

Review 2

Objective: To review and revisit all the concepts done so far in Sanskrit

Concept A: Genders:

Every noun in Sanskrit has a gender. There are 3 genders in Sanskrit: masculine, feminine, and neuter. Although the genders of some nouns correspond to their physical gender (e.g. पुरुष = 'man' is masculine, स्त्री = 'woman' is feminine), the gender of most nouns is arbitrary. The gender of a noun must be looked up in a dictionary. In this book, the gender of a noun is indicated in the vocabulary lists following each exercise, as well as in the lexicon at the back of the book, with the letters m., f., and n.

Concept B: Numbers:

Ekavachana in Sanskrit means singular or single
Dwivachana in Sanskrit means dual or two objects
Bahuvachana in Sanskrit means plural for more than 2 objects.

It is important to note here that plural in Sanskrit will be more than 2 objects and not more than 1 like in other languages.

Concept C: Vibhaktis (cases) revision

Nouns in Sanskrit are divided into 3 genders:

Masculine (पुल्लिङ्ग)

Feminine (स्त्रीलिङ्ग)

Neuter (नपुंसकलिङ्ग)

The nouns are further divided into different endings like:

Nouns ending in A (अकारान्त)

Nouns ending in E (इकारान्त)

Nouns ending in U (उकारान्त)

And more endings like these
