ALGODON
WINE ESTATES
PRODUCED IN ARGENTINA

Algodon Wine Estates is located in the foothills of the Sierra Pintada in the southernmost region of Mendoza, Argentina's wine capital. Feeding the purest glacial melt from the Andes, our 325 acres of vines date back to 1948 and produce exceptional fruit on sandy and clay loam. Algodon's winemakers bring decades of international experience, craftsmanship and tradition. Our wines are handcrafted by the brilliant young winemaker, Mauro Novaresa, alongside the renowned Cecilia Alda. They have been aided by Master of Wine, Anthony Ruston, as well as Leo Lury, a fine wine expert. We have recently been joined by the renowned French and Argentinean oenologist Marcelo Pelletti. Our goal is to create premium wines using the best modern winemaking technology with eco-friendly, inspired approaches. We invite you to visit our estate, also Argentina's wine route to discover the Algodon lifestyle for yourself.

This wine is made from 100% Merlot harvested in March and macerated and fermented in stainless steel. It was then aged in new French oak 12 months. It was bottled unfiltered and unfined in December 2011. 5,800 bottles in all.
