At the mid point of the Pac-12 schedule, only three games separate second through 10th place in the standings. Colorado has five of its final nine regular season games at home.

Colorado is averaging 75.3 points per game while shooting 45.6 percent from the field. Defensively the Buffaloes allow 68.8 points a contest while opponents shoot 43.5 percent. Oregon's 51 points on 31 percent shooting (18-58) were season lows for a CU opponent this season.

Colorado is second in the Pac-12 in 3-point defense (.307), rebounding defense (31.8 rpg) and scoring margin (+6.5) while ranking third in scoring defense, defensive rebounds (27.1 rpg) and rebounding margin (+5.5), fourth in rebounding (37.3 rpg) and fifth in scoring offense.

Sophomore guard McKinley Wright IV paces the Buffaloes at 12.8 points, 4.9 assists and 1.3 steals per game. Wright is second on the team in field goal shooting (.514) while ranking third in rebounding (4.9 rpg).

Wright had 18 points on 6 of 7 field goals in the loss to Oregon State. He has made 14 of his last 25 from the field (.560) and his single-game percentage against the Beavers (.857) was a personal best.

He missed his first collegiate game at Utah with a shoulder injury after playing the first 48 games of his career with 47 starts, but returned against Cal, scoring eight points including a clutch 3-pointer late in the contest.

Wright is fourth in the Pac-12 in assists while also ranking ninth in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.5), 14th in field goal percentage and 16th in scoring. Wright has scored in double figures in 42 of 52 career games while dishing out at least five assists in 32 contests. He has 709 points for his career (13.6 ppg), ranking 68th on CU's all-time career scoring list.

Sophomore Tyler Bey tops Colorado at 9.0 rebounds and 1.3 blocks per game while shooting 54 percent from the field. He is second on the team in scoring (12.3 ppg) and steals (20). Bey leads the Buffaloes in Pac-12 games at 13.2 points and 8.8 rebounds.

Bey had a career-night against Oregon scoring a personal and team season-best 27 points on a perfect 9 of 9 from the field while hitting 9 of 11 from the free throw line. He grabbed 10 rebounds for his seventh double-double of the season and the ninth of his career. Bey has logged double-figures in rebounds in 11 games this season and in 10 of the last 16

Bey's 9 of 9 performance from the field is the program's best since David Harrison's school-record 10 for 10 against Baylor on Jan 31, 2004.

On the Pac-12 leaderboard he is second in defensive rebounds (7.0 drpg), third in overall rebounding, seventh in blocks, 10th in offensive rebounds (2.0 orpg), 11th in field goal shooting and 22nd in scoring.

SAME BUILDING, NEW NAME

On July 1, 2018, Colorado's basketball and volleyball home facility was renamed the CU Events Center.

The arena had been known as the Coors Events Center since the 1990-91 season. The 2018-19 season marks the 40th year for Colorado's men's and women's basketball teams in the facility, which opened in the fall of 1979 as the CU Events/Conference Center.

ppg) and leads the Buffaloes in 3-point shooting (.419) and is second in rebounding (5.1 rpg) and 3-pointers made (31). Siewert had 10 points against Oregon and averaged 7.0 rebounds on the week. He led Colorado with eight rebounds against Oregon State, matching his most in a conference game.

He led Colorado in scoring for the fourth time this season, and seventh in his career, with 18 points at Cal. Siewert is fourth in the Pac-12 in 3-point percentage.

Freshman forward Evan Battey is fourth on the team in rebounding at 4.3 per game and field goal percentage (.471). Battey had 16 points against Oregon State, his best in a Pac-12 game and just two off his career high of 18 set at San Diego. He was 7 of 9 from the field, matching his personal best for field goals made, also set at USD.

Battey is second in offensive rebounds with 41, a mark that ranks 11th in the Pac-12 (2.0 orpg).

Junior guard Shane Gatling is Colorado's fourth-leading scorer at 9.7 points per game and leads the Buffaloes in 3-point field goals (33). He is third in steals (18) and assists (31). Gatling is second on the team in scoring during Pac-12 play at 11.7 per contest.

Gatling had 15 points against Oregon State for his fourth-straight game scoring in double figures. He is averaging 13.6 points over the last five games. He has multiple 3-point field goals in five of the last seven. Gatling ranks ninth in the Pac-12 in free throw shooting (.800).

Sophomore wing D'Shawn Schwartz is fifth on the team in scoring at 7.9 points per game and in rebounds at 3.6 per contest. Schwartz is shooting 44 percent during Pac-12 games and is third in the conference in free throw shooting during that span at 84.6 percent (22-26).

Freshman guard Daylen Kountz is averaging 5.9 points and is second on the team in assists with 32. Kountz had 11 points against Oregon, his fifth game in double-figures this season. He was 5 of 6 from the free throw line, recording a new career-high for free throws made.

Freshman guard Eli Parquet is averaging 8.5 minutes per game but logged 14 in a solid effort against Oregon. Parquet grabbed a career-high five rebounds while also matching a personal-best with two blocks. His seven blocks during Pac-12 play lead the Buffaloes and ranks 12th in the Pac-12 in that span.

Sophomore forward Alexander Strating has played in 17 games averaging just over eight minutes an outing. Strating had a career-high five points, hitting both of his field goal attempts against Oregon State. He played a career-most 19 minutes at Utah, logging two points and two rebounds. Strating appeared in just five games for a total of seven minutes as a redshirt freshman in 2017-18.

ABOUT THE BRUINS: UCLA is 12-10 overall and in a three-way tie for fifth place in the Pac-12 at 5-4. The Bruins are coming off a road split, winning at Washington State, 87-67, on Jan. 30 before falling to league leading Washington, 69-55 on Feb. 2. UCLA has dropped four of its last six. The Bruins sport the Pac-12's second-best scoring offense at 77.7 points per game. UCLA also ranks second in the Pac-12 in rebounds (42.2 rpg) and rebounding margin (+6.1). Defensively, UCLA gives up 74.6 points per game while allowing opponents to shoot 41 percent. The Bruins commit a league-high 15.2 turnovers an outing.

Sophomore guard Kris Wilkes leads UCLA and ranks fourth in the Pac-12 at 17.8 points per game. He also leads the Bruins in 3-pointers (45) and free throws made and attempted (55-85). Sophomore guard Jaylen Hands leads the Pac-12 in assists (6.5 apg) while averaging 11.7 points per contest. Freshman center Moses Brown averages 11.2 points while leading UCLA at 8.8 rebounds per game and shooting 64.3 percent. Brown is second in the Pac-12 in field goal accuracy while ranking fourth in rebounds. Junior guard Prince

BOULDER — Colorado's seniors made their Coors Events Center finale one to remember Sunday afternoon.

CU senior Dominique Collier scored a season-high 19 points — his most ever in the Coors Events Center — and fellow senior George King added 16 as the Buffs celebrated Senior Day with an 80-76 win over UCLA.

The win ended a three-game skid for the Buffs and improved Colorado to 16-13 overall and 8-9 in Pac-12 play while the Bruins dropped to 19-10, 10-7. Paired with CU's victory at UCLA in January, the win also gave Colorado its first-ever two-game season sweep of the Bruins.

Sophomore Lucas Siewert added 15 points and five rebounds, McKinley Wright IV had 10 points and eight assists, and Namon Wright had 11 points to give the Buffs five players in double figures. Colorado scored 18 points off 11 UCLA turnovers and shot 41 percent from the floor (24-for-58), including 14-of-30 3-point tries. Collier hit five of those treys.

Aaron Holiday led UCLA with 21 points.

"Today's a special day," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "We have four really special seniors that we wanted to send out on the right note, on a high note, and we did that."

HOW IT HAPPENED: "It was really emotional," Collier said. "Coming in this morning for pregame, and through warmups, I didn't think I'd get really emotional. But when my family stood around me and I walked out there, I got real emotional. That's when it really hit me that it's the last time playing in this building. I just wanted to come out here and play well and come out with a victory."

The Buffs did exactly that, thanks to a huge boost from Collier. Making his first start in Pac-12 play this season, Collier had three straight 3-pointers in a late first-half surge to help Colorado to a 45-36 halftime edge, then added five straight CU points in a decisive 17-1 Colorado run in the second half after UCLA had rallied to take the lead.

King, meanwhile, also had five points in deciding run, including a 3-pointer at the end, along with a huge block on a Kris Wilkes drive to the basket that resulted in a McKinley Wright layup on the other end.

Thanks to a barrage of threes to end the first half — seven of CU's final eight buckets of the half were 3-pointers — CU led by nine at intermission, 45-36.

But after taking a 50-40 lead four minutes into the second half, the Buffs went cold and the Bruins got hot. UCLA put together a 12-2 run to tie the game at 52-52, then finally took the lead, 56-54, with 8:42 to play. Colorado went six minutes without a field goal, missing seven straight attempts in the stretch.

Colorado, though, had another run in hand. Freshman Lazar Nikolic ended the CU drought with a 3-pointer from the corner, the beginning of the 17-1 run that put the Buffs back in control for good.

Soon after Nikolic's 3-pointer, Collier added a pair of free throws and a long trey before King's block led to Wright's layup. King then added two more free throws, Wright connected on a drive down the lane and King buried a 3-pointer to give CU a 71-57 lead with 4:47 remaining.

"We made the plays, both offensively and defensively, down the stretch," Boyle said. "Players make plays. That's the bottom line. In tight games, when it is anybody's game, our guys made the plays tonight."

UCLA did manage to close the gap back down to single digits with some late 3-pointers, pulling to within four in the final minute. But a King steal and two free throws with 20 seconds remaining bumped the cushion back to seven to seal the win.

Murry Bartow is the interim head coach at UCLA with a record of 5-4 since taking the helm at the beginning of the Pac-12 schedule. Bartow is in his 20th overall season as a collegiate head coach with a record of 333-268.

THE SERIES: This will be the 16th meeting between Colorado and UCLA with the Bruins holding an 11-4 series lead. The Buffaloes have won the last two, claiming its first season-sweep of the Bruins in 2017-18. Colorado claimed its first-ever win over UCLA in Los Angeles with a 68-59 decision on Jan. 13, 2018, and then took an 80-76 win on Senior Day (Feb. 25). UCLA is 8-1 all-time against Colorado in Los Angeles.

Tad Boyle is 3-7 against UCLA as a head coach. Murry Bartow has never faced Colorado as a head coach.

ROAD HEAVY BUFFS: Colorado is tied for the second-fewest home games (10) among schools in the Power 5, Big East or American Athletic Conferences. Stanford currently holds the top spot at nine. The Buffaloes are one of eight that have only 10 home games, including other notables Oregon State, North Carolina and Alabama.

Colorado's nine true road games to date are the most in that same grouping, joining Stanford, Indiana and Temple.

Colorado and Stanford played four true road games during the nonconference schedule in 2018-19, the most among schools from the Power 5 and Big East Conferences.

Earlier in the season the Buffaloes played a stretch of nine of 11 overall away from home which included five of their first seven Pac-12 games.

The two home contests in an 11-game span were the fewest for the Buffaloes since December 1974-January 1975 when they also played seven straight and nine of 10 outside of Boulder. The Buffaloes were 4-7 in that 11-game stretch, 3-6 in the games away from the CU Events Center.

Colorado's win at California was its first Pac-12 road win since claiming its first ever win at UCLA on Jan. 13, 2018, ironically by the same score of 68-59. That stopped an eight-game Pac-12 road skid and was also Colorado's first Pac-12 road win at California (1-5).

The road split put Colorado's road record at 3-6 this season. The Buffaloes won only one road game in 11 tries a year ago.

NAMON WRIGHT OUT: Senior guard Namon Wright's playing career at Colorado has officially come to an end. After a nagging foot injury had sidelined him for all but five minutes since the second game of the Pac-12 season, Wright has elected to have season-ending surgery.

Wright averaged 7.0 points and 2.9 rebounds in 14 games as a senior. He shot 45 percent from the floor and 84 percent from the 3-point line. His final season was highlighted by a CU-personal best 25 points in the season opener against Drake.

At Colorado, Wright played in 44 games averaging 8.8 points and 3.3 rebounds. Combined with his two seasons at Missouri, Wright played in 105 games with 890 points (8.5 ppg) and 121 3-point field goals.

HISTORIC COMEBACK: Colorado fought back from a 17-point first half deficit to defeat New Mexico, 78-75, on Dec. 11 in Albuquerque. The comeback is the third largest in a true road game since 1947 when those records became available. Overall it tied for the seventh largest comeback, regardless of location, in that same time frame.

The Buffaloes trailed by 23 in the first half at Kansas State on Feb. 26, 1955 before claiming a 63-60 win. Colorado was down by 20 at Texas A&M late in the first half on Jan. 28, 1998, before coming back for a 68-67 win.

