PINOT NOIR
CENTRAL COAST

A COOL TALE OF A LONG GROWING SEASON:

Along the sinuous coastline of Central California, vineyards are cooled by ocean wind and fog that sweeps in each day from the Pacific. Our vineyards extend from the valleys of Monterey to the rolling hillsides of San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara, where strong daytime breezes moderate temperatures, and evening fog intrusions can linger well into the late morning hours. These ocean influences combine to extend the hang time on the vine, allowing the fruit to develop deeply concentrated aromas and flavors at harvest time.
