Students of Salem City Schools returned to the classroom on Monday. According to the division, the opening day enrollment was 3,587, with a few students not in attendance due to scheduled or planned absences.

Dr. Curtis Hicks, superintendent, said the opening went smoothly.

"We had some brief water issues at Andrew Lewis Middle School and at our Central Office related to an ongoing water main repair on College Avenue, but all in all, it was a very good day," he said. "It looks like the new HVAC systems at East Salem and West Salem elementary schools are running smoothly, which is good, given the temperatures we are still experiencing. There are always a handful of transportation delays on the first week of school, but we did not experience anything out of the ordinary. In fact, I would say that the transportation department had an exceptionally good start."

Salem Police Make Arrest in West Main St. robbery

The Salem Police Department announced last week that it had arrested Leonard Childress of Roanoke and charged the 45-yearold with two counts of robbery related to a call for help in the 1200 block of W. Main Street.

Officers arrived at the at approximately 10:15 a.m. last Thursday. A store employee advised the officers that an unknown male subject entered the retail business and demanded cash from the worker who was on duty.

"The cashier complied with the demand and subject quickly exited the store with an undetermined amount of money," the department said. "After investigation, officers were able to locate the suspect and positively identify him as the West Gate Center after receiving a 911 call about the crime. There were a robbery in progress no weapons involved in the crime and no injuries resulted from the incident."

Childress was arrested and transported to the Roanoke County-Salem Jail where he remained as of late last week. The department said the incident remains under investigation and anyone with additional information is asked to call 540-375-3083.

Pickett's Charge

From the 1938 centennial this engagement. edition of The Times-Register

Confederate soldiers from Salem and Roanoke county took part in practically every major engagement of the bloody war between the states with the exception of the fighting in the west about Shiloh and Vicksburg. In the greater part of the campaign in Tennessee and that about Atlanta the Roanoke Guards saw much fierce fighting while the other local companies went through the hell of battle in those four awful years in Virginia, Maryland and the one battle on northern soil at Gettysburg.

While men from this county took part in all the major battles in the Virginia campaign and suffered losses at Cold Harbor, Seven Pines, Sharpsburg, the Battle of the Wilderness, Chancellorsville, Gaines Mill, Spottsylvania and other places it is probably that with the exception of Gettysburg more Roanoke county blood was spilled comparatively unimportant battle of Cedar Run than at any of the other battlefields.

Cedar Run

At this battle, which was fought on August 8, 1862, fifteen members of the Dixie Grays were killed within a half-hours time and fifteen more were wounded. Four of the wounded subsequently died and when it is considered that the company had been reduced to thirty-eight men before the battle the terrific loss they suffered is realized.

In the annals of the civil war this battle is set down as one of the minor engagements but Roanoke county it was one of the most deadly battles of the great war. It was on August 9, 1862 that the Dixie Grays were sent in the vanguard of the charge against a strongly fortified federal position at Cedar Mountain which is in the central part of this General Stonewall Jackson was in command of the southern forces as he had been sent to that point to halt General Pope's army who were endeavoring to get control of the Virginia Central railroad. General N. P. Banks with a force of northern soldiers had advanced further than the main portion of Pope's army and they were found encamped on August 9 on Cedar Run. General Jackson's men attacked a strongly fortified position and were repulsed with heavy losses during the first part of the battle when most of the casualties of the Dixie Grays were sustained. However,

Jackson's men continued the attack and won a sweeping victory. The southerners are said to have lost 1276 men in on both occasions.

At Spottsylvania

While the remained Dixie Grays were at Spottsylvania and engaged in one of the fiercest engagements of the civil war at this place it cannot be said that Roanoke county suffered heavy losses here because of the fact that the local company had been wiped out earlier in the war and only a comparatively few men of the original Dixie Grays were left to give battle there, the remainder being replacements. However, the Dixie Grays occupied the very tip of Bloody Angle at this battle which is said to have provided the most horrible scene of all the war. Fighting took place at this point for several days but it was on May 12, 1864 that the fiercest fighting took place when the battle lasted sixteen hours and well into the night. General determined to hold the log parapet at Bloody Angle or Mule Shoe as it is sometimes called until he could fortify a new line for his men. Northern forces stormed the parapet time and again, sometimes three deep, and their losses were tremendous. It is said that on both sides of the parapet the dead were thrown back out of the way. Sometimes the soldiers fought by thrusting their bayonets through the logs. Behind the parapet was a sea of mud which had become discolored with blood. The southern soldiers would leap up onto the wall to fire and drop back to this dismal mire. But one member of the original Dixie Grays was listed as being killed at Spottsylvania but the company suffered heavy losses. The one man of the company formed here who was killed was J. Dabney Shrewsbury who had been through some of the crucial battles of the war including the carnage at Cedar Run, Gettysburg, Kernstown and Chancellorsville.

Bloodiest Day Of War

The bloodiest day of the war is said to have been on September 17, 1862, at Sharpsburg or Antietam as it is sometimes called. Here, the Roanoke Grays suffered losses and this fighting company also left some of their men at Petersburg where the Yankees undermined the confederate position and sent many soldiers to their deaths when explosives were fired that made a deafening roar heard for miles about the place.

The Salem Flying Artillery which had gone through the entire war was still intact when their artillery fired the last shot at Appomattox. They are said to have been the only company which did not split up after the last campaign about Richmond. Soon after the last shot was fired at Appomattox the weary soldiers set out on foot for home after four years of the most brutal warfare in the history of the world.

It is our mission to build a bridge of trust, compassion, respect and a lasting relationship with our families during the most difficult of times.

