Story: The slopes of East West, rising San Rafael Mountain Range allows for the cool, foggy conditions perfect for growing this thin-skinned and slow ripening variety. Sourced from three critical vineyards on the Western end of the Santa Maria Valley, apart for 6 months, is oak barrels and treated with a minimal approach, this wine showcases the unmistakable sense of this unique place.

Tastes: Dark and rich with intricate aromas of dried cherries, crushed herbs, cola, and sea salt. A mélange of flavors combining of juicy, red berry fruit mixed with white pepper, caramel and sage about fresh on the palate leading into a long and sturdy finish.
