Bridge dedicated to local Naval hero Jimmy Buriak

Meg Hibbert
Contributing writer

Remember heroes. That's the message underlying the sign mounted on the Diuguids Lane Bridge over the Roanoke River near Greenhill Park.

On July 8 the James P. Buriak Memorial Bridge sign was dedicated in memory of Naval Air Crewman Rescue Swimmer Jimmy Buriak, a local Salem hero who died along with four other Navy men in a helicopter accident Aug. 31, 2021.

Buriak's father and mother, Jim and Carol Buriak, wife Megan and young son Calder unveiled the sign in front of a crowd of 150 people at Greenhill Park. His sister, Laura, and husband Eric were also there along with many of Jimmy Buriak's teachers, neighbors, friends and local elected officials.

Jimmy Buriak often walked and played in the park when growing up, his dad recalled.

His best friend since second grade, Patrick Pollifrone, gave a touching tribute to his friend, recalling his pride in becoming a Navy SEAL, his humor, his kindness and how he wanted to help people.

"On his day off he rescued a drowning person from a rip tide in Guam," Pollifrone remembered.

Buriak graduated from Salem High School and Roanoke College in 2012

SALEM MUSEUM SPOTLIGHT

While today they are often called tricorns (short for tri-corner) hats, this style was never called that during the Colonial Era when they were worn. Instead, they were called "cocked hats" because the sides were cocked up.

Before this style became popular, hats were usually tall with large brims. As wigs became important status symbols, hats became smaller with folded brims to better show them off. This design also kept soldiers' hats safe from the fire of their guns. Shortened hats were easier to hold under an arm when inside buildings. These factors gave cocked hats their distinct size and shape that is synonymous with the Colonial Era.

Students ages 8-14 can see these Colonial hats and more this weekend at the Salem Museum Fun program.

This week Summer Fun will explore "Colonial Virginia and the Revolutionary War." Students will learn about the founding of our country, colonial life, and our surprising local connections to the Revolutionary War.

All programs are free!

Each hour-long program will be held on Saturdays at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. The content will be the same at both times each day. Call 540-389-6760 or email garrett@salem-museum.org to register. RSVP Required.

INTERSTATE 81 LANE WIDENING CONSTRUCTION PROJECT

EXIT 137 TO EXIT 141 – The $179 million design-build project to widen both directions of I-81 between mile markers 136.6 and 141.8 from two to three lanes is underway. Work is being performed along a five-mile section of both northbound and southbound Interstate 81 in Roanoke County and the city of Salem. Barrier wall is in place along the shoulders. Two lanes of I-81 traffic in each direction are expected to remain open during the project with periodic lane closures scheduled during nighttime hours or outside of peak travel times as needed. Drivers can expect the following lane closures and upcoming traffic impacts in this area on northbound and southbound I-81:

ADDITIONAL TRAFFIC IMPACTS:

- WORK ZONE SPEED: Drivers should adhere to posted 60 mph speed limits in the work zone and allow space when following a vehicle. Narrow spacing in lanes due to barrier walls, lack of shoulders and lane shifts in various locations, are present.
 - TRAFFIC SHIFTS ON WILDWOOD ROAD: Expect a work zone with traffic shifts and narrow width on Wildwood Road after exiting I-81 southbound on exit 137 heading towards Salem. Southbound and northbound I-81 exit and entrance ramp narrows are possible at Route 311.
 - TRAFFIC SHIFT ON EXIT 140: Drivers may experience periodic lane closures that require a quick merge into traffic onto Thompson Memorial Drive from the southbound exit ramp of exit 140. Work zone located at bottom of the ramp for work on the I-81 bridge at the underpass.
 - RAMP CLOSURES: Ramp closures are possible during nighttime hours, 12 a.m., to 5 a.m. Drivers should watch for message boards dates and times the ramp will be closed.
 - LANE CLOSURES: Alternating left and right lane and shoulder closures during nighttime hours between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., Sunday through Thursday, are possible. Lane widths will be reduced to 11 feet. Nightly lane closures may be in place along the right lane with possible nightly ramp narrows as needed for guardrail and shoulder strengthening.
- The project also includes replacing six bridges, widening two bridges, installing approximately 2.6 miles of sound barrier walls along northbound I-81, improving the southbound exit 137 off-ramp intersection at Wildwood Road and adding interchange lighting at exits 137, 140 and 141. Expected completion in early 2026.