Ben Cline Congressman

While Congress continued its District Work Period, we were once again reminded of the harmful impact that out-of-control spending and the misnamed "Inflation Reduction Act" has on families in the Valley and across the Nation. On a brighter note, I joined Veterans in Roanoke to highlight the importance of PACT Act benefits for our Nation's heroes and visited a new VA Community Based Outpatient Clinic (CBOC) in the Winchester area. Additionally, I spoke with folks from the Virginia Credit Union League, and I took the opportunity to meet with local faith leaders at a small growing church in the Valley. As your Representative, fight every day for your interests and for the safety, security, and freedom for the people of Virginia's Sixth

"Bidenomics" is not working for Middle America

In yet another slap in the face to hardworking families and small businesses struggling to make ends meet, President Biden and the Democrats celebrated the anniversary of the failed "Inflation Reduction Act", which has done nothing to bring down costs for hardworking Americans. Families are still paying $709 more a month than two years ago, credit card debt is at a record-high, interest rates are spiking up again, and mortgage rates have increased to over 7% - forcing more folks to withdraw from their 401(k).

When it comes down to it, "Bidenomics" is simple: Americans pay more to get less. House Republicans are working every day to restore fiscal responsibility in Washington and get our economy back on track so families and businesses can keep more of their hard-earned paychecks.

Virginia Credit Union League

The Virginia Credit Union League has served as a statewide association representing member-owned credit unions since 1934. Credit unions are vital to our community and guide folks' financial plans to accommodate ever-changing goals for the future. It was a pleasure to join members of the organization at its Shenandoah Valley Legislative Reception.

School is back in session

It's back-to-school time for Virginia's Sixth District, and it is important to remember to be extra cautious and watch out for students, families, teachers, faculty, and staff as they head to school. As children across the Valley head back to the classroom, here's wishing everyone a fantastic start to what is sure to be an incredible school year.

The Institute for Policy and Opinion Research at Roanoke College releases new report there is relative optimism about the future. The Virginia

The Virginia Index of Consumer Sentiment (VAICS) lost momentum in the third quarter of 2023, falling 2.2 points to 69.2. Virginians express frustration with high prices despite slowing inflation, rising wages and strong labor markets. The national inflation rate was 3.3% in July 2023, down more than five and a half percentage points since the highs of June 2022. Nationally, wage growth now outpaces price growth; wages rose 4.6% rate remains low at 3.5% in July; in Virginia, the rate is even lower at 2.7% in June, with 2.5 job openings for every unemployed person.

Consumer sentiment slipped 2.2 points in the third quarter of 2023 to 69.2 but remained well above the historic low of 58.2 in May 2022. The primary driver behind the sentiment slowdown is high price levels despite slowing inflation (the growth rate of prices), rising wages and a resilient labor market. As measured by the Consumer Price Index, which captures the price of goods and services the typical household buys, inflation hit the highest level in more than 40 years in June 2022 (8.9%). Since then, inflation has rolled over and was 3.3% (seasonally adjusted) in July 2023. However, inflation measures the growth rate of prices, so while prices are not growing as quickly as a year ago, price levels are still higher than in the past. The price pressures are a headwind to sentiment compared to the tailwinds of rising wages and a strong labor market. Wage growth now outpaces price growth, allowing for consumer purchasing power to increase. Nationally, wages increased 4.6% over the last year while benefits rose 4.2% over the same period.

In addition to wage growth outpacing price growth, another tailwind to sentiment is the strong labor market. Nationally, the July unemployment rate was 3.5%, equal to its pre-pandemic value; the rate in Virginia is 2.7%. A comparison of labor supply (households) and labor demand (businesses) shows that the number of unemployed persons is much lower than that of current job openings: the number of unemployed persons per job opening is 0.4 in Virginia compared to 0.6 nationally, both unchanged over the last quarter. Another way to think about this statistic is that there are 2.5 job openings for every unemployed person in Virginia, which indicates that finding workers is challenging for businesses, and workers continue to have bargaining power. The tight labor market and increased minimum wage and social security payments at the start of the year bolstered spending and household income. Consumer spending, adjusted for inflation, rose 0.4% between May and June 2023, fueled by spending on goods rather than

The VA Index of Current Conditions (VA ICC) is 61.4, up 0.7 points since the last quarter, its third consecutive quarter of growth, although still well off its pre-pandemic February 2020 value of 103.5 and the historic high of 106.6 in February 2019. Only a quarter of respondents report that their finances are better today than a year ago, despite increased average home values and incomes. Thirty-two percent of respondents believe now is a good time to purchase large, durable goods like refrigerators. Prices of such durable goods fell 1.4% over the last year, compared to a slight decrease in nondurables (-0.2%) and an increase in services (5.7%). Virginians are less optimistic about current conditions than the nation. The preliminary national ICC was 77.4 in August 2023. Although sentiment is low in the commonwealth, Index of Consumer Expectations (VA ICE) is 74.2, down 4.0 points since last quarter but almost 7.0 points above the national number of 67.3. About 40% of respondents believe the coming five to 10 years will be a period of economic growth and prosperity, and 35% anticipate improved household finances in the coming year. The optimism is likely linked to low inflation expectations: the 12-month inflation expectation is 3.3% nationally and 3.0% in Virginia.

Analysis

"Consumer sentiment stalled a bit this quarter, likely due to consumer frustration over high price levels," says Dr. Alice Louise Kassens, John S. Shannon Professor of Economics and senior analyst at the Roanoke College Institute for Policy and Opinion Research. "Consumer sentiment reflects how consumers feel about the economy, and it signals their anticipated consumption patterns now and into the near future. While sentiment fell slightly this quarter, it is higher today than one year ago; a one-period drop does not mean we will stay on that downward path, particularly in light of slowing price growth, strong labor markets and rising wages. The labor market remains resilient and is a tailwind for the economy. The Virginia labor market in particular is tight, with only one unemployed worker for every 2.5 job openings. Consumer spending, which increased nationally by 0.4 percentage points between May and June 2023, remains strong, particularly for goods. Increased consumer spending adds to inflation, but given it makes up two-thirds of total spending in our economy, it is a firewall against a recession. The Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta's GDP nowcast for the third quarter is 5.8%, indicating a strong U.S. economy.'

