

Despite taking the shortest path to collect what I needed, I found myself getting heavier with every step I took through the maze. When I reached the centre, only my most noble efforts were rewarded.