Navy Command Investigation finds crew blameless in fatal helicopter crash

In August 2021, a tragic accident aboard the USS Abraham Lincoln claimed the lives of five sailors of the US Navy, including Naval Air Crewman (Helicopter) 2nd Class James P. Buriak, 31, of Salem. Members of the "Eightballers" of Helicopter Sea Combat Squadron 8 (HSC-8), all five sailors were lost after their MH-60S Knighthawk helicopter malfunctioned while landing on the flight deck of the Abraham Lincoln and fell into the ocean off the coast of California. A new report released following a command investigation into the incident showed that a system failure in the helicopter was to blame rather than crew error.

The other four sailors lost in the crash were pilot Lt. Bradley A. Foster, 29, of Oakhurst, Calif.; pilot Lt. Paul R. Fridley, 28, of Annandale, Va.; HM2 Class Sarah F. Burns, 31, of Severna Park, Md.; and HM3 Bailey J. Tucker, 21, of St. Louis, Mo.

According to the report, the accident occurred after the helicopter touched down on the flight deck and began to experience a vertical vibration from the tail wheel that increased in severity and caused the helicopter to rotate left. The tail of the helicopter then collided with a gutter of the Abraham Lincoln. The report states that the crew members may have unsuccessfully attempted to stabilize the helicopter, which ultimately collided again with the ship and lost its blades before falling into the sea.

Virginia Western graduates leading the way in reshaping the future of nursing

shawn.nowlin@ourvalley.org

Over the last decade, Virginia Western Community College (VWCC) has graduated more than 450 students from its nursing program. After years of studying, in addition to the unprecedented challenges caused by the pandemic, approximately 60 students recently finished the program and will officially graduate on May 13. Said Nursing Club President and VWCC student Kara Gerenser, "I do not want to do something just for the money. I want to feel good going to work and coming home and I feel like taking care of people in the hospital when they are in their worst moments and making them feel a little bit better. What's in a name?

{Frances Stebbins has been writing of faith communities in western Virginia since 1953. She lives in Salem.}

When I learned that our new editor of the Salem Times-Register was Alexander Shedd, the family name rang a memory bell. Especially when he mentioned in his introductory profile that he was diagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) as an adult, I was sure he must be part of a family of researchers in learning disabilities. This group, the Specific Reading and Learning Difficulties Association (SRLD) was an all-important part of my life for much of the decade of the 1970s. It was a research program, privately operated under the strong direction of a brilliant educator, the late Dr. Charles Livingston Shedd, whose base of operations was Lafayette, Louisiana. Both Dr. Shedd and later a sister, Jane Shedd, were single, and he was probably the most dedicated and single-minded man I have ever known.

Unfortunately, the brother and sister both were chain smokers and died prematurely of lung diseases. But before that, well over 100 children who lived within 50 miles of Roanoke benefited from being enrolled after individual testing in the research program. They learned to read through intense "remediation" held from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays at a downtown Roanoke church. They were taught in an old-fashioned manner learning the sounds of letters. I was there to get help for my two sons whose academic performance in Roanoke County public schools was much less than it should have been.

Well, suspense can end here, for our new young editor told me he is not part of the researcher's family as far as he is aware. He did, however, message me about some distinguished relatives including a physician who made a significant contribution to medical history, his great-grandfather Donald P. Shedd of Buffalo, New York, who Alex told me is turning 100 this summer. Which leads us to research on ancestors which appears to be much more widespread than it was when I was growing up in Piedmont, Virginia in Great Depression and World War II days. suspect some of this interest may stem from TV programs as well as easier access to family records. People come to The Salem Museum to consult archives about early families in our area. "First Families of Virginia" was once a term associated with snobbery. Late husband Charles and I both came from families that settled in colonial times in what is sometimes identified as the "Old Dominion." They lived in the eastern part of the state, where folk from England, Scotland and Wales settled well before the American Revolution. Others, like my mother's Lichliter and Mueller families, came from Germany and moved into the Shenandoah Valley. They migrated south through the mountains, and we find in these parts large numbers of Lutherans, Churches of the Brethren as well as Presbyterians associated with Scotland and Northern Ireland. There are fewer Irish Catholics, for the wave of 19th century immigration from the island beset by the potato famine and other hardships affected mainly the northeast with its manufacturing and established cities.

I like to know the family names of people I meet, but I often have to ask them: is it an obsession with secrecy coming from our world of so much communication?

Over the years that I wrote about religious groups for the daily Roanoke newspapers, I learned the histories of the many denominations represented in our valley. Again, we're back to names. When Charlie and I came to the valley nearing 70 years ago, we encountered many names unfamiliar to us for we had always lived east of the mountains. Deyerle, Obenchain, or Obenshain, Garst and Eakin were among them.

Our daughter married a Bordelon of Louisiana French origin bringing a whole new culture into our family.