RARE TRIO-DOUBLE: Colorado had three players record double-doubles in the win over Colorado State.
Tyler Bey, 23 points (career high), 10 rebounds
Lucas Siewert, 16 points, 10 rebounds (tied career high)
McKinley Wright IV, 18 points, 11 assists (tied career high)

It was the first time Colorado had three players with double-doubles in the same game since Feb. 22, 2003, an 89-68 home win over Missouri.
David Harrison, 15 points, 11 rebounds
Stephane Pelle, 18 points, 18 rebounds
Michel Morandais, 17 points, 10 assists

OFFENSE SOARS AT AIR FORCE: Colorado's 93 points at Air Force was its most in a true road game since scoring 98 in a triple-overtime win at USC on Jan. 29, 2015. It was the most in regulation since a 104-95 loss at Texas on Feb. 9, 2002. The Buffaloes made 14 3-point field goals at Air Force (29 attempts), tying for the fifth-most in a single game in team history and matching their best-ever total on the road. Colorado also had 14 at New Mexico on March 15, 1995, in the Postseason NIT.

Wins over Air Force and Portland marked the first time the Buffaloes have scored 90 or more points in back-to-back games since Jan. 24 & 29, 2015 at home vs. Washington State (90-58) and at USC (98-94, 3OT). One season earlier was the last time the Buffaloes achieved that feat in a pair of regulation games: Nov. 16 & 18, 2013, vs. Jackson State (94-70) and Arkansas State (93-70).

NONCONFERENCE NUMBERS: Colorado finished the nonconference season at 9-3 and is 85-29 (.746) in those games under head coach Tad Boyle including a mark of 38-12 (.760) over the past four seasons.

Colorado's best nonconference record under Boyle is 11-2, achieved twice. First in 2013-14 and then again in 2015-16. Both seasons ended with NCAA Tournament berths. Boyle also had an 11-win nonconference schedule in 2010-11, his first year at Colorado, as the Buffaloes were 11-4 before beginning their final season in the Big 12 Conference.

WRIGHT ALREADY MOVING UP IN CAREER ASSISTS: Sophomore McKinley Wright IV had 175 assists in 32 games as a freshman which not only set Colorado's freshman record for assists in a season but was the second-best overall season mark in team history since the category became an official statistic in 1974-75.

He is currently tied for 15th in career assists, needing 27 to become the 13th player in team history to reach 300.

Colorado Career Assists:

Rk.	Player	Years	Assists
13.	Michel Morandais	2000-04	294
14.	Chauncey Billups	1995-97	282
15.	McKinley Wright IV	2017-present	273
	Jaquay Walls	1998-00	273

Wright's 5.5 assists per game in 2017-18 ranked as the seventh-best single-season average in team history. His current pace, at 5.3 per game, would put him atop list for career average at Colorado. Billy Law currently holds that mark at 5.3 per game from 1990-92.

Wright has four double-figure assists games each resulting in points-assists double-doubles. His three points-assists double-doubles last year tied the school single-season record previously set by Jay Humphries (1982-83 and '83-84) and Toney Ellis (1976-77). Humphries holds the career mark in that category with six.

Wright's four games with 10-plus assists are the fifth most in team history. Humphries holds the record with seven from 1980-84.

Games With Double-Digit Assists:

1. Jay Humphries (1980-84)	7
2. Mike Reid (1982-86)	6
Jose Winston (1998-01)	6
4. Chauncey Billups (1995-97)	5
5. McKinley Wright IV (2017-pre)	4

RIGHT AT HOME: Colorado has won 41 of its last 50 and 51 of 61in the friendly confines of the CU Events Center. In the Tad Boyle era, Colorado is a sparkling 121-24 at the CU Events Center (.834). The Buffaloes are 434-175 (.713) all-time at the CEC. Colorado has won at least 10 games at home each of the last nine seasons.

FOR OPENERS: Colorado improved to 81-35 (.698) in all-time season openers, regardless of location. The Buffaloes are 7-2 under Boyle and 34-5 in overall season openers since the 1980-81 season. The Buffaloes are 92-24 all-time in home openers and have won their last 11, making Boyle a perfect 9-0 in home openers. The Buffaloes have won 16 of their last 17.

The Buffaloes' 100 points were their most in a season-opening game since a 113-89 win over Cal State Northridge on Nov. 23, 1990. It was Colorado's most points in regulation since defeating Oregon, 100-91, on Jan. 5, 2014. The Buffaloes scored 112 last season in a double-overtime win over South Dakota State.

Colorado shot 58.9 percent from the floor (33 for 56), its best mark since hitting 59.2 (29 for 49) against Arizona State on March 1, 2015.

LATE START? NOT REALLY: While the majority of college basketball tipped off on Nov. 6, Colorado waited a full week to begin its season on Nov. 13. In fact, the Buffaloes were the last NCAA Division I team to officially tip off their season. There was no rhyme or reason to the later opening date, other than that's the way the Buffaloes' opponents and their open dates fell. Furthermore, Colorado plays three of its games between Dec. 22-25, at the Diamond Head Classic in Honolulu, when much of the country has wrapped up their nonconference schedule the previous week.

But is it really unique to start on that late of a calendar date? Not really. It fact, Colorado started one day later, Nov. 14, just four years ago, beginning with a 65-48 home win over Drexel to tip off the 2014-15 campaign. That season, the Buffaloes also played in the Diamond Head Tournament over the Christmas holiday.

AGAINST RANKED TEAMS: Colorado was 2-4 against ranked opponents last season highlighted by a sweep of No. 4 (AP)/6 (Coaches) Arizona State and No. 14/16 Arizona, January 4 & 6.

Colorado claimed wins over ranked teams in back-to-back outings for the first time since defeating #9 Missouri in Boulder and No. 21 Kansas State in Manhattan Jan 8 & 12, 2011. It's the first time in program history Colorado has defeated AP Top 15 teams in back-to-back games

Colorado's thrilling 90-81 overtime win Arizona State snapped a three-game skid and was Colorado's highest AP ranked win since defeating No. 3 Texas, 93-80, in Boulder on Feb. 4, 2003.

Colorado's 17 wins over ranked opponents in Boyle's eight seasons is by far the best streak in team history. In fact Boyle coached teams, with a record of 17-32, have accounted for 28 percent of wins over ranked opponents (61) since 1949-50.

WALTON TO MISS 2018-19: Redshirt sophomore forward/center Dallas Walton will miss the 2018-19 season after suffering a torn ACL in his right knee in October, during a preseason practice session.

Walton averaged 5.7 points, 3.4 rebounds and 1.1 blocks in just under 19 minutes per game as a freshman in 2017-18. He led Colorado with 34 blocked shots, ranking 10th in the Pac-12 Conference. All but seven of his blocks came during conference play, ranking sixth in the league during that span (1.4 bpg).

Walton took a redshirt year in 2016-17 in part to continue his rehabilitation and strength training after experiencing two ACL tears in his left knee in a 10-month span during his junior year of high school

COLORADO, ASU TO MEET IN 2019 PAC-12 CHINA GAME: Colorado will play a nonconference game against Arizona State in China, in November 2019.

The Buffaloes and Sun Devils will meet in the fifth edition of the Pac-12 China Game presented by Alibaba Group. Longtime Pac-12 partner Federation of University Sports of China (FUSC), which operates under China's Ministry of Education, will serve as the co-host for the game.

The matchup between Colorado and Arizona State, tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 9 and for national broadcast in both the U.S. and China, will not count as a conference contest. The teams are slated to meet only once during the 2019-20 Pac-12 regular season as part of the league's annual 18-game rotation model.

This will be the first time the Pac-12 China game has featured two conference teams. The previous editions, including this year's California-Yale contest, has had one Pac-12 team and one from another NCAA Division I conference.

The Pac-12 China Game is the flagship event of Pac-12 Global, designed to grow the global popularity of Pac-12 athletic programs and universities, fostering cultural exchange through sport, and creating unique educational experiences for Pac-12 student-athletes.

This will be the first intercollegiate regular season event for a Colorado Athletics program in China, or the Eastern Hemisphere for that matter. The Buffaloes have played in a handful of regular season events outside the United States. Both basketball programs have played in Puerto Rico; the men in 1998-99 and the women in 2005-06. Colorado's men's and women's golf teams have both competed Mexico and Puerto Rico, and the women will play a tournament in the Dominican Republic in March 2019.

Many Colorado student-athletes have taken advantage of out-of-season foreign tours or World University Games competitions over the last couple of decades. Nine Buffaloes that would be on next year's roster in China were part of the team's preseason foreign tour to Italy in August 2017.

BUFFS SEVENTH IN PRESEASON POLL: Colorado was picked to finish seventh in the annual Pac-12 Conference Preseason Media Poll.

The Buffaloes had 161 points, just behind Arizona State at 165. Oregon was picked to win the 2018-19 Pac-12 title with 288 points and 16 of 25 first place votes. UCLA was second (264) with six first place votes, Washington was third (249) with two first place votes. Arizona picked up the remaining first place vote and was picked fourth overall (205), just two votes ahead of USC.

Colorado returns nine letterwinners to a team that finished 17-15 and tied Arizona State for eighth place in the final 2017-18 Pac-12 standings at 8-10.

- Ninth career double-double and seventh this season with a career and team season-high 27 points and 10 rebounds vs. Oregon.

- 9 of 9 from the field, the program's best single-game without a miss since David Harrison was 10 of 10 against Baylor on Jan. 31, 2004.

- Had 14 rebounds at Cal, his most in a Pac-12 game. Double figures in rebounds in 10 of his last 16.

- 9 for 9 from the FT line vs. CSU, a personal best and team's best since Jan. 2017.

- Leads Colorado in field goal percentage (.520), rebounds (8.9 rpg) and blocks (1.4 bpg).

- On the Pac-12 leaderboard he is second in defensive rebounds (7.0 drpg), third in overall rebounding, seventh in blocks, 10th in offensive rebounds (2.0 orpg), 11th in field goal shooting and 22nd in scoring.

- Seven double-doubles ties for third in the Pac-12.

Career:

- Led team in field goal percentage and was second on the team in rebounding at 5.1 a game as a freshman.

- Averaged 7.0 points and 5.3 rebounds during Pac-12 play while shooting 54 percent from the field. He had a team-high 16 steals with 18 blocks against 19 turnovers during that span.

- First career double-double with 14 points and a personal-best 11 rebounds in the home loss to Washington.

- Ranked 13th in blocks and 19th in rebounding in the Pac-12 during conference games.

- 11th fastest CU freshman to reach 100 rebounds, doing so in his 21st game (at Arizona). First freshman to reach 100 in a season since 2012-13 (Josh Scott, Xavier Johnson).

- Voted by his teammates as the team's Best Defender.

- Rated as the 33rd best small forward in the nation by Scout and fourth in the state of California. Rivals rated him as a four-star prospect and 123rd best overall player. ESPN ranked him as the 21st best player overall from the state of California. 247Sports listed him as the 13th best player in the state of California and 129th overall.

- Holds the most points and rebounds in a season at Middlebrooks.

- Played AAU basketball with the Las Vegas Knicks.

- A Las Vegas native, Bey averaged 17 points, 7.3 rebounds and 1.2 assists as a junior at Las Vegas High in 2014-15 before enrolling at Middlebrooks Academy.

- An open option major at Colorado.

- He selected Colorado from a long list of suitors that included UNLV, San Diego State, Arizona State, Utah and Cal. Chose Colorado for the opportunity to play for coach Tad Boyle.

- He lists the biggest moment of his prep career scoring as scoring 68 points in a game.

- His favorite professional team is the Cleveland Cavaliers while his favorite professional athlete is Von Miller of the Denver Broncos.

#2 Daylen Kountz, 6-4, 185, Fr., G, Denver, Colo. (East)

Season:

- Scored 11 points vs. Oregon, his fifth double-figure scoring game.

- Career-high four rebounds vs. Oregon State.

- Back-to-back games with four assists, on the Bay Area trip matching his personal best.

- Second on the team in assists (32).

- First career start vs. Washington State, finishing with eight points, two rebounds and two assists.

- Made his collegiate debut with nine points and four assists vs. Drake.

Career:

- A 2018 graduate of Denver East High School.

- Averaged 24.4 points, 4.9 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 2.2 steals in his prep career.

- Averaged 23.2 points, 4.7 rebounds, 3.8 assists and 2.5 steals as a senior.

- Led Colorado's largest classification in scoring as senior, helping the Angels to a 21-4 record and a spot in the Class 5A Sweet 16.

- All-Colorado selection by the Denver Post and the USA Today's Colorado State Player of the Year. Named the 2018 Denver Public Schools Player of the Year.

