The Town of Vinton put on a spectacular Fourth of July Celebration at the Vinton War Memorial on Sunday night.

One spectator said that it looked like the town "combined the missed fireworks show from 2020 (due to Covid) with the show from 2021" to create a show "beyond expectations." Many said it was the best fireworks show they had ever seen in the Roanoke Valley.

Thursday, July 8, 2021 • Dogwood Capital of Virginia • Covering Vinton, Bonsack & Stewartsville

The program opened with a patriotic message from Vinton Mayor Brad

"Welcome to the Independence Day delebration here in the Town of Vinton," Grose said in his welcoming remarks. "Thank you for being with us as we celebrate the greatest nation on earth, the United States of America.

"As Americans we have always held this date up as a special time in our country. Thomas Jefferson mentioned July 4 in his last letter, and, of course, we know that John Adams thought that Independence Day should be celebrated in many ways, including with a fireworks display.

"It is altogether fitting that we gather here at the Vinton War Memorial, within sight of the Vinton-Roanoke County Veterans Monument, as we honor those who gave their lives, and those who are serving now-so we can continue to commemorate the birthday of our great nation and enjoy our freedoms.

'This Fourth of July seems special to me," Grose said. "We are coming out of a really difficult time in which we experienced not only the loss of many fellow Americans, but also the temporary loss of some of our freedoms. To say the least, we did not like it!

"As a nation we have learned a lot in the past 12-15 months, and now we are ready to celebrate. Many of us have a new appreciation for our country, our community, and, most importantly, for each other. Now is the time for us to move forward as one community, one people, and as 'one nation under God.'

Thrasher Memorial hosts Virginia Children's Theatre camp

Thrasher Memorial and Virginia Children's Theatre partnered for a summer theatre camp at the church from June 28 to July 2. Campers performed "Rock N' Wonderland" for their families and friends on the final day.

By Debbie Adams

Thrasher Memorial United Methodist Church in Vinton partnered with Virginia Children's Theatre to present Thrasher Church Theatre Camp for children in grades three through six the week of June 28 through July 2.

Thirteen children participated in the half-day camp (8:30 to noon) learning to "sing, dance and shine on stage while making friends and memories." Some were members of the church and others were from throughout the area.

"We had a blast at Thrasher this past week," said Brett Roden, Producing Artistic Director of Virginia Children's Theatre (VCT).

"Thrasher is no stranger to VCT, as their community has always been huge supporters of my work and VCT as a whole," Roden said. "We were thrilled to branch a new partnership this year and offer their young people high-quality music, theatre and dance instruction! Over one short week, I saw these young people blossom and gain new life skills that are irreplaceable."

The idea for hosting the camp at Thrasher originated with Tina Yates, Christian Formation Director at Thrasher. She says that the area offers "lots of sports camps, but not all kids are interested in sports." She wanted another option for them—but all children were welcome, not just those who had shown an interest in performing. The camp was also another way to invite children to visit Thrasher and become acquainted with the church.

The church connected with VCT and hoped to hold the camp last summer in 2020 but had to postpone due to COVID restrictions that went into effect.

Restrictions were lifted just in time to proceed with the camp this year and last-minute changes allowed for the camp to be held indoors in the church fellowship hall, rather than outside in the heat. The main health guideline still in place was the use of face coverings.

"Tina Yates took care of registration and we met and cast the students on Monday of camp," Roden explained. "Some were familiar faces from our in-house theatre academy programming at VCT, but most were new to VCT!"

The students spent the week preparing a performance of "Rock N' Wonderland," a rock and roll musical version of the classic tale of "Alice in Wonderland."

"The musical features songs from jukebox musicals such as 'ABC' from Motown and the Jackson 5, 'All Shook Up' from Elvis Presley, 'Dancing Queen' from Abba in 'Mamma Mia," and even Katy Perry's 'Roar," all told through the zany whimsical nature of Wonderland," VCT noted in describing the performance.

The script of "Rock N' Wonderland" was written by Ian Felker, VCT professional artist.

