Notes, releases and other information on the team is sent via email to media members. To get on the email list, please contact Franchesca Carrera. Per Nevada policy, injuries will not be disclosed to the media at any time.

BRAND USAGE

For the purpose of athletics branding, please do not refer to the team as Reno, Nevada Reno or UNR. Also, pronunciation of the state should be stated in the following way: nuh-VA-duh.

KEY RETURNERS

Nevada is returning all starters from last season. Freshman sensation, Izzy Sullivan, is coming back for her Sophomore year. In 2023, she was Mountain West Honorable Mention, All-Mountain West Freshman Team and 4x Mountain West Freshman of the Week. Sullivan had a 194 points and 36 rebounds. The Wolf Pack also returns Senior Audrey Roden, Mountain West Honorable Mention last year, who had 368 points and 275 rebounds. Lexie Givens and Tori Davis will also be key players this season.

KEY GAMES

Nevada will play several key games this season. The first will be when the team travels to take on Oregon to open the season. Nevada will host Colorado on Nov. 12 at the Tahoe Blue Event Center, the first college game at the facility. The Wolf Pack will once again host the Nugget Classic, taking on Central Michigan, Portland and Southern Utah. They will also travel to Hawaii in December to compete in the Maui Classic. Conference play will start just before New Years, taking on San Jose at home. The final game of the regular season will be in early March at Utah State

HISTORICAL INFO

The University of Nevada women's basketball program began in the year 1899, when the team, coached by Ada Edwards, earned its first win over a varsity opponent, Stanford. Since its inception in 1899, records of the program's history have not accurately been kept up to date. For the purposes of all records, wins and losses and other statistical information related to the Nevada women's basketball program, the 1981-82 season will be considered the first for the program, the first year women's basketball was recognized by the NCAA.

In the 1921-22 athletic season, a local writer described the spirited play of a Nevada team as a 'pack of wolves'. The name stuck and soon almost every reference to the athletic teams was the Nevada Wolves. In 1923, the students officially designated 'Wolves' as the school's mascot. Since all teams are a group of players, the word pack followed quickly.

With seven years at the helm of the Nevada women's basketball program, Amanda Levens is set to begin her eighth season as head coach in 2024-25.

During the 2023-24 season, Levens guided Nevada women's basketball to a fourth-place finish in the Mountain West. It was the second time in the last three years Nevada finished in the top four in its conference. In addition to guiding Audrey Roden and Izzy Sullivan to All-Mountain West honors, Levens led the 2023-24 team to finish in the top 10 in program history in several categories: 2nd - 3-pointers, 5th - Steals, 6th - Field Goals, 9th - Points.

In 2022-23, Levens played an instrumental role in guiding Alyssa Jimenez to six double-doubles en route to All-Mountain West Honorable Mention honors. The season also saw four players pass the 500 career point mark. Academically, Megan Ormiston earned a spot on the College Sports Communicators Academic All-District team under Levens' watch.

Levens guided the Pack to one of the best seasons in program history in 2021-22, recording the second-most wins in Nevada women's basketball with 20. After finishing third in the Mountain West, the Pack received their second invitation to the Women's Basketball Invitational under Levens. The Pack also made their mark nationally, with their 80.9 free throw percentage ranking fourth in the nation and being the 11th-best in all NCAA Division I women's basketball history. Levens was instrumental in guiding senior guard Kylie Jimenez, who accumulated a 3.19 assist to turnover ratio that ranked second in the country.

It was a year of significant growth for the program in 2020-21, despite a shortened season due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Levens helped guide the Wolf Pack to a 13-9 overall record and a 9-7 mark in Mountain West play. Nevada, which was picked 10th in the pre-season head coaches poll, finished fifth in the conference standings to earn a first round bye in the 2021 MW Championship, its first bye in the conference tournament since the 2013-14 season where it held the No. 3 seed. Nevada's 13-9 overall record also marked the program's first winning record since 2017-18 when it went 19-17 overall. The Pack closed the regular season winning eight of its last 10 games, including a stretch of five consecutive wins to end the regular season. In the second-to-last game of the regular season Levens reached a career milestone as she secured career win No. 100 after a 59-56 road victory at Air Force.