I-81 NB & SB DECK OVERLAY AT PEAK CREEK MILE MARKER 95.7 - Repair work is underway on the northbound and southbound bridges on I-81 over Peak Creek near mile marker 95.7. This repair work will require nighttime single lane closures for the duration of the project. Lane closures may occur nightly from Sunday night through Friday mornings between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. For the deck overlay process, lane closures may be in place between Sunday nights through Friday mornings. For the southbound lanes these will occur between the hours of 7pm and 10am, and for the northbound lanes between the hours of 6pm through 9am. Details on these closures will be listed below on a weekly basis. Estimated completion is scheduled for end of 2024.

I-81 NORTHBOUND AT EXIT 105 NEW RIVER BRIDGE REPLACEMENT IN MONTGOMERY COUNTY – Traffic on northbound I-81 has been switched onto the newly constructed bridge over the New River at the Montgomery/Pulaski County line. Lane and shoulder closures may be in place near exit 105. Lane closure may be in effect during the week from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. Shoulder closures may be in effect at any time during the week. Slow rolls may be performed on I-81 in the north and southbound lanes from mile marker 98 to 109. Speed limit is reduced to 60 miles per hour in the work zone. Shoulder closures will remain in place though the duration of the project. Project completion is estimated for Summer 2024.

- LANE CLOSURES: Nighttime alternating lane closures are possible on I-81 northbound between mile markers 104-106.
- Nighttime left lane closures scheduled on I-81 southbound during nighttime hours, 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. the next morning, beginning Sunday, July 7 through Saturday, July 13.
- ROUTE 605: Alternating lane closures and flagging operations may be present on Route 605, located under the New River Bridge, for paving operations and work overhead on the bridge.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Shelly Koon

Contributing Writer

This week's recipe takes me back to my roots. My family is from Arkansas, and we would return to Little Rock at least once a year to visit our grandparents and great aunts and uncles. One summer, Dad's uncle Dennis came to visit us in Toledo, Ohio. My great-uncle Dennis was a menopause baby, so he was 15 years younger than my dad (his nephew); only 8 years older than me. I thought he was so cool. A teenager traveling through 5 states on the bus to see his relatives all on his own. We were living in Toledo, Ohio at the time and I was 8 years old. My mom asked him what his favorite dessert was, thinking to make it for him. He told her it was possum pie. My mom looked at him and told him "No way, no how" was she making possum pie. Dennis laughed and told her it was pie that was made with pudding not meat. My mom called great-grandma Mills to see if she had a recipe. Grammy Mills said she got the recipe from the "Arkansas Democrat-Gazette" in the 70's and this pie became a favorite of ours, just like great-uncle Dennis.

Called many names, this multi-layered dessert is called possum pie in Arkansas. This no bake pie gets its name from playing possum. Just like a possum plays dead to fool its enemies this pie's simple appearance hides what's underneath, only visible when you cut in. The pie is made with several layers, usually a vanilla pudding or cream cheese layer, then another layer like chocolate custard in a pecan shortbread crust. Topped with whipped cream or Cool Whip Topping, it's an easy no bake pie that takes a few minutes to mix together. This recipe is my mom's, so it uses a storebought crust, instant pudding, and Cool Whip instead of a homemade crust, custard filling, and whipped cream. You can always make your own nut crust, custard fillings and use meringue for the topping if you are more ambitious.

Possum Pie

Ingredients:

- 6 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 graham cracker crust (9 inches)
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1-3/4 cups cold whole milk
- 3/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/4 cup instant vanilla pudding mix
- 1/3 cup instant chocolate pudding mix
- 1/2 cup heavy whipping cream, whipped (or use 8 oz Cool Whip)
- 12 to 16 pecan halves

Directions:

