HEAD COACH

BOBBY HURLEY

"He will be terrific. Bobby was the most daring player I ever coached at Duke. He had and still does have great feel for the game. He comes from a great family, and he's a player's coach. He will allow his players to play. I think he has a chance of building something special there."

- Mike Krzyzewski

One of the most recognizable names in college basketball history is the 14th head men's basketball coach in Sun Devil history, as Vice President of Athletics Ray Anderson named 1992 NCAA Final Four Most Outstanding Player Bobby Hurley as the new Sun Devil head coach on April 9, 2015.

Three years removed from the hire Sun Devil basketball now has matched its highest ranking in school history (third in the Associated Press Poll in December of 2017), its best average attendance in history (10,603), reached the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2014 (and just fourth time in 23 seasons), notched its best non-conference win in school history (at No. 2 Kansas on Dec. 10, 2017) and defeated two eventual 2018 No. 1 seeds in a span of a few weeks (Kansas and Xavier).

Hurley in his first year led ASU to two wins over ranked teams (USC and eventual SEC top-seed Texas A&M), eight top-100 wins and two non-conference road wins as the Sun Devils had the 13th toughest non-conference schedule in the nation in 2015-16. ASU beat RPI top-100 teams Texas A&M (18), Stephen F. Austin (61), Belmont (95), UCSB (98) and Creighton (100) while in Pac-12 play it beat Oregon State (33), USC (51) and Stanford (87).

Hurley, a NCAA champion with Duke in 1991 and 1992, led Buffalo to a school record-matching 23 wins in 2014-15, its first Mid-American Conference title and a trip to the 2015 NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history. The Bulls fell to West Virginia in the second round, snapping an eight-game win streak that was Buffalo's longest in a decade. Buffalo averaged 12.9 wins in its 22 seasons prior to Hurley, but was 42-20 in his two years, which included playing 29 games on the road.

He coached the MAC Players of the Year in back-to-back seasons and led Buffalo to its first outright MAC East Division title in 2013-14. Buffalo went 10-7 on the road in 2014-15, including games at Kentucky and Wisconsin when it led at the half.

In 2013-14 Hurley was named a finalist for the Joe B. Hall Award, which is given to the nation's top first-year head coach. Javon McCrea was named the MAC Player of the Year as the Bulls won 19 games in Hurley's first year at the helm.

Hurley joined UB from the University of Rhode Island where he served as associate head coach under his brother Dan.

A first-team All-American in 1993, Hurley is best remembered for being the one of the best point guards in NCAA history. Hurley led the Blue Devils to three Final Four appearances and consecutive national championships in 1991 and 1992, and set the NCAA record for career assists with 1,076.

He was selected seventh in 1993 by the Sacramento Kings and played five years in the NBA with the Kings aand Vancouver Grizzles.

Hurley joined the Philadelphia 76ers as a scout in 2003 before venturing into private business. He was hired as an assistant coach at Wagner College in 2010 and spent two seasons with the Seahawks, playing a critical role in rebuilding the program. He helped lead Wagner to a 25-6 record during the 2011-12 season – its best record in school history – before joining Rhode Island, where he was associate head coach.

His father, Bob, Sr., was a legendary coach in the high school ranks, leading perennial power St. Anthony's and was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2010. Hurley's brother, Dan, is the head men's basketball coach at Rhode Island, after a successful tenure at Wagner College and an outstanding prep school coaching career.

Hurley and his wife, Leslie, have two daughters, Cameron and Sydney, and a son, Bobby.

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

RASHON BURNO

"Imagine Rashon Burno coming to your home and recruiting you - I'd give him my kids in a second."

 Jay Sharman, TeamWorks Media CEO of TeamWorks Media and Emmy-award winning TV Producer.

Rashon Burno, assistant coach at the University of Florida from 2012-15, joined the Arizona State University men's basketball coaching staff in July of 2015.

Burno, who held collegiate coaching positions at Towson State, Manhattan College and the University of Nebraska – the latter post he accepted in May after Florida head coach Billy Donovan was named head coach of the NBA's Oklahoma City Thunder.

"I am thrilled we were able to complete our staff with Rashon who not only is a great coach and recruiter but someone I am very familiar with," said Hurley. "He was part of a Final Four trip at Florida and is extremely connected and respected in the coaching world. He has a great family and is a great addition to Sun Devil Basketball."

