BULLDOGS ADVANCE TO TAKE ON WILDCATS SEC TOURNEY SEMIFINALS

Georgia will look to continue its impressive late-season surge on Saturday when the Bulldogs face No. 16 Kentucky in the semifinals of the SEC Tournament. The Bulldogs and Wildcats will square at approximately 3:30 p.m. ET following the afternoon's first date between LSU and Texas A&M.

The Bulldogs and the Wildcats are the only two programs to reach the semifinals of the last three SEC Tournaments.

Georgia is currently riding the SEC's second-longest winning streak of five games – a trio of "Ws" against top-100 RPI opponents to end the regular season and victories over Mississippi State and South Carolina in SEC Tournament play.

More importantly, Georgia is in search of a quality win to push itself further into the NCAA bubble banter. In the Bulldogs' favor? Georgia's non-conference strength of schedule ranks No. 6 nationally in the NCAA RPI. By comparison, the eight "last teams in" in the most quoted bracketology sport an average a non-con SOS of 140.

Georgia was 7-4 in non-conference play despite playing six of 11 games without a starter in the current rotation – Derek Ogbeide for five games and Kenny Gaines for one.

One indicator that UGA may be closer than most think is the KPI rankings – rumored to be a "favorite in the room" of the selection committee – which currently has the Bulldogs as the first team out of the bracket.

Georgia's balanced offensive attack features four Bulldogs averaging double figures in the scoring column. All told, that quartet has compiled 90 double-digit scoring outputs and 29 20-point performances this season.

Second-team All-SEC picks J.J. Frazier and Yante Maten lead the Bulldogs.

Frazier averages a team-high 16.9 ppg and is ranked among the SEC's top-10 in a league-high eight stats...basically everything but rebounds, blocks and field goal percentage.

Georgia and Kentucky last met in the SEC Tournament two years ago in the 2014 semifinals, with the Wildcats eliminating the Bulldogs, 70-58, at the Georgia Dome.

"Kentucky is a really good basketball team," Mark Fox said. "To win the game we needed to play very complete basketball. We didn't rebound it well enough and just couldn't get enough stops in the second half to win."

Georgia fought off Kentucky runs from the opening tip. The Wildcats opened the game on a 12-2 spurt, shooting 5-for-6 from the field during the four-minute span.

Georgia, however, used an 8-2 run midway through the half to bring the score to 19-15. After Kentucky constructed another run, the Bulldogs shrunk the deficit to 36-32 when Marcus Thornton hit a short jumper as time expired in the half.

A Kenny Gaines layup cut the Kentucky lead to just 41-39 five minutes into the second stanza before the Wildcats went on a 12-4 spurt capped by seven points off of offensive rebounds on three straight possessions to take a 53-43 lead.

Gaines cut the deficit to 56-48 with eight minutes remaining, but the Wildcats put together another 12-4 run to go up 16 points and secure their spot in the tourney final.

A complete box score from that game – as well as results from Georgia's SEC Tournament matchups and last 10 meetings Kentucky – can be found in the column to on the right-hand side of this page.

Kentucky also defeated the Bulldogs, 82-48, on Feb. 9 this season in Lexington. Yante Maten recorded his sixth double-double of the season with 16 points and 11 rebounds to lead Georgia.

The Wildcats used a hot shooting start to spark a 20-9 run and take a nine-point lead before the halfway point in the first half.

The Georgia defense then clamped down, holding Kentucky scoreless for more than six minutes, but the Bulldogs were only able to cut the lead to six.

Kentucky took control of the game in the later stages of the first half. The Wildcats closed the period on an 18-6 run to build a 42-24 edge at intermission.

Kentucky started fast in the second half as well, utilizing a 10-0 run to further increase the distance.

LAST TIME OUT

J.J. Frazier's late-game heroics led Georgia to a 65-64 comeback win against South Carolina Friday night in the quarterfinals of the SEC Tournament at Bridgestone Arena.

Frazier broke a double team near mid-court tying the score at 64-64 as time ran down on the shot clock. He then stole the ball on South Carolina's next possession with 2.1 seconds left in the game, while drawing a foul to earn a shot at the free throw line to win the game. The junior buried his first attempt, securing the win for the Bulldogs.

