Abbey of Saint-Hilaire

2005 AOC LIMOUX CHARDONNAY

What is now the Abbey of Saint-Hilaire began as a primitive chapel in the 6th Century started by Hilarius, the Bishop of Carcassonne. By 817, the Abbey was under the domaine of the Order of Saint Benedict.

The Abbey includes a Roman style church from the 12th Century, a Gothic cloister and Fortifications of the 14th Century. It was in the Abbey's historic cellars where the world's very first sparkling wine was created in 1531. These are all indications of its influence and importance in the Languedoc region in the South of France.

The Mediterranean terroir and climate near the village of Saint-Hilaire, in the area of Limoux, produce distinctive Chardonnay wines with remarkable character, aromatics and complexity.

Abbey of Saint-Hilaire Vintage 2005

AOC Limoux Chardonnay

Richly honeyed on the nose, this floral chardonnay is a stunning wine with depth and concentration. Apricot, with layers of mineral, toasted nuts, orange peel and vanilla spice, it delivers mouth-filling flavors and finishes crisp with fabulous length. It will match well with seared tuna, Dungeness crab, wild mushroom risotto and roasted chicken.