Back to Dr. Charles Shedd and his efforts to learn more about why some children have difficulty paying attention, memorizing verses or failing at games because they do not readily sense their left and their right. In the Shedd program, we parents served as unpaid tutors though never to our own child. We used challenging linguistic materials prepared by Dr. Shedd's staff. Strict formality was maintained between adult tutors and pupils; the Shedds abhorred any educational practice that made fun out of learning, for achievement was regarded as its own reward.

Enrollment in the research project paid off for many. I followed a few of the children who moved on to higher education. Although none of our three children enrolled in a four-year college, all fully supported themselves through the banking, heavy industry and construction-related fields. As for the parent tutors like myself, few are alive today. The strug-gling children, middle-aged, are becoming grandparents.

If, like me, you have wondered what's going to be housed in the big multi-level building going up at the Salem site where The Roanoke Boulevard turns up the hill toward the Civic Center, it's a sign of our times, a huge repository of computergenerated records, or so I was told. We'll have to find out more

Author Ted Carroll to speak in Craig

Pam Dudding

Craig County is a small place, and so is our neighboring Catawba Valley. Therefore, people really enjoy getting to know one

On Sunday afternoons, at 4 p.m. at the New Castle Firehouse, "bookworms and all others are welcome to come and enjoy local artists share their individual stories." The first event will be Sunday, May 15 as local author Ted Carroll shares true stories from his series of books about growing up in Catawba and Craig in the 1930s through the 1950s.

Not only will you hear some of the stories, but Ted will also tell the backstory of authoring his four-book series Echoes From Catawba, which includes Growing Up in Catawba Valley Appalachia, Granny Taylor of Possum Holler: 103 Years of Primitive Living, A Silent Killer Comes to Catawba and The Catawba Sanatorium is Born, and The Other Side of the Mountain.

Carroll shared that the "amazing journey Echoes has taken me on has allowed me to reconnect with kin, make new friends and share the love of Catawba." He will convey his experiences and the process of gathering material, interviews and research as well as how he underestimated the scope of the project and amount of time it took to bring it all together to produce one book per year for four years.

"My passion to preserve and pass on the history of growing up in the Appalachians during a different time foreign to today's generation and the encouragement and interest from others has kept it going," he said. "The success and widespread acceptance of the books have been unexpected and the partnership Echoes From Catawba has with the Salem Museum has sparked opportunities for presentations about local history to be made to schools in the area.

He added that he is grateful for The Emporium General Store in New Castle and the Salem Museum and Historical Society for providing an avenue for him to get the books out to people as "they have helped us distribute hundreds of copies of Echoes and they have been vital to its success.'

Ted Carroll is a native of Catawba and a graduate of Virginia Tech. After an early retirement from Virginia Tech's extension faculty, he studied at Southeastern Seminary Extension in Greensboro, North Carolina and served as a Pastor of a church for 14 years. He and his wife Tina now make their home in Salem, where Ted spends much of his time writing about Catawba's history and speaking.

His first book shares his recollection of his first-grade teacher telling him that he was the person to write about Catawba and the Garmans, the family of his mother, who had 16 siblings. Through his "guilt" he turned to God, who assured him that it was not too late to start. So, in 2018, he started writing, being one of 66 grandchildren. His wife Tina took on the typing and marketing for this wonderful series.

Volume II tells his story of his dad becoming ill, diagnosed with tuberculosis. Carroll was only four, though having to grow up quickly, becoming the "man of the house." Stories of cousins and incidents you don't want to miss.

Volume III was written during the Coronavirus pandemic and contains 12 articles of interesting people and a variety of subjects, especially the Catawba Sanatorium. Also, there are stories of Craig County.

Volume IV has more stories that touch the heart and all books are currently at The Emporium General Store on Main Street for purchase, both in hard back and

The five crew members who were lost were all restrained within the helicopter by their harnesses or gunner's belts. One crew member survived, likely due to being by the left gunner's window, which was facing up toward the surface as the helicopter sank.

The crew and helicopter were not recovered until October 2021. After recovering the helicopter, the Navy concluded that the crash was caused by a failure in one of the vehicle's damper hoses. The damper hoses are responsible for providing fluid to the damper system in the rotor for each blade. According to the report, damper hoses are typically only replaced after failing or showing problems during inspection. HSC-8's Knighthawk helicopter had passed inspection and completed two previous flights the same day.

The report ultimately concluded that the hose failed due to a flattening of its braids, which did not turn up during inspection, and was not the fault of any crew

Interstate 81 rest area at Troutville to close from late May until early September

-Closure needed for project to extend the ramp into and the ramp out of the facilityto know that the Troutville Rest Area extended approximately 500 feet and located on southbound Interstate 81 near mile marker 158 in Botetourt County will be closed from late May (after Memorial Day) until early September (prior to Labor Day). During the closure, a temporary concrete barrier wall will be installed in front of the facility, so motorists will not be able to enter the rest area or use the parking lot and restrooms.

While the Troutville Rest Area is closed, southbound I-81 drivers can use the Fairfield Rest Area at mile marker 195 in Rockbridge County or the Radford Rest Area at mile marker 108 in Montgomery County. Portable toilets and parking will be temporarily available for commercial vehicles at the Troutville Weigh Station located on southbound I-81 at mile marker 149.

