"MERLOT"

Merlot grapes have been grown throughout California's most popular winegrowing regions for decades, though there are only a few places that pair perfect sandy loam soil with the excellent balance of afternoon sunlight and cool evening breezes that are essential for nurturing a great Merlot crop. The western side of the Lodi winegrowing region is known for hot summer days, but also being the first inland area to catch the cool breezes coming in through the Carquinez Straits of the San Joaquin Delta. This combination has provided us with a balanced, flavorful and full bodied Merlot that remains true to its varietal, offering just the right amount of earthiness added to the fruitful flavors you have come to expect from Abundance Vineyards.