Burno's ties to Hurley's family go all the way back to his high school career as he helped anchor back-to-back national championships in 1996 and 1997 at St. Anthony's High School (Jersey City, New Jersey,) under Hurley's father, Hall of Fame coach Bob Hurley Sr.

Burno, who played point guard during his college career at DePaul, worked with the Florida backcourt players, coaching three Gators to All-SEC honors (Kenny Boynton, Mike Rosario and Scottie Wilbekin) in his tenure. Wilbekin became the first Gator guard to earn SEC Player of the Year in 2014.

In Florida's historic 2013-14 season, the Gators posted a 30-game winning streak that included the SEC's first 18-0 regular season, capped with the fourth SEC Tournament title in school history. In 2013-14, UF compiled an unblemished 10-0 record in games Burno served as the scout coach, including an early season win against Kansas, a sweep of Alabama, conference wins over LSU and Ole Miss and the NCAA Tournament victory against Albany. UF's win over Kansas kicked off Florida's program-record 30-game winning streak.

The Gators also posted an 11-1 record in 2012-13 when Burno handled the opponent scout, including a 5-0 record in SEC regular-season play and an NCAA Tournament victory over Northwestern State. Florida went 29-8, including a 14-4 record in the SEC, during the 2012-13 season, losing in the Elite Eight to Michigan.

As an assistant coach at Manhattan College, Burno helped the Jaspers to a 21-13 record in 2011-12 – the team's first season under head coach Steve Masiello. The Jaspers added a postseason win in the Collegelnsider.com Tournament to post just the 11th 20-win season in the 106-year history of the program while capping a massive 15-win turnaround for a team that went 6-25 in 2010-11.

Burno's first college job came in 2010 at Towson State under his old coach at DePaul Pat Kennedy. His coaching career initially took root at Marmion Academy in the Chicago suburbs from 2007 to 2010. While at Marmion he also served as an economics and physical education teacher.

During his playing career at DePaul, Burno started 58 games and helped the Blue Demons to two postseason appearances, advancing to the 2001 NCAA Tournament and the 2000 National Invitational Tournament. He finished his career ranked third in DePaul history with 201 steals and was named to the 2001 Conference USA All-Tournament Team.

Arizona State University

Where highly ranked inspires uniquely capable

Recognized as the country's "most innovative" university by U.S. News & World Report in 2016 and 2017, ASU provides access to an education that inspires its students to become master learners, capable of learning anything throughout their lives. For society, ASU innovation provides the benefits of purpose-based, real-world discovery from a university that is deeply embedded in the fabric and advancement of society.

Welcome to ASU, where the charter is a straightforward statement of purpose: "ASU is a comprehensive public research university, measured not by whom it excludes, but rather by whom it includes and how they succeed; advancing research and discovery of public value; and assuming fundamental responsibility for the economic, social, cultural and overall health of the communities it serves."

ASU's research enterprise has quadrupled over the past decade, earning it recognition in the 2016 Higher Education Research and Development rankings as the country's fastest-growing research university with expenditures of $100 million or more, ahead of all others in the category, including Harvard, Yale and Duke. Driven by "moonshot thinking" that tackles enormous challenges with radical solutions and breakthrough technology, ASU played a significant role in developing a treatment for Ebola and a low-cost

Best in the U.S.: ASU is #1 in innovation

U.S. News & World Report has recognized ASU as the country's "most innovative" university for two years running, earning the No. 1 spot ahead of No. 2 Stanford and No. 3 MIT. The publication is not the only one giving ASU high grades above many of the nation's elite colleges and Pac-12 peers.

- #1 fastest-growing Research I university in the U.S. with $100 millionplus in annual research expenditures, ahead of Harvard, Yale and Duke (NSF Higher Education Research and Development survey)

ASU is simultaneously producing the largest number of faculty Fulbright Scholars and the newly minted national champions of e-sports, and stands as the No. 1 public research university chosen by international students.

