

TeacherGeek Maker Cart 2.0

beyond what was once possible!

The Ultimate Solution

Imagine... Rubber Band Racers zooming down the hall. Hydraulic Claws reaching into a simulated deep sea to recover lost specimens. Wind turbines generating electricity using custom blades made from water bottles and cardboard. These are a few of the countless projects you can complete with a TeacherGeek Maker Cart: the mobile making station that's packed to the brim with tools and building components to help you tackle any engineering challenge imaginable!

Real Engineering

TeacherGeek projects evolve over time and with the student's understanding. There is no perfect design, so students are never done/bored. Students learn from failures, pulling in math and science while truly innovating and engineering. Plus, building with high quality TeacherGeek parts means students can really use and learn from data gathered during experiments.