The rest area will be closed due to work on a $4.9 million project to improve safety and traffic flow by extending the ramp into and the ramp out of the rest area. Because there will be so many construction activities within such a small area and within a short period of time, the rest area is being closed ensure the safety of the traveling public and workers.

The existing ramps at this rest area are very short. Extending them will improve safety by providing motorists

Department of more space to accelerate or decelerate. Transportation (VDOT) wants drivers The off ramp into the rest area will be the ramp onto southbound I-81 will be extended approximately 2,100 feet. The project also includes expanding the truck parking area at the facility by about 10-13 spaces. VDOT awarded the contract for the project was awarded to Branch Civil Inc. from Roanoke in February.

The Troutville Rest Area ramp extension project is a part of the I-81 Improvement Program approved by the Commonwealth Transportation Board in December 2018. The more than $2 billion package of focused improvements was funded by the Virginia General Assembly and signed into law in spring 2019.

Additional information about the I-81 Corridor Improvement Program is available at Improve81.org. The website includes interactive maps and schedules and details about upcoming and current projects that are designed to improve safety, increase reliability and foster economic growth along the 325-mile I-81 corridor.

VDOT has produced a podcast and a video to provide more information about the Troutville Rest Area ramp extension project. These can be found on the News Multimedia page of Improve81.org.

one year, with four valedictorians. In both 2019 and 2020, Roanoke College had three valedictorians. The 2022 valedictorians are:

Lillian Rose Blair, a mathematics and economics major from Salem, Virginia.

· Bennet David Franz, a public health major from Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Bryn Madeline Haden, a public health and health and exercise science major, from Katy, Texas.

Claire Michelle McDonald, a psychology major from Annapolis, Maryland.

Charissa Beth Roberson, a French and creative writing major from New Market, Marvland.

"It is the little things in life that matter the most," Blair said in her valedictory address. "We've reached an incredible accomplishment today, and we celebrate every single small moment that has led us to this point. Every hour spent in the library, every wing night at Mac and Bob's... These are the things that we are celebrating today."

Franz drew inspiration from "Silver Linings," a song by his favorite band, the indie rock group Mt. Joy.

"Our class is a class of Silver Linings," said Franz, who will enter medical school in the fall. "We persevered ... Even today, we are managing to find joy in this rain. Through a tumultuous college career, we've not only survived but thrived through the challenges we have faced."

"While I don't claim to have mastered finding the good in the not so good, I'm confident the challenges we've faced as a class have prepared us to move forward in a way that makes Dear Old Roanoke proud," he said.

Haden, who will work for the Virginia Department of Health after graduation, said her time at Roanoke College has been an experience "nothing short of

"I am extremely lucky to have gotten to know many of you, and what I know is that this Quad is filled with people who will do amazing things — people who are brave enough and strong enough to overcome any fear that gets in the way," she said.

McDonald wished all mothers in attendance a "Happy Mother's Day" and noted that her father asked her to be sure to tell everyone that, "I got my intellectual gift from my mother." In closing, McDonald, who was involved in Roanoke College Choir and Theatre Roanoke College, said, "Thank you for your time here today and please support your local arts!"

Roberson, during her valedictory remarks, referenced the "incredible support" she received from faculty and administrators during her years at Roanoke, including President Michael Maxey who once stopped to help carry her groceries when she had stitches in her knee and was walking with a cane. It is that generosity "that makes Roanoke so special," she said.

I pray that we will be good stewards of what we have learned here, and that we will give to others in the same way that our professors, friends and family and everyone else here has given to us,' Roberson said. "We have been greatly blessed. May we now be a blessing to wherever life should take us next."

Two students earned the honor of salutatorian: Sophia Albertina Kachur, a Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania native, who is graduating with majors in political science and Spanish; and Christopher Willis Rowsey, a business administration major from Roanoke, Virginia.

Three honorary degrees were awarded during the ceremonies. Dr. Peter Hotez, public health scientist and frequent commentator during the pandemic, received an honorary Doctor of Science degree. Dr. Hotez has spent his career developing vaccines designed to attack a number of disease-causing human parasites. He is the Endowed Chair in Tropical Pediatrics at the Texas Children's Hospital in Houston and the University Professor of Biology at Baylor University.

Hotez is also the founding Dean of the National School of Tropical Medicine and is Professor of Pediatrics and of Molecular Virology and Microbiology at Baylor College of Medicine. He also serves as Co-Director of the Texas Children's Hospital Center for Vaccine Development.

Roanoke College First Lady Terri Maxey was bestowed an honorary Doctor of Education degree. Terri Maxey has been a beloved member of the campus community who is well known for her warm and personal relationship with students, faculty, staff and alumni. Before becoming First Lady of Roanoke College, she worked in financial aid for Averett University, Roanoke College and Jefferson College of Health Science and in student affairs for University of New Hampshire.

