Peak Vista Resolves Employment Matter and Reaffirms Commitment to Community Care

Colorado Springs, Colo. – Peak Vista Community Health Centers today announced the resolution of an employment-related matter with the National Labor Relations Board involving five former employees.

The settlement brings closure to the issue and underscores the importance of organizational clarity regarding protected and concerted employee activities.

“Peak Vista is committed to treating all team members with fairness, transparency and respect, while adhering to all federal and state employment laws,” said Jaeson Fournier, D.C., MPH, president and CEO of Peak Vista Community Health Centers. “With this matter behind us, we are focused on strengthening care delivery and expanding our capacity to meet the growing healthcare needs of our community.”

Peak Vista expressed appreciation to its Board of Directors for their guidance throughout the process and extended sincere thanks to its employees for their continued dedication to patients and communities they are so privileged to serve.

“As a mission-driven community health center, our priority remains ensuring access to high-quality, compassionate primary medical care for all, but especially for those who are low-income, uninsured and underinsured,” Fournier added. “We are grateful to our partners and stakeholders for their patience and continued collaboration.”

Peak Vista also extends its sincere thanks to our teams for their dedication to both Peak Vista and our patients as we navigated this situation.