COACH NOTES

- Guided Nevada to the second-most wins (20) in program history in 2021-22
- Helped Nevada to its second Women's Basketball Invitational in her tenure

In 2019-20 the Wolf Pack recorded its second winning non-conference record in the last three seasons, finishing non-league action with a 7-4 record, which included a 3-0 start to the season. Playing a tough Mountain West schedule, the Pack posted a 7-11 mark in conference games to tie for seventh in the regular season standings after being picked to finish ninth in the preseason poll.

Despite finishing the 2018-19 season with a 12-19 record, and a 7-11 mark in Mountain West play, Levens had developed a pair of student-athletes into first-time all-conference performers. Jade Redmon and Terae Briggs both produced career years in their senior seasons, with Redmon being selected to the All-Mountain West Team and Briggs earning an All-Mountain West Honorable Mention. Redmon led the team averaging over 15 points per game, which ranked in the top five in the conference, and scored in double figures in all but one game. Briggs was the team's top post player, collecting a career-high 10 double-doubles during the year.

Levens had a great debut season in 2017-18 as the Wolf Pack's head coach. The Pack finished nonconference action, which included a visit from the nation's No. 1 team in UConn, at 7-4, making Levens the only head coach in program history to post a winning nonconference record in their first season. As Mountain West play went on, the Pack had a string of single-digit losses but turned it around as the conference tournament loomed.

Nevada won its final two games of the regular season, including a 20-point win over intrastate rival and co-regular season champion UNLV, to ride some momentum into the Mountain West Tournament. Prior to the start of the tournament, former student-athlete Teige Zeller earned All-Mountain West honors under Levens' guidance after posting a career season. Entering the tournament as the No. 7 seed, the Wolf Pack earned three consecutive thrilling victories to reach its first Mountain West Championship game and just its second ever conference title game. Nevada knocked off San Diego State in overtime in the opening round, then took down No. 2 UNLV in double overtime and No. 3 Wyoming by four points to square off against No. 1 Boise State in the championship. While the Pack lost to the Broncos on a last second buzzer beater, the tone had been set for the future.

Following the conference tournament, the Wolf Pack accepted a bid to the Women's Basketball Invitational (WBI) to make just its fourth postseason appearance and first since 2011. Nevada won two games during its WBI run, the most wins the program has had in a postseason tournament, and eventually bowed out to Central Arkansas in the semifinals.

Under Levens' direction, Nevada finished the 2017-18 season with 19 wins, tied for the second most in program history and making Levens the winningest first year head coach. In addition to the win total, the conference championship game appearance, and post-season run, the Wolf Pack set multiple team records, including points, rebounds, field goals made and assists

Before taking over at Nevada, Levens spent five seasons as the associate head coach at her alma mater, Arizona State, where she coached seven All-Pac 12 honorees. During her five-year appointment the Sun Devils collected over 100 wins, posted four 20-win seasons and finished as the Pac-12 regular season champions in 2015-16. ASU has made four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and advanced to the Sweet 16 in 2014-15.

Prior to her appointment at Arizona State, Levens was the head coach at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville and led the program during its transition to Division I. During her four-year tenure, Levens took the Cougars from five wins in 2008-09 to 18 wins in 2011-12, y Conference Coach of the Year after her team finished 12-4 in league play and secured third place after being picked eighth in the preseason poll.

Levens previously served as an assistant coach with the Wolf Pack for five seasons under former head coach Kim Gervasoni. During her first tenure with the Pack, Levens was responsible for recruiting the 2005-06 Western Athletic Conference Freshman of the Year, along with a junior college All-American and four members of the WAC All-Freshmen Team. In total, she helped develop 16 student-athletes who earned All-WAC academic honors.