- A two-time all-state selection and earned honorable mention as a sophomore.

- As a junior, helped Denver East to an 18-8 record and a spot in the Class 5A Great 8.

-Interested in sports broadcasting at Colorado.

- Both parents (Daryl Kountz & Tameka Robinson Kountz) played college basketball, his father at Penn Valley College and his mother at Brown Mackie College.

- Aspires to be a professional basketball player and chose Colorado over Colorado State, Nebraska, Wichita State and Wyoming as it's "the best fit for me and close to home."

- Lists the biggest moment of his prep career as scoring 42 points against George Washington, one year after transferring from there.

#21 Evan Battey, 6-8, 264, Fr., F, View Park, Calif. (Villa Park)

Season:
- Pac-12 high 16 points vs. Oregon State hitting 7 of 9 from the field.

- His 7 field goals matched a personl best (USD).

- Second on the team with 41 offensive rebounds a mark that ranks 11th on the Pac-12 charts (2.0 orpg).

- Career-high 14 rebounds vs. Washington State, tied for the second-most on the team this season.

- Career-high and team-best 18 points at San Diego.

Career:
- Sat out the 2017-18 season as an NCAA-mandated academic redshirt (did not meet the initial eligibility requirement of graduating from high school within four years).

- Full participant in team activities, although he suffered a stroke in December 2017 which kept him from working out on the court in the spring.

- Co-winner, along with George King, of the inaugural Tebo Family P.A.S.S. Award, recognizing the virtues of Perseverance, Attitude, Selflessness and Success.

- One of two winners of the 2018 Clancy A. Herbst, Jr., Student-Athlete Achievement Award, given to those who overcome personal, academic and/or emotional challenges or difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically.

- Played with USA East Coast for a four-game tour of Italy in Aug. 2018.

- A 2017 graduate of Villa Park High School in the Los Angeles area.

- An All-Orange County and All-Crestview League selection as a junior in 2015-16, averaging 24 points a game for the Spartans including a 44-point effort, second-best in a single game in school history.

- ESPN had him rated as the No. 17 post player in the nation and 11th best player overall in the state of California.

- Did not play basketball in 2016-17 as the California high school governing body determined he had exhausted his eight semesters of eligibility. He repeated the ninth grade and despite not playing in one of those years, the CIF had determined his eligibility clock had run out.

- Remained with the Villa Park team for the 2016-17 season, serving as a player-coach for the team's big men and junior varsity. He was part of the Spartans' team that placed second at the CIF Division III state championships.

- Recognized by the Orange County Athletic Directors Association with its 2017 Athlete of Character Award.

- Played his freshman and sophomore seasons at the Los Angeles Center for Enriched Studies, earning All-Western League honors both years.

- Averaged 11 points and 11 rebounds as a freshman and 20 points and 14 rebounds as a sophomore, helping the Unicorns to consecutive Division IV titles.

- Played AAU ball with the Dream Vision club program out of Los Angeles.

- Looking to study journalism and also has an interest in political science and history.

- His grandfather, Earl Battey, was a four-time Major League Baseball All-Star and three-time Gold Glove winner at catcher for the Minnesota Twins during his 13-year career where he also played for the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators.

- Also related to Ed Sanders, heavyweight boxer who won a Gold Medal at the 1952 Helsinki Olympics.

#23 Lucas Siewert, 6-10, 230, Jr. F, Joinville, Santa Catarina, Brazil (Cathedral [L.A. Calif.])

Season:

- Led Colorado in scoring for the fourth time this season with 18 points at Cal. Scored his 500th career point during the game.

- Career-most 15 field goal attempts at Stanford.

- Led Colorado in scoring at the Diamond Head Classic at 14.7 ppg.

- First two double-doubles in back-to-back games vs. Portland and CSU.

- Has scored in double-figures in 18 of his last 26 games dating back to last year (12.0 ppg during that span). He had only seven double-figure games in his first 57 appearances (3.9 ppg during that span).

- Fourth in the Pac-12 in 3-point shooting while ranking 27th in scoring.

Career:

- Led the Buffaloes and ranked second in the Pac-12 Conference in 3-point shooting at 44.8 percent (30-67) as a sophomore.

- Improved his 3-point accuracy to 47.4 percent in conference play (18-38), ranking third among league players in that span.

- Second on the team in overall shooting at 48.5 percent while ranking third in 3-pointers made (30) and sixth in scoring.

- Had 10 double-figure scoring games on the season with eight of them coming in the final 11 contests of the year. Second on the team in scoring during that span at 11.6 points per game.

- Averaged 14 points and shot 50 percent (8-16) at the Pac-12 Tournament.

- Averaged 2.7 points and 2.1 rebounds in just under 12 minutes per game as a first-year Buffalo.

- Started to pick up steam the second half of the season, improving his season numbers to 5.1 points and 3.0 rebounds over the final 11 games of the regular season.

- Scored 56 of his season's 86 points during Pac-12 games, shooting 46 percent from 3-point range during that span (11 of 24).

- Played three full three seasons, and part of a fourth, at Cathedral High School where he averaged 23 points, 8 rebounds and nearly two assists per game as a senior for the Phantoms who reached the CIF-Southern Section Division 3AA quarterfinals.

- Siewert led the Del Rey League in rebounding and ranked second in scoring while earning All-CIF Division 3AA First Team honors.

- Helped Cathedral to a league championship in 2014.

- A three-time All-Del Rey League pick. He is the school's all-time leading scorer, eclipsing 1,000 total points during his career.

- Represented Brazil at the 2014 U18 Americas Championships where he averaged 9.4 points and 3.4 rebounds over five games. He also played for Brazil at the 2014 Nike International Junior Tournament in Milan.

- An open option major. He earned a Pre Calculus Scholar Award as a senior.

- Grew up in Brazil but moved to Los Angeles for his four years of high school.

- He also enjoys soccer and would like to pursue a professional career in basketball and later in business.

BOULDER — Colorado coach Tad Boyle had two directives for his Buffaloes in their season opener Tuesday night against Drake: play hard and play with confidence.

The Buffs did both, carving out a 100-71 win over the Bulldogs by utilizing hot shooting, balanced scoring and some solid defense. The 100 points was the most by CU in a season opener since a 113-89 win over Cal State-Northridge in 1990.

CU's effort showed up in the numbers: four players in double-figure scoring, 58.9 percent shooting (33-for-56) from the floor, a 44-29 rebounding edge, just 12 turnovers and 15 assists.

As for the confidence, "That's something you can't teach, you can't coach, but you want your players to have a little bit of swagger in terms of how they feel about themselves when they step on the floor," Boyle said. "You have to have that to be successful in college. You don't want it to be too much, but you want them to believe in what they've worked on over the summer and certainly through the fall. Overall I was pleased with the first game."

Senior Namon Wright led the Buffs, coming off the bench to finish with 25 points — his best effort as a Buff — along with eight rebounds. Sophomore McKinley Wright IV added 17 points and six assists, junior Shane Gatling scored 12 points and junior Lucas Siewert chipped in 11. Tyler Bey just missed a double-double, finishing with a career-high 14 rebounds and nine points.

Nick Norton led Drake with 18 points.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Bulldogs hit the Buffs early from the 3-point line with three treys in the first six minute and the first half featured eight lead changes before Colorado seized control with a 15-2 run over the last four minutes to take a 45-34 lead at the half.

"Early we got caught asleep a little bit," McKinley Wright said. "They hit two wide-open ones out the gate and we kind of talked about it in the timeout. We did a good job the rest of the way of running them off the 3-point line and making them go in the lane for tough twos."

Namon Wright, who was 5-for-8 from 3-point range, sparked the 15-2 run with seven points, including a 3-pointer. McKinley Wright added a pair of assists and four points in the surge, including a driving layup at the buzzer.

The Buffs then put the game away early in the second half. CU scored the first seven points of the half to bump its cushion to 52-35, and after a Drake timeout, the Buffs quickly bumped the edge into the 20s. Namon Wright had six points in the early surge and the Bulldogs never came closer than 17 again, with CU's big lead hitting 34.

"Having a good point guard, having good teammates, just being confident in shooting the ball when I'm open and just playing defense," Wright said of his game. "A few of the baskets I got from playing defense — getting in the lane or we were running in transition. We were just playing as a team and we were running when we got stops."

After hitting seven 3-pointers in the first half, the Bulldogs managed just four more after intermission.

"Overall we started contesting shots better in the second half," Boyle said. "You can't let a good 3-point shooting team get rhythm and get hot because then you've got your hands full. The 3-point line is a great equalizer in college basketball. We've got to understand that. There's some room for improvement there."

But Boyle also liked the killer instinct his team showed early in the second half, something that wasn't always present last season.

"That's something we lacked a lot last year," McKinley Wright said. "We'd have halftime leads and come out and let the team get right back in the game. This year, our focus is kind of put teams away when we have them down. I think we showed that tonight now we have to keep them going."

BOULDER — Three nights after a runaway win in the season opener, Tad Boyle's Colorado Buffaloes found themselves in a nail-biter Friday night against visiting Omaha.

But with their backs to the wall, the Buffs came up with big plays down the stretch to wrap up a 79-75 win at the CU Events Center to improve to 2-0 while Omaha fell to 1-3.

"They found a way to win, they found a way to buck up and gets stops when they needed to get stops," Boyle said.

No Colorado play was bigger than Tyler Bey's steal, layup and free throw with 29.9 seconds remaining that gave CU a 77-72 lead. Omaha answered with a Zach Jackson 3-pointer to close the gap to two with 17 seconds to go, but Colorado held on down the stretch, with McKinley Wright IV clinching the victory with two free throws with 7.4 second on the clock.

CU finished with five players in double-figure scoring, led by Bey and Lucas Siewert with 16 apiece. D'Shawn Schwartz added a career-high 15 points to go with a career-best seven rebounds, McKinley Wright added 13 points and Namon Wright chipped in 11.

The Buffs hurt themselves with 16 turnovers, which Omaha converted into 19 points. But the Buffs had a 36-27 edge on the boards and hit 19 of 23 free throw attempts while Omaha was 8-for-12 from the line.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After taking a 33-29 lead at intermission, Colorado threatened to take control with a 5-0 burst to open the second half. But the Mavericks responded with a 20-10 run to take a 59-58 lead, setting the stage for a see-saw final seven minutes in a game that featured 17 lead changes and 24 ties.

Colorado finally took the lead for good with 2:25 remaining when Siewert followed a Deleon Brown miss to give CU a 72-70 lead. But the Mavericks, who shot 53 percent from the field in the second half — including 6-for-10 from 3-point range — kept it close right down to the end.

"They came in and brought it to us," McKinley Wright said. "They gave us their best effort. We weren't great from the start but we found a way to dig it out. A win is a win. We'll take it."

Wright, playing against long-time friend and high school teammate JT Gibson, was not at his best. He had an uncharacteristic five turnovers — the Buffs finished with 16 — and was just 3-for-7 from the field.

But even on an "off" night, Wright still had some game-deciding moments. He hit a huge bucket with 1:51 to go that gave the Buffs a 74-70 lead, then added his two clinching free throws in the final seconds.

Siewert, who had 11 points on 4-for-4 shooting in CU's 100-71 win over Drake, was 6-for-10 from the floor against the Mavericks, including 4-for-6 from 3-point range for his 16 points. Along with his putback that gave Colorado the lead for good in the final minutes, the CU junior had back-to-back 3-pointers early in the second half that helped end an 8-0 Mavericks run.

The Buffs seemed out of synch for much of the first half, particularly on the offensive end. Colorado had four turnovers in the first five minutes, which the Mavericks gladly converted into eight points en route to building an 11-6 lead.

CU finally found some offensive rhythm and put together a 7-0 run to take the lead, capped by a Siewert 3-pointer, only to hit another lull and allow the Mavs to momentarily regain a 22-21 edge with 7:42 to go in the half.

But two minutes later, the Buffs finally took the lead again when a Namon Wright basket gave CU a 26-24 lead. Bey added two baskets in the final two minutes — one fueled by a Brown steal and another off a nice pass down the lane from McKinley Wright — to give the Buffs a 33-29 edge at the half.

SAN DIEGO — Freshman Evan Battey scored a career-high 18 points and the Colorado Buffaloes had their chances to collect an important road win Tuesday night, but the Buffs fell short in the final minutes, dropping a 70-64 decision to San Diego.

The Buffs led at several junctures of the game, including 61-60 with just 1:56 to go after a pair of free throws from McKinley Wright IV.

But Colorado couldn't get a stop on the other end and the Toreros scored six straight points to regain control. A Shane Gatling 3-pointer with 22 seconds left pulled Colorado back to within two, 66-64, but USD hit four free throws in the final 20 seconds to put the game away.