1. In a small bowl, beat cream cheese and confectioners' sugar until smooth. Spoon into ready-made

COURTESY PHOTO

2. In a bowl, whisk the milk, vanilla, and pudding mixes for 2 minutes. Let stand for 2 minutes or until soft set. Spoon over the pecans.
 3. Refrigerate for at least 4 hours. Top with whipped cream and pecan halves.
- How To Switch Up Possum Pie. While this pie is already decadent and beautifully layered, you can't go wrong with a little customization: Type of crust: You can also opt for a graham cracker, Oreo, or standard pie crust if preferred, although it isn't traditional. Add flavorings: For a little extra flavor, add a sprinkle of cinnamon to the shortbread, a hint of orange zest to the cream cheese layer, or a splash of bourbon to the chocolate pudding. Decoration ideas: Take this pie to the next level by garnishing with a drizzle of melted chocolate, chocolate chips, chocolate curls, or a sprinkle of flaky sea salt to balance the sweetness.

SCOTCH-IRISH IMMIGRANTS FIRST SETTLERS IN THIS ROANOKE COUNTY SECTION

John Lewis Initial Pioneer In The Valley - Most Of Settlers Wanted Freedom More Than Economic Security

From the 1938 centennial edition of The Times-Register

The first settlers in what is now Roanoke county were of that adventurous band of Scotch-Irish which came down from Pennsylvania or Maryland to build homes in a wilderness. The first Settlers in this vicinity arrived about the year 1740 and the identity of the first settler is now known. It might have been James McAfee who settled on the Catawba river, William Carvin who located at Tinker's Knob, James Burke who settled on the Roanoke river or Mark Evans who founded that great plantation, Cedar Springs.

However, the fact is fairly well established that the first settler in the Shenandoah valley was John Lewis who settled near Staunton on 1732. He was the father of our renowned Andrew Lewis and came here from Ireland via Portugal.

At this time the Scotch-Irish were pouring into the Scotland and Ireland for years these hardy souls in whose veins flowed the blood of the ancient Scottish clansman, who defied the Church of England, sought refuge in a land where they could worship as they pleased.

These Scotchmen, most of whom were Presbyterians, had left Scotland for the northern part of Ireland because of religious persecution. In Ireland all went well for a while but new troubles were soon to engulf them. Not only were they subjected to religious persecution in Ireland but in the matter of commerce they were treated outrageously.

Presbyterians Oppressed

In 1698 England became jealous of the successful Scotch-Irish manufacturers in Ulster, and laws were passed which soon had the effect of crippling the growing linen and woolen mills of Northern Ireland. Moreover Presbyterians were not permitted to have schools and their ministers were not permitted to perform the marriage ceremony. It was enacted that a marriage performed by a Presbyterian minister be held null and void, and that the marriage be declared illegal. Under such disadvantages the Scotch-Irish people were up against the same old method of oppression as prevailed in Scotland so that in the 50 years which followed half a million came to these shores. Most of them landed at Philadelphia while some entered this country via Charleston, South Carolina.

In Ireland the Scotch had intermarried with the Irish and for that reason the names of the new settlers showed evidence of as much Irish descent as Scotch.

Nor were all those who came down the valley from Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish, but there were a number of Germans who accompanied them. These people were of a sturdy pioneer stock who were better adapted to the settlement of wild country than the English settlers who had occupied the eastern part of Virginia.

The Germans came here to make a living by tilling the soil while the Scotch-Irish came here not for that reason alone, but to find a place where they were free from oppressive laws and religious intolerance.

The Scotch-Irish immigrants were inclined to talk of rights and privileges and not so much of building up a civilization. For that reason they were foremost in the fight to free this land. Later the same Scotch-Irish pioneers were the backbone of the Jeffersonian democracy as opposed to the aristocratic party of Hamilton. Later on it was these people who were responsible for the election of Andrew Jackson to the presidency.

Fort Lewis Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, that was held at the Salem Civic Center on July 4.

He reminded his audience of 30 people how during the Revolution, "Women were left to take care of home and hearth" while their husbands, fathers, sons and sweethearts were fighting against British troops.

Bennett set the stage for the day when the Declaration was signed: "The sun was shining, there was a light wind from the southeast and it was 72.5 degrees," he said, quoting from Virginian Thomas Jefferson's meticulous diary.

The doors to the chamber were locked when all the delegates arrived, he said, causing the room to heat up and the horseflies that entered from the slightly opened window tops to torment the signers.

