SANTA ALICIA WINE OF CHILE

RESERVA MALBEC

The "condor" is known to have features that make it unique. Besides being the largest flying bird in the world and one of the longest-living, it partners up with a single mate for life and its plumage varies in color depending on its emotional state. Due to its declining numbers, any sighting of a condor in majestic flight among the Andean peaks is a truly amazing experience. The condor is Chile's national bird. It has its place in the national coat of arms and has served as inspiration for our Reserve line.

Deep color, medium-bodied wine with blackberry and plum aromas and flavors. This wine was produced in a modern style with grapes from low-yield vineyards, and was aged in French and American oak.