Wright added 14 points to go with Battey's 18, but they were the only Colorado players in double figures. The Buffs hurt themselves by hitting just nine of their 15 free throw attempts, with two misses on the front end of one-and-one situations proving costly in the final four minutes. USD, meanwhile, hit 18 of 21 free throw tries, including eight straight in the final minute.

The biggest difference came in second-chance points. The Toreros outrebounded Colorado 41-35, including a 15-10 edge on the offensive boards. San Diego converted those offensive rebounds into 18 points.

CU was also slowed all night by foul trouble, with Tyler Bey missing most of the first half with two fouls and fouling out with his fifth in the final minute.

"We lost this game in two areas," head coach Tad Boyle said. "One I have to get better at as a coach, and that's our execution offensively. We have to execute better than we executed down the stretch. The area the players have to get better in is second shots. They shoot 36 percent, we shoot 42 percent, but they get 15 offensive rebounds. … It was a game we could have won, I feel like we should have won, and our players feel like that. But the bottom line is we didn't win and we all have to take responsibility for that."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by five at intermission, 35-30, but put together a 12-0 run early in the second half to build a 45-37 lead. Battey had five points in the surge and Lucas Siewert added a 3-pointer.

But the Toreros slowly chipped away at the cushion by answering Colorado's run with a 17-6 surge that gave USD a 60-56 edge with just under five minutes to play. The run included a pair of San Diego buckets off of offensive rebounds, as well as a five-point possession.

Colorado answered with a 5-0 burst to take a 61-60 lead, with Wright scoring all five points. USD regained the edge on an Isaiah Pineiro dunk with 1:31 to go, and the Buffs then turned it over on their ensuing possession. Bey then fouled Pineiro — his fifth — with 58 seconds remaining and Pineiro hit two free throws to give USD a three-point lead.

Colorado then missed a pair of shots on its next possession and the Toreros put the game away at the free throw line in the final 30 seconds.

The Buffs were hampered by foul trouble for much of the first half, with starters Bey and D'Shawn Schwartz each playing just seven minutes before being tagged with their second fouls.

The Buffs managed to stay in the game thanks to nine first-half points from Battey, including a pair of 3-pointers. But Battey also drew his second foul with just under four minutes to play, and Lucas Siewert also had two fouls by the end of the half.

Colorado jumped out to a 6-0 lead, but the Toreros quickly came back and turned it into a see-saw game that saw seven ties and seven lead changes in the first half. With Battey, Bey and Schwartz on the bench with two fouls for Colorado, the Toreros scored the last five points of the half in the final minute to take a 35-30 lead at intermission.

USAFA, Colo. – On an afternoon when Colorado's leading scorer was held in check in the points column and its leading rebounder was forced to exit early with an injury, the Buffaloes went to their "go-to-player" – the open man.

Colorado shot nearly 60 percent from the field and four players scored in double figures as the Buffaloes sprinted to a 93-56 win over Air Force Saturday at Clune Arena.

Junior forward Lucas Siewert tied a career-high with 17 points to lead four double-digit scorers as Colorado emphatically put an end to a six-game losing streak in true road contests that dated back to last season.

Colorado drilled a season-high 14 3-pointers, hitting 48 percent beyond the arc. Namon Wright had 13 points while D'Shawn Schwartz and Daylen Kountz each had 11.

Leading scorer McKinley Wright IV was held to five points, but dished out five assists and grabbed six rebounds. Tyler Bey played only seven minutes after taking a rough fall on his right shoulder on an alley oop attempt in the first half and did not return.

Step up Siewert, and the rest of the Buffaloes whose depth took center stage.

"The go-to-guy on this team is the open man," Colorado head coach Tad Boyle said. "Some nights we're going to need McKinley to score for us and other nights he needs to distribute for us. He rebounded the ball well, especially when Tyler went out."

Siewert was a perfect 6 of 6 from the field, including three from 3-point range. He also matched his personal best with eight rebounds.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Boyle implored his team to put the foot down on the gas pedal, and keep it there. Minus a brief lapse late in the first half, the Buffaloes did just that.

Colorado came out firing from long range, making five of its first six 3-point attempts to build an early 17-4 lead in the first six minutes. Siewert made two of those, with another coming from Bey, the first of his career.

Colorado's first seven field goals were all 3-pointers. Air Force missed 13 of its first 16 shots, which allowed the Buffs to run. When they did, they moved the ball fast, and well, which led to open looks.

After the early success outside, the Buffaloes began to attack the paint. Evan Battey scored a pair of baskets on post moves and Kountz had a driving layup to give Colorado a 33-18 advantage.

The Falcons made a run toward the end of the first half, after the Buffs had cooled off. Air Force used an 8-0 run to trim CU's lead to seven at 33-26 with 1:31 left in the half.

McKinley Wright IV ended that run with a driving layup with just under a minute left. He finished off the half with a free throw and Colorado's was back up to double digits, 36-26.

Once the second half started, Colorado put down the gas pedal, and left it on for good. The Buffaloes opened on an 18-3 run and doing so at an incredibly efficient pace. Colorado missed its first field goal attempt of the period, but made its next 12 before its next miss.

Schwartz, who played limited minutes early with two quick fouls, began the run with five straight points. From there the floodgates opened. Colorado scored on six of its next seven possessions, culminating with a Siewert steal and coast-to-coast dunk that gave Colorado its largest lead of the game at 55-29.

Gatling hit a pair of 3-pointers, his second capping off Colorado's string of 12-straight made field goals and gave the Buffaloes a 64-38 advantage with 10:19 remaining in the game. Colorado ended up shooting 73.3 percent in the second half (22-30) alone and totaled 18 assists on 34 baskets overall.

BOULDER — Colorado coach Tad Boyle is a firm believer that good defense leads to a productive offense.

The Buffs (4-1) followed that recipe Wednesday night, breaking open a tight game in the second half to run away with a 93-69 win over Portland (5-4) at the CU Events Center. Junior Lucas Siewert scored 18 points and grabbed 10 rebounds for his first career double-double and McKinley Wright IV added 22 points and seven rebounds for the Buffs.

The Buffs finished with five players in double figures, with Evan Battey (10 points, five rebounds), Tyler Bey (12 points, six rebounds) and Shane Gatling (11 points) joining Siewert and Wright. It was Wright's seventh career 20-point game, and the third time in five games thus far that the Buffs have surpassed the 90-point mark.

Josh McSwiggan led Portland with 22 points.

Siewert scored 15 of his 18 points in the first half to keep the Buffs in what was a close game for the first 20 minutes. Wright scored 15 of his 22 after halftime, igniting a 16-1 run that broke open a 51-51- tie game and ultimately sparking a 28-4 surge that turned the game into a rout.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by just three at the half, 39-36, after allowing the Pilots to shoot 48 percent from the field (15-for-31). That included a 10-for-14 stretch that led to a 20-7 Portland run that erased a 12-point CU lead.

But following a halftime talk from Boyle, the Buffs produced a much better effort on the defensive end in the second half, which in turn led to an offensive outburst that put the game away. Colorado broke away from a 51-51 tie with 14 minutes to go with a 16-1 run, then built the lead to as much as 32 late in the game.

"I got after them pretty good at halftime and they responded in the second half," Boyle said. "One of the things we talked about at halftime is they have to take ownership of what we're trying to do defensively and I felt like they really did in the second half. It started with McKinley but it didn't end with McKinley. We got some really good defensive possessions, broke the game open, and had a runaway."

Wright started the 16-1 run with a 3-pointer, then added a pair of free throws less than 30 seconds later. Bey added six points in the run and Namon Wright had four, including a steal and breakaway dunk.

""Vintage McKinley Wright," Boyle said. "He just says, 'OK guys, it's time to get this train moving,' and the train starts moving.

Fueling the run was a CU defensive effort that held the Pilots without a field goal for more than four minutes.

"Once we get stops, we get out in transition and that's when we're at our best," McKinley Wright said. "We're trying to focus on defense this year. We're one of the best teams in the country when we get out and run."

Colorado finished with a 25-11 edge in fast-break points while shooting 48.4 percent from the field (31-for-64) to go with a commanding 44-27 edge on the boards. The Pilots, meanwhile, shot just 37.5 percent from the field after halftime and finished 27-for-63 from the field.

Siewert continued to be a weapon inside and out, hitting two of his four 3-point tries to go along with three baskets inside and six free throws.

The Buffs threatened to break the game open in the first half, going on a 15-3 run to take a 26-14 lead with just more than nine minutes to go in the period. Siewert, McKinley Wright and Deleon Brown all had 3-pointers in the surge.

But just when it looked like the Buffs might blow the game open, their defense went south. The Pilots battled back with a 20-7 run to take a 34-33 lead with just under two minutes to go, hitting 10 of 14 field goal attempts in the burst.

Colorado finally recovered to regain the lead and take a 39-36 edge at intermission.

BOULDER — Big plays on both ends of the floor made the difference for Colorado down the stretch Saturday, as the Buffs fought back to collect an 86-80 win over rival Colorado State at the CU Events Center.

Colorado improved to 5-1 while CSU fell to 4-4 as CU ended a two-game losing streak to the Rams.

In a see-saw game that featured 12 lead changes and four ties, the Buffs found themselves down by one when a 10-0 CSU run gave Colorado State a 75-74 lead with 2:26 to play.

But the Buffs answered with a 3-point play from Evan Battey seconds later to regain the lead, then produced a decisive sequence to put the game away in the final two minutes. It included drawing an offensive foul on the defensive end, a breakaway slam dunk from Shane Gatling for a four-point lead after Lucas Siewert rebound, a huge block from Tyler Bey on the defensive end, and six consecutive free throws from Bey in the final 23 seconds.

"At the end of games, especially games like tonight, players make plays," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "I can call the plays, CSU can call their plays, but the players who make the plays is the team that wins the game."

The Buffs had their fair share of players doing just that.

Bey was one of three Buffs with a double-double, scoring 21 of his career-high 23 points in the second half as well as grabbing seven of his 10 rebounds after intermission. McKinley Wright IV recorded an 18-point, 11-assist double-double and Siewert had a 16-point, 10-rebound effort for Colorado. Gatling finished with 13 points to give the Buffs four players in double-digit scoring while Battey added seven points, five rebounds and a pair of big second-half assists.

The Rams also had four players in double figures, led by Kris Martin with 21 points and J.D. Paige with 17.

The Buffs won despite Colorado State shooting 51.7 percent from the field (30-for-58). CU overcame a cold-shooting first half to shoot 61 percent in the second half (21-for-34), including a stretch in which the Buffs hit 12 field goal tries in a row.

The Buffs also had a 40-29 edge on the boards.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After trailing for much of the first half and early in the second, Colorado finally regained the lead with a stretch that saw the Buffs hit 12 consecutive field goal tries. CU put together a 10-2 run that turned a 41-40 deficit into a 50-43 lead, with Wright starting the run with a 12-foot jumper before Siewert and Bey each added four points.

Colorado State came back several times to narrow CU's cushion, but each time Colorado answered. The Buffs finally built their lead to 10 points, 67-57, with 7:16 to go on a Gatling 3-pointer and Bey slam dunk.

But the Rams had one more rally in their pocket. A J.D. Paige drive three-point play cut Colorado's lead to two, 74-72, with three minutes to play before a 3-pointer from Anthony Mastinton-Bonner capped a 10-0 run to give the Rams a 75-74 lead with 2:23 remaining.

That set the stage for the final two minutes, with Battey's drive to the hoop past CSU big man Niko Carvacho and ensuing free throw giving the Buffs the lead for good.

The Buffs struggled from the floor for the entire first half while the Rams had no such issues. Colorado shot just 33 percent, hitting 12 of its 36 field goal tries — including 3-for-14 from 3-point range — while the Rams hit 50 percent of their shots, going 13-for-26 and 5-for-11 from beyond the arc.

As a result, the Buffs trailed for most of the half and entered the locker room down by three, 32-29, at intermission.

BOULDER — Every night, it seems, Tad Boyle's Colorado Buffaloes turn to a different weapon, as CU has had six different players lead the team in scoring in seven games.

Tuesday night, it was redshirt freshman Evan Battey and sophomore D'Shawn Schwartz with the honors, as both tossed in a team-high 14 points in an 82-58 win over South Dakota at the CU Events Center.

The win, Colorado's fourth in a row, improved the Buffs to 6-1 while South Dakota fell to 4-4. It was CU's fourth straight game with at least 80 points and fifth in seven outings this season, as five Buffs hit double-figure scoring.