Roden thanked Thrasher for hosting and offering this program to the youth in the community and Tina Yates and Thrasher Administrative Assistant Michele Richardson for all their support and hospitality. VCT appreciates your collaboration and support for Professional Theatre Education."

Roden was assisted during the week by Emma Sala, Education Associate at VCT who choreographed the show, and student intern Bella Turner, a youth actor/ academy student at VCT.

Stage and Music Director Brett Roden presented certificates to those who attended the weeklong camp at Thrasher.

Children auditioned for parts the first day of camp, having never seen the script before. Roden and Sala discussed which parts best fit each student and cast the show. The children took home scripts that night to study. Sala says that many had their lines mastered by the next morning. They rehearsed each day in preparation for a costumed performance for friends and family the last day of camp on July spire, empower, and transform," because "theatre skills are life skills."

We inspire our youth and audiences to be critical thinkers, use their imagination, build confidence and come together as a community," VCT states on their website. "We empower them and provide them with the tools to be successful. Through inspiration and empowerment, we then seek to transform our community through the magic of live theatre."

As an independently owned and operated 501c3 non-profit organization, VCT is the professional theatre in the commonwealth solely dedicated to youth, schools, and their families. It was originally founded as the Roanoke Children's Theatre in 2008.

In 2017, Roden joined RCT as Director of Education and later took over leadership of the Company, becoming the Producing Artistic Director in 2019. He moved to Roanoke in 2017 from upstate New York. He is an experienced caliber professional broadway-style musicals, concerts, and issue driven plays each season. These productions are produced here in the Roa-

Celebrating The Town of VITON!

The Town of Vinton, a community nestled in the Blue Ridge Mountains, welcomes you to our community. Vinton, a town rich with history, has over the years found itself to be one of a few communities that continue to relish the past by offering an environment of a comfortable lifestyle with the feeling of being a part of a large community family. The town, with its proximity to the Blue Ridge Parkway and Smith Mountain Lake, provides many opportunities for those who wish to stop and shop at our local farmers market or one of our unique specialty shops.

If festivals are your interest, the Vinton area hosts several festivals throughout the year from the Vinton Dogwood Festival to the Vinton Fall Festival. Each festival offers its own unique atmosphere. When you are away from home it's always nice to feel as if you never left.

The Town of Vinton provides small town character with urban services and amenities located nearby. The small town atmosphere is characterized by a low crime rate; small, locally, and regionally owned businesses; and moderately priced homes. Views of the mountains and Blue Ridge Parkway abound.

Vinton represents the ideal type of community, small enough to provide a feeling of belonging, yet progressive enough to provide the facilities, services, and conveniences that are necessary to make a community feel like home to its citizens.

Vinton transportation projects approved by RVTPO board

The Roanoke Valley Transportation Planning Órganization (RVTPO) Policy Board has approved $27,658,943 for 19 transportation projects for the FY22-27 period via the Surface Transportation Block Grant (STBG) program. This year's decision includes increasing funding for existing projects (some in Vinton) to cover project cost overruns including:

13 Once when Joshua was by Jericho, he looked up and saw a man stand-ing before him with a drawn sword in his hand. Joshua went to him and said to him, "Are you one of us, or one of our adversaries?" 14 He replied, "Neither; but as commander of the army of the Lord I have now come." And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped, and he said to him, "What do you com-mand your servant, my lord?" 15 The commander of the army of the Lord said to Joshua, "Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy." And Joshua did so (Joshua 5:13-15).

Just before the walls of Jericho fell, Joshua had an encounter with God similar to the experience Moses had on Mount Sinai. inward commitment to remove all of the world's unholiness from oneself before entering into the presence of the holy one.

Whatever the exact reason for the instruction may have been—theological, practical, or customary—the most interesting part to me is the phrase that followed the directive. "Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy." The place where Joshua stood was Gilgal. It was a plot of land also referred to as the "plains of Jericho." There was nothing uniquely special about that piece of property. It served as the camp for the nation of Israel, as they awaited God's instructions for Jericho. It was the place where they farmed, hunted, cooked, slept, ate, and lived together in community. Before it became Israel's camp, it served as farmland for crops and fields for the herds of the Canaanites. And yet in that moment, according to the angel of the Lord, it became a sacred place, a hallowed space; it became holy ground.

