State Park

Welcome to Nolte State Park

Nolte State Park, situated in the Green River Gorge area near Enumclaw, is a popular summer day-use park with forest and beautiful green lawns along the peaceful shores of Deep Lake. The park is a popular local picnic and gathering site.

Nolte State Park was formerly a vacation resort. Today, the park is enjoyed for picnicking, bird watching, swimming, canoeing and kayaking, as well as hiking and bicycling the 1.4 mile-long trail around the lake. The 117-acre park also is popular with anglers, who fish for stocked rainbow trout and moderate populations of native kokanee, yellow perch, catfish and bass. Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife rules apply at all times.

Setting and wildlife

Nolte State Park is in the Puget Trough eco-region of Washington, on the western edge of the Cascade mountain range in the Green River Gorge Conservation Area. The park still has the apple and cherry trees that were once part of the resort. The native forest is typical of the region, with a mix of Douglas-fir, western red cedar, hemlock, alder and maple, as well as ferns, moss and lichen, wild berries and wild flowers.

The lake is home to geese and ducks, and visitors also may see herons, eagles, hawks, osprey, owls, woodpeckers, wrens and hummingbirds. While they may not be readily seen, marten, mink and weasels are in the area, along with the less shy chipmunks and squirrels, deer, raccoons and other animals.

Picnic and day-use facilities

The park provides two picnic shelters plus 50 unsheltered picnic tables. Picnic shelters may be reserved for groups of up to 50 guests. There is a fee plus a damage deposit. Picnic shelters may be reserved between May 1 and Sept. 30. Reservations may be made online at www.parks.state.wa.us or by calling (888) CAMPOUT or (888) 226-7688.

The park also has horseshoe pits for picnickers to enjoy, and there is an informal softball field, as well. The watercraft launch is open from April 1 to Sept. 30 each year.