Jefferson, who was the author of the Declaration, grew increasingly frustrated as other delegates made 86 alterations to his words, Bennett said.

Voting took place by colony, from north to south. "There was no fanfare, no cheering as Congress moved forward with other business," Bennett said.

He reminded the audience that the signers faced the threat of hanging if the colonies were unsuccessful in their fight, because the action was an act of treason against the Crown.

Ultimately, the British captured five of the signers and 11 had their homes destroyed. One of those was the home of Thomas Nelson of Virginia, which was being used as the command center for General Cornwallis. The home was not hit initially, but Nelson ordered his own troops to fire on it to send a message to Cornwallis.

The home has been restored and can be seen today, Bennett said.

He noted that two of the signers, Jefferson and John Adams, both died on July 4, 1826.

Red Sox wrap up 12 game road trip in Kinston

The Salem Red Sox will complete their longest road trip of the season this week when they travel to Kinston, NC for a six game series with the Down East Wood Ducks. The Ducks are a farm team of the Texas Rangers.

Salem is in the midst of a 12 game road swing with the Salem Fair taking up the parking lot at Salem Memorial Ballpark. Last week the Sox played six games in Lynchburg and split the series, 3-3. Salem lost the first two games, 10-5 and 5-0, but bounced back to win the next two, 11-5 and 5-4. They dropped a 6-5 decision on Friday but gained the split with a 5-3 win on Saturday evening.

Brooks Brannon had two hits for Salem on Saturday, raising his batting average to .310. Albert Feliz also had two hits for the Sox and drove in three runs. Elmer Rodriguez-Cruz started on the mound and picked up the win, allowing two runs while striking out five in five and two-thirds innings of work. Conor Steinbaugh pitched the last three and a third innings to pick up his first save, allowing one run and fanning three.

With the split the Sox find themselves at 7-8 through Monday in the second half standings. Fredericksburg leads the Northern Division of the Carolina League with a 12-3 record, five games up on the Sox.

After this week's trip to Kinston the Red Sox are off next Monday through Thursday for the Major League Baseball All-Star game. The Sox return to action on Friday, July 19, with a three game series at home against Fredericksburg.

Sports Hoopla

by Brian Hofman

OLD KID ON THE BLOCK

Today's edition is Thursday, July 11, 2024. That's significant to me because my very first column in the Salem Times-Register was exactly 50 years ago today, on July 11, 1974.

I can remember it like it was yesterday. I had graduated from Roanoke College in May and went back home to Pennsylvania to try and find a job. I was working at the ceramic tile factory in Lansdale, PA, where my mother had worked for years when I got a call from Ray Robinson in Salem.

Ray was the owner of the Salem Times-Register and his part-time sports editor, Rick Harvey, had resigned. I had been the sports editor of the Roanoke College newspaper, the Brackety-Ack, which was printed on the Salem Times-Register press. Apparently Ray had been reading my stories and liked them, so he reached out to see if I'd like to return to Salem and replace Rick.

I had decided about a month before graduation I'd like to pursue journalism. I majored in Business Administration because I thought it was the most well-rounded field, but in addition to being Sports Editor for the RC paper I also worked for the Sports Information Department, writing stories for the basketball program and helping the late Ray Brown. I was also the head stat man for the Maroon hoops team, so it hit me I might want to do this for a living.

I had applied for a job at the Allentown Morning Call, but with no real newspaper experience I had little shot of getting that job. So, rather than sweat in that tile factory for an uncertain length of time I decided to take Ray up on the offer.

My dad and I loaded up my uncle Bill's truck with any furniture we could find and drove to Virginia. We took a room at the old Regina Motor Lodge on West Main Street and looked through the paper for possible apartments. We found a place on Craig Avenue, Greenbriar East, that's still there and I soon had a one bedroom apartment about a mile away from the Roanoke College campus I had just left.

I realized right away I wasn't going to get rich doing this, at least not in a financial sense. My

NEW KID ON THE BLOCK

First of all I'd like to take this opportunity to introduce myself and welcome you to the world of sports, or, as Joe Garagiola puts it, the toy section in the department store of life. I'm a young, witty, handsome journalist who has a tendency to lie a lot. In all seriousness, I am young.