Master teachers for master learners

ASU faculty are at the forefront nationally in advancing research and discovery and producing graduates fully capable of meeting the needs of newly emerging career opportunities and tackling the unexpected. The university has more faculty Fulbright scholars than any other in the country, and is a top-five producer of student Fulbright scholars. Nobel laureates, Pulitzer Prize winners, MacArthur fellows and nearly 200 "highly prestigious" National Research Council faculty teach at ASU. The university is in elite company with Stanford, Harvard and the University of Chicago as one of the only universities in the country with enrolled Rhodes, Marshall and Churchill student scholars. More prestigious Flinn student scholars attend ASU than any other university in the state, and ASU is No. 1 in the country over the past decade in producing STEM-focused Goldwater student scholars. Barrett. The Honors College at ASU has been called "the gold standard of honors colleges" in the U.S. by The New York Times, and its multicampus residential community has more National Merit Scholars than MIT, Stanford, UC Berkeley, Duke and Brown, to name but a handful.

Wanted by employers: ASU students

ASU is highly regarded as a top university for graduate employability. The 2016 Global University Graduate Employability Survey ranks ASU in the top 10 nationally, ahead of MIT, Columbia and UCLA. The university ranks No. 5 on a list of the top universities favored by employers for producing the best-qualified graduates, according to The Wall Street Journal, and has also been cited by Business Insider as a top-20 school for landing a career in Silicon Valley, ahead of Cornell and UC Irvine. ASU is designated a "top-tier" recruiting university by 50 of the country's leading corporations, including internet pioneers Yelp and GoDaddy; financial powerhouses Vanguard and Charles Schwab; insurance leaders Geico and State Farm; as well as Ford, American Airlines and Mayo Clinic. These giants of American industry are among the many who have increased the flow of talent from ASU through their leadership pipelines.

Learn to thrive

At ASU, innovation challenges the status quo. Innovation is a mindset woven into the fabric of the university, encouraging students to rethink, redesign and reinvent — to learn to thrive academically, professionally and personally.

This is what thriving is all about. And ASU is where it begins.

Campaign ASU 2020:

fueling discovery, championing student success, enriching society

Developing an Ebola treatment. Caring for a city's homeless population. Opening pathways to higher education through scholarships.

Such accomplishments take intelligence, compassion — and generosity. To make possible more such life-changing actions.

and to accelerate the university mission and raise support for its educational priorities, Arizona State University has embarked on a comprehensive, panuniversity philanthropic effort: Campaign ASU 2020.

Publicly launched in January 2017, the campaign is a strategic effort that will focus the entire university's development energies on one goal — to permanently raise the long-term fundraising capacity of the university. Donations will fund scholarships, faculty research, labs, projects to ensure that students succeed to graduation, arts initiatives and ventures in the community.

"Campaign ASU 2020 will inspire people to support people."

-Lindsay Zapata, ASU senior and New American University scholar Michael M. Crow. "It's not

"Campaign ASU 2020 is our moment in time to say, 'Yes, we've been able to do that. Look at who we are,'" says ASU President Michael M. Crow. "It's not just the faculty and it's not just the students and it's not just the staff. It's the hundreds of thousands of people and the thousands of organizations that are behind us to move this university forward."

ASU:One university in many places

ASU recognizes that students have different ideas about what a campus should look and feel like and how they should learn – how they best should learn to thrive. The university has five metropolitan Phoenix campuses to fit the needs of its master learners.

Tempe campus — On the university's first campus, students enjoy the classic Pac-12 college experience. As a vibrant college town and the campus home to Sun Devil Athletics, Tempe is the heart of Sun Devil nation. Students with varied academic interests attend courses in state-of-the-art solar-powered buildings that are home to sustainability, engineering, business, health solutions, education, innovation and interdisciplinary arts and sciences colleges. More than 50,000 students study at this historic campus — ASU was founded in 1885 and opened for classes one year later — where big-time college athletics facilities, high-tech research space and performing arts venues create a dynamic and engaging learning environment.

Downtown Phoenix campus — Established in 2006, ASU's Downtown Phoenix campus is home to more than 11,000 students who thrive in a creative city culture. The metro campus is in the heart of the nation's 12th-largest media market. Journalism students learn their beat by reporting for the university-operated Arizona PBS. Public service and legal study students are front and center to the state capitol, major nonprofits and government agencies, and top law firms. Health majors land internships at nearby hospitals or biomedical research centers.