Methodology

Interviewing for The Roanoke College Poll was conducted by The Institute for Policy and Opinion Research at Roanoke College in Salem, Virginia, between Aug. 6 and Aug. 15, 2023. A total of 751 completed interviews came from random telephone calls to 459 Virginians, and 292 responses were drawn from a proprietary online panel of Virginians. Telephone interviews were conducted in English. Cell phones constituted 53% of the completed phone interviews. Marketing Systems Group provided the telephone dialing frame, and Lucid, LLC facilitated the Questions answered by the sample of 751 respondents are subject to a sampling error of plus or minus approximately 4.0 percent at the 95% confidence level. This means that in 95 out of 100 samples like the one used here, the results should be at most 4.0 percentage points above or below the figure obtained by interviewing all Virginians with a home telephone or a cell phone. Where the results of subgroups are reported, the sampling error is higher.

ECIPE OF THE WEEK

Tomatoes have started to show up on my porch. My neighbor, Jane, grows vegetables in raised beds in her back yard. It's a war against the squirrels, birds, and groundhogs but she gets some to do well. They may not be pretty, but they taste good. I give her Betsy's reject dog treats for her dogs, and she gives me tomatoes. This week I have an abundance of tomatoes. I decided to make a recipe that I got from an old friend. This savory pie is a good use for fresh tomatoes and is held together by a mixture of mayonnaise and cheese. This friend was the total opposite of me. She liked natural fabrics, hated air conditioning, and grew her own food. Her dream was to own a place in the country and keep chickens. She made this pie and I thought she was nuts. The words tomato and pie just did not go together in my mind. However, one bite and I was hooked. She gave me the recipe and the recipe tips were longer than the recipe. Her tips help prevent a soggy bottom. I use a premade frozen deep dish pie crust but you can make your own. The crust is prebaked and then lined with bread crumbs. Some recommend cornmeal to line the crust. I use seasoned bread crumbs but you can use plain or Italian seasoned. Fresh summer tomatoes emit a lot of water when cooked. It's best to get as much of that liquid out as possible before adding them to your baked crust. One key is to cut up your tomatoes, remove the watery seeds, sprinkle with salt and let stand in a colander for at least 30 minutes. Then when you are ready to use them, pat them and squeeze them very dry with paper towels. She also said to add cooked, crumbled bacon to the layers in the pie for extra flavor.

Ingredients

- 1 deep dish pie shell (homemade or store-bought)
- 1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
- 3 to 4 large tomatoes, I dice them up but the recipe says to slice them (approximately 3 cups chopped tomatoes)
- 1/2 cup chopped yellow or red onion 1/4 cup sliced basil

- 2 cups grated cheese (combination of sharp cheddar and Monterey Jack, or Gruyere or Mozzarella)
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 egg beaten
- 1 teaspoon Frank's Hot Sauce or Tabasco, or to
- 1/4 tsp ground black pepper 2 TBSP bread crumbs or cornmeal

Preheat the oven to 350°F (175°C). Place the oven rack in the center of the oven.

Pre-bake the crust:

If you are using a store-bought pie shell, follow the directions on the package for pre-baking, or pre-bake it in the oven for about 8 to 10 minutes (a little longer for a frozen pie shell), until lightly browned. If you are using a homemade crust, press it into the pie plate and freeze for 30 minutes. Remove the plate from the freezer and press a sheet of aluminum foil into the crust to keep the sides of the pie crust from falling down as it cooks. Fill the pie with pie weights such as dry beans or rice to help hold the foil in place. Pre-bake the homemade crust for 15 minutes, then remove the foil, use the tines of a fork to poke a few small holes in the bottom of the crust (for venting), and bake for 10 more minutes

Salt and drain the tomatoes while you are prebaking the crust.

In a large skillet, heat 1 tablespoon of olive oil over medium-high heat. Add the onion; cook until lightly browned on the edges (about 6 minutes). Transfer onion to a bowl and set aside to cool completely.

Make cheese mixture. In a medium bowl, mix together the cooked onion, grated cheese, egg, mayonnaise, Tabasco, and a sprinkling of freshly ground black pepper. Sprinkle the bread crumbs over the pie shell evenly. Spread half of the cheese mixture over the bottom of your pre-baked pie crust shell. Spread the drained chopped tomatoes over the cheese mixture. Sprinkle the sliced basil over the tomatoes. Spread the rest of the cheese mixture over the tomatoes.

Place in the oven and bake at 350°F (175°C) until browned and bubbly, 25 to 45 minutes.

Cut into slices and serve warm or at room temperature. I find that it's easiest to slice when I allow the pie to rest for at least 20 minutes being cutting into it.

its name.

Many local residents are familiar with

Dixie Caverns, but not everyone knows the legend of how the local cavern got

According to the story, in 1920 two boys were hunting on a local hill when their dog, Dixie, fell into a hidden hole.

Dixie only fell a few feet and was easily rescued, but they quickly discovered that the hole led to a large cavern system.

This marked the official discovery of

Dixie Caverns, though local Glenvar

residents were likely already aware of the cavern before then. Today it is a popular destination for locals and tourists to

Due to this popularity, there are also plenty of souvenirs from Dixie Caverns. This Dixie Caverns souvenir dish is currently on display in the Salem Museum's new featured exhibit respected new artists in country music is headed to Salem to headline the 2023 Star-B-Q concert at the Salem Farmers Market, according to the city of Salem. Dalton Dover will become the latest up-and-coming recording artist to play the annual fall concert on Wednesday, Sept. 20. Southwest Virginia's Travis Reigh will open the show.

Dover is just 23-year-old, but his path to country music radio and the various streaming services is no different than most. He first started singing in church and his first big award came in the fifth grade when he won a talent show performing Justin Bieber's "Baby."

grandfather eventually introduced him country music and classic artists like Keith Whitley, Rhett Akins, Ďiffie, Conway

One of the most Twitty, Merle Haggard Steve and Wariner. Enamored with honesty and storytelling found in country music, Whitley's "Don't Close Your 'Eyes" was the first song Dover taught himself to play on guitar.

Despite his young age, the Universal Music Group Nashville artist has been called a "master country talent." credits current stars Luke Bryan and Blake Shelton with influencing and inspiring him to make great music.

