Bridgeport

State Park

Welcome to Bridgeport

Bridgeport State Park is a beautiful park that provides 18 acres of lawn and shade in the midst of the desert terrain of North Central Washington. The park is on the shoreline of Rufus Woods Lake and sits directly behind Chief Joseph Dam.

This 748-acre camping park is popular with anglers, kayakers, photographers and other outdoor enthusiasts. "Haystacks," unusual volcanic formations resembling their name, are the park's most striking feature. The lake is a segment of the Columbia River and is abundant in rainbow trout, silvers and walleye. Visitors to the park enjoy a variety of recreational activities, including swimming, boating, hiking, golfing, sailboarding and waterskiing.

Interpretive programs are provided by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Subjects include the operation of Chief Joseph Dam, area wildlife and many other topics of local interest. Programs are usually on Saturdays during the summer season.

Overnight accommodations

The park offers 14 standard campsites, 20 utility sites that accommodate RVs up to 45 feet long. All campsites are reservable for dates between May 15 and Sept. 15.

There is a group camp that accommodates up to 72 guests, with a minimum of 20.

To reserve a campsite or the group camp, visit www.parks.state.wa.us or call (88) CAMPOUT.