Polytechnic campus — Creativity and ambition flourish at ASU's East Valley-based Polytechnic campus. Home to nearly 5,000 students, the campus offers engineering and technology curricula that feature hands-on experiences: building robotics designed to address and solve society's most pressing challenges; designing innovative, security-enriched software programs; and working and learning in labs with 3-D printers, laser cutters and photo and video studios. "Poly" colleges include health solutions, interdisciplinary arts and sciences, engineering, education, sustainability and business. The campus features "Startup Village," student housing set aside for friends-turned-founders of student-led startups to live and work together.

Thunderbird School of Global Management — For 70 years one of the top management schools in the world, Thunderbird became a unit of the ASU Knowledge Enterprise in 2015. Located in Glendale, just minutes from ASU's West campus, the school equips graduate and undergraduate students with the skills to thrive and lead in the volatile global marketplace. Courses go far beyond the typical management curricula and are taught by globally recognized faculty delivering real-time, real-world training in the intricacies of doing business in today's interconnected international economy. Thunderbird has been recognized as the No. 1 school for the internationalism of its alumni (The Economist), No. 4 for best business schools in the U.S. with an international specialty (U.S. News & World Report), and is the first school to focus exclusively on international business.

West campus — A place to learn for intellectual trailblazers on a path to next-generation leadership, the West campus features a small, tight-knit community of nearly 5,000 students who enjoy one-on-one support and personalized opportunities throughout their college careers. Education, health, global management, business and interdisciplinary arts and sciences majors study in and around the shadows of lush courtyards and classic architecture, a state-of-the-art student center and new fitness complex. A City of Phoenix "Point of Pride," the West campus is home to the Gary K. Herberger Young Scholars Academy, a groundbreaking learning environment designed for highly gifted students in grades 7–12.

In addition to ASU's five metro Phoenix campuses, the ASU Colleges at Lake Havasu City offers undergraduates the opportunity to gain professional skills and experience through internships with community partners and local businesses. The co-op model matches students' academic interests with work-based learning options focused on gaining practical experience. Colleges of health solutions, integrative and interdisciplinary arts and sciences, public service and community solutions, and business provide higher education degree work within a stone's throw from the historic London Bridge that once spanned the Thames River.

The best and brightest: Barrett, The Honors College

Barrett, The Honors College at ASU has emerged as one of the preeminent honors colleges in the United States. The New York Times calls Barrett the "gold standard" among the nation's honors colleges, with more National Merit Scholars than MIT, Duke, Brown, Stanford or the University of California-Berkeley. National Hispanic, National Achievement, Fulbright, Truman, Goldwater, Rhodes, Marshall and Churchill scholars also rank among its outstanding undergraduates and graduates.

A living and learning community of the best and brightest scholars, caring advisors and enthusiastic professors, Barrett is unique among U.S. honors colleges, serving as a blueprint for higher education peers. It represents a powerful and unique combination of the special care and attention an honors student should expect in academics and advising. It is an excellent residential liberal arts college with the vast program choice and research mentoring resources of a vibrant Research I university.

Barrett students benefit from a $12 million endowment used exclusively to support honors students' revolutionary ideas, original research and groundbreaking business ventures. Their success is bolstered by dedicated Honors Faculty Fellows, all master teachers and scholars, who give 100 percent of their time to helping honors students excel in their academic careers. In addition to these full-time honors college personnel, more than 1,200 university faculty teach and mentor Barrett students across four ASU metropolitan Phoenix campuses.

The Barrett success model is an impactful commitment to the well-being of society.

It is also straightforward: From the president of the university to the caretakers of its honors campuses, there is unwavering support of purpose at Barrett — to promote and enable the very best education possible for intellectually engaged students from Arizona, from across America and from around the world.

Notable ASU alumni

ASU has provided a launchpad for more than a half-million passionate, innovative, master-learner alumni who have played a positive, active role in their local, national and global communities to resolve some of the world's most challenging issues. Sun Devil alumni are also active in cultural, sports and arts endeavors, making an indelible impact wherever they go. Here are but a few graduates of ASU who have learned to thrive on a public stage.

University President Michael M. Crow

Michael M. Crow is an academic leader and educator, designer of knowledge enterprises, and science and technology policy scholar.

