Clay County Commission Meeting August 24, 2026

By Gary Lee Stuber

Commission Swears In Stacy King as New County Clerk

Commissioner Joyce Johnson swore in Stacy King last week as Clay County's next County Clerk, even as Shelia Stone was leaving for retirement. Stacy has been Shelia's assistant for a long time and is familiar with the work. She will hold that position until the term comes up for reelection in 2028.

The County Commission met for their last regular monthly meeting on Monday August 24 with two Commissioners present. Joyce Johnson, the commission president, and Duane Legg. Commissioner David Schoolcraft was not present.

While not necessarily the first order of business, the commissioners appointed Stacy King a new assistant county clerk. Stacy was present as recorder, and the commission hired Angela Taylor as her new assistant. Effective immediately.

The commission took care of regular business. The approved minutes of the previous meeting, bills, purchase orders, budget revisions, erroneous assessments as presented by the Assessor, and fiduciary appointments as presented by the County Clerk including appointments of administrators, approved last wills and testaments, and affidavits and waivers of final settlements.

The commission reappointed Joyce McLaughlin to the Clay County Housing Authority Board.

They set a date of September 28 at 10:00 am for a hearing for the Estate of John McLaughlin.

With the General Election coming up in only a few months, the commission approved the number of Election Officials for each precinct as three Republicans and three Democrats. They also appointed Absentee Ballot Commissioners for the 2026 General Election: one Republican and one Democrat.

The next regular meeting of the Clay County Commission will be 9:00 am on September 14, 2026.

Panthers dominate the Patriots

By Allen Hamrick

Friday was opening night for the Panther football team on the road against Midland Trail. Last season the Panthers took a beating by the Patriots, but this year the Panthers were primed and ready with some sweet revenge. It was a perfect night for football. The Panthers relied heavily on the run in the first half as Brody Scarbro and Blake Coleman were lighting up the field. Scarbro was a tank; most of the time it took at least three Patriots to bring him down, while Coleman simply lit the after burners and set the field on fire. The run gave the Panthers great opportunities, but the referee confetti called a few of the big plays back and made it tough to advance. The usual air show by the Panthers was held in reserve as Joel Elliott was covered pretty good giving younger brother Collin Elliott an opportunity to shine as a receiver. In the first half, both teams seemed to be working out some bugs while getting in some good offense and defensive plays. Midland Trail struggled to find a way to advance after losing quite a few seniors from last season. They just couldn't figure out the Panther defense. At the end of the first half the score stood at Panthers 12, Patriots 6.

After the halftime festivities, the Panthers opened the book and got into the art of football. The first half was dominated by the run, but in the third quarter the gloves were off. The Panthers' defense just wore down the Patriot defense. On defense, the Panthers gave them one TD in the first half but adjusted great at the break and forced multiple three and out downs, and the offense capitalized on the great field position. The second half for the Panthers saw more short passes and plenty of runs that added to the offense and kept the Patriots guessing. By the time Midland Trail added another TD to the scoreboard, the Panthers were well on the way to a win. The Panthers turned a tight halftime 12-6 first half into a defensive game, outscoring the Patriots in the 2nd half 29-7. The final score was Panthers 41, Patriots 13. This is a good start to the season, and the Panthers will be at home this week against Poca who did some thumping of their own in their first game. It will be a barn burner if the Panthers can keep the momentum alive. After the Midland Trail game, the schedule will get heavy for the Panthers, but it looks like it will be a good season for them. Come out and support our youth, they deserve it. While we eat nachos, they smash heads. Go Panthers!

Read Aloud WV Salutes Dolly Parton’s Commitment to Literacy, Launches Campaign to Further Boost Reading Throughout West Virginia

Charleston, W.Va. (August 28, 2026) – Dawn Miller, Executive Director of Read Aloud West Virginia, announced the launch of a fundraising campaign to remember the late Dolly Parton and the Imagination Library she created to promote literacy.

For the month of September, in memory of Dolly Parton, Read Aloud West Virginia will share any donations dollar for dollar with Parton’s award-winning Imagination Library partners in West Virginia, if donors note “in memory of Dolly” when donating to Read Aloud WV online, by mail, in person or via stocks.

“Dolly was so special,” said Miller. “When she created Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library 31 years ago and made it available in other states, including West Virginia, we began to realize she had been lifting us up in ways other than her wonderful music.”

Miller indicated that Imagination Library provides books from birth to age five and Read Aloud West Virginia’s primary mission is to offer books and resources for school-aged children. “This allows Dolly’s passion to intersect with our core mission and enhance reading, literacy, educational attainment and quality of life for more West Virginians.”

Miller said Read Aloud only has resources to have formal programs in 28 West Virginia counties, but enjoys some level of presence in 40 counties, and responds to teacher requests for books for school-aged children from all 55 counties of the Mountain State.

“There are so many unmet needs in the Mountain State to help our youth become good readers, students and life-long learners,” said Miller. “The lack of resources forces our non-profit to make tough choices, and Dolly would want to ensure all youth interested in reading and literacy get an opportunity to do so. Right now, that is not the case.”

“What we are doing works,” Miller said. Providing classroom volunteers to read to children for fun, helping parents to understand their value in reading to children from birth, and then giving children engaging books that they want, it all supports the instruction children receive in school.

Parton’s own father never learned to read or write. Her Imagination Library foundation set out to correct that condition for millions of children by sending newborns a book a month until they turned age five. Sixty books at home are a major factor in growing up to be a reader. “It was and still is a brilliant approach,” noted Miller. “Dolly understood the physical barriers to literacy and has helped millions of families overcome some of them.”