Frazier led the Bulldogs with 20 points, marking his 12th game this season with at least 20 points. Yante Maten added 17 points of his own and 12 rebounds, his team-leading ninth double-double of the campaign.

"That was a very good game against a terrific South Carolina team – a team that was playing without one of their best players and a team that I think belongs in the NCAA Tournament," Mark Fox said. "It was a battle. We didn't start the game well and credit goes to the South Carolina defense. They had us rattled, but we battled back and showed great resiliency."

The Gamecocks jumped out to a 16-11 lead and extended their lead to 11 with three minutes left in the half. Georgia ended the period on a strong note, cutting South Carolina's lead to 29-26 at the break.

The Gamecocks pushed the lead back to 11 points before Charles Mann and Frazier made things interesting, scoring five points to narrow the score to 45-43 and then tying things up with nine minutes to go after Frazier scored on a run out.

* - Includes when tied for team-high

South Carolina took a 59-56 lead into the final media timeout before Georgia took its first lead of the game at the 3:03 mark with a free throw from Mann.

There were four ties and five lead changes in the closing minutes, lastly on a Frazier free throw with 2.1 seconds left. He intentionally missed the second attempt at the line and Mann intercepted a long pass from the Gamecocks as time expired.

BULLDOGS IN SEARCH OF 20TH WIN

Georgia is one victory shy of reaching the 20-win plateau for the third consecutive season. The Bulldogs have strung together a trio of 20-win campaigns one other time – from the 1995-96 through 1997-97 campaigns.

Mark Fox already is only the second Georgia coach to lead the Bulldogs to back-to-back 20-win efforts. Tubby Smith is the other, doing so in 1995-96 and 1996-97.

Fox has three 20-win performances in his first six seasons in Athens, second only to Hugh Durham in Georgia Basketball annals. Durham had four 20-win teams during his 17 seasons in Athens.

MANN SETS "GP" RECORD...SORT OF

Barring the most unforeseen of circumstances, Charles Mann will play in his 130th game for the Georgia Bulldogs on Saturday.

That represents the most ever by a four-year Bulldog...and the second-most by any Georgia player.

G.G. Smith and Michael Chadwick both played in 129 games for Georgia from 1995-99, the current record for four-year players.

However, Marcus Thornton played in 133 contests in his five-season career. Thornton played in nine games in 2012-13 before red-shirting due to an injury.

BULLDOGS HOT AT THE STRIPE

Georgia's five-game winning streak has been aided by excellent free throw shooting.

Over their past quintet of outings, Georgia has connected on 111-of-138 trips to the line, a stellar 80.4.

J.J. Frazier and Yante Maten have done much of the damage at the line. Frazier is 39-of-45 (.867) and Maten is 25-of-27 (.926).

Both players also had streaks of 20 consecutive makes during that span. Frazier was 12-of-12 against Alabama in the regular-season finale and 8-of-8 versus Mississippi State last night. Maten was 5-of-5 from the line in each of the first four contests in that stretch.

GEORGIA'S SEC TOURNEY HISTORY

Georgia sports a 44-53 all-time record in 55 editions of the SEC Tournament.

The Bulldogs have compiled a 35-34 record in SEC Tournament action since the event resumed competition in 1979 following a 26-year hiatus from 1953-78.

The Bulldogs won the 1983 and 2008 SEC Tournaments and finished as runners-up in 1940, 1981, 1988 and 1997.

Georgia has advanced to the semifinals 15 times – fifth-most in league history – including each of the past three years. The only other time the Bulldogs have advanced to the SEC semifinals three straight seasons was from 1983-85.

DOGS' "D" HAS BEEN CONSISTENT

Georgia leads the SEC and is No. 3 nationally in field goal defense at 38.0 percent.

The Bulldogs have held 28 of 31 opponents under their season field goal percentage, with two opponents shooting in the 50s, seven shooting in the 40s, 19 shooting in the 30s and three shooting in the 20s.

During the 2015 calendar portion of the schedule, Georgia's opponents connected on a paltry 36.6 percent (218-of-596) of their shots from the field.

GEORGIA MAKING THE GRADE

Georgia has enjoyed great success both on the court and in the classroom during Mark Fox's tenure with the Bulldogs.