As the new sports editor I hope to keep you informed on the local scene as well as providing some sidelights on a national scope as they pertain to you. Any comments, criticisms, or suggestions will be greatly appreciated and possibly printed if they so merit. Just drop a line to me, Brian Hoffman, at the Salem Times-Register, 1633 West Main salary was $40 a week plus mileage and I worked from home, which was now my one bedroom apartment. To "supplement" my income I got a job at the Damon Company machine shop, which was then located on Tennessee Street in the building where B&B Fastners now operates. I came home every day smelling like lubricant oil and soon my '63 Chevy Impala took on the same aroma.

Piccola Hops Plane

Here's the beginning of Brian Hoffman's very first column on July 11, 1974. He doesn't look any different today.

As mentioned, my first edition was 50 years ago today. After introducing myself I wrote a column about Dave Schultz, who had played for the Salem Rebels ice hockey team and was a key member of the '76 Philadelphia Flyers, who had just won the Stanley Cup. Other sports that week included the naming of the Little League All-Star baseball teams, which included Chance Crawford, Jimmy Chisom, Todd Hannah, Ron Myers, Billy Jones, Tommy East and several others who would become my friends in years to come.

I also had a story about the Salem Pirates and the Carolina League All-Stars that week, and a story about how a friend of mine from college, Jay Piccola, would be participating in a try-out camp for the New Orleans Jazz basketball team. The Jazz had drafted Piccola in the eighth round of the NBA draft (yes, they had eight rounds IN) on a tip from Tulane University coach Charlie Moir. Charlie had recruited Jay to Roanoke College, won a national Street. I hope to be hearing from you and vice versa.

IF YOU CAN'T BEAT 'EM, CHANGE THE RULES

Many things have been said about ex-Rebel Dave Schultz. No matter what you think of him, you must admit that you do think of him. One person on whose mind the name of Schultz weighs quite heavily is NHL referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison. At the recently completed league meetings several bits of legislation appeared to be directed at the Flyers' leftwinger. One new rule stipulates that a bench minor shall be assessed when a penalized player fails to go directly to the box. Formerly, the rule dictated a 10-minute misconduct, not leaving the team shorthanded. Now it will be costly not only to the combatant but the team as well if he decides to "press the issue."

Where does this leave Schultz? Well, as undisputed champ of the NHL there's always some young hopeful who's ready to take him on in spite of the pain a broken nose renders. Now, there affords the chance to sneak in some quick cheap shots and run before the "Hammer" can assert himself. If Dave decided to follow up the initial meeting, the whole team suffers. Are you listening, Dale Rolfe of the world?

Several other rules were also enacted which were pointed directly at the first Rebel ever to have his name on Lord championship in 1972, then took the Green Wave job in New Orleans after Piccola's junior year. As you may know Moir eventually wound up coaching Virginia Tech and his son, Page, coached for many years at Roanoke College.

Front page news that week included a story about how Salem dropped plans to build a recreation center, anticipating the high cost of building a new high school. There were also a variety of columns, eight pictures of brides and lots of advertisements from places like the Langhorne Pharmacy, Davis Pizza and Hart Olds.

By September one of our news writers, the late Pat Hooker, had decided to leave and I was hired full-time to do sports and news, enabling me to quit the Damon Company. I enjoyed the sports much more than the news and worked my way into doing just that. In years to come our company purchased the Vinton Messenger and Fincastle Herald and I started doing the sports for the Salem, New Castle, Vinton and Fincastle papers, as I do today.

It doesn't seem like 50 years. I've made many friends over the years and have totally enjoyed bringing sports stories to you in our papers on a weekly basis. I met my wife here at the paper and have truly enjoyed a wonderful life in this Shangri-La we call Salem.

Everyone should be so lucky.

On the Mats

Salem High wrestling coach Lawrence Van Liew (back left) along with his staff and wrestlers conducted the Salem Department of Parks & Recreation camp the last week of June at Salem High School.

Maroons announce moves to wrestling coaching staff

The Roanoke wrestling team has announced three coaching moves. Assistant coach Blake Rosenbaum was elevated to Associate Head Coach and Recruiting Coordinator and two new additions joined the staff. Collin Gerardi is the new assistant coach and director of training and Matt Hand will serve as Head Regional Training Center Coach.

