RANN OF KUTCH (3N|4D)

Introduction

OVERVIEW

The Rann of Kutch, also known as the 'White Rann' or 'Great Rann of Kutch,' is a seasonal salt marsh situated in the Thar desert in Gujarat and partially in the Sindh province of Pakistan. As India's largest saline marshland, it stands as one of the world's most extensive salt deserts, covering approximately 7500 square km. The White Rann sprawls like a meeting point of the horizon, creating a sense of absolute nothingness—an untouched world devoid of existential elements. The vastness of the white desert evokes a feeling of reaching the end of the world, surprising visitors with its infinite expanse. From desert safaris to full moon evenings in the heart of the desert and chasing sunsets or sunrises on a remote desert island, this trip offers a surreal treat to the inner traveler.