Georgia has three 20-win campaigns under Fox and is the midst of its winningest three-year stretch in SEC play ever (32 victories).

All told, 24 Bulldogs – including former NBA players Jarvis Hayes and Damien Wilkins – have graduated from UGA since Fox arrived in 2009. That tally features a current and former Bulldog who received their diplomas on Dec. 18.

Junior Juwan Parker (pictured above with Fox) earned his degree in Management, impressively in just two and a half years after his arrival in Athens. He will begin pursuing a master's degree in Sport Management in January. Adrian Jones, who played for the Bulldogs from 1997-01, also secured his bachelor's in Recreation and Leisure Studies. Three more – Kenny Gaines, Houston Kessler and Charles Mann – are on track to add to that total in May.

Georgia's academic successes are evident in the two primary tracking systems of the NCAA – the Academic Performance Rate (APR) and Graduation Success Rate (GSR). The Bulldogs are one of two SEC schools to receive public recognition from the NCAA for having an APR among the nation's top-10 percent twice in the past three years. In October, the NCAA announced that Georgia has a 100 percent GSR for its 2014-15 measuring window.

|----------|-------|-----|
| 2009-10 | 946 | 36 |
| 2010-11 | 946 | 43 |
| 2011-12 | 960 | 50 |
| 2012-13 | * 990 | 63 |
| 2013-14 | 986 | 71 |
| 2014-15 | * 990 | 100 |

* top-10 percent nationally

Subtract out those totals and the Bulldogs' opposition made 45.8 percent (3203-of-6990) of their field goals attempted.

Georgia also held 15 of its 18 SEC foes under their season shooting performance.

In the league opener on Jan. 2, Florida became the first team to shoot a better percentage against the Bulldogs than otherwise. The Gators entered the game shooting 42.2 percent but hit 42.3 – yes, .1 of one percent better – versus Georgia.

Texas A&M was the first team to make half its attempts against UGA at 52.7 percent. Kentucky also did so, shooting 51.8 percent.

BETTER BOARDING BULLDOGS

Georgia's rebounding efforts have improved consistently this season.

The Bulldogs entered league action ranked No. 8 in the league and No. 158 nationally in rebounding margin at +1.6.

Georgia has since ascended to No. 4 in the SEC and No. 62 nationally at +3.5. More impressively, the Bulldogs were No. 2 in rebound margin in SEC play at +5.6.

Much of that improvement can be contributed to Georgia's youthful frontcourt performers – sophomore Yante Maten and freshmen Mike Edwards and Derek Ogbeide.

Maten upped his rebounding numbers from 7.5 rpg in games during the 2015 calendar to 8.3 rpg versus SEC foes. Ogbeide was at 3.2 rpg in Georgia's first 10 games but grabbed 5.9 rpg in SEC play, while Edwards jumped from 2.8 rpg to 3.7 rpg.

UGA IN MIDST OF MOST SEC SUCCESS

Georgia has extended its most successful stretch in Southeastern Conference play ever. The Bulldogs finished with a 10-8 league record and in the process:

- Posted their fourth straight .500 or better league record – the first time in 84 seasons of SEC play that Georgia has put together four consecutive .500 or better campaigns;
- Notched their third straight double-figure SEC win total – another program first;
- Improved their best-ever SEC win tallies over three-season (33) and four-season (42) spans.

Georgia was 11-7 and tied for third in the SEC last season. That followed a 12-6 record in 2013-14 when Georgia tied for second in the SEC and a 9-9 effort during 2012-13.

The Bulldogs' 23 combined wins in 2013-14 and 2014-15 also represent Georgia's winningest two-year SEC span.

A SPECIAL "SENIOR DAY" IN ATHENS

Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann will forever be remembered fondly in University of Georgia annals. The Peach State natives chose to attend their state university and help build the stature of Georgia Basketball. Over the past four years, they've done just exactly that.

In addition to the aforementioned firsts in SEC play, Gaines and Mann have helped lead the Bulldogs to back-to-back postseason bids and 53 victories at Stegeman Coliseum over the past four years – the winningest four-season home stretch in program history.

