The Knowles Family Director of Women's Soccer Paul Ratcliffe

In 16 seasons as head coach, the Stanford women have won two national championships, reached four NCAA finals, won eight Pac-12 titles, played in eight College Cups, and reached the NCAA third round in 12 of the past 13 seasons. The Cardinal has advanced to the College Cup eight of the past 11 years.

Ratcliffe was named Knowles Family Director of Women's Soccer in the Spring of 2018, the first to hold the recently-endowed position. In 2018, Stanford reached its eighth College Cup in 11 years before falling, 2-0, in the College Cup semifinal to Florida State. Sophomore Catarina Macario became Stanford's fourth student-athlete and second consecutive to win the MAC Hermann Trophy as the best player in college soccer.

In 2017, Ratcliffe guided Stanford to its second national championship, setting a program record with 91 goals while allowing nine. The Cardinal finished the season on a 22-game win streak, and did not allow a goal from open play over the final 1,988:59 minutes. Senior captain Andi Sullivan, who scored in the College Cup final, was awarded the MAC Hermann Trophy as the best player in college soccer.

Ratcliffe, who has never failed to direct the Cardinal to the NCAA tournament, is Stanford's winningest soccer coach, with a 311-51-29 record (.787) on The Farm.

Ratcliffe has more victories than any other coach in Stanford men's or women's soccer history. The men's soccer program began in 1911 and the women's in 1984.

He also is the most successful in the postseason, with a 47-12-4 record in NCAA playoff action. His Stanford teams had an ongoing streak of 30 consecutive NCAA tournament matches without a loss at home (2008-16).

Ratcliffe is a nine-time Pac-12 Coach of the Year - no other Pac-12 coach has won more than twice in the history of the conference. He is a three-time NSCAA National Coach of the Year.

Thursday's Opponent, Arizona State

- Stanford enters Thursday with a 15-4-3 (0.789) all-time record against the Sun Devils (6-8-3, 0-6-2 Pac-12), most recently earning a 4-1 win in Tempe, Arizona, last season. Jordan DiBiasi scored twice with Belle Briede and Civana Kuhlmann each pitching in one goal.
- Arizona State is winless in its last nine matches with three consecutive losses at Colorado (Oct. 19), against Oregon State (Oct. 24) and against Oregon (Oct. 27). Nicole Douglas leads the team in goals (8) and points (20) while Giulia Cascapera has a 1.34 goals-against average and 0.747 save percentage in 1,411:56 minutes between the posts.

Sunday's Opponent, Arizona

- Stanford carries a 23-2-0 (0.920) all-time record against the Wildcats (10-4-1, 4-3-1 Pac-12) into Sunday, most recently defeating Arizona, 2-0, to start Pac-12 play in 2018. Catarina Macario had a hand in both goals, scoring the opener before setting up Jordan DiBiasi for Stanford's second goal.
- Arizona won both of its matches last week against Oregon (Oct. 24) and Oregon State (Oct. 27) and are led by Jada Talley in goals (9) and assists (7). In net, Hope Hisey has played most of the minutes with a 1.25 goals-against average and 0.737 save percentage.

Title Within Reach

- With maximum points (24) from its eight conference matches, Stanford firmly controls the race for the Pac-12 championship and can clinch at least a share of its fifth-straight title with a win on Thursday. Washington (18 points) is Stanford's closest chaser and would have to earn six more points than Stanford over its final three games to claim a share of the title.
- In its eight Pac-12 games, Stanford owns a 24-2 goal difference.
- Stanford remains atop the NCAA RPI (ratings power index), ahead of No. 2 North Carolina, No. 3 Virginia, No. 4 Florida State and No. 5 USC. Twelve of Stanford's 2019 opponents rank in the top 50 - No. 5 USC, No. 10 Washington, No. 11 UCLA, No. 24 Santa Clara, No. 26 Washington State, No. 28 Arizona, No. 32 California, No. 33 West Virginia, No. 36 Colorado, No. 40 Penn State, No. 43 Oregon State and No. 50 Pepperdine.

