CABERNET SAUVIGNON

COLUMBIA VALLEY

Our Castle Rock Cabernet Sauvignon is produced from grapes grown in south-facing vineyards in Washington State's Columbia Valley, where the northern latitude and continental climate produce wines that show excellent structure. To soften and add complexity we have aged this full-bodied wine for 18 months in French oak barrels. On the palate it offers concentrated flavors of cassis, blackberry, black cherry and ripe plum, with a hint of light oak, and its finish is smooth and harmonious. It makes an excellent accompaniment to beef, lamb and game dishes and a variety of cheeses.
