Name the notes: alto clef

Same game, new clef: write each note's letter name in the box. The alto clef is a C clef whose two curves hug the middle line, so the middle line is middle C. Every note sits on or near the staff — at most one ledger line away.

Hint Landmark: the middle line is middle C. Count up and down from it, one line or space at a time. Violas read this clef; their four open strings are C–G–D–A (C3, G3, D4, A4), engraved below. (Handout 390 teaches the alto and tenor clefs.)