On Sunday, we celebrated our nation's independence. We gave thanks for the freedom we share on the land upon which we stand. We offered our prayers for the brave men and women who continue to make incredible sacrifices for justice and liberty; we remembered those who made the ultimate sacrifice. We may also be reminded that wherever we are, the ground upon which we stand has the potential to become holy ground. The ground itself does not have to hold unique or personal significance; it does not have to be land that is recognized as hallowed or sacred; it does not have to be a special place celebrated for its history.

Holy ground is simply the place where we choose to engage with God—to call upon his name, offer our prayers, read his word, and listen for his response. Holy ground is the place where we choose to trust God and obey him; it is the place where God is at work and his people have chosen to join him. As those created in the image of God, holy ground is the very ground upon which we stand when we choose to declare, "Not my will, Lord, but yours.'

As we celebrate the freedom of this land, may we also remember its potential to be a sacred place, a hallowed space, a holy ground. What makes it holy is not where it can be found, but rather the God who can be found upon it. Like Joshua, God has work for us to do, plans for us to achieve, a divine purpose for us to fulfill. May we too "remove the sandals from (our) feet, for the place where (we) stand is

"On June 13, officers of both the Vinton Police Department and Roanoke County Police Department responded to a distress call for service on what was determined to be a suicide in progress," said Drumond. "Information was disseminated to the responding officers that a subject wanted to end his own life. The officers' actions leading up to the distress call were critical and would ultimately define the successful nature of such a critical incident.

"The value of human life is not calculated by personal achievements or the position you hold in society," Drumond said. "Despite varying moral belief systems, we can attribute that our lives are extraordinarily valuable-a glorious gift from our Creator best served by noble

"In our profession, the value of human life is at the heart of every law enforcement professional. Over the course of our lives, we hear that serving for a cause greater than oneself is the key to a fulling life- I agree with that sentiment. The achievable aspects of fulfillment in our own personal lives are attributed to how we choose to serve others. The key aspect is to do it with sincerity and with no expectation of reciprocity. Often, in our profession, we are challenged with circumstances where the very person we engage with is in critical need. In this very case, their life may

Brooke Buehring makes and delivers Welcome Baskets, greeting newcomers to the neighborhood.

"In the beginning, we asked business owners that we knew if they would be interested in participating. Once we knew there was an interest, we worked on a pricing plan, made a logo and a website and made our business official as an S-Corp. "Back in the day, there used to be a company called the Welcome Wagon that did something similar," Buehring says. "They took baskets of goodies from local businesses and met with newcomers in their homes. They would make appointments and stay for 30 minutes to an hour to chat about the area and go through the baskets. "We loved the idea of welcoming our neighbors with a gift filled with local business goodies, but we decided on a different approach for a number of reasons. We do not make appointments, instead we greet neighbors at the door, or just leave a Welcome Basket on the doorstep as a surprise. Because of this, we are able to welcome a lot more homebuyers to our area. Not to mention the fact that no one wants a stranger in their home during a pandemic! We currently deliver between 90 and 120 Welcome Baskets each month to area home buyers.

"My mom has an eye for design, and I learned by watching her when we first started," Buehring explains. "She was (and still is) always thinking of ways to make the baskets look really nice. At times it can be a challenge to pull together all of the promotional items, coupons, and brochures from local businesses and make them stand out, but also work together so they look like they are part of one nice housewarming gift."

As for the businesses who become part of the Welcome Basket, "Over the years I have met with a number of businesses. Some businesses love the idea and jump on board with excitement. Other businesses

Currently businesses that participate in Welcome Basket include Virginia Mountain Mortgage, ProSource of Roanoke, Wisler Plumbing and Air, Northwest Ace Hardware, Bank of Botetourt, Old Dominion Veterinary Clinic, American National Bank and Trust, Edward Jones, Irby Dentistry, Chiropractic, Walter Biscuits & Bubbles, Woodmen Life, Mountain View Orthodontics, Wow Organizing Services, Town & Country Veterinary Clinic, Run-About Sports Roanoke, and Stella Nova Photography & Film.