President Michael Maxey received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree. Under his leadership, the College implemented the Intellectual Inquiry core curriculum, earned recognition as a top producer of academic scholarships such as the Fulbright and Truman scholarships, added eight new academic majors and an M.B.A. program, the College's first master's degree in more than 100 years. Maxey led several initiatives to diversify Roanoke College as well. He spearheaded the College's Roanoke Rising campaign, which led to the construction of the Morris M. Cregger Center, a state-of-the-art athletic and academic facility. Five new athletic teams were added as well as e-sports and an expanded roster of club sports and outdoor adventure opportunities. Maxey retires this summer but will remain involved in higher education as the Chair of the Board of Directors for the Council of Independent Colleges.

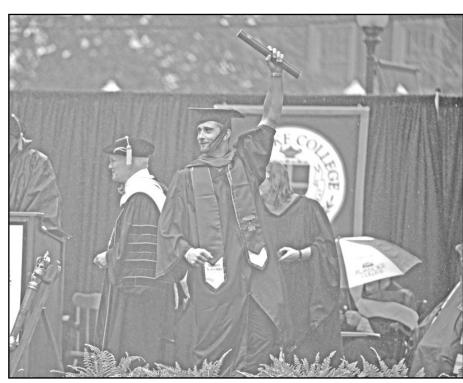

Several retiring faculty members received the Simon Carson Wells medal, an award bestowed upon tenured retiring faculty members.

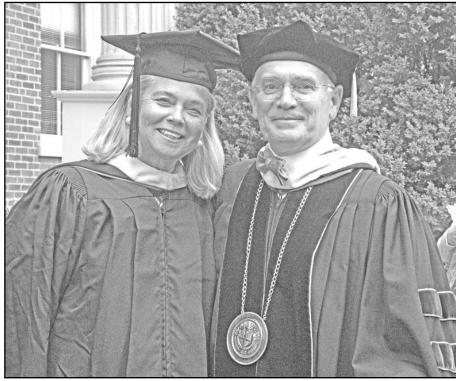

- · R. Scott Hardwig, professor of art. · Dr. Darwin D. Jorgensen, professor of biology.
- · Dr. John G. Selby, professor of history.
- Dr. Gail Steehler, professor of chemistry.
- · Dr. Anita J. Turpin, professor of English.

On Guard

Read 1 Chronicles 7:1 through 9:44

It was a great privilege and honor to be one of the men chosen to be gatekeepers at the entrance to God's house. Even more awesome was the responsibility of four principal gatekeepers who guarded the rooms and the treasuries.

They would spend the night stationed around the house of God, because they had to guard it; and they had charge of the key for opening it each morning (1 Chronicles 9:27).

asleep while on duty was not an option. The gatekeepers needed to remain alert to any sound or movement that might indicate the treasures they guarded were in danger. Today many churches install electronic security systems, although

No doubt some nights must have felt especially long, but falling doors are locked each night. But when it comes to guarding that which is most important—our children and youth—nothing can replace the prayers of parents and the church family. Challenge for Today: Ask the Lord for the name of a young person they probably rely on a person to make sure all the windows and

Salem High number one Aaron Peters hits a return.

Glenvar girls remain unbeaten despite missing number one player

The Glenvar girls remained undefeated in tennis with a 7-2 in over the Mountaineers in Alleghany last week. With the win the Highlanders improved to 11-0 on the season. Glenvar won despite playing without number one Isabella Gustafson. Cara Butler took over the number one spot and beat Alleghany's Draven Lucas, 8-0, at first singles. Hannah Hylton won 8-0 at number two and other singles winners were Dhruvi Patel at number three, 8-3, Natalie McMahon at four, 8-0, and Gabrielle Taylor at five, 8-2. Glenvar won the first and second doubles with Butler and Hylton at one, winning 8-0, and Patel and McMahon with an 8-1 win at two.

Spartan tennis girls edge C'burg, boys coach starting rec. program

The Salem High tennis teams are scheduled to play Pulaski County this Friday with the boys at home and the girls in Dublin. Salem was set to host Lord Botetourt on Wednesday with both matches in Salem, the boys at Salem High and the girls at the Salem Civic Center.

Last Wednesday at home the girls edged Christiansburg, 5-4. The district rivals split singles matches with Salem getting wins from Caroline Loveday at three, Zoe Prosser at five and Emma Johnson at six.

Claire Rawlins and Lauren Baba both lost pro sets in their singles matches but combined to win at number one doubles, and that was a key to the win as they took an 8-2 pro set. Prosser and Johnson completed a big day with a win at third doubles to put it away. The girls had a match with Blacksburg postponed last week but the boys were able to play, falling 6-0 in Blacksburg before the match was stopped due to inclement weather. The singles matches were all close and the doubles could not be completed after waiting about an hour before the match was called. The Spartans will wrap up the regular season with the home match against

"The final two matches are important in determining the standings for the regional," said Salem coach Steve Willinger.

Pulaski on Friday and a makeup match with Cave Spring, at home, next Tuesday.

Willinger is looking toward the future of the program with a program designed to get kids on the court at a young age.