You will get no argument on that from his wife, Faith, who was also his high school sweetheart. The couple still lives in Polk County, Georgia in small town of Rome that has a population of 1,200. They have lived there all their lives and hope to give their two young children the same experiences they enjoyed in a small town. His debut hit "You Got a Small Town' drew critical acclaim Billboard, from "MusicRow, Country Now and Wide Open Country" and he was named a Spotify Hot Country "2022 Artist to Watch". His other releases include "Damn Good Life" and "Night

To Go. The Star-B-Q concerts have featured an amazing array of artists since 2007 including - Clint Black, Gentry, Montgomery Billy Currington, John Rich, Lauren Alaina, Maddie & Tae, Bucky Covington, Jordan Davis, and Parker McCollum to mention a few.

SLOW ROLLS TO IMPACT I-81 IN ROANOKE - AEP will be performing a slow roll operation for two crossings in both directions over I-81 near mile marker 135.41 and 135.91 on Thursday, September 14 from 12 a.m. to 5 a.m.

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION PROJECT EXIT 137 TO EXIT 141 – A $179 million design-build project to widen both directions of I-81 between mile markers 136.6 and 141.8 from two to three lanes is set to begin. Starting in February and continuing into the early summer, work will be performed on the inside and outside shoulders along a five-mile section of both northbound and southbound Interstate 81 in Roanoke County and the city of Salem. The shoulders will be built up before barrier wall can be installed for road crews to work behind. Barrier wall will be installed along the shoulders in the spring and summer. Two lanes of I-81 traffic in each direction will remain open during the project with periodic lane closures scheduled during nighttime hours or outside of peak travel times as needed. Drivers can expect the following lane closures and upcoming impacts on northbound and southbound I-81:

ADDITIONAL TRAFFIC IMPACTS:

TRAFFIC SHIFT ON WILDWOOD ROAD: Expect a traffic shift with narrow width on Wildwood road after exiting I-81 southbound heading towards Salem. Southbound and northbound I-81 exit and entrance ramp narrows possible at Route 311.

WORK ZONE SPEED: With narrow spacing in lanes due to barrier walls, lack of shoulders and lane shifts in various locations, drivers should adhere to posted 60 mph speed limits in the work zone and allow space when following a vehicle.

RAMP CLOSURES: Ramp closures are possible during nighttime hours, 12 a.m., to 5 a.m. Drivers should watch for message boards dates and times the ramp will be closed.

LANE CLOSURES: Alternating left and right lane and shoulder closures during nighttime hours between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., Sunday through Thursday, are possible. Lane widths will be reduced to 11 feet. Nightly lane closures may be in place along the right lane with possible nightly ramp narrows as needed for guardrail and shoulder strengthening.

The project also includes replacing six bridges, widening two bridges, installing approximately 2.6 miles of sound barrier walls along northbound I-81, improving the southbound exit 137 offramp intersection at Wildwood Road and adding interchange lighting at exits 137, 140 and 141 are also included in the project. Expected completion in early 2026.

NORTHBOUND AT EXIT I-81 RIVER BRIDGE REPLACEMENT NEW IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY - Traffic on northbound I-81 has been switched onto the newly constructed bridge over the New River at the Montgomery/Pulaski County line. The old bridge is being demolished. Lane and shoulder closures may be in place near exit 105. Lane closure may be in effect during the week from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. Shoulder closures may be in effect at any time during the week. Slow rolls may be performed on I-81 in the north and southbound lanes from mile marker 98 to 109. Speed limit is reduced to 60 miles per hour in the work zone. Shoulder closures will remain in place though the duration of the project. Project completion is estimated by summer 2023.

ROUTE 605 - There will be intermittent lane closures on Route 605 under the bridge maintained by flagging operations.

SLOW ROLLS: A slow roll operation may be in place daily, Monday through Friday, between mile marker 101 and 105 northbound and between mile marker 109 and 105 southbound, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Slow rolls may be utilized periodically on both the northbound and southbound lanes from mile marker 98-109 for structural steel deliveries and setting beams.

LANE CLOSURES: Nighttime alternating lane closures will be in place on I-81 northbound between mile markers 104-106 from 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning.

ROUTE 605: Alternating lane closures and flagging operations will be present on Route 605, located under the New River Bridge, for work overhead on the bridge.

I-81 PAVING OPERATIONS - Weather permitting, crews will be performing paving operations along Interstate 81. Right and left lane closures may be in place along northbound and southbound lanes during nighttime hours, 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. Drivers should watch for moving vehicles and equipment. Expect possible delays.

I-81 BRIDGE DECK REPAIRS - Weather permitting, crews will repair bridge decks on Interstate 81. Between mile markers 170 to 89, right and left lane closures will be in place northbound and southbound during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-581/220 EXPRESSWAY PAVING OPERATIONS - Weather permitting, crews will pave, patch and repair pavement on various routes. Lane closures may be in place during nighttime hours, 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. the following morning. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

I-581/220 LANE & RAMP CLOSURES FOR PAVING AND MAINTENANCE OPERATIONS IN ROANOKE COUNTY- Weather permitting, crews will be milling and paving along Interstate 81. Right and left lane closures will be in place along northbound and southbound lanes during nighttime hours. Drivers should expect possible

Roanoke City

13th STREET SE IMPROVEMENTS WITH DETOUR - A project to improve a portion of 13th Street SE in Roanoke is underway. Located in a residential neighborhood just east of downtown Roanoke, this project will improve traffic flow and connectivity along 13th Street SE from Tazewell Avenue to Norfolk Avenue. The project entails reconstructing about 0.2-mile of 13th Street as an improved, two-lane roadway with 10.5-foot-wide travel lane and a raised median. A new roadway will extend 13th Street to Norfolk Avenue and the intersection at 13th Street and Wise Avenue will be reconfigured to include a roundabout. Bike lanes, sidewalks, crosswalks and curb and gutter will also be added. Southbound 13th Street traffic has a detour in place using Norfolk Avenue onto 12th Street to Tazewell Avenue. Minimal traffic impacts at this time. The project is expected to be completed in late summer 2023.

