

WorldHorseWelfare

Please don't feed our horses – it could kill them.

Did you know?

- Feeding horses something they aren't used to – or even too much of something they are used to – can make them really unwell or even kill them
- Horses can't vomit, so digestive problems are really dangerous for them and can easily turn into a veterinary emergency
- Cut grass/grass clippings should never be fed to horses and can kill them
- Giving food can cause fighting between individuals and result in injuries
- Many horses need very careful weight management to stop them developing an extremely painful disease called laminitis

Thank you very much for caring for our horses by not feeding them.