GAINES, MANN REWRITING RECORDS

Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann are consistently making moves on UGA's career scoring leaders ledger.

Mann entered the season at No. 36 among the Bulldogs' all-time points leaders and has ascended to No. 15. Gaines became Georgia's 46th 1,000-point scorer against Clemson on Dec. 22 and is now No. 19.

Mann now has 1,367 points, 16 points from No. 14 Levi Stukes.

Gaines currently has 1,285 points, 63 shy of No. 18 Willie Anderson.

A MASSIVE AMOUNT OF "PT"

Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann have played a significant roles since they arrived on campus in 2012.

Between them, Gaines and Mann have a combined 252 games played, 193 starts and 6,615 minutes played.

Much of those numbers have been compiled together.

Gaines and Mann have started together for 87 of Georgia's 97 contests since the beginning of their sophomore year of 2013-14. All told, they have played 2,114 minutes and 17 seconds together at Georgia.

A POSITIVE BREAKOUT

Not that the media needs any self affirmation but the folks who predicted Yante Maten would be one of the nation's "breakout" players this season – including those at CBS, NBC and SI – are probably feeling pretty good.

Most expected Maten to up his contributions following the departure of senior frontcourt playing mates Nemanja Djuric and Marcus Thornton.

He's done more than just that.

As a freshman a year ago, Maten averaged 5.0 points, 4.3 rebounds and 18.2 minutes per game for the Bulldogs.

This season, Maten has more than tripled his scoring (16.0 ppg) and also has upped both his rebounding (8.1 rpg) and playing time (29.9 mpg) by massive chunks.

Maten has posted five career-high scoring outputs this season, including four in the first seven games.

He improved from 13 points entering the year, to 17 points versus Chattanooga in the opener, to 21 points in back-to-back outings against Seton Hall and Oakland, and to 24 points versus Winthrop. Maten topped that mark with 25 points at Mississippi State on Feb. 13.

Maten's increased production can actually be traced back to last year's postseason. He notched his first double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds against South Carolina in the SEC Tourney.

That opened an active 34-game stretch in which Maten has recorded:

- 28 of his 32 double-digit scoring outputs;
- All 10 of his 20-point performances;
- All 11 of his career double-figure rebounding efforts; and
- All 10 of his double-doubles.

J.J. ALMOST EVERYWHERE IN SEC STATS

J.J. Frazier is ranked among the Southeastern Conference's top-10 leaders in a league-high eight of 11 major statistical categories.

The 5-10, junior from Glennville, Ga., is currently No. 4 in steals (1.5), No. 5 in assist-to-TO ratio (2.5), No. 6 in scoring (16.9), No. 7 in 3-point percentage (.400), No. 8 in free throw percentage (.810), No. 8 in 3-pointers per game (2.4), No. 9 in minutes (32.3) and No. 10 in assists (4.2).

The only categories without Frazier listed are field goal percentage, rebounds and blocked shots.

Trailing Frazier and ranked in seven top-10s is Stefan Moody of Ole Miss, followed by Kevin Punter of Tennessee, Ben Simmons of LSU and Tyler Ulis of Kentucky all with six.

FRAZIER TABBED TOP GEORGIA PLAYER

J.J. Frazier has been named the state of Georgia's men's college basketball Player of the Year by the Atlanta Tipoff Club.

Frazier is the Bulldogs' eighth recipient of the state's top hoops honor.

Vern Fleming was chosen in 1984, the initial year the award was given. Additional honorees include Jumaine Jones in 1999, Jarvis Hayes in both 2002 and 2003, Rashad Wright in 2004, Trey Thompkins in 2011 and Kentavious Caldwell-Pope in 2013.

FRAZIER CRANKS IT UP AFTER HALF

J.J. Frazier has shown quite the penchant for second-half scoring, with four 20-point second-halves this season.

Frazier poured in 22 of his season-high 35 points against Georgia Tech – the most points ever by a Bulldog against the Yellow Jackets – after the break on Dec. 19. He also scored 21 points in the second stanzas of matchups against Tennessee on Jan. 13 and at LSU on Jan. 26 and popped for 24 points following intermission at Auburn on Feb. 24.