Roanoke County

STARKEY ROAD AND BUCK MOUNTAIN ROAD ROUNDABOUT - A road project to construct a single-lane roundabout at the intersection of Route 904 (Starkey Road) and Route 679 (Buck Mountain Road) is underway. The new roundabout is now open to traffic and drivers should be aware of the new roundabout configuration. There will be occasional flagging operations in place between the 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the intersection of Starkey Road and Buck Mountain Road, drivers should still expect lane closures with flaggers controlling traffic for final paving, additional concrete pouring and pavement marking until the project is finished. Final completion is expected in late spring 2024.

LANE CLOSURES WITH FLAGGING OPERATIONS: Lane closure times of 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. resumed on Monday, July 31 to allow preparation for school to begin.

ROUNDABOUT: The roundabout configuration has been set up. This means drivers should continue around the circle without turning left and that drivers in the circle have the right of way.

MOUNTAIN VALLEY PIPELINE - Mountain Valley Pipeline is expected to begin full construction again by mid-July. Temporary intermittent flagging operations will be in place in the county throughout the remainder of the project (with a tentative completion date of February 2024) to load/unload equipment at crossings and construction entrances. Scheduled completion is February 2024.

OPERATIONS Weather PAVING permitting, crews will pave, patch and repair pavement on various routes. Lane closures may be in place and flaggers may control traffic at times during daylight or nighttime hours. Drivers should watch for signs and expect possible delays.

Roanoke College to host Deloitte Future of Work Institute

Roanoke College announced earlier this month that Deloitte, the largest professional services network in the world, this fall will bring its Future of Work Institute to the college, giving juniors the chance to attend a hands-on workshop focused on developing human skills and preparing for the changing workplaces of tomorrow.

About 20 schools across the country have hosted the two-day workshop, which will take place at Roanoke College on Oct. 5 and 6. It is being offered thanks to a collaboration between Deloitte and the College's center for Purpose, Life, And Career Exploration (PLACE). Juniors in any major may apply for the institute, which is free, and those who complete it will earn a micro-credential that they may display on their resumes to demonstrate their proficiency in the course

"We are deeply committed to helping students at Roanoke College translate their strengths, values and educations into meaningful lives and careers," said President Frank Shushok Jr. "This partnership provides a tremendous opportunity for students to learn from Deloitte's experts how to bridge the critical gap between their formal academic studies and the skills employers need in today's market. We are thrilled to be able to offer this game-changing experience to our students."

Roanoke College said it seeks to be a cutting-edge leader in offering an education that prepares graduates to hit the ground running upon graduation. Experts predict that the workforce will change rapidly over the next several decades; according to Deloitte, a study on the future of work by Vanguard Research indicated that 65% of children entering grade school today will likely end up in job types that do not exist now.

That means students will have to be more skilled in key areas, such as resiliency and adaptability, to successfully navigate their careers. The workshop focuses on seven key human skills, which Deloitte calls Foundational Human Skills: empathy, emotional intelligence, written and verbal communication skills, adaptability and resilience, curiosity, critical thinking and problem solving, and logical reasoning. Through hands-on sessions with Deloitte trainers, workshop attendees will learn how to hone those skills and make themselves an asset to future employers. They will also learn how to leverage their major into a job across multiple career pathways and industries, what inclusive leadership means to them, and how to contribute to a diverse, equitable and inclusive Following the main workshop, students will be able to participate in supplementary hands-on sessions that allow them to apply what they learned to different scenarios such as networking and career navigation, tech fluency and more.

During a final graduation ceremony, participants will hear from Deloitte leaders, network with workshop graduates from other schools and discuss real-world uses for the concepts they learned. Those who complete the program will be welcomed into a large Future of Work Institute alumni network and LinkedIn group, where they may continue to network with peers and program facilitators.

"I am excited about this incredible prospect for our students to put the human skills embedded in a liberal arts education into practice as they consider the dynamic landscape that is the modern workplace,' said Meghan Jester, director of career exploration at Roanoke College. "Collaboration with Deloitte not only offers students a chance to understand the importance of resiliency, adaptability and curiosity in their professional lives, but also a gateway to introduce students to the opportunities, knowledge and expertise from one of the most esteemed global consulting companies."

The Salem Red Sox will be home all week as they host Fredricksburg for their second last homestand

The Sox will host the Nationals for six games beginning Tuesday. Weekday games will be 7:05 starts with a 6:05 pm start Saturday and a 3:05 pm getaway game Sunday. Tonight will be "College Night," followed by "Marvel Super Hero Night" Friday and "Bark in the Park" Saturday.

The Sox come into the homestand with a 21-27 record in the second half of the Carolina League split season. They're eight games behind Carolina in the North Division, effectively ending their chances of post-season play.

The Red Sox had a six game series against the Delmarva Shorebirds in Salisbury, MD last week and split the series with the Baltimore Orioles far team. Salem won the first and third games, 6-2 and 4-2, around a 7-3 loss on Wednesday of last week. They lost the next two, 7-1 on Saturday and 10-2 on Sunday, but bounced back to win Sunday's series finale, 8-6, to earn a series split.

On Sunday the Sox trailed 2-0 after five innings but put a crooked seven on the scoreboard in the top of the sixth. Luis Ravelo hit a two run homer with one out, then Albert Feliz blasted a three run bomb with two outs. Johnfrank Salazar had three hits

Sunday and Albertson Asigen drove in two runs. Railin Paez picked up his fourth win on the mound Sunday, pitching the first six innings and fanning five. The Birds scored four runs against three Salem relievers but the Sox were able to hold on for the win.

After this week's series with Fredricksburg the Red Sox will head to Augusta for six game series on Tuesday. They'll wrap up the season with six games at home against Carolina beginning September 5.

Kasey Draper of RC is Region VI Athlete-of-the-Year

The Division III Commissioner's Association has announced the 20 student-athletes who have been recognized by the organization as the Regional Student-Athletes of the Year, and in just the second year of the award recent Roanoke College graduate Kasey Draper of the men's basketball team has been named the Region VI Men's Student-Athlete of the Year.

Each of the regional winners will advance to the national ballot for consideration as the 2022-23 D3CA Men's and Women's Sport Student Athletes of the Year. Washington and Lee's field hockey player Tess Muneses was named the Region VI Women's Student-Athlete of the Year. Only graduating seniors are eligible for the award.