Tyler Bey added 13 points and seven rebounds to CU's totals while McKinley Wright had 11 points, six rebounds and five assists, and Shane Gatling finished with 11 points.

The Buffs continued their smooth-shooting ways, hitting 48 percent of their field goals (26-for-54), while also producing a 41-33 edge on the boards. CU also held the Coyotes to just 34 percent shooting shooting from the field (19-for-56), and nine different Buffs finished with at least 10 minutes of playing time.

Battey, who continues to shake the rust from his game after a two-year layoff from competitive play, also had four assists — all in the first half — and four rebounds.

"When we start hitting on all cylinders, this is a dangerous team," Boyle said. "We just have to understand that on any given night it might be someone else's night. We have to be OK with that. If we are, then we will be OK."

Tyler Peterson led the Coyotes with 15 points.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs never trailed in the game, and built a 10-point lead midway through the first half before the Coyotes cut the margin back to five. Colorado, though, finished the half with an 18-10 surge, with Battey getting three assists in the run. The first went to Schwartz, who delivered a ferocious dunk, the second went to Lucas Siewert for a layup, and the third went to Gatling on the wing for a 3-pointer.

"I've always been a good passer and they know that," Battey said. "They cut, they space out so I can hit them."

After taking a 13-point lead into intermission, 41-28, the Buffs quickly blew the game open in the first three minutes of the second half. CU bumped the lead to 49-30 in the first two minutes of the period, then pushed the cushion into the 20s on a pair of baskets from Bey after a South Dakota timeout did nothing to halt Colorado's run. CU led 53-32 with 16:45 still to play, and the Buffs' cushion never dipped below 20 again the rest of the night.

Maybe the only blemish on Colorado's night was 13 turnovers, with nine of those coming in the first half. But the Buffs reduced their mistakes in the second half while also ratcheting up the defensive pressure, including a stretch in which they limited South Dakota to just 1-for-8 shooting.

Boyle was particularly pleased with CU's defensive effort. The Buffs, who allowed Colorado State to shoot better than 50 percent from the field in last weekend's 86-80 Colorado win, entered the game 10th in the Pac-12 in field goal defense.

The Coyotes had no such luck, hitting just 19 of their 56 field goal tries. South Dakota did not make consecutive field goal attempts until less than four minutes remained in the game, and the Coyotes missed 17 straight 3-point tries after hitting three of their first five.

BOULDER — While Colorado's defense may not have been at its best Saturday afternoon, McKinley Wright IV was, particularly down the stretch.

That was enough for the Buffs. The sophomore point guard scored CU's final 10 points of the game, including all eight in a decisive 8-0 CU run, to lift the Buffs to an 84-72 win over Illinois-Chicago.

Colorado won its fifth straight to improve to 7-1 while UIC dropped to 4-6. CU also surpassed the 80-point barrier for the fifth straight time and sixth time this season.

Wright finished with 21 points, nine assists and six rebounds. Sophomore forward Tyler Bey collected his second double-double of the year with a 15-point, 15-rebound effort (a career high), and Shane Gatling and D'Shawn Schwartz each scored 12 for Colorado.

Marcus Ottey led the Flames with 22 points, as UIC shot 56.6 percent from the field (30-for-53). A big difference came at the free throw line, where Colorado hit 25 of 33 attempts while UIC was 6-for-10 from the stripe.

The Buffs finished with 16 turnovers, but forced 24 UIC miscues, which Colorado converted into 20 points. The Buffs also scored 50 points in the second half, the fifth time this season they have scored at least 50 after intermission.

"That was a hard-fought win against a really talented UIC team," head coach Tad Boyle said. "We have a lot of room for improvement after a game like this, but we'll take it."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Wright's run started after UIC's Godwin Boahen hit a 3-pointer to pull the Flames within four, 74-70, with just more than three minutes to play.

Wright hit two free throws at the 2:20 mark to bump CU's margin to six, then hit a basket in the lane after a steal 20 seconds later. He drew an offensive foul on UIC's next possession and followed it up with another basket to give CU a 10-point cushion with 1:35 to play.

Wright also had a key rebound in the final minute, hit two free throws with 40 seconds left to give Colorado a 12-point cushion, and then iced the game with two more free throws with 30 seconds remaining.

"He's just a winner," Boyle said. "He makes winning plays. We expect so much of him and he just makes big plays down the stretch."

The Buffs never trailed in the game, and led for nearly 38 of the 40 minutes. But every time Colorado threatened to build a comfortable cushion, the hot-shooting Flames had an answer. CU led by five at the half, had 10-point leads at several junctures after intermission, and pushed the lead to 11 with 4:33 to go.

But the Buffs could not put the game away until the final two minutes. It was the second time in a week that the Buffs allowed an opponent to shoot better than 50 percent from the field, as CSU also managed the feat in an 86-80 Colorado win on Dec. 1.

"It seems like they couldn't miss," Wright said. "We have to do a better job of helping each other and having each other's back. We'll watch film and get better."

Colorado did do a good job on UIC leading scorer Tarkus Ferguson, holding him to just three points, 14 under his average. But along with Ottey's 22 — most of which came on drives to the rim — the Flames also got 20 from Jordan Blount and 15 from Boahen. The Flames did most of their damage in the paint, outscoring Colorado 42-30 near the rim.

Still, the Buffs made plays when necessary. CU held a solid 36-28 edge on the boards, which helped the Buffs to a 16-2 edge in second-chance points. Four of Bey's 15 rebounds were on the offensive end, and he finished with 33 minutes, 16 seconds of playing time, also a career high.

BOULDER — Tad Boyle's Buffaloes pulled off one of the more improbable comebacks in Colorado history Tuesday night, rallying from 17 points down on the road to collect a gritty 78-75 win at New Mexico.

The Buffs improved to 8-1 with their sixth straight win while New Mexico fell to 4-4. It was the third-largest deficit overcome by the Buffs on the road since such records began being kept in 1947.

Sophomore Tyler Bey recorded his third double-double in four games for the Buffs, finishing with 16 points and 12 rebounds. Lucas Siewert, who hit two key free throws in the final seconds, had 12 points and six rebounds, McKinley Wright IV had 12 points and eight rebounds and Evan Battey chipped in 10 points and nine rebounds.

Anthony Mathis led New Mexico with 23 points.

"We gutted out a win when we didn't play our best offensively," Boyle said. "We didn't shoot the ball well from 3. We missed a lot of shots in the lane. We didn't shoot the ball well from the free throw line — and we still found a way to win. It's a gutsy win by our guys. The first half was not good. But I thought the second half our guys did what we had to do. We showed great toughness."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs were indeed not at their best. CU trailed by 17 midway through the first half before slicing the deficit to nine by halftime, then saw the New Mexico lead balloon back to 14 early in the second period.

But each time, Colorado battled back, with the biggest difference in the two halves being turnovers. Colorado gave the ball away 12 times in the first half, resulting in 22 New Mexico points, but had just one turnover in the entire second half.

With just under 16 minutes to play, Colorado still trailed by 14 points, 52-38 and The Pit crowd of 10,800 was at a fever pitch.

But the Buffs found their footing and methodically began to put together a 28-12 run that finally produced a 66-64 lead with 4:35 remaining when Wright hit a drive to the basket. It was CU's first lead in the game since an early 7-6 edge.

The run started with a 10-0 burst, fueled by a basket inside from Battey and a three-point play from Namon Wright. McKinley Wright then capped the 10-0 surge with a drive to the basket, and New Mexico's lead was down to 52-48.

The Lobos then briefly pushed the margin back to six, but Colorado answered again with a Siewert basket inside, then a Bey 3-pointer on a beautiful pass from McKinley Wright. New Mexico expanded the edge back to five, but Colorado then ran off seven straight points to take the lead. Battey hit a 3-pointer in the decisive run before a McKinley Wright drive down the lane gave CU a 66-64 lead with 4:35 to go.

Colorado never trailed again. The Buffs built their cushion to as much as six in the final two minutes, and led by four with just 15 seconds to go when McKinley Wright went into the paint for a basket. A Mathis 3-pointer with 7 seconds left pulled New Mexico to within one, 76-75, but Siewert hit two free throws with 5.8 seconds on the clock to bump the margin back to three, and the Lobos missed a 3-pointer at the buzzer.

The Buffs shot just under 42 percent for the game (26-for-62), but were 14-for-29 in the second half. They also hit just five of their 19 3-point tries, and were an uncharacteristic 21-for-32 from the free throw line.

The Buffs put themselves in a huge hole in the first half, thanks in large part to 12 turnovers that led to 22 New Mexico points. A 17-3 Lobos run gave New Mexico a 32-15 lead with 7:06 to go in the half, and the Buffs appeared to be on the verge of being blown out.

But the Buffs didn't cave. Instead, Colorado put together a 14-0 run to pull within three, with Bey scoring five in the run. The Lobos, though, answered with an 11-0 run to bump the lead back to double digits before Colorado scored the last five points of the half. A 3-pointer from Deleon Brown at the buzzer pulled the Buffs to within nine at intermission, 43-34.

HONOLULU — Paradise turned into Paradise Lost for the Colorado Buffaloes on Saturday.

The turnover-prone Buffs cut a 14-point Indiana State lead to one late in the game, but the Sycamores held on down the stretch to claim a 72-67 decision in the first round of the Diamond Head Classic.

The loss dropped CU to 8-2 while ISU improved to 7-3.

The Buffs were their own worst enemy in the contest. Colorado finished with a season-high 19 turnovers in the game, leading to 20 points for the Sycamores, and CU also lost the rebounding battle, 34-32, leading to a commanding 17-7 edge in second chance points for Indiana State.

It was a disappointing effort for a team that had visions of three more wins and plenty of momentum heading into Pac-12 Conference play.

"I don't mind getting beat — I don't like it, nobody likes it," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "But I can't live with — and hopefully our players can't live with — beating ourselves, and we beat ourselves tonight. Credit to Indiana State. I don't want to take anything away from them. Their kids played hard, they were dialed in, they were ready to play, there's no doubt about that."

But while the Sycamores played well and did have enough to hold off a late Colorado rally, the Buffs also committed too many errors, especially early.

"We lost this game for two reasons — because we didn't take care of the basketball and we didn't limit them to one shot," Boyle said. "And if you look at the numbers, they scored 37 points — 20 off our turnovers and 17 off second-chance points. That's 37 points we gave them because we don't do those two things."

Tyler Bey led CU with a 16-point, 13-rebound double-double while McKinley Wright IV and Shane Gatling each added 10 points. It was Bey's third straight double-double and fourth in his last five games. ISU's Jordan Barnes led all scorers with 19 points, including a 5-for-8 night from 3-point range.

Despite their mistakes, the Buffs had their chances. After ISU built a 14-point cushion early in the second half, Colorado went on a 16-4 run to close the gap to two, 52-50. Bey had 10 points in the surge and the Buffs — who never led in the game — had a chance to tie it up or take the lead after an Indiana State miss.

But on the ensuing possession, Colorado threw it away and the Sycamores turned the miscue into a basket and free throw to push the lead back to five.

Colorado stayed within range and managed to twice cut the deficit down to one in the final minutes. Gatling hit a 3-pointer to pull the Buffs to within 66-65 with 1:14 to go, only to see the Sycamores reap a second-chance bucket on the other end to push the lead back to three.

Wright then had a chance to tie it up scoring on a driving layup and drawing a foul — but he missed the free throw. The Buffs had a chance at the rebound, but the Sycamores came away with the ball and scored on the other end to bump the lead back to three, 70-67, with 22 seconds left. A Gatling 3-point try with 5 seconds remaining missed the mark and the Sycamores then iced the game with two more free throws.

The Buffs trailed 36-28, at the half. Colorado committed 10 first-half turnovers, which Indiana State converted into nine points. At the same time, the Sycamores lived up to their nation-leading 3-point shooting percentage, hitting eight of 12 attempts from beyond the arc in first 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, Colorado went cold after shooting relatively well early. After two Evan Battey free throws tied the game at 20-20 with 7:28 to go in the half, the Sycamores reeled off an 8-0 run, fueled by back-to-back 3-pointers from Cooper Neese. CU's Daylen Kountz finally stopped the run with a steal and bucket, but the Sycamores then built their cushion to 11 before a Deleon Brown 3-pointer just before halftime pulled Colorado to within eight, 36-28, at intermission.

HONOLULU — Beaches and Buffaloes evidently are not a good mix — not, at least, for the Colorado basketball team.

Sunday, the Buffs lost their second game in as many days in the Diamond Head Classic, dropping a 70-62 decision in overtime to Hawaii on the Rainbow Warriors' home floor. The Buffs, who landed in Hawaii with a six-game win streak, saw their record drop to 8-3 while Hawaii improved to 7-5.

