2010 COLUMBIA VALLEY MALBEC

1805 marks the year Lewis & Clark discovered Washington's Columbia River Valley. Wine grapes were soon planted in the region and have been cultivated ever since. This Malbec has an inky, violet hue. Unfolding on your palate are flavors of fig, brambleberry, earthy spices, black peppercorn and tobacco. Round tannins lead to a silky finish on this full-bodied wine. Savor it with aged cheddar, chili, or pasta Bolognese.
