ADIRONDACK

DISTILLING COMPANY

Hand Crafted Spirits

601 Varick Street lies at the intersection of history and heritage. Built in 1920 as a bank, it has been transformed by The Adirondack Distilling Company into a small-batch distillery. The building's heritage is reminiscent of a time when artisan craftsmen made quality products by hand — just as we do now at our distillery. This small batch bourbon is meticulously made with only two ingredients: corn and water. A select blend of local corn is mixed with water from the Adirondack Mountains. Our bourbon is double distilled before each batch comes to rest in a virgin, charred, oak barrel. Our unparalleled process creates subtle flavors from each and every barrel. Every batch hand-crafted, every batch unique... so savor every sip.
