Historic American Treasure

This exclusive bottling is the last small batch of A.H. Hirsch Reserve—all that is left of this historical treasure. Each individually numbered bottle is a hand-blown artisan masterpiece, which befits the exceptional Reserve Bourbon Whiskey within. On the last day before prohibition, the line outside Mueller's Distillery stretched 2 1/2 miles. Customers came on that cold day in 1919 to fill casks, bottles and tin cups and to drink their last rations of legal whiskey. A.H. Hirsch Reserve is a complete rarity—a whiskey of such uncompromising quality and individual character that words simply cannot do it justice. Matured in oak casks for 16 years, this whiskey shows the difference that traditional cask ageing makes. This is a must have for any whiskey lover.

Please enjoy responsibly.