Our players essentially began tennis as high school students," he said. "Former coach, Scott Gibson, deserves considerable credit for preparing the three current seniors for match play. To meet the standard of strong competition such as Blacksburg, Hidden Valley, and Christiansburg, the Salem Department of Recreation has helped me set up a pilot program, 'Tennis Up Salem,' to prepare youngsters for competitive tennis. Children from eight to 13 who might have the aptitude for, and interest in, an individual sport are welcome to participate. Cost is low and will be waived if appropriate."

and they'll make that up on Monday at home.

The Salem girls were also rained out of a match with Cave Spring last Friday

"Cara Butler and Hannah Hylton stepped up and played great," said coach Blaine Mills. "Senior Dhruvi Patel also had a strong showing in singles and doubles. Overall, the team played great and we're looking forward to finishing the regular season off on a good note."

The Highlanders were at Floyd on Tuesday and they're scheduled to host Radford today.

The boys rained out of a Friday match with Alleghany and that was scheduled to made up on Tuesday of this week. Floyd was here Tuesday, but results were too late for publication, and Glenvar's boys are at Radford today.

Wolverine teams wrap up spring season

The Andrew Lewis Middle School spring sports teams wrapped up their seasons last week as the baseball, softball and both soccer teams took on Read Mountain opponents.

The baseball team defeated Read Mountain, 9-5, in Cloverdale to avenge an 8-3 loss to the Patriots in the season opening game. Lewis finished the season 9-6 after an 0-3 start in the first year under coach Dan "Dipper" Stallard.

"Best team effort of the season," said Stallard. 'Lots of little things were done the right way.'

Zac Bocock had a two-run homer to lead the Wolverines. Ben Keffer pitched into the sixth before Bocock finished when Ben reached his pitch count.

"A great team win," said Stallard. "The eighth grade class has a bright future."

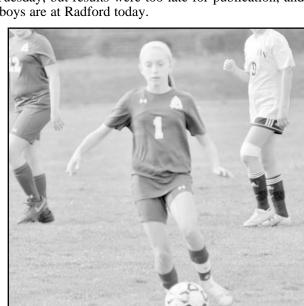

The softball team lost to Read Mountain and finished 3-11 on the season.

"We improved in every single game," said coach Lawrence Van Liew. "We batted over .400 on the year as a team, having more hits and walks then strikeouts. We lose eight eight graders, but will have nine returners next year along with a talented group of 6th graders coming in."

The boys' soccer team shut out Read Mountain in Cloverdale, 5-0, to finish the season at 15-1-3. It was the 37th year Perry Manning has coached the team and another successful season.

"A special thanks to my assistant, Andrew Reedy," said Manning. "A pretty good year in general. This group of young men is an outstanding group and we will miss the eighth graders moving to Salem High. Thanks to Captain Jett Lakin for working hard as a leader and thanks to the parents that did so much to support us."

The girls ended on a high note with a 5-2 win over Read Mountain at Lewis. The girls were 14-3-1 with 10 shutout wins under coach Estaban Martinez. It was the most wins by a Wolverine team since 2007 when the girls went 14-0.

was second in the 400 and third in the triple jump.

"I can't say too many positive things about how this Cosmopolitan meet was handled," said Glenvar coach Neil Swanson. "In my opinion, they didn't run the meet efficiently and there were definitely some dropped balls on their part that affected my kids. We will not be participating in the meet next year or as long as communication issues continue to be a problem with the Cosmopolitan Club."

In the middle school division the Andrew Lewis girls were led by Genelle Balthazar, who placed third in the 100 meter dash and second in the 200 meter dash. Zariah Sanders placed second in the 100 meters and took a fourth in the long jump. Jerni Allen placed fourth in the 200 meter dash to finish up the individual events for the girls.

Balthazar, Sanders, Allen, and Ashlin Hudson once again won the 100 meter relay to finish the season undefeated and the Cosmo Champs. The girls' track team finished fourth out of the twenty middle schools

For the boys, Brody Dawyot placed second in the shot put, third in the discus and fourth in the triple jump. Davon Jones had his best race of the year in taking a third in the 100 meter hurdles and Tre Dawyot grabbed a sixth place finish in the 200 meter dash.

The 1600 meter relay team of Cannon Migliarese, Jack Ellis, Dillon Williams and Jake Thompson closed out the competition with a strong second place finish from out of the slow heat. The boys' team finished in sixth place out of twenty-one schools in the boys'

Maroon baseball team sweeps Jackets to make ODAC "Final Four"

The Roanoke College baseball team is headed to High Point, NC this weekend for the Final Four of the Old Dominion Athletic Conference baseball tournament. The Maroons, who came into the tournament as the sixth seed, knocked off third seeded Randolph-Macon in Ashland to earn a spot in the final four. Play begins at Truist Point ballpark, the home of the High Point Rockers, on Friday, May 13, and continues through Sunday, May 15. The championship will feature six or seven games depending upon the progression of teams through the double-elimination format. All games will be streamed live on the ODAC Sports Network at odacsn.com.

