5 SENTIDOS

100% DESTILADO DE AGAVE

This batch of "Cuishe de Moho" is the first time Cinco Sentidos has exported the work of Nicolas García Gutierrez, a fourth generation master distiller in San Luis Amatlan, Oaxaca. Nicolas harvested wild and semi-cultivated Cuishe (A. Karwinskii) from the region, roasted them in an underground oven with mesquite and huacal firewood, and left them in the oven for nearly 20 days. While the roast most certainly was completed after a week, intense rains prevented Nicolas from unearthing the oven sooner. Once he uncovered the oven, he found the piñas to be covered in mold ("moho") that forms on cooked agaves that have been left to rest for a long period of time. Nevertheless, he processed the plants as he typically would - milled them in a mechanical mill, fermented them for a week in fermenting tanks made of sabino cypress, and distilled the fermented mash once in his copper still with the use of a "refrescadere," and then a second time in the same still, but without the "refrescadere." The result was approximately 240 liters, 100 of which were bottled and exported to the U.S. Distilled September 2019. Bottled November 2020.

Cinco Sentidos ("Five Senses") originated as the house agave spirit in Oaxaca's acclaimed restaurant, "El Destilado." Our goal is to bring you uncertified nano-batch agave spirits that highlight varied production processes, agave diversity, and most importantly, the tradition and talents of the "familias magueyeras" who handcraft their spirit with rigor and esteem. Drink With Respect.
