BALLECHIN

is the registered brand name used for the heavily peated distillations produced at Edradour, Scotland's smallest Distillery. Since acquiring Edradour distillery in 2002, I have pursued an extensive programme of experimentation. Several heavily peated distillations have been produced, initially on a very limited scale, and these are being matured in a wide range of wood types. The phenol content of the malt used in production is not less than 50 parts per million. The Bordeaux Cask Matured is our seventh release of Ballechin, and has been matured solely in first fill Bordeaux hogsheads. There were a total of 6,000 bottles produced - (3,100 70cl and 900 750ml). Over the next 2 years we will be releasing further "progress reports" on Ballechin's development, featuring the other wood types, so that the whisky enthusiast can take part in our journey of establishing another truly formidable single malt whisky, born out of passion and the pursuit of quality.
