Mammogram Scheduling Reference Guide

Routine mammograms can help detect breast cancer early, when treatment may be most effective. This guide provides scheduling information for local hospital systems and independent imaging providers, including phone numbers, online scheduling options and recently verified walk-in availability.

Use the Quick Finder on the next page to identify the imaging provider that best serves your preferred area. Then turn to the listed page for specific locations and scheduling information.

Important: Is This a Routine Screening?

This guide is designed to help patients who are due for a routine screening mammogram and are not experiencing any new breast concerns or symptoms.

If you have a new lump, nipple discharge, skin or nipple changes, persistent pain in one area of the breast, or another new breast concern, please contact your PCP office before scheduling. You may need diagnostic imaging instead of a routine screening mammogram.

Before You Schedule

Contact the member-services number on your insurance card to confirm that your preferred imaging location is in network. Coverage may vary by health system, individual facility and type of mammogram. You may also want to ask whether an order or referral is required.

Appointment availability and walk-in hours may change. Please call the imaging location or use its online scheduling system to confirm current information before traveling to the facility.

Preparing and Scheduling

Before Scheduling Your Mammogram

Have the following information available when you call or schedule online:

- Your insurance card and photo ID
- The name and contact information of your PCP or ordering provider
- Your preferred location, days and times
- The approximate date and location of your last mammogram
- Information about previous breast imaging, breast surgery or breast implants
- Your imaging order, if required by the facility

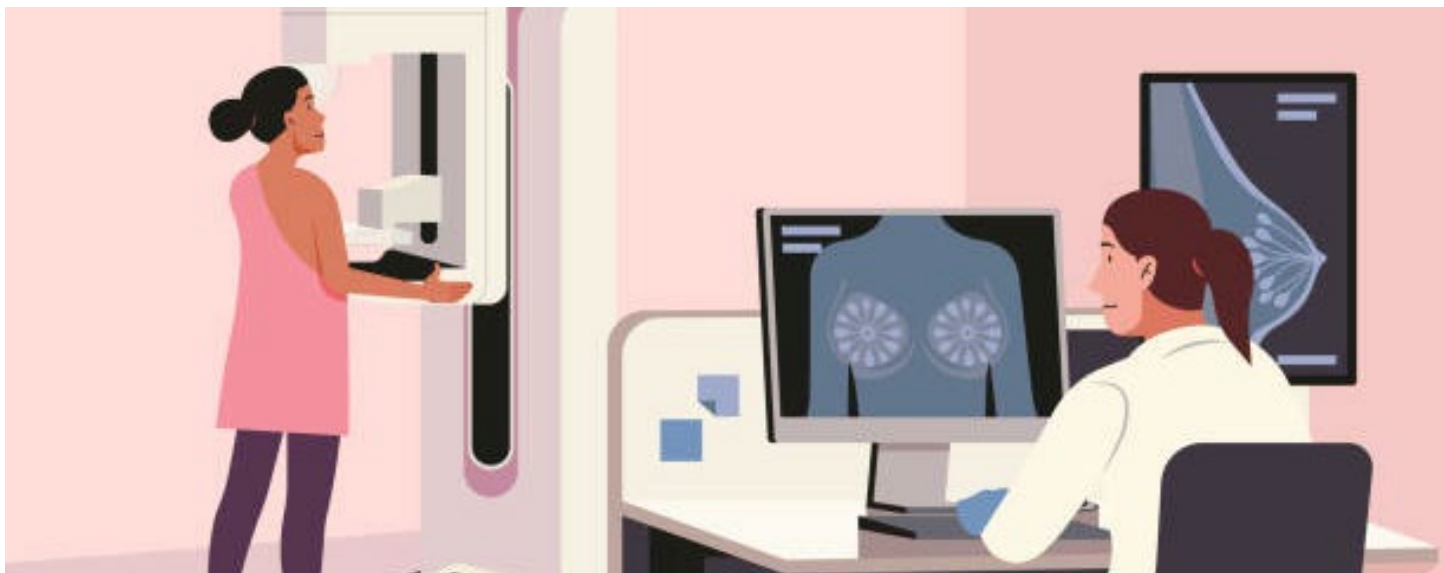

Tell the scheduling team if you:

- Have a new breast concern or symptom
- Have breast implants
- Are pregnant or breastfeeding
- Have a personal history of breast cancer
- Have had previous breast imaging performed at another facility

Tips to Prepare for Your Mammogram

- Do not apply deodorant, antiperspirant, powder, lotion, cream or perfume under your arms or on or under your breasts on the day of your exam. These products may appear on the images and interfere with your results.
- Wear a two-piece outfit so you only need to remove your top and bra.
- If possible, schedule your mammogram when your breasts are usually least tender. However, do not delay needed imaging.
- Bring your insurance card and photo ID.
- Bring prior mammogram images or tell the imaging center where they were performed so the results can be compared.
- Tell the technologist about breast implants, pregnancy, breastfeeding, previous breast surgery or any breast changes.
- Remove necklaces and other jewelry from your neck and chest area before the exam.
- Let the technologist know if you experience discomfort. They may be able to adjust your positioning.
- If you accidentally apply deodorant or another product, do not cancel your appointment. Tell the imaging staff when you arrive.

After Your Mammogram

Before leaving, ask how and when you will receive your results. Contact our office if you do not receive your results within the timeframe provided by the imaging center or if you need help understanding the next steps. One of our staff can assist in trying to determine why your results haven't made it to you yet.
