Name the notes: tenor clef

Same game, another C clef: write each note's letter name in the box. The tenor clef's two curves hug the fourth line (the second line from the top), so that line is middle C. Every note sits on or near the staff — at most one ledger line away.

Hint Landmark: the fourth line from the bottom is middle C. Count up and down from it, one line or space at a time. Cellos, bassoons and trombones read the tenor clef when their music climbs into the upper range. (Handout 390 teaches the alto and tenor clefs.)
