LAST TIME OUT

- The Dirtbags picked up a huge series win on the road at No. 7 North Carolina. Long Beach State won the first two games of the series with a solid pitching effort, allowing just three runs on 10 hits combined in the first two contests.
- In a battle of former USA Collegiate National Team teammates, Darren McCaughan guided LBSU to a win on Friday night over UNC starter J.B. Bukauaskas. McCaughan allowed a run in each of the first two innings, but settled in and pitched a season-high 7.0 innings to allow the Dirtbags offense to make the comeback. LBSU scored five times over the final four innings, including three runs in the ninth for a 5-2 victory.
- Junior John Sheaks earned his first win in Saturday's matchup, getting help from a clutch Dirtbags bullpen that stranded seven Tar Heels on base in the final four innings to preserve the win.
- Junior 3B Ramsey Romano was moved up to the No. 2 hole for the UNC series and delivered five hits in the series, recording a double and an RBI in all three games.

SCOUTING THE SUN DEVILS

- ASU enters the weekend at 6-7, losers of four games in a row. The Sun Devils dropped the final two games of their series with Loyola Marymount, then dropped a pair of mid-week games to No. 7 Cal State Fullerton. A three-game sweep of Northwestern sparked ASU to a 4-1 start to the year, and they're still the only team to beat No. 1 TCU this season, a team Long Beach State will host on Tuesday, Mar. 14.
- The top two arms in the Arizona State rotation have been very good in the early season. LHP Eli Lingos is 3-0 with an 0.89 ERA in his three starts and LHP Spencer Van Scoyoc boasts a 1.35 ERA in 13.1 innings. Lingos, who has a 20:3 strikeout-to-walk ratio this season, was the Saturday starter in last season's series with the Dirtbags in Long Beach. He lasted 1.1 innings, allowing five hits and two runs to suffer the loss.
- Freshman catcher Lyle Lin is pacing the ASU offense, hitting .423 with a team-best 12 RBIs. Gage Canning has 15 hits and leads the team with 11 runs scored.
- Long Beach State won last year's series vs. Arizona State at Blair Field, winning the final two games after dropping the opener.

TABLESETTERS

- Sophomore 2B Jarren Duran (.348) and Junior 3B Ramsey Romano (.371) have been the top two hitters for Long Beach State this season, and hit 1-2 in the lineup every game at North Carolina.
- Duran is on a five-game hitting streak and has at least one hit in nine of his last 10 games. He is also 6/7 in stolen base attempts. During the Fordham series, he either set or matched his career highs in hits (3), runs (4) and RBIs (4) in a game.
- Romano has played his way into the starting gig at third base, and is currently on a six-game hitting streak. he recorded a double and an RBI in all three games at UNC.

FRESHMEN ON THE HILL

- Freshmen pitchers have been asked to make an immediate impact in the starting rotation, and they've delivered. John Castro and Matt Fields each delivered quality starts in their first career starts for the Dirtbags.
- Castro threw seven shutout innings at USC to make an instant splash for the Beach,

RF	Brock Lundquist	Hit .315 with a team-best 25 extra-base hits as everyday LF in 2016.
DH	Luke Rasmussen	Had an RBI in each of first 7 games. Led team with 46 RBIs last season.

taking a no decision on the road in an extra-innings loss.

- Fields is 2-0 with a 3.00 ERA for the Dirtbags, winning in relief at Oklahoma and then finishing off a sweep of Fordham with a win in his first career start on Feb. 26.

BLAIR FIELD RENOVATIONS

- The ongoing improvements at Blair Field took a major step forward during the off-season with the construction of the Troy & Danyll Tulowitzki Batting Facility along the right field side of Blair Field.
- Also constructed during the offseason was the Jered Weaver Bullpen beyond the fence in right field. There was also an update to the Dirtbags locker room which includes new lockers, general maintenance and repairs and new designs and graphics on the interior walls to honor the history of Long Beach State Baseball.
- The renovation efforts began prior to last season with the installation of a new out-field fence. The old dimensions of 348-387-400-387-348 were reduced to a slightly more hitter-friendly 335-380-393-380-330 moving from left to right field. The result was an increase in home runs hit at Blair Field from four in 2015 to 23 last season.

USA BASEBALL

- LBSU head coach Troy Buckley was announced as a pitching coach for the 2017 USA Baseball Collegiate National Team this summer. This will be Coach Buckley's first coaching stint with Team USA, becoming the third straight Dirtbags head coach to work with the Collegiate National Team.
- Buckley will join former Dirtbags head coach and LBSU Hall of Famer Dave Snow as a pitching coach with the Collegiate National Team. Coach Snow worked as a pitching coach last season, and 2017 will be his fifth time coaching with the CNT in his career.
- The Dirtbags have also had a player on each of the past two Collegiate National Teams. In 2015, shortstop Garrett Hampson was selected and last summer Darren McCaughan was a pitcher for Team USA. LBSU has had 12 players selected to the Collegiate National Team in its history.

LB IN MLB

- For the seventh straight year, Long Beach State had more players in the major leagues than any other college or university. There were 13 former Dirtbags who played in the Major Leagues in 2016 and the all-time total for Long Beach State is 46 big league representatives.
- When the Chicago Cubs won the World Series, first base coach Brandon Hyde became the third former Dirtbags player in as many seasons to win a ring. Matt Duffy and the San Francisco Giants won the World Series in 2014 and Jason Vargas and the Kansas City Royals were World Champions in 2015.
- It was a very productive year for former Dirtbags in the big leagues, led by Toronto Blue Jays starting pitcher Marco Estrada, who was named to his first All-Star Game last season.