Crow became the 16th president of Arizona State University in July 2002. He is guiding its transformation into one of the nation's leading public metropolitan research universities, an institution that combines the highest levels of academic excellence, inclusiveness to a broad demographic and maximum societal impact — a model he terms the "New American University."

Under his direction, the university pursues teaching, research and creative excellence focused on the major challenges of our time, as well as those central to the quality of life, sustainable development and economic competitiveness of Arizona and the nation. He has committed the university to sustainability, social embeddedness and global engagement, and championed initiatives leading to record levels of diversity in the student body.

Under his leadership, ASU has established more than a dozen new transdisciplinary schools, including the School of Human Evolution and Social Change and the School of Earth and Space Exploration. He has advanced major transdisciplinary research initiatives such as the Biodesign Institute: Julie Ann Wrigley Global Institute of Sustainability, incorporating the country's first School of Sustainability: Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College; and important initiatives in the humanities and social sciences. During his tenure, the university has more than quadrupled research expenditures, undergone unprecedented infrastructure expansions, and has been named The nation's most innovative school by U.S. News & World Report in 2016 and 2017.

Crow was previously professor of science and technology (School of International and Public Affairs) and executive vice provost of Columbia University. As chief strategist of Columbia's research enterprise, he led technology and innovation transfer operations, establishing Columbia Innovation Enterprises (renamed Science and Technology Ventures), as well as advancing interdisciplinary program development. He played the lead role in the creation of and served as the founding director for the Earth Institute at Columbia University. In 1998, Crow founded the Consortium for Science, Policy and Outcomes (CSPO), dedicated to linking science and technology to optimal social, economic and environmental outcomes. In 2003, CSPO was re-established at ASU and is now based in both Phoenix and Washington.

Crow is an elected fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and National Academy of Public Administration, and has served as a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and U.S. Department of Commerce National Advisory Council on Innovation and Entrepreneurship. He is the co-author of "Designing the New American University," published in February 2015 by Johns Hopkins University Press. He has authored and co-authored books and articles analyzing knowledge enterprises, science and technology policy, and the design of higher education institutions and systems.

Crow received his PhD in public administration (science and technology policy) from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University. Born in 1955 in San Diego, Crow is the son of a U.S. Navy sailor. He is married to Dr. Sybil Francis and is the father of three children.

RAY ANDERSON

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR

RAY ANDERSON WAS NAMED ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY'S VICE PRESIDENT FOR UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS AND ATHLETICS DIRECTOR ON JAN. 9, 2014, AND HAS QUICKLY BEGUN TO REDEFINE THE COLLEGIATE ATHLETICS LANDSCAPE OVER THE COURSE OF HIS TENURE AT ASU.

"At ASU, we have three priorities for our athletic director," said University President Dr. Michael Crow, "help our student-athletes maximize their academic achievement and ensure they graduate on time; win; and win within the rules. Ray has the skills, experience, and enthusiasm to accomplish those goals. Under his leadership, ASU student-athletes will continue to perform at the highest level both on the field and in the classroom. Ray will also play an important role in the university's campaign to improve and expand its sports facilities through the development of the ASU Athletic Facilities District."

Anderson was named by Forbes Magazine as one of the 25 Most Influential Minorities in Sports in February 2016, noting that he had "helped position the Sun Devils as one of the most innovative brands in college sports."

Highly influential in the world of collegiate athletics, Anderson is a board member of the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame, a member of the NCAA Football Oversight Committee, Chair of the new Ad Hoc NCAA Competition Committee, and most recently the Green Sports Alliance. Anderson was also one of a group of minority athletics directors to meet with NCAA President Mark Emmert and NCAA Leadership at the 2016 College Football Playoffs in Phoenix and encouraged the creation of a collegiate "Rooney Rule" to encourage diversity and inclusion in the hiring of athletics leadership. The initiative led the NCAA Board of Governors to create a pledge for university chancellors, presidents and conference commissioners to publicly express their support for diversity and inclusion efforts within intercollegiate athletics.

While national trends lean toward downsizing athletics departments and eliminating non-revenue generating sporting programs, Anderson has made it his mission to not only add NCAA Division I sports at Arizona State but expand educational and scholarship opportunities for future Sun Devil student-athletes.

