TEXAS ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE COMMISSION

Ballechin is the heavily peated distillation we have been making at Edradour Distillery since 2003. Distilled using barley which has been infused with peat to a level of at least 50ppm during the drying process, the spirit produced is then matured in the finest oak casks from the USA and Europe.

This bottling is predominantly from ex Bourbon casks with a generous top dressing of ex Oloroso Sherry casks, to create added depth and greater complexity. Due to non-chillfiltration when adding water the whisky may turn cloudy; this is perfectly normal and not a cause for concern.

Enjoy the journey...

The neat cluster of buildings at Edradour Distillery houses very traditional equipment capable of producing very limited quantities of a truly handcrafted spirit. Large distilleries will typically produce our annual output in just a few days. We introduced a heavily peated distillation in 2003 and released the first 10 year old expression in 2014.
