Historical State Park

Park history

Constructed between 1898 and 1917, the Fort Worden of 100 years ago was home to nearly 1,000 troops and officers training to defend the Puget Sound from potential invaders.

As the headquarters of the defenses, Fort Worden was strategically placed at the north entrance to the Puget Sound, on the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The trio of fortifications at Admiralty Inlet, composed of Fort Worden, Fort Casey and Fort Flagler, was later coined as the "Triangle of Fire."

Fort Worden expanded during World War I and contracted again when the war ended, though the fort remained operational through World War II.

The rise of the airplane and improvements in warships soon rendered much of the early 20th Century military technology obsolete. The military closed Fort Worden in 1953.

Washington State Parks acquired portions of Fort Worden in 1957 but did not acquire all of its current property until 1989.

In addition to the fort itself, a historic lighthouse stands on adjacent land at Point Wilson and is part of most park-goers' experience. Though there has been a lighthouse on Point Wilson since 1879, the current lighthouse has been in operation since 1914. Its light became automated in 1976.

WELCOME TO FORT WORDEN!

Fort Worden Historical State Park is a 434-acre multi-use park with more than two miles of saltwater shoreline and a wide variety of services and facilities. The park rests on a high bluff overlooking Puget Sound. Many historic buildings remain at this 19th-century military fort.

This historic fort offers a full-service conference center, an ideal setting for seminars, conferences, retreats and family reunions. Historic 100-year-old Victorian parlors, spacious carpeted dormitories, and full utility campsites can meet the needs of most any small or large conference group. The conference center has a dining facility and a wide range of meeting rooms. The park has a pleasantly informal atmosphere in a historically formal setting.