Unbeaten Streaks Intact

- Since its only loss of the season at Pepperdine (Sept. 13), Stanford has won its last 10 games with a 33-4 goal difference during that span.
- Stanford is unbeaten in its last 38 Pac-12 conference matches, a streak dating to Oct. 6, 2016. Since then, Stanford has outscored Pac-12 opposition by 107-14. The Cardinal has lost just two Pac-12 matches since the start of the 2014 season.
- The Cardinal is undefeated in its last 35 home games, a streak that includes the entire 2017-19 seasons and dates to Nov. 18, 2016. During that time, Stanford is outscoring opponents, 122-9, in home matches and 118-8 at Laird Q. Cagan Stadium.
- Stanford has had 31 consecutive winning seasons, a run dating to 1988.
- Stanford has qualified for the NCAA Tournament in each of the last 21 seasons, a streak which dates to 1998.
- Stanford has won its last nine season openers with its last loss in such games coming in 2006.

It Starts With Defense

- Stanford has allowed the fewest goals in the Pac-12 (8) while its 0.50 goals-against average ranks 18th, nationally.
- Since a 3-2 win at No. 3 USC (Sept. 28), Stanford has not allowed a goal in 707:38 minutes of play with seven consecutive shutouts of Pac-12 opposition.
- The Cardinal is surrendering just 5.6 shots per game and 1.94 shots on goal per game.
- Teams have registered just six assists against Stanford in 16 games.
- Noami Girma and Kiki Pickett have started all 16 games. Sam Hiatt has started 14 games while Jojo Harber and Kennedy Wesley have shared the duties at left back, each appearing in all 16 contests.
- Hiatt was named Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Week on Tuesday (Oct. 29), a week after Girma captured the same award (Oct. 22).
- Katie Meyer leads the Pac-12 in goals allowed (1), goals-against average (0.11) and save percentage (0.900), having started each of Stanford's last five games. Meyer has not allowed a goal in 764:35 minutes of play.

NCAA-Leading Offense

- Stanford leads the NCAA in virtually every offensive category – goals (59), goals per game (3.69), points (181), points per game (11.31), assists (63), assists per game (3.94), shots per game (23.45) and shots on goal per game (10.94).
- Catarina Macario, the reigning MAC Hermann Trophy winner, leads the NCAA in goals (20), goals per game (1.25), game-winning goals (8), assists (13), assists per game (0.81), points (53) and points per game (3.31) while ranking second in shots per game (5.63) and third in shots on goal per game (2.94).
- Madison Haley ranks second in the Pac-12 in assists (9) and third in points (27). Nationally, Haley ranks 16th in assists and 31st in points. Haley's nine goals rank sixth in the Pac-12 and are more than double her previous career high (4).
- Sophia Smith ranks ninth in the Pac-12 in goals (8) while her four assists are double her tally from her freshman season in 2018.
- Carly Malatskey also has eight goals on the season – all nine of her career goals have come in her last 20 appearances.
- Stanford has scored at least 50 goals in each of its last four seasons – the Cardinal set a program record with 91 goals in 2017.

A Class of Her Own

- Catarina Macario has scored 11 goals in Stanford's last nine games with 10 goals in eight Pac-12 contests. She needed just 10 games to eclipse her 36-point total from 2018, a season in which she won the MAC Hermann Trophy as the best player in college soccer.

- Macario has had a hand in 33 of Stanford's 59 goals (56 percent) and has assisted seven of Madison Haley's nine goals.
- Macario has scored multiple goals seven times this season and 13 times since the start of her freshman season in 2017 – no player in the NCA has more multi-goal performances than Macario during that span.
- Macario crossed the 50-point threshold for the second time in three seasons, becoming just the second player in program history to score 50 or more points twice (Christen Press – 2009, 2010). There have been just five instances of a player scoring 50 or more points in a season in program history.
- Macario joins Press, Kelley O'Hara, Sarah Rafanelli and Lindsay Taylor as the only players to score 20 or more goals in a season.
- Macario enters Thursday with career totals of 51 goals and 37 assists for 139 points.
- Macario is one of six players in program history with 50 or more goals, joining Press (71), Rafanelli (59), O'Hara (57), Taylor (53) and Julie Foudy (52).
- With 37 career assists, Macario ranks fourth and is just four behind Press (41) for the program record. Marcie Ward (40) and Teresa Noyola (40) tie for second, all-time.
- Macario passed Foudy for fourth on Stanford's career points list with 139. She ranks behind only Press (183), Rafanelli (152) and O'Hara (146).
- With Macario on the roster, Stanford owns a 60-3-2 record and a 55-3-2 clip when she suits up. During that span, Macario has claimed both ESPNW Player of the Year awards (2017-18) to go along with Stanford's fifth Hermann Trophy following her sophomore season in 2018 – she joined Kelley O'Hara (2009), Christen Press (2010), Teresa Noyola (2011) and Andi Sullivan (2017) as the Cardinal's winner of the award, the highest individual honor in college soccer.
- Macario aims to join Morgan Brian (2013-14), Christine Sinclair (2004-05), Cindy Parlow (1997-98) and Mia Hamm (1992-93) as the only players in history to win the Hermann Trophy in consecutive seasons.
- In each of her two seasons, Macario has earned first-team All-America, Pac-12 Forward of the Year, TopDrawerSoccer Best XI first team, All-Region first team, College Cup All-Tournament team and All-Pac-12 first team honors. As a sophomore in 2018, her first year being eligible for academic recognition, she added CoSIDA Academic All-District 8 first team and a Pac-12 All-Academic honorable mention.

