

Review 1

Class objective: To be able to recall and answer all the questions.

Concept A: SER, ESTAR Y HAY.

In Spanish, there are different ways to say that something exists or is located somewhere. It is important to know when to use ser, estar or hay.

~ Ser and estar have irregular present tense forms and The key difference between ser and estar is one of essence and condition. In other words, to say what something is, use ser, but to say how something is, use estar.

EXAMPLES:

~ Sonia es artista.
(Sonia is an artist.)

~ Fran está enfermo.
(Fran is ill.)

To tell where something is from, use ser, but to tell where something is located now, use estar.

~ Hay is the impersonal form of the Spanish verb haber (to be, to have). It means there is or there are. It can be followed by a singular or a plural noun without any change in its form. Its position in the sentence is rather flexible, too.

EXAMPLES:

~ Sólo hay un cine en esta ciudad.
(There is only one cinema in this town.)

~ Hay muchos libros en la estantería.
(There are a lot of books on the shelf.)

~ ¿Hay algún problema?
(Is there a problem?)

~ En esta aula no hay sillas.
(There aren't any chairs in this classroom.)
