MAGNIFICENT CENTURY

The Magnificent Century of the Ottomans... At the age of twenty-six, when he began his reign, Sultan Suleiman aimed to make the Ottoman Empire invincible, building a realm more powerful and extensive than that of Alexander the Great. Yet as Sultan Suleiman became the greatest ruler of the East and West and conquered the world, he found himself torn between his most trusted friend Ibrahim and his eternal love, Hurrem. As Ibrahim rose to be the Grand Vizier that would lead to his tragic demise, Hurrem, as wife of the emperor and mother of princes, would be the one ruling the empire alongside Suleiman through bloodshed and intrigue.

KÖSEM

The great love of Sultan Ahmed I, the mother of three sultans, beloved by the people of Istanbul, the most powerful woman in Ottoman history: the magnificent Kösem Sultan... A name that would successfully rule the Ottoman Empire for forty years, become the sole protector of the dynasty, earn the admiration of the masses, and be equated with power and grandeur... While inscribing her name as the strongest woman the East had ever seen, Kösem Sultan's dizzying power would gradually take everything from her—her beloved, her family, her friends, and her sons. But first, it would claim her innocence...
