BOTTLED IN BOND

In 1897, the Bottled-in-Bond Act revolutionized the quality of American whiskey. Bourbon labeled "Bottled-in-Bond" guaranteed drinkers high quality whiskey made by a legitimate distiller. Carrying on that tradition, this well-aged bourbon from barrels all filled during the same season was bottled at exactly 100 proof for a bold taste and lingering finish—a testament to the Bottled-in-Bond Act established over a century ago.
