Painter, sculptor and designer...

Hans Hopfer has designed several sofas that have become iconic pieces in Roche Bobois collections.

In the 1970s, his innovative and open-minded approach to comfort had a profound influence on the way people furnished and arranged their living spaces.

In 1971, Hopfer created the Mah Jong, a modular sofa that champions total freedom of form and function.

Starting with three basic elements that can be combined or stacked together, the Mah Jong allows limitless options of composition, ranging from simple to highly complex: armchair, sofa, lounge chair, bed or living space. It allows for all positions and uses, reflecting the enthusiasm and vitality of the era from which it hails.

Today, the Mah Jong is dressed in new designer fabrics and set on elegant platforms that enhance its silhouette and make it even more comfortable. Avant-garde at the time of its creation, this ultra-modular sofa is an iconic piece today.

The Mah Jong,
a unique savoir-faire.

The Mah Jong cushions are handmade in Italy, in a dedicated workshop using processes and techniques similar to those of the haute couture fashion industry. Designed in the style of a luxury mattress, each component is individually hand-stitched, with the utmost attention paid to detail.
This artisanal workmanship showcases the designer fabrics that dress the Mah Jong.

The seats

The Mah Jong was created to provide freedom of form and function. By encouraging people to arrange the elements to what suits them best, the Mah Jong can change the landscape of a living room, offering a whole new approach to the way we view and arrange our living spaces.

The possibilities are limitless: play around with heights and redefine the original purpose of the sofa if you wish, to completely reorganise your living space and unleash your creativity.

The three basic elements of the Mah Jong can be stacked, arranged next to each other or grouped together – as needed.

The combination of seat cushions, straight back rests and corner elements is ideal for adjusting the height and creating the desired composition: corner sofa, straight sofa, lounge chair or day bed.

The platforms

The Mah Jong is set on elegant platforms that elevate the seats to make the sofa
even more comfortable.

True to the Mah Jong's original identity,
this new design makes the piece
more modern than ever.

The options are virtually endless and allow everyone the freedom to arrange the sofa however they wish – with or without clear surfaces to place books, trays, lamps or other decorative objects.

The finishes

The platforms come in finishes that match the colorways of the Mah Jong fabrics: stained wood in warm or clear tones, and several shades of lacquer with deep reflections.

A collection of cocktail tables matching the platforms complements this new Mah Jong set-up.

Kenzo Takada

Free and daring in his approach, Kenzo Takada – “the most Parisian of Japanese designers” – has designed exceptional fabric collections to upholster the Mah Jong. His creations reflect the graphic and cultural hallmarks of his style: the blending of East and West, color mastery, and subtle patterns for ever more original and elegant harmonies.