Each of the first round series of the ODAC Baseball Tournament required just two games to narrow the field down to the final four teams advancing to the second weekend. Bridgewater College, the University of Lynchburg, Roanoke College, and Shenandoah University will travel to High Point, N.C., for double-elimination competition. Per ODAC baseball rules, the field for the second weekend has been reseeded following first round pay. Lynchburg (34-8) and Shenandoah (31-10-1) maintain their positions as the top-two seeds, respectively. Bridgewater (26-15), previously the #5 seed, is now the third seed headed to High Point. Roanoke (24-14) is the fourth seed in North Carolina after opening the tournament as the sixth seed. The Maroons earned a spot in the Final Four by taking the first two games from third seeded Randolph-Macon in a bestof-three series in Ashland last week. Roanoke won the first game in extra innings on Sunday, taking a thriller from the Yellowjackets with a six run 12th inning rally and an 8-4 win. Trailing 1-0, Roanoke got a two-run home run from Jeb

Byerley to plate Mason Staz and giving Roanoke a 2-1 lead heading into the bottom of the seventh. The bottom of the eighth would see a sacrifice fly tie the game and after nineinnings it was tied at 2-2. The Maroons blew open the game with six in the top of the 12th. PK Cocolis started the frame with a single to left, Jacob Bonzon was hit by a pitch, and Mason Staz walked to load the bases. Troy Ferrell broke the tie with a two-RBI single. After a fielder's choice and Ty Staz reaching on a hit by pitch, the bases were once again full. Conner Butler added two more runs with a base hit and Owen Lawn made it 7-2 with a single to center, followed by a Jonny Wall fly ball to give Roanoke eight runs. Ryan Cloude recorded the final three outs for the win and putting Roanoke up 1-0 in the series. Cloude went two and two-thirds innings of relief, giving up six hits and two runs. Salem High grad Caleb Lingenfelter got the start and pitched seven innings of six hit, five strikeout work.

The Maroons closed out the series on Monday with a 7-3 win. Will Turner got the start and went eight and two-thirds innings, giving way to Jackson Murphy who struck out the only batter he faced to seal the win for the Maroons. Turner scattered seven hits and gave up just one earned run while

The Maroons will take a 24-14 record to High Point this weekend. They'll open with a 4 pm game against Lynchburg on Friday afternoon.

Bryn Athyn comes into the matchup with Roanoke off a season that would see them win the CSAC Championship, 15-7, over the College of Notre Dame (Md.), while completing the season with an 11-2 overall record.

For a second straight season and the sixth time in tournament history, the national semifinals return to Salem, VA. Kerr Stadium on Roanoke College's campus will serve as the host venue on Saturday and Sunday, May 28-29, with the event hosted by the City of Salem, Roanoke College and the ODAC The Maroons won their ODAC semifinal game over Shenandoah last Saturday, 13-7. Salem's Lilly Blair scored six goals and had an assist shortly after graduating from Roanoke College that morning. Lilly was a valedictorian as well as the leading goal scorer in the ODAC. On Sunday the Maroons took on top-seeded Washington & Lee for the conference championship and dropped an 11-5 decision to the Generals. Blair scored three goals, Tiernan Conner added a score and an assist with Emerson Foster adding a goal. Claire Eisenhart picked up a game high six ground balls while Kyleigh Chickering grabbed five ground balls and registered six saves in goal.

Blair, Chickering and Addison Schmidt were named to the All-Tournament team.

RC men open NCAA lax against Gettysburg

The Roanoke College men's lacrosse team is headed to the NCAA tournament. The field for the Division III Men's Lacrosse National Championship Tournament was announced on Sunday night and Roanoke was named as one of the at-large invitees to the 38-team tournament. The Maroons finished the season with a 13-6 overall record, going 8-2 in Old Dominion Athletic Conference (ODAC) play. They were defeated in the ODAC semifinals by the eventual champion University of Lynchburg, and along with the Hornets and Washington and Lee were one of three ODAC teams to make the Roanoke will begin tournament play on Saturday, May 14, at Dickinson College in Carlisle, PA when they take on Centennial Conference runner-up Gettysburg. The Bullets, ranked number 18 in the country, fell to host Dickinson College, 10-9, in overtime of their conference championship game.

Roanoke and Gettysburg have met 11 times in their history and the Maroons hold a 6-5 edge in the series. Each of the last three meetings came in the national playoffs, all won by RC with the most recent coming in 2011. Saturday's winner will advance to the round of 16 matchup scheduled for Sunday, May 15th,

If they keep winning Lynchburg and Roanoke could both advance to the quarterfinals, where they would square off for a spot in the semifinals. Washington & Lee is on the other side of the bracket and could not play RC or Lynchburg until the championship game, which will be played in conjunction with the Division II championship and the Division I final four at Rentschler Field in Hartford, Connecticut. The Division II and III title games will be on Sunday, May 29, with the Division I semifinals and championship surrounding them on Saturday and Monday, May 28 and May 30.

The Maroons saw their ODAC title hopes end with a 17-9 loss to Lynchburg in the semifinal round at Washington & Lee last Saturday. George Gilbert had two goals for the Maroons while Salem's Wyatt Whitlow was one of seven Maroons to score one goal each.

