SANTA ALICIA

WINE OF CHILE

RESERVA CHARDONNAY

The "condor" is known to have features that make it unique. Besides being the largest flying bird in the world and one of the longest-living, it partners up with a single mate for life and its plumage varies in color depending on its emotional state. Due to its declining numbers, any sighting of a condor in majestic flight among the Andean peaks is a truly amazing experience. The condor is Chile's national bird. It has its place in the national coat of arms and has served as inspiration for our Reserve line.

Made with carefully selected grapes, this Reserve Chardonnay is complex with subtle smoky-oak aromas; a well balance varietal character and a creamy and buttery texture. This is a fine concentrated and well structured wine.