The 2015-16 academic season and four-year Academic Progress Rate under Anderson demonstrated his dedication to the "student" in student-athlete, as ASU hit record highs in both. From 2012-13 through 2015-16, the department recorded an APR of 991 – second only to Stanford in the Pac-12. ASU's single year overall APR in 2015-16 was an all-time high of 990.

In May 2016, Sun Devil Athletics announced the reinstatement of the men's tennis program at Arizona State – an act made possible through a S1M lead gift from Anderson himself and his wife, Buffie. The donation came just a month after Sun Devil Athletics announced a strategic alliance with the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) to leverage the resources of a research-based University to grow the sport of tennis locally, nationally and globally.

In November 2014, Anderson announced the addition of the Men's Ice Hockey program, which was made possible through a record-setting S32 million donation, the largest in Sun Devil Athletics history. This gift provided mechanisms to fund the addition of both women's lacrosse and women's triathlon, which were both announced in the fall of 2015. The addition of these programs not only helps Arizona State maintain equity among scholarships, but also creates new opportunities to attract and retain diverse talent, both academic and athletically.

Anderson has also clearly defined his expectations for Arizona State to be nationally competitive in all 26 varsity programs, and has parlayed this vision into a number of world-class head-coaching hires unseen at the collegiate level, including USA Swimming Coach Bob Bowman, a hall of famer and mentor to the world's most decorated Olympian, to head up the men and women's swimming program; Zeke Jones, USA Wrestling's National Freestyle Coach, to take over the wrestling program and lead it to a Pac-12 Championship in 2017; Bobby Hurley, one of the most decorated college basketball players in history, to coach the men's basketball program; Tracy Smith, a two-time conference coach of the year and experienced fundraiser, to revitalize the baseball program; Matt Hill, a three-time coach of the year with experience at three different Top 25 programs, to lead the reinstated men's tennis program; Matt Thurmond, the 2009 National Coach of the Year and seven-time national Top-10 finisher, to take over ASU's surging men's golf program; former assistant Missy Farr-Kaye, the eventual National Coach of the Year and national champion head coach for the Devils in 2017; Greg Powers, who led the ASU club team to its first National Championship in 2014, to continue the growth of the new Sun Devil men's ice hockey program; and Cliff English, USA Triathlon's Elite National Team Coach, to lead the very first Power-5 women's triathlon program which captured the 2016 Women's Collegiate Triathlon National Championship.

Anderson is in the midst of an athletics' facilities renaissance with the $268 million reinvention of Sun Devil Stadium and the University land development project known as the Athletic Facilities District or The District. The District is comprised of 330 acres of ASU-owned land that the University plans to lease long term to developers, while Sun Devil Athletics will receive annual payments in-lieu of property tax tradionally paid on privately owned land. Anderson, along with University officials, is eleven annual payments in-lieu of property tax tradionally paid on privately owned land. Anderson, along with University officials, is eleven annual payments in-lieu for property tax tradionally paid to a community facility and use the $5,000-plus-seat venue to generate additional revenue for ASU. The Sun Devil Stadium 365 Reinvention seeks to blend athletics, student life, and the community into an inter-disciplinary facility that will have utility beyond six or seven days a year. In addition, Anderson oversaw the baseball program's celebrated move into Phoenix Municipal Stadium, and the men's and women's golf programs transition to Papago Golf Course.

Since his arrival, Anderson has emphasized his commitment to the Olympic movement as a university and athletic department. Through this vision, the city of Tempe will host the 2017 Women's Triathlon National Championship and an affiliated Age Group Race. Most recently, the NCAA has announced ASU and Grayhawk Golf Club in Scottsdale will host the 2020-22 NCAA Men's & Women's Golf National Championships, becoming the first university and course to host three-straight golf championships.

Not only has Anderson put an emphasis on the continued development of Sun Devil Athletics facilities, but to ensure that it is being done in the most sustainable and eco-friendly way possible. As a result, the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and USG Corporation announced Arizona State as the winner of the 2016 USG NACDA Sustainability Award for its work on Sun Devil Stadium and the Weatherup Center. The USG NACDA Sustainability Award was designed to recognize NACDA member institutions across all divisions, honoring athletics directors and their universities for incorporating sustainable practices and materials into their athletics facilities.