The Salem High lacrosse teams swept William Byrd Tuesday in a girls' boys doubleheader at Spartan Field in Salem. The girls opened with a 15-3 win and the boys followed with a 17-2 win over the visiting Terriers.

Brynn Bowen had 15 saves and Reese Redford led the scoring with four goals and two assists against the Terriers. Chloe Butt and Addi Blanchard had three goals and two assists each. Bailey Stratton added three goals and one assist.

The boys jumped to a 14-0 lead by the half against the Byrdmen before taking their foot off the gas in the second half. Kaidan Garst had seven goals for the Spartans while Jake Massey had four, Landon Miles three, Jackson Winiger two and Kyman Kinney had one. Trey Joyce only had to make two saves in the goal before taking the second half off.

Last Wednesday the Spartans swept Blacksburg, with the boys winning in Blacksburg and the girls winning at Spartans Field. The boys won 19-6 and everyone played. Miles had eight goals and Jake Massey had five.

The girls beat the Bruins by a 17-3 score as Zoe Blair and Stratton had five goals each and Morgan Tew had three. Addi Blanchard had two goals and five assists while Chloe Butt had two goals and an assist. Brynn Bowen made eight saves in goal for the Spartans as the defense played well on the back line.

A night later the girls lost at Rockbridge, 11-3, to a strong Wildcats' team. Butt had two goals and Blair had one. Bowen was strong in the cage with 18 saves.

"It was the best run that Rockbridge has received this season," said Salem coach Maggi Pace. "We look forward to playing them again on the 16th because I feel like a few small adjustments can go a long way."

The girls are scheduled to play at Hidden Valley on Friday before hosting Rockbridge next Monday to end the regular season. The Salem boys are home to Hidden Valley tonight and they'll go to Rockbridge Monday.

The Glenvar girls' lacrosse team bounced back from a tough loss to Alleghany to win big in Floyd Tuesday. Eleven different girls scored for the Highlanders in a 14-0, slaughter rule shortened win over the Buffaloes.

Last Thursday at home the girls dropped a heartbreaker to Alleghany, 2-1. Giuliana Stanley had the only goal for Glenvar off an assist from Rhyan Harris but that was all the Highlanders could muster as they lost for just the third time this season.

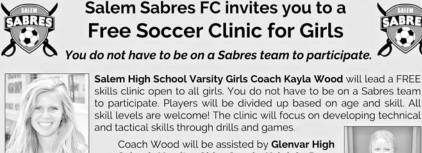

On Tuesday it was a much different story at Floyd. Campbell Hardin had a three-goal hat trick, Stanley hit the net twice and nine other girls scored, including Davin Tate, Anna Vecellio, Faren Wilson, Kenna Preast, Brooke Smyth, Kailah Finley Jordin Crouch, Megan Pmerleau and Harris, who also had two assists. Stanley also had two assists.

The Highlanders will take an 11-3 record to Radford tonight, then close out the regular season on Monday with a game at Eastern Montgomery.

Highlanders wrap up 3RD crown

The Glenvar boys are regular season champions of the Three Rivers District for the second year in a row. The Highlanders wrapped up the regular season and remained undefeated with an 8-0 win over Alleghany in Covington last Senior Riley Geddes scored four goals to lead the Highlanders while Jacson Shepherd had two goals and three assists. Maddox Fisher and Alex Byrd had one goal each, Colin Clapper had three assists and Christian Housh and Bryce King had one assist each. Marco Gustafson registered the shutout in goal as the game was stopped at the 60 minute mark with an eight goal Glenvar lead.

On Monday the Highlanders took on Class 3 Heritage in a non-district tilt at Glenvar and came away with another 8-0 shutout win. Gustafson was in goal but the visiting Pioneers managed just two shots while the Highlanders rained 28 shots on the Heritage cage.

Geddes and Fisher led the scoring with two goals each. Shepherd, Clapper and Aiden Hylton had one goal each and Shepherd and Hylton each had an

With Monday's win the Highlanders are now 14-0-1 overall. They'll try to keep their record clean tonight when Radford comes to town for the final game of the regular season. When the two met in Radford the Highlanders needed overtime to beat the Bobcats, 2-1.

'They're a good team and we're going to have to play our best to beat them," said Glenvar coach Josh Jones. "If we win we'll clinch the number one seed for the regional, and this will be a good game for us to have heading into the post-season.'

Salem baseball hangs on to beat River

Salem's Trent Judd took a one-hitter into the seventh inning and held on for the win as Salem defeated James River at Billy Sample Field Monday. The Spartans took a 5-2 victory after leading 5-0 after six innings.

