

TERMS OF USE – Drury Hotels ChatGPT Application

Drury Hotels Company, LLC

Last updated: April 22, 2026

Acceptance of Terms

By using the ChatGPT application provided by Drury Hotels Company, LLC through the OpenAI platform, you agree to these Terms of Use.

Purpose of the Application

This ChatGPT application provides informational responses related to Drury Hotels Company, LLC, including hotel services, reservations support, amenities, guest policies, loyalty program information, group travel support, accessibility information, and general customer service assistance.

AI-Generated Content

Responses generated by this application are produced using artificial intelligence technology and may contain inaccuracies, omissions, or incomplete information. Information provided by the application should be used for general informational purposes only.

No Professional Advice

Information generated by this application does not constitute legal, financial, medical, or other professional advice.

User Responsibilities

Users agree not to submit:

- Sensitive personal data
- Confidential or proprietary information
- Illegal, harmful, abusive, or inappropriate content

Platform Governance

Use of the ChatGPT application also remains subject to the terms, conditions, and policies of the OpenAI platform.

Limitation of Liability

Drury Hotels Company, LLC is not liable for decisions made, actions taken, or losses incurred based on AI-generated responses provided by the application.

Changes to Terms

We may update these Terms of Use from time to time. Continued use of the application after any updates constitutes acceptance of the revised terms.