Rosenbaum has been with the program since the start, serving as a volunteer assistant in 2020-2021 and then as head assistant coach from 2021-24. He has coached three Maroon All Americans and was named the Southeast Regional Assistant Coach of the Year this winter.

"Blake has been here since the beginning and helped shape our culture and program," said head coach Nate Yetzer. "I can't think of a more deserving person being elevated to this position. From his days as an athlete to his time as a coach at Ferrum College and now here at Roanoke, I am so proud to call Blake a friend and colleague. He has proven himself as one of the top recruiters in the country the last few years and has continued to be someone that I lean on heavily. I'm very happy for Blake."

Gerardi, a former wrestler at Virginia Tech, is a two-time Division I National Qualifier. Gerardi was a U23 USA Wrestling Freestyle All American and a two-time VHSL State Champion. Also a NHSCA Senior National Champion, he is a former assistant at Machine Shed Wrestling Club.

"I have known Collin for a number of years and one thing that has always stood out to me is his positive attitude and work ethic," said Yetzer. "These two things really stood out during the interview process. When we look at bringing people into our program, we always look what kind of person are they. You won't find many as genuine as Collin. His experience, and passion for the sport of wrestling will help him mold our young men and I'm excited to work with him."

Hand is a former wrestler at the University of Iowa and was part of the 1996-2000 National Championship Teams. An Iowa State Champion, Hand served as the head coach at VA Elite from 2017-2022 and at Machine Shed from 2022-24. He guided his squads to three VAWA Team Titles and coached several VAWA and VHSL Champs.

"I am so fired up to add coach Matt Hand onto the staff to head up our Regional Training Center," said Yetzer. "The club deserves someone that will invest themselves fully and Matt is that guy. I was bummed we did not get him last year, but finally glad to have him guide our RTC program. The RTC has been growing the last few years and is ready to take off to the next level. Matt will be the guy to do it."

GATORS WRAP UP MONDAY SCHEDULE

The Stonegate Swim Club competed in their last regular season meet of the Roanoke Valley Aquatic Association season when they swam at Castle Rock Monday night. The Gators will now prepare for the annual City-County meet, scheduled for the Christiansburg Aquatic Center on July 19 and 20. Here long time Gator Morgan Griffith checks his time after swimming in a meet at the Salem pool. Griffith is in his 57th season on the Stonegate team.

bullpens and dugouts that can house 47 players. There are two batting practice facilities easily accessible from every field.

Field three will be Salem High's home field and Field Four will be home to Roanoke College. Both have windscreens on the outfield fence that highlight the home team and RC chipped in to pay for their windscreen that includes names of All-American players and team highlights.

Each dugout has a bathroom and a water bottle filling station, and those stations are located throughout the renovated complex. The center tower now has an elevator, an office for complex director Jim Farmer and a renovated kitchen for the concession stand.

"We can serve breakfast, lunch or dinner," said Shaner. "Once you come in the complex there's really no reason to leave until you're ready to go home."

One of the complaints in prior years was the lack of shade, and the new Moyer Complex not only has covered seats but shaded areas at the playground and pickleball courts to make patrons comfortable on the hottest of days.

The 22-acre complex originally opened in April of 1992, and it annually hosts a variety of events ranging from youth softball and baseball tournaments to NCAA women's national softball championships. The Moyer Complex is typically in use an average of 230 days a year with a yearly attendance of approximately 250,000 guests.

"The Moyer Complex has been a huge asset to our valley for over 30 years and all of these renovations and updates will ensure that the facility remains a strong economic driver for the region and one of the top sports complexes on the east coast," said Shaner.

In 2004, the venue hosted Jennie Finch and the United States Olympic Softball team for a sold-out exhibition game and in 2011 the facility was named the Complex of the Year in the United States by USA Softball. Year after year a variety of college conferences and the Virginia High School League crown champions at home plate.

"When we look at the Moyer Complex, we see an opportunity for the future," said Jon Oney of Virginia's Blue Ridge. "Sports tourism is a $52 billion dollar industry and $2.7 billion was generated in the Commonwealth alone in 2022, which puts us in the top 10 in states across the country."