The 'Sun Devil Way', a mission statement that encompasses the goals of athletics at Arizona State – Sun Devils Win, Sun Devils Graduate, Sun Devils Serve, Sun Devils are for Life, and Sun Devils compete with Passion and Character - has served as the template for Anderson's leadership philosophy. He has placed a strong emphasis on student-athlete development with a number of unique and creative initiatives, including the creation of the Senior Championship Life Experience program, which launched with a special showing of the play 'Black Angels Over Tuskegee' in January 2016 and the documentary 'Last Gold' following the 2016 Rio Olympic games.

SUN DEVIL DIRECTORS OF ATHLETICS

Fred M. Irish, 1896-1913

Positioning Sun Devil Athletics as a community asset has stayed at the front of Anderson's strategic plan and he has led a number of unprecedented community initiatives, including the creation of the Honor Row for military veterans at multiple Sun Devil facilities. With 100 percent participation in community service by Sun Devil student-athletes, coaches and staff in 2016, Sun Devil Athletics helped to serve 276,099 community members over 7,046.25 hours – both all-time highs for the department. Sun Devils Serve projects took place in four states (Arizona, California, Nevada and Louisiana) and three Native American Nations (Colorado River Indian Tribe, Gila River Indian Tribe, and Havasupai Tribe). Understanding the importance of building fan affinity, Anderson created the Sun Devil Caravan when he arrived in Tempe to reward Sun Devil Nation's loyalty and enthusiasm. The caravan brings the Sun Devil Athletics experience directly to the fans and allows Sun Devil Nation to connect one-on-one with coaches, student-athletes, and administrators.

Anderson has implemented an innovative business model at Arizona State to foster growth and to create sustainable revenue sources for Sun Devil Athletics. Less than a year into his tenure, Anderson negotiated an industry-impacting apparel partnership with adidas in December of 2014. The eight-year, S38M agreement not only set provisions for wholesale apparel, but adidas also provided additional funding for marketing, facility improvements, marching band and spirit squad apparel. Anderson also strategically eliminated third-party partnerships and aligned Sun Devil Athletics' ticketing and multimedia rights with the Pac-12 Sales Co., becoming the first member school to partner with the conference to bring sponsorships and licensing in-house.

He was recognized during the week of Super Bowl XLIX by the National Football League for his outstanding leadership with a desire to improving his community as he was presented with both the 2015 Paul J. Tagliabue Award and the John Wooten Lifetime Achievement Award, two of the NFL's most prestigious honors.

Anderson joined the Sun Devil Family after serving as the executive vice president of football operations for the National Football League (NFL) since August 2006.

"In evaluating the next step in my career, I could not imagine a better, more exciting opportunity," said Anderson. "I am thrilled to become part of the team at Arizona State and energized by the academic and athletic mission of this great university. I am eagerly looking forward to the challenge of not only continuing the success of Arizona State athletics but also building on it to accomplish even more in line with President Crow's priorities."

He served as the executive vice president and chief administrative officer of the Atlanta Falcons for four years and began his professional career as an attorney at Kilpatrick & Cody in Atlanta, Georgia, where he worked primarily in labor law litigation.

A Los Angeles, California native, Anderson earned a BA in political science from Stanford in 1976 and a Juris Doctorate from Harvard Law School in 1979. He was an all-league high school quarterback and shortstop, and a three-year football letterman and two-year baseball letterman at Stanford.

Anderson co-founded the sports law practice at Heller, Ehrman, a prominent San Francisco firm, in 1980 and entered the sports agency business in 1984 when he opened the West Coast office for Sports Advisors Group. In 1987, he launched his own agency, AR Sports, specializing in the representation of NFL coaches and players and later adding Major League Baseball players. Anderson merged his agency with Octagon in 2001.

As an indication of the high regard in which Anderson is held, he was appointed to the NFL Committee on Workplace Diversity and was named to the Sports Illustrated list of the "101 Most Influential Minorities in Sports." He was also named to the prestigious "100 Black Men of Atlanta, Inc.", a group dedicated to providing support and improving the quality of life for African-Americans, and to the Board of Governors of the Georgia World Congress Center Authority.

In April 2014, it was announced that Anderson would be a professor of practice in ASU's new sports law and business program, a collaboration of the highly ranked Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law and W. P. Carey School of Business.