Despite shooting poorly for most of the game, the Buffs still had their chances to win. After trailing for much of the game, Colorado fought back to regain the lead with just more than eight minutes to play, and led by six, 52-46, with just under four minutes to go.

But a 10-2 run by Hawaii in the final three-plus minutes put the Rainbow Warriors back in the lead, and it took a McKinley Wright IV layup with 16 seconds remaining to tie the game and send it into overtime.

The Buffs, though, managed just one field goal in the extra five minutes of play while Hawaii hit a pair of big 3-pointers, including one from Jack Purchase with 55 seconds remaining that basically iced the win.

"Disheartening loss, but the one thing I can promise our fans is this team's not going to lose their heart," head coach Tad Boyle said. "I can promise you that. They really aren't. … I take ownership in this loss. I'm not going to blame our players. We're going to get better. We've taken a step backward, there's no doubt about it, but we are going to get better."

Wright led the Buffs with 20 points on 9-for-12 shooting to go with eight rebounds and Lucas Siewert added 19 points on 7-for-14 shooting. But after those two, the rest of CU's roster was an anemic 5-for-36 from the field, as Colorado finished the day just 21-for-64. (34 percent). Hawaii wasn't much better — 22-for-61 — but the Rainbow Warriors did hit 9 of 30 3-point tries, and they also held a commanding 48-35 edge on the boards.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After entering intermission tied at 24-24, the Buffs found themselves down by eight, 34-26, just five minutes into the second half.

But following a timeout, Colorado slowly climbed back into the game, putting together an 11-3 run to tie the game at 37-37, then finally taking a 42-41 lead on a deep Wright 3-pointer with eight minutes to go. Colorado held onto the edge for the next four minutes, and even threatened to put the game away when a Siewert three-point play with 3:57 remaining gave the Buffs their biggest lead of the game, 52-46.

But the Rainbow Warriors answered with a 10-2 run over the next 3:30 to take the lead before a Wright drive to the bucket with 16.9 seconds remaining tied the game at 56-56. Wright was fouled on the play and had a chance to put the Buffs back in the lead with a free throw, only to see the charity shot clang off the rim. Hawaii then missed a shot at the buzzer to send the game into overtime with the score tied at 56.

The Buffs could not establish anything resembling rhythm on either end of the floor in the extra period. Siewert hit another three-point play with 4:27 remaining to tie the game at 59-59, but his was only last field goal the Buffs managed in overtime. The Buffs missed three of their next four free throws before Purchase's long 3-pointer and two free throws from Brock Stepteau gave Hawaii a 67-60 lead with 30 seconds to go.

For the second night in a row, the Buffs were indeed their own worst enemy. Late in the first half, they had possession with 30 seconds remaining and called a timeout — then couldn't get a shot off before the buzzer. They also had a miscommunication that allowed Purchase to get open for his key 3-pointer in overtime, and they finished with 13 turnovers, which Hawaii converted into 13 points.

And, for the second night in a row, they were beaten on the boards. Hawaii's Zigmar Raimo finished with 17 rebounds, a big reason for Hawaii's 48-35 edge.

Both teams struggled from the floor in the first half, as the period ended in a 24-24 tie, Colorado's lowest-scoring half of the year. CU shot just 27.6 percent from the field in the first 20 minutes (8-for-29), including a 1-for-9 effort from 3-point range. The Rainbow Warriors fared little better, hitting just eight of their 26 attempts from the field.

HONOLULU - Colorado came to Hawai'i with more than a single win in mind, but after a frustrating week on the islands, the Buffaloes will take it.

Lucas Siewert had a team-high 17 points and two others scored in double digits as the Buffaloes claimed seventh place at the 2018 Diamond Head Classic with a 68-53 win over Charlotte Tuesday morning at the Stan Sheriff Center.

Colorado ended the nonconference portion of its schedule at 9-3. Charlotte fell to 3-8.

After a pair of losses that put the Buffs in the 8 a.m. local game time against Charlotte, most likely the earliest local start in program history, Colorado began to see glimpses of the team that had won six-straight earlier this month.

Colorado moved the ball well with 15 assists on 24 made baskets. The Buffaloes were able to knock down open shots and get contributions throughout the lineup.

Freshman Daylen Kountz had a career-high 12 points, hitting all four of his field goal attempts. Senior Namon Wright had 10 points, all in the first half.

"Our ball movement the last couple games has been really good and today it was nice to see some shots go in," head coach Tad Boyle said. "Lucas saw some go in, D'Shawn (Schwartz) saw some go in, Daylen played really well off the bench."

Colorado also played timely defense. Charlotte shot just 32 percent in the second half and overall the Buffaloes scored 18 points off 49ers turnovers.

John Davis led Charlotte with a game-high 25 points, doing much of the damage from the free throw line, making 10 of 11.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs would roll late, but much like the last four games, it took them a while to get going. Charlotte pounded the paint early, making four of its first five shots to take an early 8-2 lead.

Siewert made his first of three 3-pointers to narrow the margin to four at 11-7, but the 49ers maintained an early edge by getting to the rim. Davis scored on a sharp cut to the basket and Malik Martin had a steal and breakaway layup for a 17-10 advantage. The 49ers scored 14 of their first 17 points in the paint.

Charlotte took its largest lead at 24-16 after a Jaylan McGill layup and Milos Supica free throw with 5:20 left in the half. From there Colorado started to get stops and went into attack mode.

The Buffaloes embarked on a 19-2 run to end the half, including 14 straight following the Supica free throw. Kountz and Wright combined for nine points during that stretch by attacking the basket and getting to the line.

Siewert ended the 14-0 run with a corner 3-pointer that gave the Buffaloes a 30-24 lead with 1:10 left.

Davis hit a floater in the lane to cut the lead to four with 30 seconds left, but the Buffaloes responded with five points in the last second due to a pair of technical fouls against the Charlotte bench.

After McKinley Wright IV missed a put back off a Namon Wright 3-point attempt, Evan Battey was fouled going for the offensive rebound with the Buffaloes in the double bonus. A lengthy protest by Charlotte head coach Ron Sanchez resulted in two technical fouls and thus the Buffaloes were awarded six free throws off the play. Colorado took advantage making five – three by Namon Wright and two by Battey – to take a 35-26 lead at the break.

Colorado kept Charlotte at or above double-digits length from there. A 7-0 run capped by a Tyler Bey dunk flying through the lane gave the Buffaloes a 49-32 lead with 13:28 remaining.

Colorado, which had struggled from long range as of late, started to see some shots fall. The Buffaloes made three of their first four in the second half and finished the game 7 of 20. Kountz hit both his 3-point attempts as the Buffaloes took their largest lead at 63-42 with 7:08 remaining.

Charlotte had a late 8-0 run to cut the lead to 63-50 with 3:49 during a stretch where the Buffaloes missed four straight shots, but D'Shawn Schwartz scored five of his nine points in the final minutes to keep the 49ers at a safe distance.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Colorado started fast and finished strong Thursday night in its Pac-12 opener, but a difficult stretch in the middle of game proved too much to overcome, as CU dropped a 64-56 decision to Arizona at the McKale Center.

The loss, CU's third in the last four games, dropped the Buffs to 9-4 overall (0-1 in Pac-12) while Arizona improved to 10-4, 1-0. The loss was CU's seventh in as many tries at McKale since the Buffs joined the Pac-12 in 2011-12. Since the beginning of the 2013 season, Arizona is 90-4 on its home floor.

After trailing by as much as 17 in the second half, the Buffs cut the margin to seven, 57-50, with 2:42 still left to play on a D'Shawn Schwartz 3-pointer.

But that was as close as the Buffs could come. Arizona build the lead back to double digits, then held the Buffs off in the final minute.

Sophomore McKinley Wright IV led CU with 17 points and Lucas Siewert added 11, but they were the only Buffs in double figures as Colorado shot just 19-for-53 from the field (35.8 percent). Schwartz had eight points and eight rebounds for CU and Tyler Bey had 11 rebounds and four points.

Brandon Williams led Arizona with 14 points as the Wildcats shot 25-for-58 (43.1 percent) and Brandon Randolph added 11.

CU was once again plagued by turnovers, committing 17 — including six by Wright — which led to 14 Arizona points. The Wildcats also dominated the game inside, outscoring Colorado 38-18 in the paint.

"We have some offensive woes right now," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "When you combine 35 percent shooting with 17 turnovers, you put a lot of pressure on your defense. I thought our defense was great in the second half, it really was. But our offensive efficiency is just not very good right now. I've got to do a better job as a coach to get these guys to understand that it's about the execution. When you get good shots you have to be able to stick them in the basket. I don't care if you're in the paint, I don't care if you're wide open from three. You have to be able to capitalize."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs started off hot, hitting five of their first six shots to take an 11-6 lead heading into the first media timeout.

But the Wildcats emerged from the timeout as a different team. The Buffs had empty possessions on four of their ensuing five tries with the ball while Arizona hit three of four from the field to finally take a 14-13 lead at the 11:37 mark on a Randolph 3-pointer.

Just two minutes later, Bey drew his second foul, sending Colorado's best inside defender to the bench. From that point, the Wildcats poured it on, putting together a 13-2 run that included an 8-0 surge. The Buffs' shooting, meanwhile, went cold and they compounded their problems with turnovers. By the 4:36 mark, Arizona had a 31-17 lead, outscoring Colorado 25-6 in an 11-minute stretch.

Colorado momentarily halted the run with four straight points, but Arizona once again answered with an 8-3 burst to close the half with a 39-24 lead. Colorado finished the half with nine turnovers and just two assists, and the Wildcats also had a 16-13 edge on the boards, leading to a 7-2 edge in second-chance points.

The Wildcats threatened to blow the game open in the second half, building their cushion to as much as 17, 54-37, midway through the period.

But to their credit, the Buffs never quit. Colorado put together a 13-3 run to narrow the deficit to seven, 57-50, getting 3-pointers from Wright, Siewert and Schwartz in the surge.

That was as close as Colorado could come, however. Arizona outscored CU 7-1 over the next two minutes, then held the Buffs off down the stretch.

"I have to tip my hat to our guys," Boyle said. "I thought their competitive nature could have gone away, it didn't. But we have to play better on the offensive end than we have the last four games."

The Buffs held Arizona to just 33 percent shooting in the second half (9-for-27), but never could resurrect their own offense, shooting just 9-for-28 in the final 20 minutes.

TEMPE, Ariz. — A trip to the desert proved to be no cure for the Colorado Buffaloes' recent ills away from home.

Playing their sixth straight game away from the CU Events Center on Saturday, the Buffs fell behind early by double digits to Arizona State and never recovered, dropping an 83-61 decision to the Sun Devils at Wells Fargo Arena.

The loss, the Buffs' second in a row and fourth in their last five games, dropped their record to 9-5 overall and 0-2 in Pac-12 play while ASU improved to 10-4, 1-1.

McKinley Wright IV led Colorado with 12 points and D'Shawn Schwartz and Daylen Kountz each added 10. But the Buffs were cold all afternoon from the field, finishing just 19-for-58 on field goal tries (32.8 percent), including 5-for-26 from 3-point range. CU also lost the rebound battle, 42-28, and committed 15 turnovers, which ASU converted into 18 points.

The Sun Devils, meanwhile, shot a red-hot 57.1 percent from the field (32-for-56). Romello White led five ASU players in double figures with 19 points. ASU's 83 points were the most given up by the Buffs this year.

"We're just not making shots right now," head coach Tad Boyle said. "We just can't throw it in the ocean. When that happens, you have to come back and get stops. But tonight, we weren't good enough in any aspect of the game. We weren't good enough in rebounding, we weren't good enough in taking care of the ball, we weren't good enough offensively, we weren't good enough defensively. It was just a tail whipping. We deserved it and we got it."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Unlike Thursday's loss at Arizona, when the Buffs were able to close a double-digit deficit to seven with just under three minutes to play, Colorado started slowly and the Sun Devils steadily pulled away for much of the game.

The Buffs missed their first seven shots and hit just one of their first 11 in the opening half while the Sun Devils hit seven of their first 13 to take a 16-5 lead less than nine minutes in. ASU then built the margin to as much as 16 before the Buffs finally shaved the margin down to 10, 34-24, with just under three minutes to play in the half.

But the Sun Devils responded to CU's mini-run by putting together a 10-2 burst to close the half to take a 44-26 lead into intermission.

Colorado finished the half just 8-for-27 from the floor (29.7 percent) while ASU was 17-for-30 (56.7 percent).

"We just couldn't get some of our shots to fall," Wright said. "First half we got a ton of good looks. We got a lot of open threes, just unable to hit them."