BULLDOGS IN THE BPI & RPI

Through games of March 10, Georgia was No. 53 in the ESPN's BPI and No. 67 in the NCAA's RPI.

The Bulldogs' strength of schedule, which was ranked as the nation's toughest in both ledgers for a good bit of December, is No. 13 in the BPI and No. 27 in the RPI. Georgia's non-conference RPI was ranked No. 6.

FRAZIER 100 ASSISTS, 50 3s AGAIN

J.J. Frazier has 131 assists and 74 made 3-pointers, topping the century and half-century marks for the second consecutive year.

Last season, Frazier posted 104 assists and knocked down 50 3-pointers.

Frazier joins G.G. Smith as the only two Bulldogs to reach those milestones twice.

All told, UGA players have accomplished that feat eight times as outlined below.

INJURIES AT AN INOPPORTUNE TIME

After a relatively injury-free preseason, the Bulldogs were bitten hard in the week of the season opener.

Following a Nov. 6 exhibition outing, freshman Derek Ogbeide (pronounced "Ohwg-Bay-Day") suffered a shoulder injury that kept him out of action for four weeks.

In addition, Juwan Parker, who started the first 14 games last season, has been held out of action since the exhibition due to soreness in his Achilles. Parker missed virtually the entire second half of last season due to that injury, which required offseason surgery.

The lateness of those changes forced Georgia to mix and match rotation combinations for much of the first several games.

OGBEIDE BACK, MAKING BIG STRIDES

Following the aforementioned injury-induced detour, Derek Ogbeide (pronounced "Ohwg-Bay-Day") has shown progressed steadily during the season.

Ogbeide enjoyed an impressive unofficial debut in a Nov. 6 exhibition win over Armstrong State with a game-high 10 rebounds in 19 minutes of action. He then suffered a right shoulder injury in practice and missed Georgia's first five games.

Ogbeide finally made his official premiere against Kansas State, checking at the 17:27 mark of the first half versus the Wildcats and playing two minutes in the contest.

"He was just cleared today a little before 2 o'clock," Mark Fox said. "I just wanted to get him 45 seconds here and there just to get him to relax and so he'd been out there before."

The day before the Kansas State contest Fox was asked about what Georgia was missing without Ogbeide.

"He would allow us to impose our size and physicality on people" Fox said.

Ogbeide now is doing just that.

Ogbeide is No. 16 among league leaders in stats for conference games only at 5.9 rpg games...despite being the only player in the top-20 averaging less than 20.0 mpg.

MANN BREAKS UGA FT RECORD

With his successful trip to the line at the 8:22 mark of the second half against South Carolina on Feb. 6, Charles Mann became Georgia's most prolific free throw shooter.

Mann broke Alec Kessler's UGA career record for free throw makes. In January, he broke Litterial Green's career attempts mark.

Mann also ranks among the SEC's top-10 in FTs and FTAs as outlined below.

MORE PT FOR KPG

Kenny Paul Geno entered the 2015-16 season with a career high of 21 minutes played against Missouri late last season.

This season, Geno is averaging 20.0 minutes of action per game. The Booneville, Miss., native has matched or bettered his previous career-most MP in 13 games, including a career-best of 35 versus Chattanooga.

MANN JOINS UGA TOP-10 ASSIST LIST

Charles Mann moved into Georgia's all-time top-10 assists leaders during the Bulldogs' Jan. 23 victory over Arkansas.

| 8. | 395 | Charles Mann | 2013-16 | 127 |

Mann distributed five buckets-to-be against the Razorbacks to up his career total to 355. That tied Donald Hartry, who was a member of Georgia's 1983 NCAA Final Four and 1984 and 1986 NIT teams, for the No. 10 slot.

Mann enters the Kentucky game with 395 assists, four shy of the current No. 7, Pertha Robinson and five away from co-No. 5s Vern Fleming and Dustin Ware.

MANN'S VERSATILITY NOT JUST HYPE

It's not uncommon to hear a comment like "Ya know, he could play all five positions."

Charles Mann has proven that isn't idle hyperbole when discussing his game, largely due to the aforementioned rotation shuffling early in the season following injuries to Derek Ogbeide and Juwan Parker.