"It is a collective voice to attract and recruit events to this region," said Oney. "Having a state-of-the-art facility like the Moyer Sports Complex gives Virginia's Blue Ridge a leg up in retaining current business and recruiting new business. For that, we are eternally thankful."

Virginia Senator David Suetterlein, House of Delegates member Joe McNamara, Salem City Council members, Roanoke Mayor Sherman Lea and Roanoke County Supervisors Vice-Chair, Martha Hooker, were among those in attendance for the reopening ceremony. Also attending were members of the Salem High and Roanoke College softball teams and a large gathering of Salemites who were anxious to see the improvements and get a free lunch to boot.

Ground was broken on the Moyer project on September 28, 2022, and the renovations were funded by a combination of Salem funds and a $15 million bond.

"The complex has served so many of our citizens since it opened in 1992," Turk said. "It has been a critical facet of the economic growth that has occurred in Salem and the surrounding communities in the past 32 years and we are confident it will continue to thrive."

The venue will see its first post-renovation action in just a few days. The USA Girls 14-and-under and 18-and-under Class A national championships will take place at the Moyer and the Botetourt Sports Complex in Daleville on July 17-21.

"One thing I'm proud of is that in one year and 11 months we only missed one event that we weren't able to host during the renovation," said Shaner. "That's a tribute to our staff and the relationship we have with Roanoke County, Roanoke City, Botetourt County and our partnership with the whole Roanoke Valley."

Big crowd on hand for reopening of Moyer Complex

Salem's award-winning James I. Moyer Sports Complex is officially back in business. After a 22-month renovation process civic leaders and many others who were instrumental in the facility's major facelift gathered outside the main gate to cut the ribbon and reopen the facility on Monday morning.

"By renovating, the Moyer Complex will continue to shine as it serves everyone in this part of the country for years to come," said Salem Mayor Renee Turk. "Visitors, coaches, and athletes have filled our hotels, restaurants, grocery stores, and gas stations since 1992, and we cannot wait to have them back."

The complex features four updated diamonds that can also be used for soccer and youth flag football games. There are 13 pickleball courts that were already packed following the opening ceremony on Monday. A new community playground with special needs accessibility has a variety of equipment for kids and a rubberized surface for safety, and, there is also lots of additional parking.

"Adding additional parking was a priority," said John Shaner, Salem Parks and Recreation Director. "This includes a new lot on Colorado Street that will help with overflow event parking and allow for easy access to our greenway and the Roanoke River."

The complex now has 383 total parking spots. A new brick framed sign at the entrance highlights coming events and the parking lots are landscaped with trees.

"Right when you come off the street you know that this is the complex," said Shaner. "Before the renovations the area off the street looked terrible. With the new parking lots, the sign and the pickleball courts it gives you a good feeling right away and it also enhances the greenway."

The facility's upgrades were budgeted at $27.9 million, and the project has remained under budget throughout the often-arduous construction phases. A great deal of the credit for that success goes to Salem's own G&H Contracting.

"They are the heart and soul of this project," said Shaner. "There were so many moving parts with the construction of this facility, and G&H really knocked it out of the park."

Once folks enter the facility and pass the pickleball courts, with windscreens sponsored by Blue Ridge Cancer Care, they'll see the playground and pavilion to their left. Then, straight ahead, is the new entrance to the four-field facility with a large rotating ball on a water base. It comes from Germany and similar balls are used at many major league parks and large scale venues. It's inscribed with the new "Moyer Complex" logo in the hand-writing of former Salem mayor Jim Moyer, who the complex was named for.

"Mike Stevens (Salem's Public Relations Director) found Jim Moyer's signature and we decided to use that for our logo," said Shaner. "The ball is a great place for people from out of town to take photos."

Moving into the complex, a two-window ticket office is to the right that also houses changing rooms for the umpires. It includes showers and a TV, and in fact there are many TVs located through the complex that will stream the action on the fields.

The main field has 860 chairback seats as well as lots of standing area. The scoreboard remains the same and the field has two bullpen areas, a Bermuda grass playing surface and artificial turf aprons in front of the dugouts.

"A lot of places are going to that," said Shaner. "With the artificial wings we can use a smaller tarp to cover the field and it only takes four or five people to roll it out. Plus, it displaces less water."