The second half was basically a repeat of the first. The Sun Devils continued to build on their halftime lead, pushing the cushion to as much as 26. ASU dominated the game on the boards with a 42-28 rebound edge as well as inside, as the Sun Devils outscored the Buffs 50-20 in the paint.

"This is the first time we've gotten our tails kicked," Boyle said. "This was a whipping. We got what we deserved and Arizona State (coming off a home loss to Utah) deserves credit. They played with an edge and desperation. They're a very talented team and we didn't do anything good enough tonight to even warrant being in the game, much less win the game."

The Buffs finally return home next week with a pair of games against the Washington schools, beginning with a Thursday matchup against Washington State.

"I don't want our players to lose their heart," Boyle said. "I don't believe we have. But we can't feel sorry for ourselves. We have to play more desperate in terms of our energy level, our toughness."

BOULDER — Home cooking appeared to be just what the doctor ordered for the Colorado Buffaloes on Thursday night.

The Buffs returned to the CU Events Center for their first home game in more than a month, and treated themselves to a runaway 92-60 win over Washington State.

Colorado ended a two-game losing streak and improved to 10-5 overall and 1-2 in Pac-12 play while the Cougars fell to 7-8, 0-2.

Thursday's effort was the textbook definition of a balanced effort. The Buffs put four players in double figures, led by a career-high 26 points from sophomore Tyler Bey, who also pulled down 10 rebounds for his seventh career double-double. Sophomore forward D'Shawn Schwartz added a career-high 16 points, seven rebounds and a career-high four assists; sophomore point guard McKinley Wright IV chipped in 10 points and seven assists; and junior guard Shane Gatling scored a career-high 17 with a career-best five 3-pointers. Freshman Evan Battey, meanwhile, had a career-high 14 rebounds.

The Buffs also regained their shooting eye, which had abandoned them on a recent swing through Arizona. After shooting just 34.2 percent from the field in a pair of losses in the desert, CU hit 35 of its 64 field goal attempts (54.7 percent) against the Cougars, while holding WSU to just 36.8 percent from the floor (21-for-57). Colorado was 11-for-27 from 3-point range and 24-for-37 from inside the arc.

The Buffs also held a 41-27 edge on the boards and finished with a season-high 20 assists and just 12 turnovers, their fewest since having just eight against Colorado State in early December.

Marvin Cannon led WSU with 14 points.

"It's nice to see the ball go in the basket," head coach Tad Boyle said. "We haven't seen that in a while. We got some guys going. Making 11 threes is obviously big. We knew we were going to see a lot of zone, we didn't know how much. They started out man, and when they went to there zone, we did a good job there, too."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After spotting the Cougars an early 5-0 lead, the Buffs put together a 16-0 run to take command and Washington State never came closer than seven again. Gatling had a pair of 3-pointers in the surge, Bey added one trey and Wright wrapped up the run with a steal and coast-to-coast roll for a layup. The Buffs built their lead to 18 late in the first half, led by 16 at intermission, 41-25, and steadily built the lead throughout the second half, pushing it to 36 with just more than a minute to play.

"I don't know if it's home, I don't know what it is," Boyle said of the Buffs' turnaround. "I just know it was just nice to see the shots go in and that gave us some energy on the defensive end, which helps."

Gatling's early 3-pointers set the tone for his best night yet as a Buff, as he came off the bench to finish 5-for-10 from long distance.

WSU briefly cut CU's lead to seven midway through the first half, but Colorado answered with an 8-0 run to take command for good. Bey punished the Cougars inside with 15 points in the first half while Battey had 10 rebounds in the first 20 minutes. Bey's night signaled the end of a scoring slump that had seen him score just 22 points combined in his last four games.

"Part of it was we did a good job of getting him the ball in the zone where we wanted to get the ball," Boyle said. "And then, Lucas (Siewert) and Evan and our perimeter guys did a good job of getting him the ball down low. He's really good around the baseline, he's really good around the rim. When Tyler catches it down there, usually good things happen."

Sophomore Schwartz, meanwhile, may have had his best all-around game as a Buff. He had five points in an 8-0 Colorado run late in the first half, then hit two quick buckets early in the second half just after WSU had shaved CU's cushion back down to double digits.

Now, the Buffs know the road gets tougher on Saturday, when Washington pays a visit to the Events Center for an 8 p.m contest. The Huskies are 11-4 overall and 2-0 in Pac-12 play after a convincing 69-53 win at Utah on Thursday.

BOULDER — A furious Colorado rally in the second half came up just short Saturday night, as the Buffs dropped a 77-70 decision to Washington at the CU Events Center.

The Buffs, who played much of the game without star point guard McKinley Wright IV (shoulder injury), rallied from a 15-point deficit in the second half to cut the margin to one with just more than seven minutes left. But that was as close as the Buffs could come, as the Huskies answered each Colorado rally and held on down the stretch for the win.

CU fell to 10-6 overall and 1-3 in Pac-12 play while the Huskies improved to 12-4, 3-0.

D'Shawn Schwartz led Colorado with a career-high 22 points — his second straight game with a career high — and Tyler Bey added 15 points and nine rebounds. Shane Gatling added eight points and a career-high six assists.

Jaylen Nowell led UW with 19 points.

The Huskies shot 55.1 percent from the field (27-for-49), including a red-hot 19-for30 in the first half, paving the way for a 48-35 lead at intermission. The Buffs, who battled foul trouble for much of the night, connected on 44.4 percent of their field goal tries (24-for-54).

While obviously disappointed with his team's loss, CU head coach Tad Boyle still said he was proud of the way Colorado battled back.

"I thought there were some really good things that came out of tonight's game, out of a loss," Boyle said. "I don't say that very often, but I thought with all the things we battled tonight — our defensive atrociousness, them scoring 48 points and shooting 63 percent — as bad as that was, for our guys to battle back, with McKinley going out and the foul trouble we battled, is a testament to our guys."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs had no answer for the Huskies in the first half. Colorado missed its first seven shots and had two turnovers in the first five minutes while the Huskies hit five of their first six field goal tries to take a 12-0 lead.

The Buffs finally found their footing and temporarily closed the gap to five with a 9-2 run, but Washington answered to quickly push the lead back to double digits. The Huskies hit eight 3-pointers in the opening half, paving the way for a 48-35 lead at intermission.

Wright, who suffered a shoulder injury in practice in late December, re-injured his shoulder with just under eight minutes to play in the half.

That could have been the end for Colorado — but instead, the Buffs battled back in the second half with Gatling running the point and Schwartz and Daylen Kountz finding their offensive groove. After trailing by as much as 15 early in the half, CU rallied to cut the deficit to one, 63-62, with 7:17 still remaining.

The Buffs first closed the gap to five with a 14-4 run, sparked by six straight points from Kountz, including a 3-pointer at the 12:30 mark. The Huskies then pushed the lead back to 10, but Colorado answered with a 9-0 run to narrow the lead to one. Schwartz had seven of the nine — a 3-pointer and four free throws — before Evan Battey connected inside to cut Washington's lead to 63-62.

"I look at the way our team responded when McKinley went out — they could have folded their tents because we know how important McKinley is to us," Boyle said. "We could have got our heads down and felt sorry for ourselves and had an emotional deflation happen, but that didn't happen. That to me is a good sign for our team."

The Buffs were also hampered by foul trouble with their big men all night. Battey, who played just 11 minutes because of foul troubles — he fouled out in the second half — still finished with six points and two rebounds. CU's Lucas Siewert also fouled out, and Bey found himself in foul trouble early in the second half.

After Colorado cut the lead to one, Washington pushed the edge back to five, but the Buffs refused to go away. With 3:47, a Siewert bucket inside pulled Colorado back to within three, 70-67, only to see the Huskies draw a foul on a 3-point shot on their next possession. Matisse Thybulle drained all three foul shots and the Buffs never came closer than six again.

SALT LAKE CITY — Colorado's first game without sophomore point guard McKinley Wright turned into a long 40 minutes for the Buffs on Sunday.

Colorado started slowly and couldn't find its footing until it was too late, as Utah collected a 78-69 win over the slumping Buffs at the Huntsman Center.

The loss, CU's seventh straight on the Utes' home floor, dropped the Buffs to 10-7 overall and 1-4 in Pac-12 play. Colorado has now dropped six of its last eight. The Utes improved to 9-8, 3-2.

Wright did not play because of a shoulder injury suffered in last weekend's loss to Washington. Sunday's game was the first he has missed as a Buff.

But the Buffs needed more than just Wright, as Utah led by as much as 26 in the first half and 28 early in the second before a late Colorado rally narrowed the gap to a relatively respectable margin. CU cut Utah's lead to 10 points, 70-60, with 3:28 to go on a Daylen Kountz layup, but the Utes managed to hold Colorado off down the stretch for the win.

Shane Gatling finished with 21 points, Lucas Siewert and Kountz each added 13 and D'Shawn Schwartz had 11.

Sedrick Barefield led Utah with 22, with 17 of those coming in the first half, when he hit five of eight 3-point attempts to help Utah to a 41-19 halftime lead. Freshman Timmy Allen had a 21-point, 10-rebound double-double for the Utes.

The Buffs' two halves Sunday were starkly different. After committing 11 first-half turnovers that led to 14 Utah points in the opening 20 minutes, CU did not have a turnover after intermission. Also, after scoring just 19 points in the opening half — CU's lowest production for a half since a 2016 loss at Oregon State — the Buffs scored 50 in the second half.

"Our sense of urgency, our toughness — whatever you want to call it — the fact of the matter is we're not executing game plans very well," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "Offensively, this team is really hard to figure out, how we score 19 points in the first half and 50 in the second half. We have 11 turnovers in the first half, zero in the second half. It's a really hard team to figure out. The lack of consistency makes it really difficult for me and our staff to coach. We have to figure that out."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Thanks to an early barrage of 3-pointers from the Utes, the Buffs fell behind early and watched Utah build its lead to as much as 26 in the first half. Utah hit eight of 13 3-point tries in the opening half — including a 5-for-8 effort from log distance from Barefield — and the Buffs compounded their problems by committing 11 turnovers in the first 20 minutes, which the Utes converted into 14 points.

The deciding stretch of the game came early. With 15:33 still to go in the first half, the Buffs pulled to within 9-7 on a Kountz jumper. But the Utes then answered with a 12-0 run to take control, helped by three consecutive Colorado turnovers that led to Utah dunks. By the 5:49 mark of the first half, the Utes' run had reached 25-4, and Utah built its cushion to 41-15 before Colorado finally hit a pair of field goals in the final minutes to close the gap to 41-19 by halftime.

"It was an atrocious start," Boyle said. "This team's really hard to figure out. We turn it over 11 times the first half against a team that doesn't press and plays zone and the second half we don't turn it over at all. We score 19 points the first half, we score 50 points the second half. It's like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde and there's no consistency."

To their credit, the Buffs didn't fold up the tent. After Utah then built it lead to 28 early in the second half, the Buffs slowly chipped away at the lead. Gatling fueled a mini run with nine straight points, and Colorado began a comeback. A pair of 3-pointers from Siewert and Gatling helped CU narrow the deficit to 12 with five minutes to play before a Kountz layup following a timeout pulled the Buffs to within 10 with more than three minutes to play.

But the Utes had enough in the tank to keep the Buffs at bay down the stretch. Gatling's pull-up jumper just before the final buzzer cut the final deficit to nine.

BERKELEY, Calif. — Prosperity on the road proved to be almost too much for the Colorado Buffaloes to handle Thursday night.

The Buffs, searching for their first Pac-12 road win of the year, let an 18-point lead slip away in the second half before finally regaining their composure down the stretch to collect a 68-59 win over Cal.

Colorado improved to 11-7 overall and 2-4 in Pac-12 play while Cal fell to 5-14, 0-7. It was CU's first win at Cal since joining the conference in 2011-12.

Tyler Bey had 17 points and 14 rebounds for his eighth career double-double for the Buffs, Lucas Siewert added 18 points and three rebounds and Shane Gatling had 13 points and six boards.

But one of the biggest buckets of the game came from sophomore point guard McKinley Wright IV, who had eight points, four rebounds and four assists in his return to the lineup after missing last week's game at Utah with a shoulder injury. Wright scored all of his points in the second half, including a big 3-pointer with just 35 seconds remaining in the game that gave the Buffs 66-59 lead to salt away the win.

Paris Austin and Justice Sueing had 13 apiece for the Bears.

"Our resiliency was tested and our guys answered the bell, which I was really proud of," head coach Tad Boyle said. "It's much like November — it's a lot better to learn from a win than learn from a loss, and this would have been a crushing loss. I'm really proud of the way the guys reacted to the adversity."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After controlling the tempo for most of the first half and taking an 11-point lead at intermission, 34-23, the Buffs threatened to blow the game open with a 7-0 run to start the second half to bump their cushion to 18.