Mann, one of two Bulldogs along with Yante Maten to start every game, got the nod at four different positions during the first eight games. He started at his natural '1' slot in five games but also did so at the '2' versus Winthrop, at the '3' against Georgia Tech and at the '5' – yes the '5' – against Chattanooga.

Against High Point, Mann saw action at all five spots. Perhaps most impressive was his defensive effort in several matchups with John Brown, the nation's No. 4 active scorer.

"He's been so unselfish and willing and has not complained one time," Mark Fox said.

SMALL IN STATURE, BIG ON BOARDS

J.J. Frazier grabbed 10 rebounds against Winthrop on Dec. 8. In the process, the junior became the most prominent name on a list of Division I players under 6-foot tall.

A year ago, Frazier was among seven players under 6-feet who recorded a double-figure rebounding effort. He hauled in 11 boards against Seton Hall.

With his effort against Winthrop, Frazier joined five other under-6-foot players with 10 or more boards at that point this season.

Frazier and Frank Mason III of Kansas are the only players in the nation under 6-feet to have a double-figure rebounding performance in each of the past two seasons. Mason had 10 boards against Texas Tech on Jan. 10 and 10 versus Michigan State last year.

GAINES, FRAZIER EARN SEC HONORS

Senior Kenny Gaines and Junior J.J. Frazier were tabbed as the SEC's Player of the Week on Nov. 23 and Dec. 21, respectively.

Gaines, who shared the accolade with Tyler Ulis of Kentucky, was selected after his career-high 35-point outburst against Murray State. Gaines accounted for a school-record 55.6 percent of UGA's points in the 63-52 win. He also equaled the No. 15 single-game scoring output by a Bulldog, as well as tying marks for No. 6 in 3-pointers made (7) and No. 5 in 3-pointers attempted (14).

Frazier was chosen after he scored 35 points against Georgia Tech, the highest output ever by a Bulldog against the Yellow Jackets. Frazier also dished out four assists, meaning he had a hand in 43 (57.3 percent) of the Bulldogs' 75 points in the contest. He scored 22 second-half points and converted on 8-of-8 attempts at the line in the final 1:29.

FRAZIER, GAINES POP FOR 35 EACH

Kenny Gaines poured in 35 points against Murray State on Nov. 20, and J.J. Frazier matched that versus Georgia Tech on Dec. 19.

They became the first pair of Bulldog teammates to score 35 points or more in a game during the same season.

Only four times has UGA had two 35-point performances in a single season. The other three instances involved a single Bulldog doing so.

In 1952-53, Zippy Morocco scored 38 points vs. Tennessee and 37 vs. Alabama. In 1974-75, Jacky Dorsey posted 43 vs. Southern Miss and 41 vs. LSU. In 1990-91, Litterial Green notched 38 vs. UCLA and 35 vs. Florida.

Frazier, who also scored a career-high 37 at Mississippi State on Jan. 24 last season, joined the aforementioned trio of and Willie Anderson as the only five Georgia players to score 35 points or more on two occasions.

GAINES PUTS UP RECORD PERCENTAGE

Kenny Gaines scored 35 of Georgia's 63 points against Murray State on Nov. 20.

Gaines accounting for 55.6 percent of the Bulldogs' points against the Racers represented the largest chunk by a single player in program history.

Gaines' performance was just the eighth time a Bulldog has scored half of Georgia's points going as far back as complete records for UGA Basketball exist (beginning with the 1960-61 season) as outlined below.

THE MOST...FOULS...EVER

A great deal of digging through dusty files (by intern Brandon Weiss) revealed that the 63 combined fouls against Chattanooga is likely the most ever in a Georgia game.

UGA archives provide complete box scores beginning with the 1960-61 season. No game since then – all 1,649 of them from the start of the 1960-61 campaign through the matchup with the Mocs – featured as many as fouls.

UGA'S ALL-SEC TANDEM...

Kenny Gaines and Charles Mann were both named preseason first-team All-SEC in voting of league coaches, becoming just the second duo of Bulldogs to earn first-team preseason honors since the recognition began prior to the 2004-05 season.

Travis Leslie and Trey Thompkins were first-team preseason All-SEC selections prior to the 2010-11 season.

