Kindred

Around the turn of the century, many families shared the resources of Cummins Creek. Two neighboring families in the Frelsburg area used the creek as a gathering place for work and fun. Neighbors' herds of cattle shared the crisp, clean waters of the creek while their children played and fished. Parents and grandparents sipped homemade wine from native varieties of grapes found along the creek bank.

Many years later, these neighbors' grandchildren met unknowingly and wed soon after. Marriage merged two families, old stories, and generations of history.

We hope you enjoy our Kindred wine with friends and neighbors to create your own legacy and memories your families will enjoy in the future.