Businesses who join the Welcome Basket are able to choose which areas they want to be included in. They also choose what type of items they want to represent their business in the Welcome Baskets.

Plumbing gives a rubber duck named Splashy; Pro-Source of Roanoke gives a catalog and wine glass; Ostrom gives a $25 gift card; Irby Dentistry gives a chip clip shaped like teeth and some dental floss; Edward Jones/ George Lester gives a jar opener and/or calendar; American National Bank & Trust gives a tool that is both a box opener and a bottle opener; Virginia Mountain Mortgage gives hand sanitizer and wet wipes; and Old Dominion Veterinary Clinic, a $1 nose to tail exam and a magnet. She and her family (which includes daughters, Emily, age 11, and Natalie, 7) live in the Bonsack/Blue Ridge, where she is able to work out of her home. She is in the middle of finishing off an area that includes a space to store her supplies and make the baskets.

"None of this would be possible without my mom," Buehring says. "Even though she is no longer a part of the dayto-day operations, her wisdom, guidance, and style are still a huge part of the Welcome Basket, and it's always a treat when she comes along to help deliver."

Honor in Work

Read Proverbs 5:1 through 8:36

In past generations, parents taught their children the value of hard work and faithfulness to their families. People had at least one job. When a person lost a job, he worked very hard to get a new one as soon as possible. He knew hard work honored his family and God.

Maybe times and values have changed, but today it seems like more and more young adults would rather not work at all. An entire generation of young people have been lured away by different types of leisure activities. Scripture warns against neglecting one's work:

A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest-and poverty will come on you like a thief and scarcity like an armed man (Proverbs6:10-11).

God created people to work hard with the giftedness and talents He gave us. Like no other generation in the world, we have access to education and job training to prepare us for our work. It is good for parents to provide for the needs of their family through the work God has provided.

Prayer Suggestion: Thank God for your talents and abilities and for the work He has placed before you.

who recently completed her sophomore season at Roanoke College, has been named to the Virginia Sports Information Directors All-State first team for college division teams and Lexi Powell of the University of Lynchburg has been named to the second team as a freshman.

Karnes was 14-4 on the mound with two saves for the Maroons. She struck out 157 batters in 159 innings and finished the season with an earned run average of 1.44. Jada made the VaSID team as a pitcher but she also hit .314 for Roanoke and played some first base when she wasn't pitching.

Powell hit .331 for the Hornets with 25 runs scored and 25 RBIs in 45 games as a utility player. She had 10 doubles and two triples and only struck out 16 times in 148 bats. Lexi was the starting catcher on Byrd's championship team.

NCAA Division III National Champion Virginia Wesleyan University swept the major awards as Jessica Goldyn was named State Player of the Year, Hanna Hull was named State Pitcher of the Year, Emily Seale was selected as State Rookie of the Year and Brandon Elliott was honored as State Coach of the Year.

RV Sports Club has "Football Kickoff" meeting on July 19

The Roanoke Valley Sports Club will have its "High School Football Kickoff" night on Monday, July 19, at the Salem Civic Center. Five high school coaches will speak at the dinner meeting.

Scheduled to speak at the meeting will be Jamar Lovelace of William Fleming, new Cave Spring coach Nick Leftwich, Jamie Harless of Lord Botetourt, Don Holter of Salem and Glenvar's Kevin Clifford. In addition the Glenvar girls' outdoor state championship track team will be recognized as well as the North Cross School lacrosse state champs.

Dixie League baseball, softball all-stars play in state tournaments this week

Three youth baseball teams and three softball teams will represent Vinton in Dixie League state tournaments this week.

In baseball the seventh annual Dixie state "Coach-Pitch" tournament will open on Friday. Vinton is coached by Matt Tingler and the locals will open Friday against the Prince George All-Stars. Vinton's opening game is scheduled for 2:30 pm in Goochland. It's a double elimination tournament through Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, depending upon results.

The Vinton AAA All-Stars, coached by Drew Howell, will play in Madison Heights. Vinton opens Friday night with a 5 pm game against Halifax County in an eight team bracket. The double-elimination tournament, for 10 and under players, runs through Wednesday of next week.