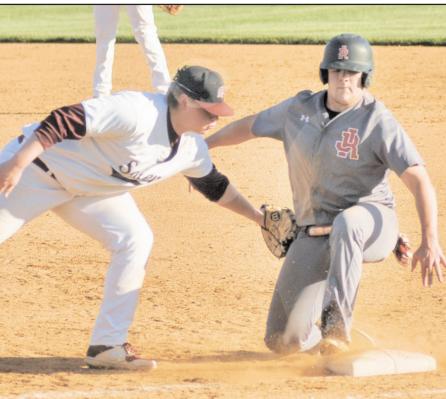

Salem scored four times in the first inning to take an early lead over the visiting Knights. Eli Bowery's tworun double opened the scoring and Salem scored two more runs on a single by Trent Judd and a James River error with the bases loaded.

That's how the score stood until the sixth, when Hunter Bayne crushed a double and scored on a fielders' choice by Brendan Steele. Meanwhile, Judd was cruising along on the mound with a one-hitter, a double in the fifth by River's John Austin. Things got a little hairy in the seventh. River put together a rally with a couple hits, a walk and a couple Salem miscues in the field to score twice and load the bases with two outs. However, Judd got a ground out to Bowery at first and Eli handled it cleanly and stepped on the bag to end

Judd finished with a three-hit win and seven strikeouts while walking just one, and both River runs were unearned. Caleb Furmage had two hits for the Spartans.

With the win Salem improved to 12-5 on the season. The Spartans were rained out of a home game with Cave Spring last Friday and that will be made up on Monday, May 16. Salem is scheduled to play Pulaski County this Friday at Sample Field at 7 pm, and it will be "Senior Night."

Salem softball team bounces back with big win over WF

The Salem softball team was shut out in five innings at Lord Botetourt last week, then they turned around and shut out William Fleming in five on Monday at the Moyer Complex.

Lord Botetourt ace Rhyann Jones shut out the Spartans on one hit, 11-0, in Daleville last week. The Cavaliers are the first place team in the Blue Ridge District and they swept the season series from Salem, outscoring the Spartans 10-1 at the Moyer Complex and 11-0 at LB.

On Monday at Moyer it was a different story as Salem dominated in for a 14-0 win over visiting William Fleming. Cora Robinson pitched three shut out innings, fanning five, and Cora Sparger finished up with two innings of no-hit ball, striking out four.

Five Salem girls had multiple hits in the game, with Lily Lawson going three for four with two runs batted in and Sparger going three for three with five RBIs. Bayleigh Booth, Caitlin Wells and Robinson had two hits each and Bayleigh scored three times. Maize Roop and Sara Tennant also had hits for the Spartans in a game ended by slaughter rule after five innings.

The win lifted the Spartans to 10-8 on the season with a trip to Pulaski County on Friday. Salem was rained out of a River Ridge District game with Cave Spring last Friday and that's scheduled to be made up next Monday, May 16, at

Highlanders hope for better results in regional baseball tourney

The Glenvar baseball team will wrap up the regular season today, then have a week and a half of practice as they prepare for the coming regional

It's been a tough year for the Highlanders. They lost three more games in the past week to drop to 2-17 on the season but they've lost some close games and are hoping to catch lightning in a bottle come playoff time.

"Unearned runs have killed us," said coach Jeremy Cromer. "We gave up three unearned runs on Tuesday and lost 3-2.'

The Highlanders lost to Floyd at GHS Tuesday to spoil a strong pitching performance by sophomore Atlee Alexander. He struck out six and allowed just five hits and no earned runs as Glenvar dropped a one-run game to the Buffaloes for the second time.

"He deserved to win that game," said Cromer. "He pitched a heck of a game."

All three Floyd runs came in the top of the third. Glenvar struck back with two in the bottom of the inning when Dawson Alexander tripled home Clay Caldwell and Reed Hutchinson, but that was all the runs the Highlanders could muster.

On Monday Glenvar hosted a strong Cave Spring team and lost 8-4. Brendan Magruder and Jimmy Blount split time on the mound as the Highlanders hung tough with one of the better Class 3 teams in the valley. Caldwell had two hits.

Last Thursday in Covington Glenvar dropped a 12-7 game to Alleghany. Alexander pitched into the fifth inning in that one before Caldwell finished up. Hutchinson, Blount, Magruder and Caldwell all had two hits but again five errors hurt the cause/

The Highlanders will close out the regular season today with a home game against Radford, then wait for the Region 2C tournament to begin on May 25th. Glenvar's opponent is yet to be determined but the Highlanders will go somewhere on the road.

Luper homers, pitches four-hitter to lead Glenvar over Floyd

Senior Savana Luper pitched a four-hitter and hit a home run to lead the Glenvar softball team over Floyd County in a big Three Rivers

The win lifted Glenvar to 6-10 on the season and it was a big win for the Highlanders as they try to get a good seed for the coming region tournament. Glenvar missed a chance to pick up a win

The Mountaineers had just one baserunner through the first five innings and their only run came in the sixth when they got their only hit of the game, and then scored on a passed ball. Sophie struck out 13 in six innings.

Glenvar had hits on the night, two by McCulley, and one each by Luper, Madison

Duncan, Hannah Street and Teubert.

The Highlanders will be back home tonight for a "Senior Night" game with Radford. That game was originally scheduled for Friday but moved to Thursday due to weather concerns.
