Bryan Creek Vineyard lies on a south slope of the Chehalem Mountains, on basaltic-origin soils. Owned by our neighbors Jess and Joy Howell, the site is just across the road from our original estate vineyard at Quarter Mile Lane. We began planting the vineyard in 1989 with the UCD5 ("Pommard") clone, which produces long-lived wines with intense, ripe raspberry flavors, a rich body and soft tannins. We have made a single vineyard wine from Bryan Creek Vineyard grapes since 1998.

Landscape of Bryan Creek Vineyard, our winery, and their surroundings by Bob Brodemeier, with apologies to Gusto Libens.
