Marshall Field At Drake Stadium

The UCLA soccer team will begin its 14th season of play on Marshall Field at Drake Stadium.

The stadium, which has served as the on-campus home of the Bruin men's and women's track and field teams since 1969, took on a new look in the spring of 1999 when it was transformed into a state-of-the-art soccer/track and field facility. The stadium provides seating for 11,700 spectators. The cost of the project was $1.5 million and was made possible by a lead gift from Frank Marshall and Kathleen Kennedy. Marshall is a longtime UCLA soccer fan and was a member of UCLA's original men's soccer team in 1967.

The grass infield, named Marshall Field, houses a regulation 75-yard by 120-yard soccer field and is considered to be one of the finest playing surfaces in the country. The UCLA men's and women's soccer teams use this field for competition and the adjacent North Athletic Field for practice.

Drake Stadium sits atop BruinWalk just east of UCLA's dormitories. The stadium provides a picturesque view of the North Campus, where UCLA's famous architectural symbol, Royce Hall, lies.

The Bruins previously played their games on the North Athletic Field, as well as on Spaulding Field and Murdock Stadium at El Camino College. UCLA's all-time record on Marshall Field is 95-18-15.

Drake Stadium hosted its first-ever regular season soccer game on Sunday, Sept. 17, 2000 when the UCLA men defeated the University of San Francisco, 3-0. McKinley Tennyson Jr. scored the first goal ever on the new field, the first of his three goals that game. UCLA played its first game under lights on October 18, 2002, a thrilling 1-0 overtime victory over Stanford in what turned out to be a preview of the NCAA Championship game, which UCLA won by an identical score of 1-0 in December of 2002.

A UCLA soccer record 3,466 fans were in attendance on Oct. 14, 2001 to witness the Bruins handing Stanford a 2-1 defeat.

The field has also served as host of NCAA Soccer Tournament games from 2000-12 and was also the site of a Los Angeles Galaxy exhibition game in 2006.