Quick Hitters

- Stanford's senior class enters Thursday with a 78-5-2 record, including a 43-1-2 clip at home and a 39-1-2 mark in Pac-12 conference play.
- Stanford is 5-0-0 against ranked opposition this season with a 14-4 goal difference in such games, three of which were played

Coaching Staff

Hideki Nakada Associate Head Coach • Sixth season

- Named program's first ever Associate Head Coach on Feb. 23, 2018 and enters sixth year with the program.
- Serves in all areas of the program -- coaching, recruiting, game planning, scouting and video.
- Helped Stanford earn Pacific Region Staff of the Year in 2016 before helping guide Stanford to its second national championship in 2017.
- Previously coached at Oregon, Marquette and Idaho State, playing three seasons professionally in the Japanese League (Omiya Ardiya & Kyota Purple Sanga).
- Has helped Stanford reach two College Cups in four seasons.

Margueritte Aozasa Assistant Coach • Fifth season

- Begins her fifth season after joining Stanford prior to the 2015 season.
- Four-year starter at Santa Clara, also coaches at Mountain View-Los Altos Soccer Club.
- Helped win 2016 Pacific Region Staff of the Year before helping Stanford claim its second national championship in 2017
- Describes Albertin Montoya of MVLA as her mentor -- Montoya previously served as an assistant coach under Ratcliffe.

- Owns a degree in psychology with minors in public health and Spanish.

Kayley Sullivan Volunteer Assistant Coach • Second season

- Named volunteer assistant coach ahead of the 2018 season after spending the 2017-18 season coaching for the Washington Spirit Development Academy.
- Spent 10 years coaching U4-U8 players in Virginia, holding a National Youth License and TOVO T1 Certificate -- currently working toward a USSF C-License.
- Played four seasons at George Washington (2009-12), graduating with a degree in psychology with a concentration in cognitive neuroscience and a minor in mind-brain studies after captaining the team during her senior season.
- Younger sister, Andi, played at Stanford for four seasons (2014-17).

Joseph Jackson Director of Operations • Second season

- Joined The Farm prior to 2018 as director of operations for both the men's and women's soccer programs.
- Spent the previous two seasons with Atlanta United F.C. of Major League Soccer -- started the organization's marketing and social media department before transitioning into a role focused on growing youth soccer involvement in Georgia.
- As an undergraduate at Oregon, captained the club soccer team while working as marketing employee in the athletics department, mainly working with the baseball program during the 2013 season.

away from Laird Q. Cagan Stadium.

