Rosé D' Estacado

Texas Rosé Wine

Texas High Plains
2018

Cerro Santo Vineyard sits on the site of a former Quaker community called Estacado -- one of the first settlements on the Texas High Plains -- and is a testament to the stalwart character of those early Texas pioneers. Our lovely Rosé wine captures the color of a West Texas sunset, and is a perfect example of the harmonious blend of climate and craft. A refreshing dry wine with notes of strawberry, raspberry, and tropical fruits, our Rosé wine pairs well with any fresh, light meal, and especially with a beautiful sunset.

At Adelphos Cellars:

We believe wine is all about family. The word "adelphos" translates to "brethren" from the ancient Greek. The certainty that sharing an inspiring bottle of great wine brings us together as brothers and sisters, mothers and daughters, fathers and sons, is what drives our passion for making this wine. We invite you to share the fruits of our labor, in the hope that enjoying this bottle with those you love will bind us all closer together as one family.

Welcome to ours.