He and his wife, Buffie, have one son, Bryant, and one daughter, Kimberly

JOE CALDWELL

COACHING LEGEND NED WULK

2003 Pac-10 Hall of Honor Inductee

Born: Aug. 14, 1920

Hometown: Madison, Wis.

- ASU named its floor in 1999 after Coach Ned Wulk, who was 406-272 (.599) at ASU from 1958-82. Wulk posted amazing success in Tempe, as he was 94-24 (.797) in home contests in the former University Activity Center.
- ASU won its first 20 games in the UAC from Dec. 3, 1974 through Jan. 10, 1976, which is still a building record. Three times Wulk's troops won 14 games in its home arena.
- In the 25 years Wulk coached at ASU, he had 17 winning seasons and led ASU to nine NCAA Tournaments and two National Invitational Tournaments. His teams were one game away from the Final Four three different times – 1961, 1963 and 1975.
- The most Sun Devil wins in a season is 26, which was achieved by Wulk's 1963 team, and his 1962 club won a school-record 18 straight. Also was ranked as high as third, best ranking in school history.
- Pac-10 runner-up twice in six seasons, and in the 16 years of play in the Western Atlantic Conference, Wulk's team finished below fifth place only four times. In the five seasons that ASU was a member of the Border Conference under Wulk, the team finished at the top of the conference four times.
- Completed his 25th year at ASU with an upset-victory over undefeated, top-ranked and Pac-10 champion Oregon State in March of 1981.
- The 1979-80 season was one of Wulk's most prolific, as the Sun Devils finished 21-6, and second in the Pac-10 at 15-3, with a national top-20 ranking in both wire service polls and an NCAA Tournament berth. Wulk was selected as the Pac-10 Coach of the Year.

SUN DEVIL JOE CALDWELL

2005 Pac-10 Hall of Honor Inductee 1975 Arizona State Hall of Fame Inductee Arizona State Three-Year Starter (1961-64) B.A., Selected Studies, 1997

The second pick in the 1964 NBA Draft by the Detroit Pistons, the highest selection by a Sun Devil. Played with the Pistons from 1964-66, the St. Louis Hawks (1966-68) and the Atlanta Hawks (1969-70) before finishing his professional career in the ABA with the Carolina Cougars (1970-74) and Spirit of St. Louis (1974-75).

• Finished his ASU degree 33 years after his career was over in 1997 with a B.A. in selected studies.

Inducted into the Arizona State Hall of Fame as a charter member in 1975 after an incredible career that saw his Sun Devil teams post records of 23-4 in 1961-62, 26-3 in 1962-63 and 16-11 in 1963-64. Overall, the Ned Wulk-coached Sun Devils were 65-18 (.783) in Caldwell's three years and advanced to the NCAA Tournament in each season. He was team MVP in 1962-63 and in 1963-64 and a team captain all three seasons.

His 1962-63 Sun Devil squad set the school record with 26 wins and beat UCLA 93-79 in the second-round of the NCAA Tournament in Provo on March 15. That loss was one of the few the Bruins would have in the next decade, as they would win 10 of the next 12 NCAA titles.

• One of only two Sun Devils to make the United States Olympic team as he was on the 1964 gold-medal winning United States squad in Tokyo.

- A three-year starter who earned Sporting News honorable mention All-American honors in 1963-64.
- Earned All-Border Conference in 1961-62 and then earned All-WAC honors the next two seasons (1962-63 and 1963-64). His 1961-62 team went 10-0 in the Border Conference, the first time a Sun Devil squad has gone undefeated in conference play, while the next two years ASU was 16-4 in WAC play.
- His 1,515 points was first on the ASU career list when his career ended.
- Twice notched 21 rebounds in a contest, against Colorado State on Jan. 11, 1964, and vs. Whittier on Dec. 1, 1962. Averaged 21.8 points per game in 1963-64 and his 330 rebounds that year is fourth-best in Sun Devil history.
- The Outstanding Player of the 1963 ASU Holiday Classic, as ASU beat Oklahoma and California for the title.

A couple of memorable box scores from 1981: On the left, ASU's 78-74 triple overtime win over eighth-ranked UCLA – one of the most exciting Pac-10 games ever. Nine of the 10 starters went on to NBA careers. On the right, fifth-ranked ASU's stunning 87-67 upset at unbeaten and top-ranked Oregon State on the final day of the regular season (March 7, 1981).