- Stanford owns a 25-0 goal difference in its last seven games.
- Kiki Pickett, Naomi Girma and Catarina Macario have started all 16 games.
- Stanford's average home attendance of 1,991 leads the Pac-12 and ranks fifth, nationally.
- Stanford's 19 regular-season opponents have combined for a 173-84-44 (0.648) record, third-highest in the nation behind Florida State (0.664) and Washington (0.652).
- Sierra Enge, Bianca Caetano Ferrara, Maya Shetty, Madison Ayson, Maya Doms, Katie Meyer, Paige Rubinstein, Kattalin Stahl and Kennedy Wesley have each made their collegiate debuts this season.
- Stanford's unbeaten streak against unranked opposition ended with a 1-0 loss at Pepperdine (Sept. 13) – Stanford had not lost to unranked opposition since Nov. 18, 2016. Since then, Stanford has won five straight with a 17-4 goal differential.
- The Cardinal's nine goals in a win at San Francisco (Sept. 8) tied for the most since Stanford's 10-0 win over USC on Oct. 9, 1993. It was the fourth time since then the Cardinal has scored nine goals in a game.
- 2019 marks the first time since 2014 the Cardinal will take the field without Alana Cook – Cook, a two-year captain who now plays for Paris Saint Germain, started all 93 games during her four-year career on The Farm, helping Stanford earn an 82-6-5 record with four Pac-12 Championships. Classmate Jordan DiBiasi, who now plies her trade for the Washington Spirit in the National Women's Soccer League, started 93 games during the same four-year stretch.
- 2019 also marks the first time since 2013 in which the roster does not include 2018 All-Pac-12 selections Jaye Boissiere or Alison Jahansouz.
- Stanford's Class of 2019, which included Alana Cook, Averie Collins, Jordan DiBiasi, Tegan McGrady and Michelle Xiao, went 82-6-5, including a 41-1-2 clip in Pac-12 play and a 50-2-4 mark at Cagan Stadium, during its four seasons at Stanford.
- Stanford's season attendance of 22,541 was the highest in the Pac-12 by over 7,000 – Stanford had the highest average home attendance in the Pac-12, including seven sellouts.
- Sixteen Cardinal were named to the Pac-12 All-Academic teams in 2018, the most of any program.
- Stanford has appeared in eight of the last 11 College Cups and nine times overall.
- In 2018, four Cardinal (Cook, DiBiasi, Macario and McGrady) earned All-America distinction from United Soccer Coaches, which tied a program record. Stanford's four Scholar All-Americans (Cook, DiBiasi, McGrady and Alison Jahansouz) from United Soccer Coaches also tied a program record.
- Jordan DiBiasi and eventual winner Catarina Macario were two of the three finalists for the MAC Hermann Trophy – it was the second time in history Stanford had multiple finalists after Lindsay Taylor and winner Teresa Noyola were co-finalists in 2011.

- Prior to Stanford's 2-0 loss in the 2018 College Cup semifinals to Florida State, the Cardinal had not lost in 45 games, good for the fifth-longest in NCAA history, and the longest by any non-North Carolina team. During the unbeaten run, Stanford outscored opponents 141-16.

Leaders of the Pac

- By a vote of Pac-12 coaches, Stanford was picked to win the conference while garnering seven of 12 first-place votes. The Cardinal's 117 total points was ahead of UCLA (113), USC (102), Washington State (88) and Colorado (77).
- Stanford entered 2019 as the four-time defending Pac-12 Conference champion with a 92-6-5 record in that span, including a 41-1-2 clip in Pac-12 play.
- The Cardinal owns 13 Pac-12 championships, all-time, with the first coming in 1993.
- Stanford has won eight of the last 10 Pac-12 championships, twice winning four in a row (2009-12 and 2015-18).
- Stanford's men's and women's soccer programs have combined to win nine of the past 10 Pac-12 soccer championships.

Mr. 300

- Stanford's 7-0 win over San Jose State on Sept. 1 marked the 300th win at Stanford for the Knowles Family Director of Women's Soccer Paul Ratcliffe.
- Ratcliffe, now in his 17th season at Stanford, has guided Stanford to eight Pac-12 championships, eight College Cups, four national championship games and two national championships (2011, 2017).
- Ratcliffe has been named United Soccer Coaches National Coach of the Year twice (2009, 2011) and Pac-12 Coach of the Year an unprecedented nine times – no other coach has won the award more than twice.
- Ratcliffe's overall record at Stanford stands at 311-51-29 entering Thursday.

Two to Watch

- Catarina Macario and Sophia Smith were each named to the watch list for the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy, the highest individual honor in college soccer which Macario claimed in 2018.
- It is the fifth-straight season in which Stanford has had multiple student-athletes on the watch list.
- In the last 11 seasons, 20 different Cardinal have been named to the watch list or a semifinalist.