But the quick run spurred a Cal timeout, and the Bears returned to the floor as a different team. Cal abandoned its zone defense and switched to man-to-man, which seemed to befuddle the Buffs. CU began to turn the ball over — Colorado had 10 turnovers in the second half after just three in the first — and the Bears also found their shooting eye. Sparked by five 3-pointers — three from Darius McNeil — Cal slowly chipped away at CU's 18-point cushion. With just more than seven minutes to play, the Bear finally took a 54-43 lead on a pair of Matt Bradley free throws to complete a 31-12 run.

"We have to handle those runs better," Boyle said. "Tonight in the second half we got sped up offensively and we turned that thing over. … It's almost like we're trying to punch a square peg in a round hole rather than just keep playing."

But just when it looked as if the Buffs were ready to fade away for good, they answered with a 7-0 run and never trailed again. Bey scored inside, Siewert hit a 3-pointer and Wright hit a short jumper to put the Buffs back on top, 60-54, with 5:38 to go.

"I think we let our guard down a little bit," Wright said. "It's something we can't do. We have to be better at that. We were up by 18 and they came back and took the lead. That just can't happen. Luckily we got enough stops and made enough plays to steal this road win."

Cal then cut the lead back to two, 60-58, but the Buffs got a Daylen Kountz free throw and a Gatling bucket with three minutes to go before Wright's 3-pointer with 35 seconds on the clock sealed the win.

"What can you say about McKinley's big-time shot? He's a winner," Boyle said. "We all know that. Anybody that saw us play against Utah and saw us play tonight saw both those games, know how important he is to us. At halftime he had zero points and zero assists. But his presence on the floor is so calming for our guys. I can't say enough about him."

Indeed, the Buffs were a different team with Wright, even when he wasn't scoring in the first half.

The Buffs had one of their better overall halves of the year in the first half, taking control midway through the period with an 11-1 run to take a 21-11 lead. Gatling started the run with his third 3-pointer of the half, Kountz added a pair of baskets and Siewert finished the surge with a 15-footer.

The Bears managed to cut CU's lead back to seven momentarily, but Colorado put together an 8-0 burst to push its lead to 15 before Cal managed to cut the gap to 11 by halftime, 34-23.

STANFORD, Calif. — A chance for a Bay Area sweep instead turned into a second-half collapse for Colorado on Saturday, as the Buffs dropped a 75-62 decision at Stanford.

The Buffs led by as much as 12 in the first half and by nine early in the second period, but were outscored 42-20 by the Cardinal over the final 18 minutes.

The loss ended CU's nine-game win streak against Stanford and dropped the Buffs to 11-8 overall and 2-5 in Pac-12 play. The Cardinal improved to 10-10, 3-5. It was also the first time this year in 10 games the Buffs have lost after leading at half, and it ended a program streak of 25 straight wins after leading at halftime.

The Buffs shot just 40.6 percent from the field in the game, including 10-for-28 in the second half. Stanford shot 55.1 percent from the field (27-for-49), including a blistering 72 percent in the second half (18-for-25). After collecting 21 rebounds in the first half, CU had just eight boards the entire second half.

Tyler Bey led CU with 17 points, McKinley Wright IV added 14, Lucas Siewert chipped in 13 and Shane Gatling had 10.

Oscar Da Silva led Stanford with 21 and Daejon Davis scored 16.

The loss, coming on the heels of Thursday's win at Cal, also prevented Colorado from coming up with a rare conference road trip sweep, something the Buffs have accomplished only once since entering the Pac-12.

"I told our team, two things that we have to understand that we don't right now — that is basketball is a 40-minute game, and we don't handle adversity well enough," head coach Tad Boyle said. "We're not mature enough and we're not tough enough. I know those are two of our issues. I'm not talking about physically tough, I'm talking about mentally tough. When things start going south, we don't have that dig-in, let's stop this kind of mentality. We just don't."

HOW IT HAPPENED: In Thursday's win over Cal, the Buffs allowed an 18-point lead to slip away in the second half before regaining their composure down the stretch to collect the win.

They couldn't recreate that effort against the Cardinal.

The Buffs controlled the first half, taking a 37-31 lead at intermission. CU had a 21-14 rebound edge in the first 20 minutes, which helped the Buffs to a 10-3 edge on second-chance points as well as a 26-8 lead in points in the paint. CU then quickly bumped the margin to nine early in the second half on five points from Bey for a 42-33 lead.

But from that point on, the Buffs went stone cold from the field and their defense turned porous. The Cardinal put together a 23-6 run to take a 56-48 lead with 9:18 to go, and the Buffs never came closer than four again. Stanford hit six straight field goal attempts at one point in the run while the Buffs endured a 1-for-11 stretch.

"Stanford was ready to be beaten today. They were ready to be put away," Boyle said. "But we miss some bunnies, we miss three out of four free throws and instead of being a 12, 14, 16, 18-point game, which it should have been, it's a six-point game and they've got hope."

Indeed, the Buffs missed an opportunity early in the second half when Gatling missed two technical foul shots (called on Stanford's Davis) and Siewert hit just one of two. The Cardinal then began penetrating inside on Colorado's defense and the Buffs couldn't seem to find an answer. After Colorado held a commanding 26-8 edge on points in the paint in the first half, Stanford flipped the script and outscored CU 32-16 inside after halftime.

After Stanford pushed its lead to eight, 60-52, with just under seven minutes to play, the Buffs cut the deficit back to four on baskets from Bey and Siewert. But Colorado then gave up a dunk inside and back-to-back 3-point plays from Davis and Da Silva and the Stanford lead was back to 12 with four minutes to go.

Davis had 12 of his points in the second half. The Buffs were also beaten on the boards in the second half, 15-8, after holding a 21-14 edge in the first half.

Colorado led for almost the entire first half, jumping out to an 8-2 lead after a pair of baskets from Gatling and stretching the lead to as much as 12 when a Bey bucket inside gave the Buffs a 31-19 lead with just under five minutes to play.

Stanford, however, came back to cut that margin in half by intermission, and CU took a 37-31 lead into the locker room at halftime.

BOULDER — Once again, the Colorado Buffaloes couldn't quite finish what they started.

One game after allowing a second-half lead to melt away at Stanford, the Buffs did the same on their home floor Thursday in a 76-74 loss to Oregon State. Colorado led by nine late in the first half and still held a five-point cushion at intermission, but the Beavers hit 56 percent of their shots after the half to come away with the win.

The loss, CU's eighth in its last 11 games, dropped the Buffs to 11-9 overall and 2-6 in Pac-12 play while the Beavers improved to 13-7, 5-3.

"Same story, different game," head coach Tad Boyle said. "Same story that happened at Stanford. We were in Palo Alto, now we're in Boulder. We weren't good enough in the second half."

Sophomore McKinley Wright IV led CU with 18 points, freshman Evan Battey added 16 and junior Shane Gatling scored 15. Stevie Thompson Jr. led OSU with 21.

Along with shooting 56 percent after halftime, the Beavers also held Colorado to just 40 percent shooting in the second half (10-for-25). The Buffs also hurt themselves by hitting just 16 of their 26 free throw attempts.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs put together a solid first half, breaking open a tie game with five minutes to go in the half with a 9-0 run to take a 34-25 lead. The Colorado run was spurred by CU's bench, with Battey getting two of his first-half 10 points in the surge and freshman guard Daylen Kountz scoring five straight points.

But instead of extending the margin for the rest of the half, the Buffs allowed OSU to cut the cushion almost in half by intermission, then completely erase the lead in the first three minutes of the second half. The Beavers hit six of their first seven shots of the half and scored on their first six possessions, with an Ethan-Thompson 3-pointer giving them a 48-47 lead with 16:10 to play.

"There was a stretch at the end of the first half when they scored on four straight possessions and then the first six or seven possessions of the second half they got layups," Boyle said. "Layup after layup after layup. Our defense just went south."

The Buffs played much of the second half without starter Tyler Bey, who played 11 minutes in the first half but just seven after halftime. Bey finished with just four points and four rebound, his second-lowest rebound total of the season.

"I just didn't think Tyler was giving us much tonight," Boyle said. "He's a good player, but I thought defensively and rebounding he wasn't the same Tyler Bey I've expected to see and we've expected to see. … I love Tyler Bey. I'm not down on Tyler. I just think he's got to understand that he has to bring it every single game, every single possession."

After OSU regained the lead four minutes into the half, the game see-sawed back and forth, with the two teams trading the lead 10 times over the next 15 minutes as well as a half-dozen ties.

OSU finally took the lead for good, 71-69, with 1:00 on the clock on a pair of Gligorije Rakocevic free throws. Wright then turned the ball over on CU's next possession and the Beavers hit five free throws down the stretch to clinch the win as Colorado also missed shots on each of its ensuing possessions.

"McKinley's our guy," Boyle said. "He's 6-for-7 from the field. He's the heart of this team. He's a warrior. It's an inopportune turnover, but I'm going to battle with that guy. You have live with it and he's got to learn from it and hopefully not let it happen again."

Wright did hit a 3-pointer with 1.8 seconds remaining to pull Colorado within one, 75-74, but Thompson hit another free throw and a last-second heave at the buzzer was off the mark.

BOULDER — Throughout Colorado's early struggles in Pac-12 play this year, Colorado coach Tad Boyle has insisted the Buffaloes could still make some noise in conference play.

The Buffs turned up the volume in a big way Saturday night. Led by sophomore Tyler Bey's ninth career double-double (27 points, 10 rebounds), the Buffs put together their most complete game of the season to run away with a 73-51 win over Oregon in in front of 8,654, the biggest CU Events Center crowd of the season.

Colorado improved to 12-9 overall and 3-6 in Pac-12 play while also improving to 8-0 all-time against the Ducks in Boulder. Oregon fell to 13-9, 4-5.

Colorado dominated the Ducks in virtually every regard. CU used a 17-0 run to take a 24-5 lead with 11:02 to play in the first half and Oregon never came closer than 15 again. Colorado led by 23 at the half, 40-17, and pushed the lead to as much as 30, 64-34, in the second half.

"Obviously it's a great win," Boyle said. "We defended, we rebounded. I think Oregon expended a lot of energy on Thursday against Utah. This is a tough road trip. We didn't get their best shot. I have great respect for coach (Dana) Altman and their players. They're good. They didn't play really well tonight, but hopefully I think we had something to do with that. I was extremely proud of our players for responding after a tough loss on Thursday."

Daylen Kountz added 11 points for Colorado and Lucas Siewert had 10 points and six rebounds. McKinley Wright IV added nine points, six rebounds and a pair of assists.

The Ducks had just two players in double figures, led by Louis King with 12 points.

Colorado also controlled the boards, finishing with an 45-32 rebound edge, and held Oregon to just 31 percent shooting from the floor (18-for-58) — the Ducks' worst shooting effort this season. Colorado's defense was particularly stifling in the first half, holding the Ducks to just 6-for-29 shooting (20.6 percent).

HOW IT HAPPENED: Bey was a dominant force from the beginning. After a four-point, four-rebound effort in Thursday's CU loss to Oregon State in just 18 minutes on the floor, he bounced back with a ferocious effort Saturday. Bey's seventh double-double of the season included an 18-point first half, when he outscored the Ducks by himself. Bey finished with a 9-for-9 night from the floor while also hitting 9 of his 11 free throw tries in finishing with a career-high 27 points.

The Buffs put forth their best 20 minutes of basketball this year in the first half, jumping out to a 40-17 lead. Colorado used a 17-0 run over a six-minute span to go up 24-5 with 11:28 to go in the half, then pushed the lead to 20 on a Siewert 3-point play with 9:47 to go.

But it was Bey who fueled the Buffs for the entire first half. Bey's 18 first-half points included 13 points in a 20-point CU run that featured an alley-oop dunk, a ferocious follow slam on a CU miss and an offensive rebound and putback and two free throws to cap the surge.

"To be honest, I should give my teammates credit," Bey said. "I had a bad game on Thursday and they were there for me. They always tell me to keep my head up and that's something I'm still working on. So I'm going to give the credit to them. They got me shots and they were there for me when I was in deep."

Even with a 23-point lead at the half, the Buffs knew they weren't out of the woods at halftime. Colorado came into the game having lost its last two — Oregon State and Stanford — after holding leads over both teams at intermission.

But the Buffs didn't let up on the gas against the Ducks. Colorado kept its cushion in the 20s for most of the half, building it to as much as 30 at one point.

"I'm really proud of us," Siewert said. "It's something coach has challenged us for I don't know how many games, but tonight we responded to it. You just saw how good we can be when we meet those goals."