The O-Zone All-Stars are also in Madison Heights. William Hershel coaches the Vinton O-Zone team, for 11 and 12 year olds, and they will open against Appomattox Friday at 11:30 am. The double-elimination tournament runs through Tuesday with an "if game" Wednesday. In girls' softball Vinton's 10 and under team is playing a best-of-three against Carroll County and Vinton dropped the opener Tuesday night at Carroll. The second game was scheduled for Wednesday night of this week at Vinyard Park, and if Vinton wins the first game the two teams will play a second game to determine the champion. The eight and under "Darlings," will represent District 4 and open Friday night at 4:30 pm in a six team tournament hosted by Amherst. The double elimination tournament runs through Sunday with an "if game" Monday.

The 12 U "Ponytails" will open at 2 pm Friday in an eight team tournament hosted by Charlotte County in Charlotte Courthouse. The double elimination tournament will run through Sunday with an "if game" Monday.

"There is no doubt we live in a nation of great opportunities and unmatched freedoms," he said. "So let us all pray, let us all do what we can individually, to help ensure that we move forward, together. Let us renew our pride in our great nation and rededicate ourselves to God, country, and community.

"With renewed patriotism, we can ensure there will always be a celebration of freedom on the Fourth of July," the mayor said in closing. "Thank you, my friends. May God bless you and may God continue to bless the United States of America."

The Presentation of Colors was by the Vinton Police Department

Honor Guard, led by Sgt. Michael Caldwell, with Cpl. Dustin Bray, Officer Chris Shively, and Officer Brandon Settles.

J.D. Sutphin of the band Low, Low Chariot performed a stirring rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner." Four cheerleaders from William Byrd Middle School— Carleigh Leonard, Taylor Jacobsen, Lily Carrell, and Kaidence Stores—led the crowd in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Next up on the program, Angie Chewning, executive director of the Vinton Area Chamber of Commerce, and Justin Davison, the Chamber's president, unveiled the sixth issue of the "Vinton"

Magazine," published every two years as a special project of the Roanoker Magazine in conjunction with the Chamber.

of July celebration.

The Vinton Magazine this year is entitled "Vinton—a town that's IN the middle of everything." Chewning says that Vinton is in the middle of the valley and in the middle of progress."

After the unveiling, copies of the Vinton Magazine were distributed to the crowd. (The magazine can be found in the July-August 2021 issue of the Roanoker Magazine.)

"Thank you to the Chamber," said Chasity Barbour, Vinton's director of Community Programs.

"Partnerships like the Chamber are what keeps the Town of Vinton going."

Families took the opportunity to visit the Vinton-Roanoke County "High Ground"

Veterans Monument on the grounds of the Vinton War Memorial during the Fourth

Barbour, who facilitated the Fourth of July celebration, thanked those who participated in the program, the vendors, and the crowd.

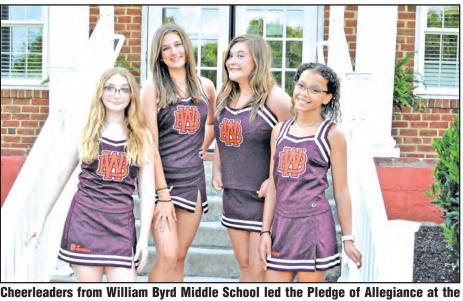

"I personally would like to thank the mayor and town staff," she said. "Special Programs truly takes everyone in each department working together making these events fun and successful. I am truly blessed with the support we have here."

Barbour introduced Low, Low Chariot—a band very familiar to those who attend festivals and concerts in Vinton and across the valley. The band is led by Sutphin and includes musicians Blaine Davis, Joshua Mason, and Jeremy Price.

There were long lines throughout the evening at the Deb's Lemonade, the Crusty Bark, Delicia's Gourmet Ice, Tinker Mt. Kettle Corn, Duck Donuts, and Tinker Mt. Shaved Ice food trucks.

The crowd continued to grow as the evening progressed and by 9:30 when Grucci launched the dazzling fireworks program, filled the front lawn of the Vinton War Memorial, Washington Avenue, and most downtown
