When it comes to a winery cellar, the Winemaker's sharp acumen is the key to crafting a great wine. Their relationship with the fruit begins on the vine, and continues on through harvest and into the barrel – constantly evaluating to choose techniques large and small that will best capture in the glass what the vintage has to offer.

Grown in the cool vineyards of the Central Coast, this Chardonnay offers fresh aromas of apple and fresh baked bread, with just the right nuance of toasty oak. The smooth, apple-laced body leads to a long, lingering finish kissed by just a bit of cream and oak.