Mann, who also was a first-team pick a year ago, is Georgia's first-ever two-time first-team preseason All-SEC selection.

A CHALLENGING NON-CONFERENCE

Georgia's non-conference strength of schedule has ranked among the nation's top-5 for almost the entire season.

The Bulldogs' 11 non-conference opponents this season averaged 19.3 wins a year ago with an average NCAA RPI of 115.

"Our goal was a non-conference schedule that would put us in a proper position with the strength of schedule numbers at the end of the season," Mark Fox said. "You never know what kind of season a team will have, but with the numbers from last year, I think we've been able to establish the strength of schedule we want and need."

Nine of the Bulldogs' non-conference opponents ranked No. 153 or better in the final 2014-15 NCAA RPI and only one team finished with an RPI in the 200s.

Last season's average RPI is the best by Georgia's non-conference foes since its 2001-02 non-conference opposition finished with an average RPI of 111 during 2000-01.

HOMEGROWN BULLDOGS

Eight of the 14 players on Georgia's 2015-16 roster are products of Peach State prep basketball.

The Bulldogs who are playing for their state university are: seniors Kenny Gaines (Whitefield Academy in Atlanta) and Charles Mann (Milton High in Alpharetta); juniors J.J. Frazier (Faith Baptist Christian Academy in Glennville), Houston Kessler (Landmark Christian High in Newnan) and Brandon Young (Marist School in Atlanta); and freshmen William "Turtle" Jackson (Athens Christian School), Connor O'Neill (Blessed Trinity Catholic High in Roswell) and Derek Ogbeide (Pepplebrook High in Atlanta).

BULLDOGS SIGN CRUMP, HARRIS

Tyree Crump and Jordan Harris, a pair of premier perimeter players generally regarded as top-100 national prospects, signed letters-of-intent with Georgia on Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Both players are from Southwest Georgia. Crump attends Bainbridge High, and Harris is from Seminole County High.

"We are excited to welcome both Tyree and Jordan into our program," Mark Fox said. "They are both very talented basketball players from the state of Georgia who have grown up as fans of UGA and will now have the opportunity to play for the Dogs. We expect both of these guys to be great additions to our team."

Crump (6-2, 175) was named first-team All-State for Class 4A by the Atlanta Journal-Constitution as a junior after earning second-team recognition for Class 5A as a sophomore. Last season, Crump averaged 22.6 points, 4.7 rebounds and 3.3 assists per game for the Bearcats. That followed his averaging 22.4 points, 4.7 rebounds and 2.1 assists per game as a sophomore when Bainbridge reached the quarterfinals of the state tournament.

"Tyree is a very good athlete and has demonstrated a great ability to shoot and score," Fox said. "He is a very competitive young man who we certainly think will have a positive impact on our program in the very near future."

Harris (6-5, 175) was named 2015 Class 2A Georgia Player of the Year by the Georgia Sports Writers Association and the AJC after leading Seminole County to a state championship. Harris has been named All-State three times. He was a Class A honorable mention selection as a freshman and a second-team choice as a sophomore before Seminole County moved to Class 2A in 2014. Last season, Harris averaged 27.4 points, 11.2 rebounds, 7.2 assists, 3.6 steals and 1.9 blocks.

"Jordan brings an element of length and athleticism into our program that we are very excited about," Fox said. "He has the ability to play multiple positions and we love the fact that he led his high school team to a state championship last year."

B.Y. RECEIVES A SCHOLLY

Following two seasons as a walk-on, Brandon Young was placed on scholarship. Mark Fox announced the move during Georgia preseason banquet on Nov. 3.

Fox introduced each player on the Bulldogs' roster alphabetically before arriving at Young, the final name in that process.

"Brandon grew up in a family that loves the University of Georgia," Fox said. "He grew up - much like Houston (Kessler) - bleeding Red and Black. But what I love about 'B.Y.' - and I think our players would say the same thing - is that Brandon Young epitomizes everything that a Georgia Bulldog should be. He's a great student. He's a wonderful person. He is a terrific player. He is the best teammate - would everyone agree? - the best teammate on this team. Because of all that 'B.Y.' I think we should give you a scholarship tonight."

Young was then mobbed by his teammates.