A Look Back

- Stanford battled snowy conditions in a 4-0 win over Utah with Madison Haley, Catarina Macario and Sophia Smith combining for four goals and four assists (Oct. 27).
- The Cardinal improved to 7-0-0 in Pac-12 play with a convincing 4-0 win at Colorado (Oct. 24). Catarina Macario, Madison Haley, Beattie Goad and Jojo Harber each scored while Katie Meyer made two saves to earn the win.
- Maya Doms scored the only goal of a 1-0 win over No. 16 UCLA (Oct. 19) as the Cardinal did not surrender a shot on target, improving to 6-0-0 in conference play.
- Stanford erupted for five goals in a shutout win over Oregon (Oct. 13) with Catarina Macario registering two goals and one assist. Madison Haley, Sophia Smith and Carly Malatskey also scored and Katie Meyer made one save to earn the shutout.
- Sophia Smith had a hand in both goals as Stanford earned a 2-0 win at Oregon State to improve to 4-0-0 in Pac-12 conference play (Oct. 10).
- Stanford seized control of the Pac-12 conference title race with a 4-0 win over previously undefeated Washington (Oct. 6). Catarina Macario, Sophia Smith, Carly Malatskey and Maya Doms provided goals while Lauren Rood made three saves to earn the shutout.
- The Cardinal made a statement with a 5-0 victory over No. 14 Washington State (Oct. 3). Catarina Macario had two goals and two assists while Sophia Smith and Madison Haley finished with one goal and one assist apiece.
- Catarina Macario scored twice and provided an assist in Stanford's 3-2 win at No. 3 USC (Sept. 28). Stanford has won its last five Pac-12 openers and is undefeated in such games since 2000.
- Stanford wrapped up nonconference play with a wild 4-2 win at Santa Clara (Sept. 22). With the score tied, 2-2, in the 77th minute, Catarina Macario's phenomenal free kick put the Cardinal ahead before a late insurance goal from Madison Haley.
- Sophia Smith's goal in the 79th minute was the difference in a 1-0 win at UC Santa Barbara (Sept. 15).
- The Cardinal dropped its first regular-season contest since Aug. 25, 2017 with a 1-0 loss at Pepperdine (Sept. 13).
- Stanford exploded for nine goals in a shutout win over San Francisco (Sept. 8), led by Catarina Macario's first career hat trick. Lauren Rood made two saves to earn the shutout while Stanford's nine goals tied for the most in a game since the Cardinal beat USC, 10-0, on Oct. 9, 1993.
- An offensive outburst led Stanford to its fourth straight win to start the season, a 7-0 triumph of San Jose State (Sept. 1). Catarina Macario and Carly Malatskey scored twice, and Katie Meyer earned her first career shutout.
- Catarina Macario scored twice as Stanford opened its 2019 home schedule with a 5-1 win over Penn (Aug. 30).

- The Cardinal made it two straight wins over ranked teams to start the season with a 3-1 win against No. 11 West Virginia (Aug. 25) in State College, Pennsylvania. Katie Meyer earned the win in her first career appearance while Carly Malatskey, Sierra Enge and Madison Haley provided the goals.
- Stanford opened its 2019 season with a 2-1 win at No. 6 Penn State (Aug. 23) in front of a crowd of 5,238, the second-largest in Penn State history. Catarina Macario, who earned Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Week honors on Tuesday, scored both goals for the Cardinal while Lauren Rood made three saves to earn the win.

Leaders of the Pac

- By a vote of Pac-12 coaches, Stanford was picked to win the conference while garnering seven of 12 first-place votes. The Cardinal's 117 total points was ahead of UCLA (113), USC (102), Washington State (88) and Colorado (77).
- Stanford entered 2019 as the four-time defending Pac-12 Conference champion with a 92-6-5 record in that span, including a 41-1-2 clip in Pac-12 play.
- The Cardinal owns 13 Pac-12 championships, all-time, with the first coming in 1993.
- Stanford has won eight of the last 10 Pac-12 championships, twice winning four in a row (2009-12 and 2015-18).
- Stanford's men's and women's soccer programs have combined to win nine of the past 10 Pac-12 soccer championships.