Selection criteria for the awards included academic achievement, athletics excellence, service and leadership and a personal statement submitted by each nominee. Voting was conducted by the commissioners within each of the ten regions, with the top male and female honoree recognized as finalists for the Awards Committee to select the Division III Commissioner's Association Men's Sport and Women's Sport Student-Athlete of the Year.

"In my experience, it wasn't how my athletic career impacted my academic career, it was more about how the two coincided because I cared about and prioritized them equally, so the two bounced off one another and shaped me into the person I am today," said Draper.

Draper has experience with multi-tiered awards. Earlier this season, the Roanoke-native was named the ODAC's winner of the Harry G "Doc" Jopson Award, the highest award a male student-athlete can earn; as well as one of 10 finalists for the men's Jostens Trophy, an award developed by the Rotary Club of Salem, Va., with Jostens Inc. that honors the top men's and women's basketball scholar-athletes in Division III.

Roanoke's Class of 2023 Valedictorian earned numerous honors in his pursuit of a business administration degree with a concentration in marketing achievements. and a minor in Spanish. He received the Powell

KASEY DRAPER

Scholarship Award for Business as well as the Dr. William A. Sandridge Leadership Award, John Todd Faw Memorial Award, and Business Advisory Board Award as major honors from Roanoke College. He is a two-time ODAC/Virginia Farm Bureau Insurance Scholar-Athlete of the Year for men's basketball in addition to two selections to the CSC Academic All-America First Team. He will soon earn his fourth appointment to the ODAC All-Academic Team to go with eight semesters of Roanoke President's List Draper maintained a 4.00 grade point average in his classroom work. He is a member of numerous honor societies including Omicron Delta Kappa (leadership), Alpha Lambda Delta (first-year academic excellence), Delta Mu Delta (business), Xi Theta Chi (languages, cultures, and civilizations), and Sigma Delta Pi (Hispanic). Campus and community activity is a central focus for Draper, evidenced by earning Roanoke's Paul W. Rice Award presented to the senior student-athlete who has made significant contributions to campus life. He is a founder and leader with Young Life, a Christian ministry that reaches out to middle school, high school, and college students around the world. He has served as a Maroon Ambassador, member of the Student President Search Committee, and as a program mentor for "Joy of Reading" at West Salem Elementary. He has been a guest speaker at Northside High School and a volunteer and guest speaker at Exercise Skill Development Camp. He has helped with Appalachian Outreach Missionary and Habitat for Humanity RC Home Construction.

"Kasey is the consummate student-athlete," said Maroon basketball coach Clay Nunley. "For four years, he applied himself as a person, a student, and a basketball player to the very best of his abilities. His outstanding and unique accomplishments are a testament to that. Kasey is an impactful leader and a person of uncompromising character and integrity. He was a privilege to coach and leaves Roanoke with a remarkable career of which to be proud."

On the basketball court, Draper was a three-time All-ODAC First Team selection and two-time honoree as the Roanoke College Male Athlete of the Year. He was a three-year captain for the Maroons and earned multiple tournament honors including MVP laurels at the 2022 Cregger Tip-Off and Dick Leftwich tournaments.

Draper graduated having scored 1,521 points with 543 rebounds and 117 assists in four seasons covering 92 games with 84 starts. He averaged double figures in points in each season highlighted by 20.5 points per game and 554 total points in 2021-22, both second in the conference.

Busy week for Spartan golfers

The Salem High golfers have had a busy week, getting a variety of matches in before school officially opened this week.

Last Tuesday Salem's Taylor Davis played in the Tiger Girls' Invitational in Gainsville, VA and finished third out of 40 girls. Taylor shot a three-over-par 75, including one-under on the back

"A great round on a beautiful course against a solid field," said Salem coach Blaine Hancock. "Taylor was solid from tee to green and just kept giving herself opportunities all day. Finishing in the top three against that field is a great accomplishment."

On Wednesday of last week the Salem jayvees played a nine hole match at the Willow Creek Golf Club in Franklin County.

"For the first time ever, we have a JV team that was able to participate in a JV match," said Hancok. We have four on our team, but only three were able to participate in this match."

Will Creger finished third out of 18 with a score of 43. Eli Wells and Landin Barton also played for

"I'm proud of our young guys," said Hancock. "Will played great and had one of his best rounds of the year. The future is bright for Salem golf."

A day later, on Thursday August 17, the varsity was back in action at the Blacksburg Country Club for the second River Ridge District match of the season. The Spartans finished second once again to a very talented Blacksburg team as the Bruins shot eight under as a team with a score of 280. Salem was second at 308, followed by Christiansburg at 322, Hidden Valley at 327, Patrick Henry with 328, Cave Spring at 348 and Pulaski County at 357.

Kathryn Ha led Salem and was third overall with an even par 72. Jake Albert of Blacksburg continued to post impressive scores as he was eight under at 64 to easily win medalist honors over his teammate, Cameron Sharp, who Salem's next best score was a 78 by Andrew Rea. Davis and Aiden Andrews rounded out the scoring with 79 each while Zach Bocock shot 90 and Max Benne came in at 94.

"Jake Albert continued his hot playing, firing his second straight eight under score," said Hancock. "Hats off to him for just playing some unbelievably good golf. I'm thrilled with our team's performance. We were able to get four scores in the 70s for the first time this year with four players in the top 15 of our district."

On Monday the Spartans continued a busy schedule with a round at the Waterfront Country Club against host Franklin County and Patrick Henry. The Spartans shot 306 to win the day, followed by Franklin County at 352 and PH

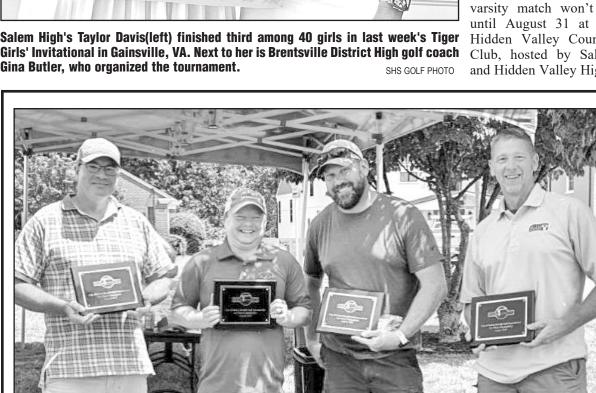

Ha shot a career best 66 to finish six under par and pick up her fourth individual win of the young season. Davis was next at 73, Andrews shot 78 and Rea finished out the scoring with an 89. Salem golfers finished first, second and fourth on the day.

