminated	-
Compensated absences are reported as liabilities in the statement of net position, but are only reported in government funds to the extent they have matured. This is the amount by which compensated absences (increased) decreased.
Accured vacation payable	(76,257)
Interest on long-term debt in the statement of activities differs from the amount reported in the governmental funds because interest is recognized as an expenditure in the funds when it is due, and thus requires the use of current financial resources. In the statement of activities, however, interest expense is recognized as the interest accrues, regardless of when it is due.	-
Governmental funds report district pension contributions as expenditures. However, in the statement of Activities, the cost of pension benefits earned net if employee contributions is reported as pension expense.
District pension contributions	57,184
Cost of benefits earned net of employee contributions	(53,377)
Governmental funds report district OPEB contributions as expenditures. However, in the statement of Activities, the cost of OPEB benefits earned net if employee contributions is reported as OPEB expense.
District OPEB contributions	897
Cost of benefits earned net of employee contributions	(64,822)
Asset Retirement Obligations (AROs) are reported in the statement of net position, but are not reported in government funds. This is the amount by which the ARO has increased.	-

The highlight of the ground floor tour came when Walker led the group into a large area flanked by stone walls and rising the entire three stories of the school. Those on tour heard that they were standing in the original gymnasium for the school.

He shared some of the history, explaining that a February 1941 fire had severely damaged the school. Reconstruction efforts took in materials from a Civil War era hospital in Weston as part of getting the school ready for classes again. Walker explained that renovations required extra care and diligence because "we have to go through a certain process to comply with regulations on historical structures." That has added to the time needed to complete the project, but has also resulted in extreme care taken to protect and revitalize the historical appearance.

Keeping that history required special care. Walker stated that on the second floor "all the original flooring was kept" but "they had to do a few patches here and there."

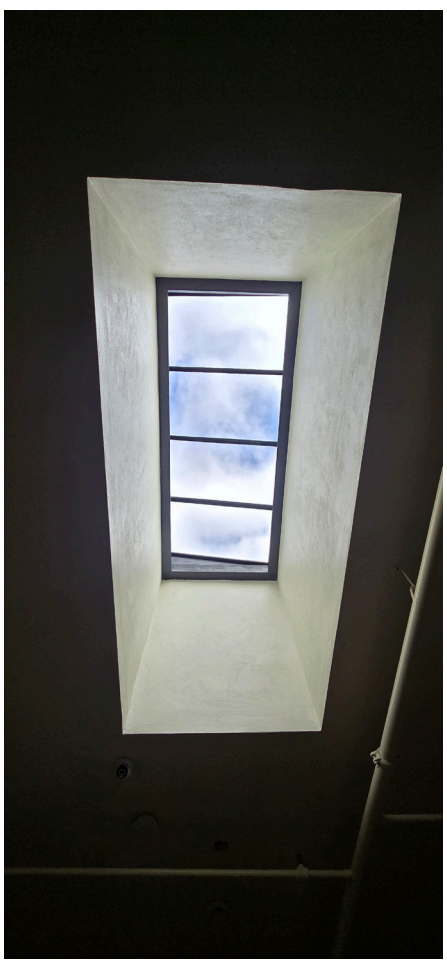

Walker reserved special praise for Past Respects LLC from Roane County. The team of a husband, wife, and two daughters did a great deal of restorative work on windows, doors, skylights and more. Their painstaking care brought back the original historical look whenever possible. On the third floor, they took different sections of broken skylights to fashion one entirely from the original materials. In many cases, they saved and restored the original glass panes. Walker pointed out that they "have a wavy look."

The top floor showed tremendous progress away from a retired school and towards needed lodging space for visitors to the area. Several bed and breakfast rooms will be available individually for travelers or collectively for families or others wanting to gather and spend time in a large group. Some have single bed and bath while other units offer two of each. Apartments will feature artificial fireplaces as well as chalkboards to remind all of the first purpose of the facility. Large windows allow sunlight and fresh air when desired. A mezzanine will be constructed to host group events.

The tour didn't end as much as fade out slowly. People got the time to ask Walker and also Robin Mersh questions about the project and different aspects of it. Others continued sharing memories with old pals.

But a few stepped back in quiet contemplation, taking in both what was and what will be simultaneously.

It was a beautiful day to remember but also to feel excitement.