Cardinal in the Classroom

- Defender Madison Ayson plans to major in bioengineering.
- Midfielder Emily Chiao aspires to be a software developer after majoring in computer science or symbolic systems at Stanford.
- Midfielder Maya Doms plans to major in human biology and become an endodontist following her playing career.
- Defender/midfielder Sierra Enge's favorite class at Stanford is titled "The Spirit of Entrepreneurship" – class participants were visited by successful Silicon Valley entrepreneurs to give a deep look into what sets up companies for future success.
- Midfielder Beattie Goad conducts research on radiology ergonomics alongside Stanford professor Raj Puri at the Stanford Hospital with the plan of creating and launching an ergonomics survey investigating the extent and nature of musculoskeletal pain and injuries.
- In the summer of 2018, Goad interned in Susie Nilsson's lab at the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization (CSIRO), focusing on stem cell and cancer research -- presented research at Stanford's human biology symposium on Aug. 10, 2018. She also conducted neurobiological research in the Hynes Lab at Stanford in the summer of 2017.

- Defender Jojo Harber's favorite class is titled "NBIO 101: Social and Ethical Issues in the Neurosciences," a course which covers topics such as genetic screening and editing, desire and addiction, criminal behavior, the biology of sexuality, fetal pain, aging and neurodegenerative diseases, brain-computer interfaces, neural enhancement and the human future.
- Harber currently serves as a student assistant at the Office of Accessible Education, is Stanford's campus representative for Adobe and is Co-Director for the SWIB Women of Impact gala, an event on campus that celebrates exceptional undergraduate women who contribute to the university,
- Goalkeeper Katie Meyer's favorite class is titled "Justice," a course that examines different philosophical theories and political justice.
- Meyer, who aspires to attend law school, plans to major in international relations with a minor in history and a specialization in international comparative governance, social development and human well being.
- Goalkeeper Maya Shetty's favorite course at Stanford has been "Reading the Body: How Medicine and Culture Define the Self".
- Redshirt junior Sam Tran's favorite course at Stanford is titled "Race and Ethnicity through Family History," a class which studies how race and ethnic power dynamics play a role in shaping family history.
- Defender Kennedy Wesley aims to major in psychology with the contemplated profession of a sports psychologist.

Off The Farm

- Forward Carly Malatskey is currently part of the Mayfield Fellows Program, nine-month program at Stanford where 12 students are selected to develop theoretical understanding, practical knowledge and leadership skills needed for leading and growing technology companies.
- Malatskey also manages Main Quad Rentals at Stanford, which rents beds to Stanford students for the year, and is Stanford's representative for The Coin Flyp, a media outlet which chronicles stories of student-athletes transitioning into professional workplaces.
- Redshirt junior Sam Tran volunteers with DreamCatchers, a local organization that serves as a study group for low-income middle school students.
- Defender Sierra Enge volunteers with the Challenged Athletes Foundation, a program that provides support for physically disabled athletes.
- Forward Ceci Gee has coordinated and hosted multiple fundraising events in order to buy and deliver soccer gear for underprivileged girls' soccer teams in Nairobi, Kenya.
- Defender Sam Hiatt volunteers at the Northwest Harvest Food Bank and Special Olympics.

- Forward Catarina Macario organized a collective soccer donation of equipment and clothing for children in Brazil.
- Defender Jojo Harber served an internship at Microsoft last summer in Bellevue, Washington, researching and developing key marketing material, including a content strategy plan to help better align content across various marketing campaigns. As part of the internship, Harber also spearheaded a best practices project which included data analysis, research, new insights and recommendations to Microsoft's brand marketing team.
- Harber was a six-year member of the National Charity League (2012-17), spending time volunteering with the Special Olympics, YWCA and Northwest Harvest Food Bank.
- Defender Kiki Pickett is a participant in the Food From the Heart program and at the Unity Shoppe.
- Forward Madison Haley is a service coordinator for the Boys & Girls Club in South Dallas, having served as the treasurer for the National Honors Society as well as a tutor at Lee A. McShan Elementary School.
- Alongside several current and former Stanford student-athletes, Haley was a panelist as part of Stanford's celebration of 2019 National Girls and Women in Sports Day in February.

All-Time Leader in NCAA Championships

- Stanford enters the 2019-20 season with 123 NCAA championships, the most of any school in history. Stanford has won at least once such championship in each of the past 43 seasons, the longest streak in the nation that dates to the 1976-77 campaign.
- In 2018-19, Stanford won the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup for the 25th straight season to go along with the Capital One Cup for women while the men finished second. In 2017-18, Stanford became the only school in history to win the Directors' Cup and both Capital One Cups in the same season.