"Waterfront played tough and I was proud that we had three great scores," said Hancock. "This was our second lowest team score of the year by number, but our lowest team score to par at 18 over. I'm proud of this team as we continue to improve each tournament."

The jayvees were scheduled to play a nine hole match at Hunting Hills Tuesday. The next varsity match won't be until August 31 at the Hidden Valley Country Club, hosted by Salem and Hidden Valley High.

Salem golfer Ha commits to UVA

Salem High junior golfer Kathryn Ha has announced her verbal commitment to play golf at UVA upon her graduation in 2025.

"I can't say enough great things about Kathryn," said Salem High golf coach Blaine Hancock. "I'm proud of her hard work and dedication that has led her to receiving an offer to play D1 golf at UVA."

Ha is the number one player on the Peggy Kirk Bell Girls Golf Tour after winning the tour championship. Kathryn is first out of 640 players and is the first player to ever win three championships on the PKBGT.

"To be number one out of 640 is just unbelievable!" said Hancock. "UVA will be getting a great golfer, but an even better person."

Highlanders host the 3RD at "Rock" today

The Glenvar golfers will be at the Hanging Rock Golf course today to play host to a Three Rivers District match. Tee time is 1:30 pm.

The Highlanders finished fourth in a match at the Botetourt Golf & Swim Club last Thursday with a team score of 346. Floyd County won the round with a team score of 318 followed by Radford at 329 and James River at 330.

The district was scheduled to play at the Great Oaks course in Floyd on Monday but that was postponed due to aerating of the greens. That match will now be played on September 7th.

A match at Cliff View that was previously postponed was moved to Tuesday of this week and the Highlanders shot a solid 331. Adam Franklin was low for the Highlanders with a 77. "Adam has really worked hard and has greatly improved on chipping and putting," said Glenvar coach Shawn Duff. Riley Wolk and Tyler Smith both shot 83 at Cliff View and Adam Harvey had an 88.

"I am really proud of how this team is responding and pushing each week to better themselves," said teams opened their seasons last week.

Glenvar opened with Central Academy and won in two sets, 25-16 and 25-12. "The team set a high standard for the rest of the season with how well they played," said coach Stephanie Butler. Andrew Lewis lost their opener at home against Pulaski. The Wolverines won the first set, 25-21, but Pulaski rallied to take the next two 25-19 and 15-9 in the tie-breaker. On Thursday of last week the Wolverines bounced back to beat Blacksburg, 25-20, 17-25 and 15-9. "We are working hard and making great progress," said coach Perry Manning. Lewis was scheduled to visit Ben Franklin Middle School on Tuesday, followed by a match at Read Mountain today. Glenvar is at Christiansburg today.

Two best backs in the state go head to head in Salem Friday, Highlanders open with traditional rival Galax continued from page 14

The Spartans will have a tougher foe this week with LCA. The Bulldogs went up against always tough Appomattox County last week and won 36-25 in a preseason game.

Football has a rich tradition at LCA with seven VISAA state championships. Since entering the Virginia High School League for the 2015 season LCA has made five Class 3A or 4A playoff appearances, a state semifinal appearance in 2020, and the Dogs were the state runners-up two years ago.

Over 70 LCA football athletes have advanced to play at the college level. Most notably, four have played in the NFL, Rashad Jennings with the NY Giants, Bobby Massie with the Denver Broncos, Elijah Benton with the Cleveland Browns and Michael Strachan with the Indianapolis Colts. There could be another on the way as current junior Gideon Davidson has committed to Clemson and is one of the top high school players in the state. He ran for 1,291 yards and 19 touchdowns as a freshman and committed to Clemson in the spring.

Davidson was born in Ghana and lived in an orphanage after his father died and his mother struggled to provide for Gideon and his brothers. He was a year and a half old when he and his brothers were adopted by an American family but given back two years later. He was adopted by the Davidsons in 2011 and took up football after playing soccer for most of his life. He received his first football offer from the University of Virginia when he was just in eighth grade, but decided on attending Clemson in June of this year.

"He would be the best runningback in the state if not for the kid in our locker room," said Holter, referring to Salem's Peyton Lewis who has committed to the University of Tennessee. "He runs behind the pads and you have to wrap him up to get him down." LCA made it to the Class 3D regional final last year before losing to Heritage High, coached by former Salem High standout Brad Bradley, 22-17. The Bulldogs are expecting another good year, and they replace Martinsburg of West Virginia on the Salem High schedule for opening day. They have good size, they're well-coached and they have good skill kids," said Holter. "Coach (Frank) Rocco does an excellent job of preparing his team. Glenvar had an equally impressive benefit game win last Friday as the Highlanders led Blacksburg at the half, 34-0, before the jayvees took over after intermission. "I thought we improved a lot from the week before," said Glenvar coach Kevin Clifford. "We competed better, and that's what I really wanted to see." The Highlanders open at home with Galax Friday in what has become a tradition for both schools. This will be the 12th time in the last 13 years Glenvar has opened with the Maroon Tide, with the exception being the 2020 season that was played in the spring of '21 due to COVID concerns.

It's been a great series. Glenvar holds a 6-5 edge in the series but the Tide has won two of the last three meetings, including a 27-20 loss in Galax last fall. Galax has been in the Class 1 championship game four times in the past eight years, every time against Riverheads. They beat Riverheads in the final in 2015 but lost to the Gladiators in 2019 and both the spring and fall seasons of 2021.

"It's a good opener for us," said Clifford. "They have a great program. They're physically talented and well-coached, and it's almost always a one touchdown game when we play them. They've been the second best Class 1 team in the state for years."

