HISTORICAL INFO

The University of Nevada women's basketball program began in the year 1899, when the team, coached by Ada Edwards, earned its first win over a varsity opponent, Stanford. Since its inception in 1899, records of the program's history have not accurately been kept up to date. For the purposes of all records, wins and losses and other statistical information related to the Nevada women's basketball program, the 1981-82 season will be considered the first for the program, the first year women's basketball was recognized by the NCAA.

In the 1921-22 athletic season, a local writer described the spirited play of a Nevada team as a 'pack of wolves'. The name stuck and soon almost every reference to the athletic teams was the Nevada Wolves. In 1923, the students officially designated 'Wolves' as the school's mascot. Since all teams are a group of players, the word pack followed quickly.

With eight years at the helm of the Nevada women's basketball program, Amanda Levens is set to begin her ninth season as head coach in 2024-25.

In the 2024-25 season, Levens led the Pack once again to the Mountain West Tournament. Nevada ended the season with an overall record of 11-21 and a conference record of 6-12.

During the 2023-24 season, Levens guided Nevada women's basketball to a fourth-place finish in the Mountain West. It was the second time in the last three years Nevada finished in the top four in its conference. In addition to guiding Audrey Roden and Izzy Sullivan to All-Mountain West honors, Levens led the 2023-24 team to finish in the top 10 in program history in several categories: 2nd - 3-pointers, 5th - Steals, 6th - Field Goals, 9th - Points.

In 2022-23, Levens played an instrumental role in guiding Alyssa Jimenez to six double-doubles en route to All-Mountain West Honorable Mention honors. The season also saw four players pass the 500 career point mark. Academically, Megan Ormiston earned a spot on the College Sports Communicators Academic All-District team under Levens' watch.

Levens guided the Pack to one of the best seasons in program history in 2021-22, recording the second-most wins in Nevada women's basketball with 20. After finishing third in the Mountain West, the Pack received their second invitation to the Women's Basketball Invitational under Levens. The Pack also made their mark nationally, with their 80.9 free throw percentage ranking fourth in the nation and being the 11th-best in all NCAA Division I women's basketball history. Levens was instrumental in guiding senior guard Kylie Jimenez, who accumulated a 3.19 assist to turnover ratio that ranked second in the country.

COACH NOTES

- Guided Nevada to the second-most wins (20) in program history in 2021-22
- Helped Nevada to its second Women's Basketball Invitational in her tenure
- Only coach in program history to record a winning non-conference record in her first season
- Winningest first-year head coach in Nevada women's basketball history

It was a year of significant growth for the program in 2020-21, despite a shortened season due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Levens helped guide the Wolf Pack to a 13-9 overall record and a 9-7 mark in Mountain West play. Nevada, which was picked 10th in the preseason head coaches poll, finished fifth in the conference standings to earn a first round bye in the 2021 MW Championship, its first bye in the conference tournament since the 2013-14 season where it held the No. 3 seed. Nevada's 13-9 overall record also marked the program's first winning record since 2017-18 when it went 19-17 overall. The Pack closed the regular season winning eight of its last 10 games, including a stretch of five consecutive wins to end the regular season. In the second-to-last game of the regular season Levens reached a career milestone as she secured career win No. 100 after a 59-56 road victory at Air Force.

In 2019-20 the Wolf Pack recorded its second winning non-conference record in the last three seasons, finishing non-league action with a 7-4 record, which included a 3-0 start to the season. Playing a tough Mountain West schedule, the Pack posted a 7-11 mark in conference games to tie for seventh in the regular season standings after being picked to finish ninth in the preseason poll.

Despite finishing the 2018-19 season with a 12-19 record, and a 7-11 mark in Mountain West play, Levens had developed a pair of student-athletes into first-time all-conference performers. Jade Redmon and Terae Briggs both produced career years in their senior seasons, with Redmon being selected to the All-Mountain West Team and Briggs earning an All-Mountain West Honorable Mention. Redmon led the team averaging over 15 points per game, which ranked in the top five in the conference, and scored in double figures in all but one game. Briggs was the team's top post player, collecting a career-high 10 double-doubles during the year.

BEFORE NEVADA

- Spent five seasons as the Associate Head Coach at Arizona State
- Helped lead SIUE into the transition to NCAA Division I
- 2012 Ohio Valley Conference Coach of the Year

Levens had a great debut season in 2017-18 as the Wolf Pack's head coach. The Pack finished nonconference action, which included a visit from the nation's No. 1 team in UConn, at 7-4, making Levens the only head coach in program history to post a winning nonconference record in their first season. As Mountain West play went on, the Pack had a string of single-digit losses but turned it around as the conference tournament loomed.

Nevada won its final two games of the regular season, including a 20-point win over intrastate rival and co-regular season champion UNLV, to ride some momentum into the Mountain West Tournament. Prior to the start of the tournament, former student-athlete Teige Zeller earned All-Mountain West honors under Levens' guidance after posting a career season. Entering the tournament as the No. 7 seed, the Wolf Pack earned three consecutive thrilling victories to reach its first Mountain West Championship game and just its second ever conference title game. Nevada knocked off San Diego State in overtime in the opening round, then took down No. 2 UNLV in double overtime and No. 3 Wyoming by four points to square off against No. 1 Boise State in the championship. While the Pack lost to the Broncos on a last second buzzer beater, the tone had been set for the future.

OUTSIDE OF COACHING

- From Belvidere, Ill.
- Played at Old Dominion (1997-99)
- Played at Arizona State (1999-2002)
- Bachelor's - Arizona State University (2002); Master's - University of Nevada (2007)

Following the conference tournament, the Wolf Pack accepted a bid to the Women's Basketball Invitational (WBI) to make just its fourth postseason appearance and first since 2011. Nevada won two games during its WBI run, the most wins the program has had in a postseason tournament, and eventually bowed out to Central Arkansas in the semifinals.

Under Levens' direction, Nevada finished the 2017-18 season with 19 wins, tied for the second most in program history and making Levens the winningest first year head coach. In addition to the win total, the conference championship game appearance, and postseason run, the Wolf Pack set multiple team records, including points, rebounds, field goals made and assists.
