TEXAS ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE COMMISSION

Austin Hope 2013 Mourvèdre

Templeton Gap District, Paso Robles, California

In 2011 my oldest daughter Ainsley was 8 years old. While she was watching me do a video shoot in the vineyard she got distracted, picked up one of the cue cards, and drifted off into the oaks. The soils on the Hope family vineyard have quite a bit of clay on the surface... Ainsley realized that she could paint with the wet clay and upon her return she handed me a 12 x 24 mud painting of a pig like beast. This label is from a scanned version of her original piece, which hangs proudly in my office.

Mourvèdre is a variety that can be described sometimes as a beastly wine from its earth like undertones and animal flavors.