This year, they may be the best Class 1 team as Riverheads moves up to Class 2, putting them in the same VHSL classification as the Highlanders no less.

Glenvar's jayvee team was scheduled to open at Galax on Wednesday night of this week. The Salem jayvees will be at LCA tonight.

Lewis, Glenvar win big in middle school football openers

The Middle School football season opened last week and both local teams debuted with impressive wins. Salem took a 45-6 win over Patrick Henry at Salem Stadium while Glenvar defeated Hidden Valley on the road, 48-0.

Glenvar volleyball hopes to "three-peat"

The Glenvar volleyball team is off to a rough start as the girls attempt to pull off a "three-peat" this season. The Highlanders opened the 2023 campaign at home with a three-set loss to a solid Giles team on Tuesday.

Glenvar has won the state Class 2 championship for the past two years while rolling up a 49-3 overall record, including a 26-0 season in 2022. Tuesday's season opening loss was their first after 38 straight wins through October of 2021. Glenvar was hit hard by graduation as the Highlanders lost four seniors who were key to their success the past two championship seasons. However, they have plenty of talent returning and coach Mark Rohrback is optimistic they'll be playing at a high level once again this season.

"I expect the girls to work hard, make a lot of progress on their individual and team skills and have a lot of fun," said Rohrback. "I have a lot of respect for all of the teams in our district and area. We will have to play high level ball against all of our opponents."

Returning from last year's team will be senior setter Audrey Conner, senior outside hitter Natalie McMahon, senior outside hitter Jamie Forster, senior middle hitter Daisy Ann Dawyot and junior defensive specialist Mahre Swanson.

"I expect all five to contribute significantly, be great leaders on and off the court, and help the varsity squad have a lot of fun and success this season," said Rohrback.

New players to the varsity this year are juniors Olivia Fobare, Sophie Nicely, and Teagan Pratt, sophomores

Sophia Hammersley and Addi Cockram and freshman Sawyer Wilson. This will be the first time in a couple years multiple starting spots are open on the varsity and Glenvar has good players who were waiting for this opportunity. "All our players have multiple seasons of volleyball experience and the ability to contribute right away," said Rohrback.

Mark's wife Jen returns as varsity assistant and jayvee coach.

"We're the only two coaches in the high school program," he said. "Stephanie Butler is the middle school coach, and we work closely with her to develop all three teams."

As usual, Glenvar will take on all comers this season and Rohback isn't to play teams in a higher bracket than the Highlanders' VHSL Class 2 division. Glenvar is at Class 3 Cave Spring tonight, followed by a trip to Class 4 Blacksburg Monday and a home game with Class 3 William Byrd a week from

Spartan volleyball girls have busy first week as many days. The Spartans opened with a win at Roanoke Catholic on Tuesday, followed by a home match with Northside Wednesday and a trip to Jefferson Forest tonight. Coach Beth Denton has five girls returning from last year's 12-10 team. The Spartans were one win away from a trip to the state tournament in 2022 and graduated six seniors from that team.

Returning rising seniors include Makenzie Board, Anne Hayden Hall and Katie Johnson. Board is a third year varsity player who is a setter. "She's a court leader in both her playing style and voice," said

Hall, a fourth year varsity player, is also a setter who will be counted on to step up as a hitter and blocker this year, and Johnson is a defensive specialist who will open as Salem's libero.

Also returning from last year's team are junior Myah Crews and sophomore Emme Custer. Crews was a libero last year due to a shoulder injury, but she's healed and will be an outside hitter. Custer is a middle blocker who played varsity as a sophomore.

You might need a roster to know the players this year as Salem has two sets of twins. Tate and Tinsley Thomas are juniors, with Tate setting and Tinsley serving as an outside hitter. Kate and Macy Gibson made the varsity as freshmen with Kate hitting outside and Macy serving as a middle blocker.

Three sophomores round out the varsity, middle hitter Gabby Crawley and outside hitters Bailey Redford and Emma Collins.

Denton will be assisted by Moriah Moore on the varsity. Carleigh Cunningham is the jayvee coach and former head coach David Turk is a volunteer.

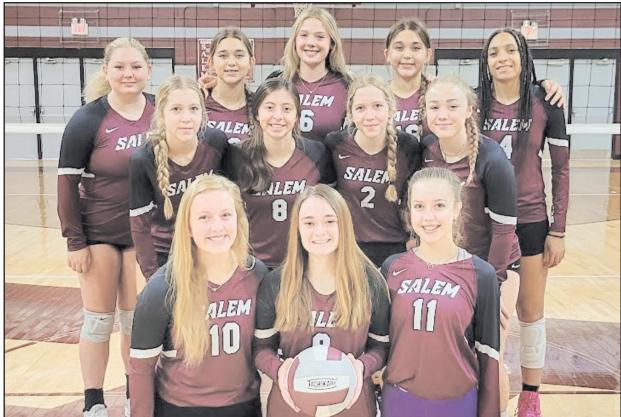

"We have a very young squad coming in," said Denton. "We're excited about what they will bring to our team this year as we rebuild. Graduating a large

The Salem High girls have a busy week as they senior class leaves a lot of opportunity for young open the volleyball season with three matches in players to grow and own leadership roles. We know Tinsely Thomas will be a powerful addition to the outside and we look forward to a strong middle game with Gabby Crawley as our second middle blocker."

The girls have high hopes. They went to a camp at the University of North Carolina and finished Gold Bracket, and they went 5-1 in Salem's preseason volleyball jamboree.

"The team has set the bar high at the start of the season so we are looking forward to what they can do," said Denton.

The high school football season officially kicks off Friday night and Salem area fans have two good ones to choose from. The Salem High Spartans will be home to meet Liberty Christian Academy and Glenvar will host Galax, both at 7 pm Friday night. The Spartans were hitting on all cylinders last Friday when they played host to Brookville in their last tuneup before games counted for real. Salem led 46-0 at the half and finished the benefit with a 58-6 win over the overmatched Bees. "It was a good opportunity for us to go to work and try to get better," said Salem coach Don Holter.