WE ARE THE DIRTBAGS

- The OFFICIAL nickname of the Long Beach State baseball program is the Dirtbags.

HEAD COACH TROY BUCKLEY

One of the most respected pitching coaches in the nation, Troy Buckley enters his seventh season as the head coach of Long Beach State in 2017. In his first six seasons, Buckley has led the Dirtbags to a winning record in every season and a pair of NCAA Regional appearances in 2014 and 2016.

The Dirtbags enjoyed their most successful season in the Troy Buckley era in 2016, reaching a national ranking of No. 17 in the country. Long Beach State went 38-22, including a nine-game winning streak, to register the most wins in a season since 2008 and finish second in the Big West Conference. LBSU received an at-large postseason bid, and played in the Coral Gables Regional hosted by Miami (FL). The Dirtbags went 2-2, collecting two dominant wins over Florida Atlantic while suffering a pair of heartbreaking one-run losses to the host Hurricanes.

Long Beach State had six players named first team All-Big West, the most for the program since the 1992 season. Darren McCaughan led the way as the Big West Pitcher of the Year, and SS Garrett Hampson was named Defensive Player of the Year. Other first team selections were C David Banuelos, 3B Zack Domingues, DH Luke Rasmussen and RHP Austin McGeorge. A pair of Dirtbags made the second team in 1B Daniel Jackson and LF Brock Lundquist.

In 2014, Buckley's Dirtbags posted a 34-26 overall record, earning an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament. There they advanced to the regional final, beating North Carolina twice to reach the final game. Buckley's squad featured the Big West Freshman Player of the Year in Garrett Hampson and six All-Big West selections. Four Dirtbags from the 2014 squad were drafted with the entire weekend rotation going on to pitch professionally following their final college seasons.

Taking the helm after two disappointing campaigns where the Dirtbags finished lower than fourth in the Big West for the first time since 1989, Buckley took command of a team that had lost its five top hitters and its strikeouts leader from the year before.

Under Buckley's leadership, the squad lowered its team ERA by nearly a full point to 3.55 from 4.67, and he led the team to a 29-27 finish against the nation's third-toughest schedule, just missing a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

That improvement continued in 2012, as the Dirtbags again lowered their team ERA, this time from 3.55 to a Big West best 3.08. Finishing above .500 for the second straight year under Buckley, the team was one game away from clinching the Big West championship, and finished with eight players receiving All-Big West honors, including senior Brennan Metzger, whose first-team All-Big West selection was the first for a Dirtbag since 2008.

Buckley stepped up as the head coach for Long Beach State after he had made his return as the team's associate head coach for the 2010 season. That move was on the heels of spending two years as the Minor League Pitching Coordinator with the Pirates. In that position, Buckley oversaw the overall development of every arm in the Pirates farm system, and also worked in conjunction with the Major League ballclub over spring training development and through the season regarding player movement.

That opportunity came on the heels of the tremendous success that Long Beach State's players have had both at the collegiate and professional levels. Since Buckley came to Long Beach State in 2001, the Dirtbags have earned six Big West Pitcher of the Year awards, and in 2004, Jered Weaver was named the National Player of the Year after posting a 15-1 record with 213 strikeouts and a 1.62 ERA.

Abe Alvarez, Jered Weaver, Jason Vargas, Cesar Ramos, Andrew Carpenter, Brian Shaw, Andrew Liebel, and Vance Worley were all drafted in the first three rounds of the MLB draft after developing their craft under Buckley, and all but Liebel have reached the Major Leagues. Buckley was also instrumental in the recruiting of fellow major leaguers Troy Tulowitzki and the 2008 American League Rookie of the Year, Evan Longoria. Most recently, Jake Thompson (2nd, 2009) and Andrew Gagnon (3rd, 2010) were selected in the top three rounds and are working through the minor leagues.

After his first season at Long Beach State as an assistant coach, the Dirtbags never ranked lower than 28th nationally in team ERA, and ranked in the top five nationally three times. In 2002, the Dirtbags ranked fifth nationally with a 2.99 team ERA as Alvarez was named the Big West Pitcher of the Year, and the next year, Weaver joined Alvarez as co-pitchers of the year as Long Beach State reached the Super Regionals with a 39-21 record. Weaver led the staff in 2004 to a 3.11 ERA, fourth-best in the country as the Dirtbags again reached the Super Regionals.

Following the departure of Weaver, rather than suffering a decline, the Dirtbags posted a record ERA in 2005 under Buckley, leading the nation with a 2.53 mark, and posted a team ERA in 3.64 in 2006 and 3.59 in 2007, the latter being the 16th best in Division I.

Buckley previously served three years at his alma mater, Santa Clara, as an assistant coach. From 1998 to 2000, Buckley was the Broncos' hitting coach, pitching consultant and recruiting coordinator.

Prior to his work with the Broncos, Buckley was a coach in the Montreal Expos organization from 1996 to 1997. In 1996, he served as the hitting and third base coach for AA Ottawa and in 1997 he was the pitching coach for the Gulf Coast League rookie league Expos in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Buckley was a ninth-round draft pick of the Minnesota Twins in 1989. He spent three years in the Twins organization, including the 1991 season with AAA Portland. In 1993 and 1994, Buckley was a member of the Reds' AA Chattanooga team before moving to the Expos AA affiliate in Harrisburg in 1995.

Regarded as one of the greatest catchers in Santa Clara history, Buckley was the 1988 WCC Player of the Year and was a second-team All-American after batting .442 with 82 RBIs. Both marks set single-season records. Buckley drove in a school-record 188 runs and also entered himself among the Broncos' all-time greats in batting average (.364), hits (234), doubles (47), home runs (35), total bases (390), extra-base hits (84), and slugging percentage (.606).