Miller said she remembers when Dolly’s Imagination Library came to West Virginia 20 years ago. “It was a cause for celebration,” she said, “to have Dolly Parton lending her name and fortune to the cause of early childhood literacy.”

Read Aloud West Virginia – celebrating its 40th anniversary in 2026 -- works in the same space as Imagination Library, and Miller collaborates with its West Virginia partner. “While the Dolly Parton Foundation covers the costs of administering Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library, regions must raise the funds to buy the actual books,” said Miller. “This is another major reason why more financial support is needed as schools are just returning to session.”

Checks can be sent to Read Aloud West Virginia, P.O. Box 1784, Charleston, WV 25326, or online at <https://readaloudwv-101341.square.site/>

Relief Committee Meets

The Widen Relief Committee met at the offices of Elk River Coal and Lumber Company at 11:00 A. M., Friday, February 20, 1959, to consider business matters accumulated during the past month. Company representatives attending the meeting were Scott Williams, Garland Craft, John Henley, and Darrell Wood, while the Bargaining Committee of Employees' League of Widen Miners, consisting of Carl Young, James Triplett, and Lloyd Butcher, Jr., represented the employees.

There was no change in the list of retired men previously approved, and pensions for each of the forty-nine were paid for the month of March.

Twelve men, Herbert Thorne, Robert Perkins, Clarence Miller, J. B. Holcomb, Ophie Hall, Theodore Johnson, Ardie Cox, Cecil Adkins, D. P. McGlothlin, Roy Litton, Ernest Young, and Levy Friend, received disability payments for the entire month of February, while William Argabrite, Buster Gill, and Orville Knight were paid for a portion of the month.

There were two changes in the list of survivors. One dependent son who recently became gainfully employed was dropped from the list, and the surviving family of Robert A. Friend, grader operator who was killed in an accident on Widen hill February 10, was added to the list.

In addition to regular list services at the Widen Medical Department and Charleston General Hospital, medical bills were paid at Charleston, Clay, Clendenin, Cowen, Gassaway, Lumberport, Madison, Montgomery, South Charleston, Summersville, Sutton and Webster Springs for 124 employees and their families.

A number of the medical bills were approved for former employees laid off on January 4. Relief benefits for those men continued through January 15, and under the rules of the Relief Committee, a thirty-day period after termination of employment is provided in which to submit any outstanding medical bills to the Committee. Two bills that were incurred after January 15 could not be approved by the Committee and after February 4 the 30-day grace period had elapsed. Bills received after that date were too late for consideration.

ORIENTATION DAY: On Friday, May 8, the Clay County High School and Widen High School will hold its annual eighth grade orientation day. The 9th grade will remain at home in order to give room for the 8th graders.

Mrs. R. T. Sizemore, Sr., Mrs. Pat Hanshaw, Mrs. H. E. Mullins, Karen, Nancy, Judy and Cindy Sue Hanshaw, Brenda Kay Mullins, Jimmy and Stephen Mullins were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Nettles of Widen, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carson and daughter, Sally Ann, of Redondo Beach, Cal. are visiting Mrs. Carson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shelton.

Splint Practice

One of the more than 32,000 standard first aid classes held last year practices application of a fixation splint for a fractured hip or thigh. Over 723,000 persons last year got basic Red Cross first aid instruction in standard and junior classes. In addition, 102,000 certificates were issued for completing the advanced course.

Little Talks With Big Thoughts

My cleaning woman was telling me of the beautiful evening service she had heard. There were six choirs, from the smallest children, to the large adult choirs. Each one was lovelier than the other.

"Then", she went on, "when that soulist began to sing, it was as if he just lifted you up and up. He just made you believe. It was more than just words and music."

Looking at me, she said, "Did I make a mistake? Is soulist the wrong word?"

"No Jonnie Bell, a soloist is one who sings alone, and a soul is that which belongs to God.

"This time you heard a soulist, a man not singing alone, but with God."

DENIED VETERANS' CLAIMS MAY BE REVIEWED

More than 280,000 veterans whose claims for compensation or pension had previously been denied by the Veteran's Administration will now have their claims reviewed, according to Sumer G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

Ralph Winter returned last week from the Veterans Hospital in Beckley where he had been a surgical patient.

Mrs. Sherman Nettles of Widen returned home Monday evening from a Charleston hospital where she had been a patient for several days.

Lady Mustangs thump the Lady Greyhounds

By Allen Hamrick
The 2026 Lady Mustangs had their home opener against Valley this past Thursday. Some of the Lady Mustang big guns returned packing pretty good powder with some added heat, and some have the leaping ability of a deer that, at the height of their jump, can hit a volleyball hard enough to knock the teeth out of a beaver. Let's just say that the Lady Mustangs have more than one star hitter, and this will keep the other side guessing for sure. Not only do the Lady Mustangs have a kill line, but they also have girls that can play some tough defense. These ladies do not care to throw their bodies onto the floor to save the shot.

The Lady Mustangs' cannons were primed and loaded, and they fired the kill shots. Not all of them hit their mark, and the Lady Greyhounds had their chances, but in the end, they just couldn't take battering from the Lady Mustangs. They played a total of two games, with the Lady Mustangs struggling a little in one of them, but they managed to pick up the win. In volleyball, there is no time to stand flatfooted. The Valley girls were not willing to go down easily and were dropping bombs of their own, but most were picked up by the Lady Mustang defense. In the end, it didn't matter as the Lady Mustangs took both games by force and notched the wins. The first game was 25-21, and the second game was 25-16. In the last game Kinley Collins was a serving machine as she managed to ace the win with serves, hitting eight aces in a row. The girls will be back at home on Monday in a tri match against Ravenswood and Webster. Go Lady Mustangs!
